Mission Circle Has First Rally

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 23 — Mrs. David Lunn was hostess for the initial meeting of the Golden Links Mission Circle after the holiday season, held at her home on Monday evening, with the president, Miss Sadie Rowland, in the chair.

Soft music preceded the call to worship, Miss Della Mae Sisco presiding at the piano, and the hostess ..ling the lesson. The leader took up the new study book, "The New Church Faces a New World," covering the first chapter, and in the business period Mrs. Lunn suggested a sale of 1938 calendars as a means of helping the Circle to reach its allocation of $50; half of this amount was remitted to the Presbyterial treasurer in June. Afternoon teas will be held this fall also for the purpose of raising funds, Mrs. J. McKnight promising that if possible, she will give the use of her home for a tea in October.

The fall thankoffering will be taken up at the October meeting, and announcement was made of the fall rally to be held in St. James' Church, Peterborough, on Monday, September 27, with tea served at 6.15 p.m.

The offering was received, and after the benediction, a social hour was enjoyed, during which Mrs. Lunn, assisted by her little daughter Betty, served ice-cream and cake. The vote of thanks to the hostess was sponsored by Mrs. Cecil Hubbeard and Miss Marjorie Skitch.

JAPS SURPRISED CIVILIANS SLAIN NANKING RAIDS

SHANGHAI, Sept. 24 (AP)—The cholera epidemic was reported today to have struck the Japanese army battering at the Chinese defence lines north of the city.

Some 200 Japanese soldiers were said to have died of the dread plague in the Paoshan sector, 20 miles north of Shanghai.

An additional 300 have been definitely established to have the disease.

Chinese military authorities reported that three days of fighting at Lotien, a few miles toward Shanghai from Paoshan, had wiped out five of the six battalions in the Japanese Takashi detachment.

The Japanese detachment lost more than 400 men as well as stores of arms and ammunition in the single night of September 21, the Chinese declared.

Japanese naval authorities warned all foreigners in Nanking to stay clear of the military objectives which they said Japanese planes would continue to bomb.

Quickest Solution?

They said the Japanese general staff had decided the bombardment of Nanking was "the quickest way to end hostilities," and expressed amazement at reports in foreign newspaper many Chinese civilians had been killed in the series of 12 air raids on the Chinese capital.

Nanking was spared bombardment today, the second since Japanese air raiders have appeared over the capital, but the southern metropolis of Canton was bombed during the early morning. Some 2,000 civilians have been killed there during the last two days.

A few machines flew over Canton, dropping four bombs; a large piece of shrapnel fell on the Italian Consulate at Tungshan, where the Consul is still maintaining an office.

WILKINS GIVING ARCTIC HUNT UP

LAC DU BONNET, Man., Sept. 24.—(CP)—Roaring out of sodden skies Sir Hubert Wilkins' huge flying boat, piloted by Herbert Hollick-Kenyon of Toronto, to-day landed on the Winnipeg river here, 60 miles north-east of Winnipeg.

"I don't know what the Russian Government is thinking about the search, because I have not heard any outside news for months. I hope to catch a plane for California within the next two days and I do not know what the rest of the crew will be doing," said Sir Hubert.

The big silver boat will take off for Toronto to-day, with a possible stop at Port Arthur, if conditions get no worse." Sir Hubert said. "We hoped to get here yesterday, but clouds and snow held us up. We hope to arrive in New York to-morrow—but that is only a hope.

Pilot Sigismund Levanevsky and his five companions, missing since Aug. 13, have a good chance of being alive if they survived the crash, Sir Hubert believes. In his opinion the Russian government will probably continue the search.

Last Minute News Flashes

Mussolini, Hitler Agree On Joint World Peace Call

Plans Include Britain, France, Ignore Russia; Nazi Hail Visit New Era European Politics

MUNICH, Germany, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Informed sources disclosed today Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Hitler have agreed to make a joint, world appeal for peace when they speak Tuesday at the close of a huge demonstration in Berlin.

Mussolini, en route to Munich today by special train for what is regarded in diplomatic circles as a highly-important meeting with Hitler, was said to have completed his speech on the subject.

Italians in position to know said Mussolini wrote his speech in Italian; then rewrote it in German. He speaks German fluently, having learned it while a bricklayer in the German section of Switzerland and, later, while in the Austrian jail at Trento, in the years before rise to power in Italy.

The speech, as it stands, probably will be made in German, although Mussolini may change back to Italian, these informants said.

Hitler, who already has arrived in Munich to greet Mussolini at the railroad station tomorrow morning, and the Italian leader were represented as having in mind the attainment of peace through some arrangement with Great Britain and France, according to information available in diplomatic circles here.

Would Ignore Russia.

However, their plans do not include the participation of Soviet Russia.

The arrangement might be based on another Locarno accord, both Hitler and Mussolini reportedly being willing to enter into such a program.

It was said the new lineup of Locarno accord members would have to be the same as that of the old Locarno Pact. The only changes to which they would agree being the omission of Belgium, which has declared its neutral status, and the omission of the Rhineland clause, out of date now.

This version was taken to mean Mussolini and Hitler intend to reject the British idea of a Northern Locarno embracing Great Britain, France, and Germany, and a Southern Locarno embracing France, Germany, and Italy.

New Era in Politics?

The strongest superlatives of the German language were used to describe the importance of the impending meetings between Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Hitler as the special train bearing Italy's chieftain rolled northward to-day.

Il Duce's visit to Germany's Fuehrer was described lavishly in the press as "History's most important meeting of heads of state" and interpreted as opening a "new era in European politics," but nobody seemed to know just what its concrete results would be.

It seemed certain the fraternal relationship between National Socialism and Fascism would be emphasized, particularly while Mussolini and Hitler are in Munich, the birthplace of National Socialism.

Possibility of a military alliance to complete their already close co-operation was believed to be out of the question. Neither Mussolini nor Hitler was regarded as willing to sign any definite agreement.

SEAMEN THREATEN TIE ALL CANADIAN SHIPPING ON LAKES

TORONTO, Sept. 24 (CP) — The Canadian Seamen's Union today threatened to "tie up every Canadian vessel (about 250) on the Great Lakes," unless certain demands are met by steamship companies by next Tuesday midnight. The announcement came on the eve of the annual movement of the new Canadian wheat crop from Fort William and Port Arthur to Montreal.

Dewar Ferguson, secretary of the Toronto Local, made the announcement here. "I have been instructed by our Montreal office to prepare the membership for a general strike," he said. "The deadline will be Tuesday, Sept. 28, midnight.

"We are seeking recognition of the union and 15 to 20 per cent wage increases. This action is the result of unsuccessful negotiations which have been carried on during the past few days with the steamship companies at Montreal, and of a blank refusal on the part of several to meet with us."

Earthquake Felt In Montreal

MONTREAL, Sept. 24 (CP) — Slight earth tremors, lasting only about two seconds and felt mostly in southwestern parts of the city, were reported here early today. There was no report of damage.

Authorities at the Verdun General Hospital said they felt the shock but only a few blocks away, at the Verdun police headquarters, officials here said they had felt nothing. Verdun police, however, had more than a dozen calls asking if the rumblings were those of "an earthquake or explosion."

For twelve minutes this afternoon citizens of Peterborough had the opportunity of watching this beautiful silver airliner while it made six complete circles of the city. On Thursday it made a tour of the cities in Western Ontario.

Bountiful Crop In Russia Strengthens Stalin.

Wheat Harvest Seen Dashing Hopes Opposition Pinned In Famine

MOSCOW, Sept. 24—(CP-Havas)—Bountiful crops in the Soviet Union this season have strengthened the regime of Joseph Stalin and removed the danger of famine, observers agreed here to-day.

The fine wheat harvest was said to have completed the work of the secret police, ending the last hope of an already defeated opposition that it might profit from famine complicated by an acute industrial crisis.

The abundant crops also were believed to have insured Stalin against any possibility of an unpleasant surprise in the election for the new Supreme Soviet Council, expected to be held in December.

While final figures on the wheat crop will not be known for a month, figures as of September 10, when about 202,350,000 acres had been harvested, indicated a strong probability the goal laid down by the head of the state would be reached or exceeded, giving the Soviet Union nearly 115,000,000 tons of wheat.

This is about 80 per cent of the annual wheat production which Stalin has repeatedly said would permit the country to defy any enemy.

The present crop will not only permit an increase in food supplies but will allow creation of an ample reserve for the future.

Unusually large production of forage crops will make it possible to increase the amount of livestock, which has been decimated by drought in recent years.

The cotton cloth industry will be freed of dependency on foreign supplies by a crop of 750,000 tons.

Beets, flax, tobacco, tea, fruits and vegetables also were produced in abundance this year.

Pt. Hope Grocery Looted Of $350

PORT HOPE, Ont., Sept. 24 (C.P.) —Thieves entered the grocery and meat store of Howard Hutchings, Walton Street, during the night and after opening the front door of the safe by means of working the combination smashed the interior door and made their escape with the sum of $350.

Police Chief Murphy is of the opinion the job was the work of expert cracksmen and the robbery was not discovered until Mr. Hutchings arrived at his store this morning. Entrance to the store was made by forcing a door at the rear.

Wanders 3 Days Memory Gone

TORONTO, Sept. 24 (CP).—William Argyle, 61-year-old choir singer and insurance salesman, stumbled into his home today near collapse from hunger and loss of sleep. Argyle said he had lost his memory and wandered about Toronto streets for three days until he remembered who he was early today.

Argyle was reported missing Tuesday and his brief case was found under a viaduct near the Don River the following day. Lifesavers dragged the river for four hours.

ONLY 2 CARGOES OUT HUDSON BAY

OTTAWA, Sept. 24.—(CP).—Lack of grain offering for export at Churchill has brought one of the shortest shipping seasons since the opening of navigation through Hudson Strait. Only two freighters visited the Manitoba port on Hudson Bay this year, their combined cargoes cleaning out the elevator here.

While the normal season has considerable time to run and ice conditions are favorable, no further shipments are anticipated from Churchill.

The Government ice-breaker, N. B. McLean, which remains in the bay and strait during the summer season to advise shipping of ice and weather conditions, has been ordered back to the St. Lawrence, well in advance of its regular return. The McLean will leave the strait at the end of this month.

DENY ENDEAVOUR HAS BEEN SIGHTED

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(AP).—Fears for the crew of the missing yacht Endeavour I, allayed for a few hours were alive again to-day after a message from the captain of the British tanker Amastra denied he had sighted the missing yacht off the Azores.

The terse denial of previous reports the yacht was sighted etched a tragic aftermath to the celebration at the little fishing village of Tollesbury, where over half the members of the Endeavour's crew live.

Underwriters at Lloyds in London had also received the news joyfully. The historic Lutine bell in the great hall of Lloyds had been rung twice signifying good news at sea, and an old man in a scarlet coat had announced:

"Gentlemen, we're advised from the Azores that the Endeavour has been sighted."

Then to a joyful England came the radio from the Amastra's master:

"Hearing it broadcast from London that the Amastra had sighted the yacht Endeavour I, I feel deeply concerned as I have not seen or heard anything whatever about her and gravely deplore the statement made."

Mrs. Lucy Johnson, aged 84, who died at Bugthorpe, England, spent the last 34 years of her life indoors, mostly in an armchair.

JAPS DRAFT REPLY TO U.S. PROTESTS ON AIR BOMBINGS

TOKYO, Sept. 24 (A.P.). — A Japanese Foreign Office spokesman announced to-day an official reply to the United States protest against aerial bombardment of Nanking was in preparation

Two days ago the United States protested against a Japanese warning that foreigners should evacuate the Chinese capital for their own safety, terming such a warning impractical and challenging attacks on non-combatants and non-military establishments as inhuman.

An unofficial source said "fresh precautionary orders" had been issued to Japanese airmen this week and that the Tokyo government was "absolutely certain that bombers were exerting every care to limit their bombardments to military establishments in Nanking."

The Japanese view of Nanking as the nerve centre of Chinese resistance and consequently a prime object of attack was reflected by the newspaper Nichi Nichi. It warned that protesting powers "will only suffer greater damage in the end" in trying to prevent onslaughts against the capital.

"If Great Britain, the United States and Russia consider the matter as an object of feelings or international law and try to restrain Japan, the situation will only be aggravated and prolonged," Nichi Nichi said.

Sees U.S. Obliged to Help

NANKING, Sept. 24 (AP).—General Chiang Kai-Shek, Premier of China and Commander-in-Chief of the Army, said today the United States was obligated by her treaties "to support China's struggle against Japanese aggression."

The Premier said: "America's responsibility in the Sino-Japanese war is greater than ever before, because she convened the Washington disarmament conference and was mainly instrumental in concluding the nine-power pact and the League of Nations covenant.

"China today is fighting not only for her own existence but for defence of the principles of the nine-power pact and the League covenant. Therefore it is up to the United States and all other signatories of existing agreements to support China's struggle."

The nine-power pact was signed in Washington in 1922. Under its terms the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Portugal, Belgium, Japan and China agreed to maintain the territorial and administrative integrity of China.

Blaze Originated Over Organ Loft Building Is Gutted

Peterborough Firemen Assist In Battling Fire in Beautiful Edifice on Main Corner

(By a Staff Reporter)

NORWOOD, Sept. 24.—A spectacular fire at noon today completely gutted the United Church and Sunday school at the main business corner of the village damaging the beautiful edifice to the extent of approximately $20,000. The roof and interior wooden fittings of the building, and also a splendid organ installed about 13 years ago were destroyed. Members of the church stated that the loss would be adequately insured.

The cause of the fire which was first noticed about 11.30 a.m. was believed to have originated from a short circuit in the electric wiring of the organ.

Fred Beldock and Walter Hagerman who were repairing the bell tower and its windows saw a thin drift of smoke rising from the roof of the gable over the organ loft. They immediately rang the church bell, giving the alarm to the village.

"We could hardly believe there was anything serious," Mr. Hagerman told The Examiner, "In fact, we could hardly believe our eyes, but our opinion afterwards was that fire had probably been smouldering inside for an hour or more."

The Norwood fire brigade responded promptly, and in a short time had their chemical engine in operation. Lloyd Webb and Bill Rogers actually got a stream up through the ceiling of the front section. A bucket brigade was formed, and an emergency call was sent to the Peterborough fire department. Chief Gimblett with the motor pumper reached the village about 12.10, but by that time flames were breaking through the roof.

Flames Spread Rapidly.

Even then it was thought the fire might be confined to a small section, but within a few minutes flames appeared above the roof at the north end of the church. The fire had manifestly swept through from the south to the north side between the ceiling and the roof before the smoke was first observed.

"The whole upper section was honeycombed with fire before we got there," Chief Gimblett remarked to The Examiner, and his opinion seemed to be borne out by the rapid envelopment of the entire covering. As the flames burned through wooden beams and girders they dropped to the main floor with loud muffled roars, and by 12.45 the auditorium was heaped up and blazing, and great sections of the roof were open to the sky.

Hastings Firemen Came.

The Hastings firemen with their steam pumper got into action about that time, playing a strong stream of water into the building. Flames next broke through the roof to the Sunday School, and finally to the bell tower, where Mr. Bedlock and Mr. Hagerman had been working. A pumper also arrived from Campbellford, and with the Peterborough and Hastings apparatus, pumped water from the creek at the foot of the main street.

Even at 12.35 the crowd of villagers realized that the main part of the structure was doomed, but apparently slight damage was done to the stone walls.

Roof Collapsed.

Fireman Victor Barry of Peterborough narrowly escaped being struck on the head when a section of the roof on the west side of the building collapsed. Straddling a window sill, Barry was directing a stream of water into the peak of the roof, when other firefighters shouted a warning as they saw the roof was about to cave in. Ducking instinctively Barry was just in time to avoid the falling mass of embers.

For nearly half an hour the debris of the roof that had piled up over the seats and centre aisle of the auditorium seemed like an inferno, the solid wall of flame visible through all the main windows even in the bright sunlight. Presumably a large area of the main floor was burned through to the basement.

Isaac Puffer told The Examiner the church was built about 1890 by a Campbellford contractor. It is a solid stone structure and is the most attractive building in Norwood. Rev. A. S. Cleland is the present minister.

The hundreds of villagers who watched the progress of the fire felt a deep sense of disappointment when the flames burst through the

NEW PRINCIPLES NIP RHODES MAN RETURNS HONORS

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 24 (CP)—A Rhodes Scholar from the University of Manitoba, in a letter written at Oxford, England, and received today by former principal Russell Ellis of Sydney Academy, said he was returning the Governor-General's medal he won at the Sydney Academy in 1930.

Adhererence to the principles of the Oxford Group movement, which he had joined, prompted his decision, Joseph B. Reid, former Sydney student, declared, because he had used an "underhand manoeuvre" to obtain the medal.

Reid won the honor, awarded annually to the student in Grade 12 having the highest aggregate in the final examinations.

A student at Merton College, Oxford, he said he had started to prepare an extra subject in April of 1930 without telling his rival, Sam Seigal of Sydney. He did not inform Seigal until June, shortly before the test.

"At that short notice, it was impossible for him to prepare a 12th subject adequately," Reid said in his letter.

The Merton College student said he was returning prizes won in grades nine, 10 and 11, because they had been gained "partly through ingenious cribbing."

Reid said he was returning the prizes to former principal Russell Ellis with the request he send them to their rightful winner.

Scotia's First Nude Shocks Pastor

A Yarmouth minister turned the exhibit to the wall upon viewing it yesterday and then complained to the management. Jack MacMillan, the artist, restored the picture to its original position and threatened to sue the minister for damages to his professional reputation if the picture did not remain on exhibit.

The management refused to withdraw the display.

Surgeon Massages Heart Through Incision After Artificial Respiration Fails

LINCOLN, England, Sept. 24. — (CP)—Story of how a man was brought back to life after being "dead" three hours was disclosed at an inquest here.

William Warren, 38, was brought to hospital here suffering head injuries received in a motor accident. While on an operating table he stopped breathing.

A young house surgeon, Dr. G. S. A. Knowles, tried artificial respiration and heart injections but they had no effect. He then made an incision in the upper abdominal wall. He massaged the heart and it began to beat. Later artificial respiration was applied and Warren began to breathe.

Later Warren regained consciousness. But the exhausted surgeon saw life again ebb from his patient. This time there was no revival.

Punjab Funeral Pyre Lights B.C. Quarry As Widow Cremates Sikh

Victoria, Sept. 24 (CP)

A HANDFUL of gray ash was all that remained today of Lahab Singh, 45-year-old Victoria Sikh who died here last week. He was cremated in the traditional way of his ancestors—on a funeral pyre lighted by his widow. In a quarry behind the Royal Oak cemetery were a few charred timbers, left after the kerosene-soaked pyre blazed.

The body of Lahab Singh was shrouded in white and placed on the pyre of four-foot cordwood. Sheafs of flowers were piled on either side of his head over his crossed hands, and at his feet.

The widow, Dhan Kaur, shook as she set the lighted brand to the pile. The handful of ash will go back to Punjab.

Sudbury, Sept. 24—(CP)

FORECAST of a "generally mild" winter, based on observations at the autumnal equinox, is made by Rev. A. J. Bruce, Copper Cliff, well known for his weather predictions based on a study of astronomy.

Mr. Bruce added a warning that 23 years ago a similar winter brought an epidemic of pneumonia. Warm clothing will be more necessary in the approaching season than in a drier, colder one.

"The sun having centralized her indirect rays over the tropics, the prevailing wind or current will be from the south by southeast and southwest. The snowfall will be heavier than usual with rain and more frequent thaws—in other words, generally mild."

Prison Just Death By Instalment Crosley Charges

Negro Doomed For Stabbing Kingston Guard To Hang December 6—"Escape Life of Misery"

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 24.—(CP)—Chester Crosley, 37-year-old Negro convict, will be hanged December 6 for the murder of Guard John McCormick whom he stabbed fatally July 11, 1936, in the hospital of Kingston Penitentiary.

In a courtroom hushed after a dramatic speech by the nervous Negro, Mr. Justice Nichol Jeffrey delivered the sentence of death after a guilty verdict reached in four hours' deliberation by a Supreme Court jury.

Crosley's first trial in February ended in a jury disagreement. In the second trial the defence contended he was insane, suffered hallucinations, saw snakes in his cell a few hours before the murder and was given a drug shortly before the stabbing. The Crown asserted the Negro planned the murder weeks ahead.

Classed as an "habitual criminal," credited with instigating a riot at St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary near Montreal before being transferred to Kingston, Crosley said a man "from the penitentiary is guilty the minute he enters this room."

"Law Calls For Death."

"You have a severe sentence to pass upon me, my Lord, for the law calls on you to sentence me to death," he told Mr. Justice Jeffrey before sentence was passed. "And since granted my last desire as a condemned man, I am going to say a number of things.

"No man can save my life. I have nothing to lose—only a life of misery. Life in the penitentiary is only death on the instilment plan."

Crosley preferred Kingston Penitentiary to St. Vincent de Paul. He was not ill-treated at Kingston, but at the other place: "I was lashed in St. Vincent de Paul until the blood ran from my body. They put a gag in my mouth like a halter on a horse and a piece of gauze to absorb saliva. And there I was, chained with my toes barely touching the floor, for almost 24 hours."

At one point the negro who said he was the son of his sister by his father, attacked the jury, but Mr. Justice Jeffrey broke in and asked him to desist. Reference was made to a letter signed by Crosley and which was in court.

"I give you my promise that what you say in the letter will be laid before the proper authorities," Mr. Justice Jeffrey said. "I think I can assure you that it will go to the Minister of Justice."

The lifer objected. "If you do that I'd rather have it torn up," he said. "Don't send it there, my Lord. No man can save my life."

SLAGHT HITS ROWE UPON TRADE STAND

PORT DOVER, Ont., Sept. 24—(CP).—Hon. Earl Rowe, Ontario Conservative Leader, was criticized for his opposition to the United States-Canadian trade treaty and for his attitude on beverage rooms in Ontario, by Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., who addressed a meeting of the Haldiman-Norfolk Liberal Association here last night. Mr. Slaght spoke on behalf of Erie Cross, former chairman of the Ontario Municipal Board and Liberal candidate in the riding in the Ontario election, October 6.

Mr. Rowe displayed a "narrow partisanship" in his stand on the trade treaty, said Mr. Slaght. He criticized the Ontario Conservative Leader's support of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett in the former Federal Premier's "violent" opposition to the pact, which Mr. Slaght said he had proved to be "a direct and wholesome benefit" to the country.

Mr. Slaght took issue with the Ontario Conservative chieftain on the question of beverage rooms. "Mr. Rowe has made a great ado in the past 48 hours about closing up and cleaning up the beverage rooms. This same Mr. Rowe at the last provincial election supported the Henry Government on its liquor platform," said Mr. Slaght.

"During the present campaign he has declared against the operation of the Liquor Control Board, but when Premier Hepburn offered to appoint a Supreme Court Judge and accept a man from each major party to administer the act, Mr. Rowe refused the offer,' continued the Liberal speaker.

Mr. Rowe has since come out with the statement that he would lift the liquor question out of politics by naming three men to administer the act, "but he would name these men himself," said Mr. Slaght.

KING WELL INFORMED

MONTREAL, Sept. 24.—(CP).—King George VI is "exceptionally well informed" on Canada, Sir Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister to Washington, said here last night on his return from a trip to the old country. No man in England follows the course of the Dominion more closely than the King, Sir Herbert said. At his own desire, his information on Canada is up-to-the-minute and complete.

Sir Herbert, while on a short visit to Great Britain and the continent, was summoned to visit King George at Balmoral in Scotland.

HOG PRICES EASE SHEEP, CALVES UP ON WEEK'S SALES

TORONTO, Sept. 24. — (CP) — Hogs dropped 35 to 50 cents on the Toronto Livestock Market this week and were soft at the close, the Dominion Livestock Branch reported. Cattle held steady under a heavy run while calves gained 50 cents in spots. Lambs were up 25 cents with sheep at previous levels.

The cattle run included 4,400 from the west. Trade was active for medium to good killers but slow on common and some were unsold at the close. Good butcher steers and heifers sold at $7 to $7.50 with common down to 4. Medium to good weighty steers ranged from $6 to $6.25 and a few choice heavies brought $6.50 to $10.

Butcher cows traded between $3 and $4.50 with young cows reaching $4.75. Canners and cutters moved at $2.25 to $2.75. Bologna bulls were priced at $3.25 to $3.60 and a few good butcher bulls reached $4.35. Fed calves brought $6 to $11.50 according to quality.

Good quality store cattle were picked first by the buyers, common moving slowly and failing to be cleared. Picked feeding steers sold at $6 to $6.50 and one load of Hereford calves brought $6.40. Ordinary stockers were from $3.75 to $5.25. Milkers and springers held around $70 for tops.

Calves Mostly Stockers

Calf receipts included 1,030 from the west, mostly stockers. The prize rise followed gain in United States markets. Choice vealers closed at $10

HEPBURN CLAIMS TIMBER DEPLETION IS NOT POSSIBLE

If an army of men started cutting their way through to Hudson Bay by the time they finished they could start over again on second growth, he told a campaign meeting.

Millions of acres of new timber would become accessible when work was completed on the diversion of Long Lac waters from the Hudson Bay watershed to Lake Superior, he said. And when that timber was cut it would be replaced through a reforestation program.

The Long Lac development would also increase Niagara Falls power resources by providing millions of cubic feet of water additional. He said he hoped to retain this increase for Niagara by a treaty to be negotiated with the United States.

Real Labor Department.

The Premier enlarged on his plans for reorganization of the Provincial Department of Labor under a minister devoting his whole time to the one department. Instead of being "only an inspection department," he intended to make it a "real" department, he said.

Since the Privy Council had ruled unemployment insurance and regulation of wages, hours and conditions of work were within provincial jurisdiction, the Department would handle all labor legislation and social services.

ALBERTA HEARING

EDMONTON, Sept. 24 (CP) — Hoping to arrange for the Alberta hearings of the commission on federal-provincial relations some time in the late fall, Hon. N. W. Rowell, Chief Justice of Ontario Supreme Court and chairman of the commission, was in Edmonton today to confer with Premier Aberhart as to the dates and other details. "There will be a full winter's work for us in hearings alone," Mr. Rowell said.

Every County Affected By Crash Decision

Engineer Sees Judgment Forcing Rails, Signs At Every Bridge, Culvert

BRANTFORD, Ont., Sept. 24. — (CP).—Mr. Justice G. F. McFarland's decision in a damage action that arose when a motor vehicle hit a culvert will affect every township and county in Ontario and tend to make road insurance prohibitive, Roger M. Lee, county engineer, told Brant County Council yesterday.

In the court action tried at the autumn assizes Mr. Justice McFarland awarded D. McCready of Scotland, $2,500 and costs for injuries received when his car crashed into a culvert on the Harley road, three-quarters of a mile from Scotland.

The culvert concerned was a 16-foot affair. Mr. Lee said 50 per cent of the culverts and bridges on road systems of Ontario were more dangerous. It will be necessary for guard rails to be placed leading to all such bridges and for signs and reflectors to be placed on them, Mr. Lee said.

Annual Fowl Supper To Be Dropped

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 24.—The annual fowl supper of the St. John's United church will be replaced by a free will offering it was decided at a meeting of the St. John's Women's Association held in the church parlours Thursday afternoon. The meeting which was well attended, was presided over by the president, Mrs. Chas. K. Stephen and opened with the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by the secretary, Miss Stella Keir. Following the treasurer's report, given by Mrs. W. F. Scott, the subject of the fowl supper was discussed and it was felt that for the present year the fowl supper would not be held as a means of raising funds for the church. The program which was arranged by Mrs. F. N. Brown and Mrs. R. Fox, included a monologue by Miss Marjorie Ferguson, who was accompanied at the piano by Miss Gladys Stephen. This was followed by a flower contest and the usual devotional exercises brought the meeting to a close after which refreshments were served.

ROWE PROMISES END COMPULSORY LEVY UPON CHEESE

GALT, Ont., Sept. 24 (CP)—Election of a Conservative Government at the October 6 Ontario voting will bring removal of the compulsory five-cent levy on cheese producers to maintain the cheese marketing board, Hon. Earl Rowe, declared in addresses yesterday.

He described the Conservative agricultural policy and also his party's intentions to "clean up" the beverage rooms. In the afternoon he addressed a Woodstock meeting and in the evening spoke at Galt. Today he speaks in Listowel and London.

The five-cent levy would be supplanted by an optional system, said Mr. Rowe in Woodstock.

"We will restore to the marketing board the principle for which it was intended and leave it to the producers to say whether they want a levy or not," he continued. Farmers would make their own decisions on the cheese levy by secret ballot.

If elected the Conservatives would restore bonuses for improved livestock production and better sires. Agriculture, Mr. Rowe declared, required stimulation the same as every other industry.

Some Spending

Under the Liberal regime the minister of lands and forests spent seven times more in his own riding than was spent on agriculture throughout the province. Mr. Rowe maintained the present agriculture minister, Hon. Duncan Marshall, did no more for agriculture "than just a strong northwest wind would do."

"He was under the influence of liquor."

YOUR NAME IN MONDAY'S PAPERS!

Will your name appear in Monday's newspapers? If it does, will you be writhing with pain in the emergency ward of a hospital, will your mangled remains be resting in a funeral parlor—or will you be held by the Police on a charge of manslaughter?

If you are a motorist and value life and property, help to stop this slaughter of innocent people. The death toll from car accidents in Ontario must go down!

We are justly proud of the Police of this Province—but they cannot be everywhere. Most accidents occur when a policeman is not around. Traffic violators know better than to speed, cut in or crowd other cars with a policeman in sight.

Ontario Motorists will Co-operate

When you see a motorist driving in a manner dangerous to the public, take his number, make a careful note of the actual time and place and when you reach your destination write to the Motor Vehicles Branch, Department of Highways, Toronto, giving full details. We do not invite reports of minor infringements of the traffic laws; you are requested to use sound judgment. We will deal adequately with offenders.

PISTOL RECALLS ROUTE CHARTING OF 72 YEARS AGO

CAMP A, Intata Lake, B.C. Sept. 24 (CP)—Destined for the provincial archives, an old rust-coated pistol this summer brought to the Governor - General and Lady Tweedsmuir a story of high adventure and youthful daring in early British Columbia days when Sir James Douglas, Hudson's Bay Company factor and keen administrator, ordered discovery of a new coastal route to the goldfields at Barkerville.

A young officer of her Majesty's Royal Engineers was Sir James' choice as leader of this expedition. In June, 1862, Lieut. H. Spencer Palmer received his orders, took three men and boarded the S. S. Beaver, first trading and passenger steamship to ply the Pacific coast.

Palmer and his men reached Bella Coola, end of the trail for the vice-regal party this summer, July 9 and went ashore to gather a band of Indian helpers. Then he headed up the Bella Coola valley between the towering mountains with their everlasting caps of snow and ice to the confluence of the Bella Coola, Atnarko and Hotnarko Rivers.

There he camped, rested his men and made contact with the wild tribes of the Chilcotin, reaching an understanding with those war-like people which permitted his party to proceed. Near his camp site he noticed a great rock on which Indians of long before had painted in red ochre three pictures, a canoe, a female deer and a bear—indicating they came from the coast, belonged to the bear clan and had killed a doe.

The party moved on over the roughest country, reached Puntzi Lake, forded Alexis creek and passed Lake Tautrie, headwaters of the Narcil River. For many miles they struggled along the banks of the river, reached the height of land and descended to the east, reaching the Fraser River at Fort Alexandria where they reported near the end of August.

Indian Found Weapon

In the face of great obstacles Palmer and his men covered more than 250 miles through virgin country in two months. Along the trail someone, maybe Palmer, dropped a pistol and failed to find it. The weapon, a heavy muzzle loading revolver, cap firing, lay on the ground for years till the wooden butt rotted away. Then it was found by an unidentified Ulgatcho Indian from a village in Tweedsmuir Park.

The Indian gave it to that oldtimer of the interior, Barney Mulvaney of Burns Lake. Mulvaney had it when the vice-regal party paused for a day at Burns Lake before starting its water and air tour through the provincial park area named for the governor-general.

Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir met Mulvaney, saw the pistol, heard its history and expressed the hope the weapon, linked so closely with the history of the province, might find its way to the archives. Mulvaney agreed it should.

MARMORA, DELORO HEAR FAULKNER

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Sept. 24—In the interests of Hon. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health, and Liberal candidate for West Hastings, meetings were held at Deloro Hall and Marmora Town Hall on Thursday evening. Due to the same speakers being heard at both places, the meeting at Marmora did not commence until nine o'clock, some of the audience leaving before and during the meeting. About two hundred were present to hear rousing speeches by the candidate and Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture. H. W. Sabine was appointed chairman prior to the arrival of the speakers, but courteously passed the honor on to ex-Mayor G. Tice of Belleville.

After a few appropriate observations by the chairman, Dr. Faulkner was called upon to address the meeting. He commenced by saying that in a riding traditionally Conservative, a great honor had been conferred upon him at the last election, in that he had been elected. Speaking of the terms such as dictator that had been used in connection with the Premier of the Province, he said it was most uncomplimentary to nickname any leader of a political party.

Must Stand Together.

Touching upon the C.I.O. question, he remarked: "We are all Canadians and stand together against any foreign element that would disturb the well-being of our country. First consideration of all politicians should be our beloved country. We should prize the freedom of speech, our schools and places of worship that God has given us in this Canada of ours. He next compared the policies of the present Government with the proposed policies of the Conservative leader and stressed the fact that a whispering campaign was going on in West Hastings behind closed doors. "Are you going to be led like a lamb to the slaughter?" he enquired.

The Minister of Health, in speaking of the administration of his party, said that he had naturally failed to satisfy the Opposition. He had failed also to satisfy his own party in not altogether giving jobs to Liberals. He commended Reeve Linn of Marmora for his co-operation with the Government on employment programs.

Dealing with the road building programs of the Hepburn Government, he predicted that whether it were returned to power or not, the highway to the north through Lake Township and Coe Hill would be opened up. He next gave details of what the present Government had done for Hastings County. He would ask the Opposition also to name one mushroom hotel in Hastings County. The extension of Hydro into rural districts and a detailed statement of the Government's sources of revenue was then gone into by the speaker.

Against the charge that he as Minister of Health had curtailed the medical services in the Province, he submitted that the establishment of tubercular clinics, a regulated use of insulin, an increased supply of radium for free treatment of cancer displayed a more effective operation of the medical service. He concluded by saying: "Regardless of politics, I ask you to give Mr. Hepburn the chance to carry on and show you what he can do in the next five years."

Duncan Marshall.

Hon. Duncan Marshall, in humorous vein, said he was pleased to be able to speak for his friend, Dr. Faulkner, and he did not think people would pay attention to reflections that were being cast upon him when they thought of the service he had rendered. Answering the Conservative cry of broken pledges by Mr. Hepburn, he would say that the Liberal leader had fulfilled his promises tenfold. He criticized the suggested policies of Earl Rowe regarding motor licenses, the zoning of farm stock and the handling of beer parlors. He concluded his address by asking the gathering to vote for the support of the Hepburn Government through returning the present member, Dr. Faulkner, at the approaching election.

Will Germany Fight For Ukraine?

Fuehrer Hitler's recent speeches indicate that he still looks to the Ukraine, which he termed a "breadbasket" in his book "Mein Kampf". The Ukraine is a part of Soviet Russia, thus any effort to obtain it would involve Germany in a war. To reach it, Germany would have to overrun Poland or Czechoslovakia. European observers do not believe Germany will attempt it despite talk.

CENTRETON

The rural school fair that was to be held in Centreton on Tuesday was cancelled owing to the cases of infantile paralysis in nearby districts.

Mrs. Waywell has gone to Toronto to visit relatives. She will attend the University when the Fall term opens.

Rev. H. W. W. and Mrs. Bromwhich and Mrs. Simmons and Miss Marie Millar have returned home after their recent vacation. Mr. Bromwich again took charge of his duties on Sunday.

The annual Harvest Home service was held at St. John's church on Sunday afternoon. The alter was decorated with autumn flowers and fruits and vegetables. Rev. Mr. Nind was the speaker for the occasion.

Our Duty Is Plain

The Federal Minister of Agriculture announces from Ottawa that scurvy has been added to the list of Western drought-area troubles, and that is the first word of the disease. He also says the number of families in Saskatchewan who will have to be cared for by direct relief this winter has increased to 45,000. Last winter there were 25,000.

The outbreak of scurvy has come because the people in that dry area have not been properly fed. It is an old complaint, formerly prevalent enough among armies in the field and sailors on long voyages unable to secure fresh food. Early indications of the approach of the disease are loss of weight, increasing weakness and anaemia. The gums become swollen and spongy and bleed easily. The teeth may fall out and infection of the jaw is common. The skin becomes dry and rough. The treatment is proper feeding, although lemon juice has been found valuable before the results of proper diet have made themselves apparent. Scurvy has been largely eliminated among sailors as rules now require a stock of suitable food to be carried.

We hope the Hon. Minister of Agriculture and those with whom he is associated feel that the entire population of Canada is substantially and willingly supporting any movement found necessary to bring relief and proper food to those whom scurvy is attacking. We have fresh fruit and fresh vegetables in this country in plenty, and the folk in Saskatchewan need them. Canadians are not going to balk at the expenditure of money to see that the want is supplied. It only goes to show that many of us have had a mighty inadequate idea of the hardships which thousands of our people have been facing in the dry areas of the west.

"Only a Short Item"

People who get out newspapers never know exactly what items or stories are likely to interest people. In a general way they may have a fair enough idea born of experience, but there is always the element of surprise in noting the results.

A day or so ago there was an item in the Examiner telling of the celebration of the 107th birthday of Mrs. Rachel Swain of Flitwick, (part of Luton) in Bedfordshire, Eng. It took only four or five lines. We admit one might have missed it in looking over the paper.

But there are people in Peterborough who know this remarkable lady of 107 years in Flitwick, and they know her daughter, now 85, and one of the Peterborough ladies corresponds with her. Mrs. P. Malsch and Mrs. A. R. Church of this city found the small item of intense personal interest. Possibly nothing in all the other columns of the paper of that day would have equal attraction. It was only a few lines, but it was like news from home.

About three weeks ago there was another item telling of a fire which had swept some small village in Saskatchewan. Five places along the main street had been burned, including a barber shop, a store, the one garage in the place and so on. A gentleman from Hamilton who happened to be in Peterborough on that day came to this office after the paper had been printed. He wanted to know if there was any more word of the fire in that little place in the West. His interest was easily explained by his statement: "I used to own that barber shop which was burned." Only a few lines in the report, but to the man who used to own the barber shop those few lines were more interesting than anything else in the paper. It often happens that way, but newspapers do not always hear about it.

How Far Can It Go?

From Detroit comes the report that the United Automobile Workers of America had sent word to the Chrysler Corporation demanding a blanket wage increase of 10 cents per hour for the 50,000 production employees of that firm.

If a man were working 40 hours a week and received an advance in wages of ten cents per hour that would be $4 additional per week. If 50,000 workers are to receive the same increase it would mean an increase of $200,000 per week in the wage bill. If it continued for a year it would mean $10,400,000, extra money that the Chrysler people would have to pay out in wages.

If the increase is not granted it is possible the workers may go out on strike, as that has been the history of that firm in recent times. Chrysler is a large concern, but a large concern can be brought low on account of its greater liabilities. To what extent labor costs can be elevated without affecting the consuming power of the public for cars is something we do not know. If all those who buy cars were receiving an additional ten cents an hour the balance would remain the same, but if the increase goes only to Chrysler employees it is not going to be so good.

A demand that a firm shall increase its pay-roll to the extent of $200,000 per week and receive no additional output for the extra money is a rather stiff order.

Peterborough's High Hill

Memorial Park on Armour Hill is now the property of Peterborough city. It was given to the corporation by the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham. To all intents and purposes it has long been the property of the citizens in general as they were at liberty to make use of it as they would of other public parks. Its future use and development is now a matter of civic concern.

We know of no city which has such an unusual hill so near the centre of the community, and from which so fine a view can be obtained not only of the city itself but of the country surrounding. There are people in the city who take their friends there first when they want to "show them the city."

The location of the property is so unique and the elevation so pronounced that its future treatment and development are matters to which this city can address its efforts in a large way. The Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham long ago recognized the possibilities of Armour Hill. They possessed vision and patience and coupled with that a generous amount of practical effort, and as a result of their unitiring efforts they have been able to hand the property over to the city with a good deal of the work of development already attended to.

Can Carry It Too Far

There has been much said during the present election campaign about collecting money from estates. With the general principle of such collection there can be no dissent, but there is such a thing as carrying any such movement to the point where the results will be far from encouraging.

A great many estates have been brought into existence because people in other years were moved to invest their money and develop natural resources. Or they were moved to undertake the manufacture of this, that, or something else. Such people were not content to seek refuge in safety and cling to the money which they might have possessed. They spent and risked their money in development, and in so doing they created employment and expansion which otherwise would never have existed.

If we come to the stage in our quest for additional money for government taxation where it is well known that so great a levy is to be made on estates it is quite possible that the desire to create them will be gone, and those who have them will be tempted to dissipate them in their living days.

It is not possible for the government of any province or country to have it both ways over a period of years. Not possible to keep on with a system which permits and encourages men to pile up wealth when the fact has been thoroughly established that increasingly great sections of it are to be taken away in succession duties. With a reasonable and just application of the succession duties principle there can be no quarrel, but there is such a thing as increasing the pressure to the point where it will defeat its own purpose.

Have You Seen a Dead Rat?

The rat is regarded as a menace to the human race, and that is not guess work. It lives in dirty places and it is a carrier of disease. In all there must be millions of rats in the country, and millions of them must die annually from natural causes if nothing else.

And that leads to the rather simple question: Did you ever see a dead rat? That question was being discussed the other day by a group of five men because one of them had asked the others where all the rats went. All those present admitted that apart from those caught in traps they had never seen a dead rat. The Examiner carried the question farther and asked a number of other people the same question and the answer was the same. None of them had seen a dead rat apart from those which had been caught in traps.

So where do they go? If any of our readers have the answer we would be pleased to receive it.

As It Was on the Tenth

Not many days ago we were looking at the prize wheat at a fall fair. Others were doing the same thing, and the remark was passed: "I bet that has all been hand sorted because the run of wheat this year is not as plump as that bag seems to be." There may have been a deal of truth in the remark. But if one were to carry the same idea farther it would be found to apply to a good many things which people do in preparation for the fall fair. Never can we recall seeing bacon hogs or breeding animals as clean as those attending the fall fair. Nor are calves as a rule nearly as bright and spotless at home as when they attend the fall fair. As a rule a good calf which is going to be shown at several fall fairs is kept in a bedded stall after attending the first show and while waiting for the next one.

It was so even on the Tenth Concession. By way of illustration—the mangel, because it is common to almost every farm. If memory plays no tricks there used to be a variety referred to as Gate Post mangels. It was known of course that there would be an exhibit of these at the fall fair. It was not a standing field crop competition, but the award would be made on the finest half dozen. Grandfather had a system and a plan of his own. Some time after the thinning out had been attended to, and a good many weeks before the date of the fall fair he would select eight or ten likely looking mangels for special treatment. The lesser mangels around them were sacrificed. Then a trench was dug about a foot or more away from the root and it was packed with good old barnyard manure, and if there were no rain then that trench had to be watered slightly each evening. Why the watering had to be done in the evening we never heard. Grandfather supervised the treatment regularly, although his zeal never carried him to the point where he would lug the water out to the field.

In that way there was produced enormous mangels; they seemed to merit the name Gate Post which had been printed on the package in which the seed came. It was somewhat like a minor process of excavation to remove them from the ground, and the night when they were loaded in the wagon to be off to the fall fair in the morning provided a thrill which was quite as great as when the speckled hen made history by laying double-yolked eggs two days in succession. We knew well enough that the average cow, brindle or otherwise, would eat about two tons of hay during a winter feeding, but there was a feeling that if one of these giant mangels could be lodged within her the question of nourishment should be settled for days to come. Putting one of those great mangels through the hand-turned chopper gave one a feeling of engaging in big business.

And yet the half-dozen mangels which went to the fall show were not a fair example of all the other mangels which grew in the same field. Many of them were very ordinary roots; some of them were small enough to cause grandfather to utter mild words indicating a feeling of disappointment. So if some people want to hand-sort their wheat before sending it to the fair they are doing just about the same as was the custom on the Tenth. They are showing only their best wheat, and on Lot Four we were taking forth only the best mangels.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Twenty-eight persons at Montreal have pleaded guilty to the heinous offence of playing bingo. The crime wave seems to be getting out of hand.

Scientists says that the Aleutian Islands and Alaska were a "race nursery" for the aboriginal population of North America. We always had an idea that Algoma was the place.

The largest freshman class in the history of Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph is indicated. That is a trend the desirability of which is perfectly obvious.

The special committee appointed by the city council to revise the parking by-law must often wonder why they allowed themselves to be persuaded to run for office.

When the front page of the Toronto morning paper failed to contain a line of political news the other morning we wondered for a moment if the election had been called off.

One thing the broadcasting of political meetings has done is to show that Ontario contains a lot of very poor singers who fail to shine in a rendition of the National Anthem.

Cobourg has been promised a new mental hospital if the Government is returned to office. We expect someone in Port Hope will hasten to point out that he does not know of any place that needs one more.

COUSIN EZRA

(By A. H. K.)

¶ My Cousin Ezra longs to speak, he'd go it nightly through the week, much eloquence he'd spill; and if he doubled up some night, why that would suit my cousin right, it would be better still.

¶ Yes Ezra loves affairs of state, can chant aloud his hymn of hate, knows politics clean through; and he can slam the other side, and separate them bone from hide, tell of the sin they do.

¶ And Ezra started out quite soon, swung down on the committee room, and told them he could spout; he'd studied politics for years, had history parked above his ears, 'knew what 'twas all about.

¶ But they're afraid of Ezra there, they know he spouts out heated air, they fear the things he'll say; for once before he made the round, and after polling day they found, he drove the votes away.

¶ And Ezra pesters them a lot, when he can't speak he's fairly hot, he grumbles and he groans; he knows if they but turned him loose, he'd paste them with some wild abuse, put fear inside their bones.

¶ So Ezra's at the room each night, just itching for a verbal fight, he doubles up his fists; and there he sits and works for hours, just nursing his spell-binding powers—and marking voters' lists.

PEOPLE are constantly using a lot of phrases, the origin of which is almost a complete mystery. A writer in Everybody's Weekly, London has thrown some light upon a few of them. For instance there is that common expression "I don't feel up to scratch this morning. Where did that come from? Why from the prize ring where in the old days of the fistic art a pugilist who was unable to stagger from his corner to a line scratched across the ring was declared the loser.

Then there is that phrase "a white elephant" meaning something useless, a drain on one's resources. That originated in Siam where the King, if he wished to ruin a nobleman presented him with a white elephant, the expense of keeping which was terrific. Furthermore the white elephant was considered sacred and could not be killed or lost.

"Letting the cat out of the bag" has a rather comic history, and started from the habit of selling cats instead of sucking pigs. The animal was securely trussed in a bag and unless the purchaser was cunning enough to investigate, he didn't know that he had been swindled until he got home and let the cat out.

The expression "turncoat" was first used to describe a certain Duke whose estate lay between France and Saxony. As there was friction between those two countries and as he was in the uncomfortable position of being a buffer state, he had a special coat with blue on one side and white on the other. When he wanted to support France he wore the white side showing; when he wanted to support Saxony he appeared with the blue side out.

A Strange Accident.

FROM NICE France, comes the story of an unusual automobile accident in that city. Pierre Marchantete was jay-walking when he was struck by a passing car, hurled into the air and tossed into a second machine coming from the other direction. Unfortunately he broke both his legs when he fell into the second car.

Under her new trade pact with the United States, the Soviet Union is limited to coal shipments of not more than 400,000 tons in any year.

A nudist has been sentenced to 90 days in jail at Logansport Indiana. He was arrested on a charge of indecent exposure and his explanation was that he intended to swim in the Wabash River. The court was not impressed "Why, then, did you park your car a full block away from the river?" asked the judge as he imposed the jail sentence.

New Mining Technique.

IF DR. EBNER a New York scientist has his way the familiar pithead frame is going to disappear as a coal-mine mark. He declares that all tunnelling mining methods are out of date. Instead of sending men below the ground to burrow like worms, he says, modern machinery could dig a hole in the ground exposing the entire coal face. It takes a man a good many hours to shift a ton of soil. A scoop can do the work in a few seconds and the largest scoop in the world can dig up nearly 40 tons of debris with a single flourish.

A new British stamp catalogue shows that General Francisco Franco has done more in Spain than conduct a war. The rebel government has as a matter of fact already issued over five columns of stamps. The cheapest Rebel stamp is valued at 1d while the 25 cent pale blue Nationalist government stamp is being sold to collectors for 35 shillings.

Igor Sikorsky whose famous Clipper boats the Imperial Airways Caledonia and Cambria have been flying back and forth across the Atlantic predicts that flying boats will soon be built twice the size of present ones and that they will have engines developing 60,000 h.p. to fly at 225 miles an hour.

The Quaker movement which is almost 300 years old has many adherents around the globe but the bulk of the Quakers live in the British Isles and in the United States. There are around 100,000 in the United States and the most powerful Quaker centre in that country is Philadelphia. There are 20,000 in the British Isles where the chairman of the British committee is Edmund Harvey, Master of the Guild of St. George.

He Likes Basketball.

GENERAL CHU TEH, the Chinese Communist military leader who has rallied to the defence of his country looks like a peasant according to newspapermen and takes his communism literally. His only weakness is a passion for basketball. As the Communist capital of Yenan the generalissimo could generally be found after hours at one or another of the city's eight basketball courts, waiting humbly in line for some team captain to pick him for a game. Despite his enthusiasm he is a poor hand at dribbling and passing and very often has to sit with the subs.

Professor James Gray of Cambridge declares that fish display among other things the ability to remember. He points out that in certain monasteries the monks used to call up fish at feeding time by ringing a bell and that this has been duplicated in the laboratory. A bell is rung at fixed intervals before the food is presented; after a number of repetitions the fish begin moving toward the customary feeding point as soon as the bell starts ringing.

What Our Visitors Say About Canada

Tourists Write Government Bureau to Say Thanks For Courtesy and Hospitality They Received

(By D. Leo Dolan, Head of Canadian Trade Bureau.)

UNDER the roof of the West Block of the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa there arrives daily in the Canadian Travel Bureau a flood of mail. Envelopes large, and small, thick ones, thin ones, oblongs, squares, from every point of the compass they come and while most of them are white others range from dull brown to every tint in the rainbow.

There is something interesting about an envelope in the mail; something that piques one's curiosity, and this mail of the Travel Bureau is no exception. Naturally the bulk of it is in the form of inquiries regarding vacation possibilities in Canada, but with 16,000,000 tourists visiting Canada last year it is to be expected that many will write telling of their experiences and giving their impressions.

And so they do, for sandwiched in with the inquiries are their letters, sometimes only a line or two, but others contain pages of panegyrics on Canadian lakelands and waterways, seashores and mountains, scenery, fishing, hunting, canoeing, the quintuplets and a thousand other subjects. A brief perusal of these letters would give Canadians not only an insight into what the average tourist finds interesting in Canada, but a more full realization of Canada's beauty and wealth of natural resources.

At the risk of making Canadians who read these lines puff with pride, quoted below are a few extracts, typical of many received and containing a keynote which is sounded in nearly 95 per cent. of these letters, courtesy and hospitality. Omitted from these extracts are the eulogies relating to resorts and districts in every province. These are the features which attract tourists to Canada; but the treatment they receive while here is what assures their return for future vacations. It is to be hoped that Canadians will never lose this natural politeness, referred to by one correspondent as "guidance with a smile."

"We spent 30 days in Canada and travelled 2,000 miles. Met the usual fine Canadian courtesy throughout, found accommodations good considering location, prices within reason, fishing good, and did not have a single untoward incident. Guides 100 per cent. in every way—a glorious time and are going back for some more of the same. We all love the friendly spirit that has always been shown to us by your people, the fine type of resort that one invariably finds, the courtesy of Canadian people as a whole, and the efficiency of Canadian guides."

"Never have I met such agreeable and hospitable people. Courtesy surprising, especially police officers."

"Enjoyed our vacation as Canadians treated us as guests, not strangers."

"Have never had an unsatisfactory trip to Canada yet. That is why I like to return as often as possible."

"Excellent conditions, courteous treatment, good food. Canada is a very desirable place for a tired business woman to spend her vacation.

"A moose, two deer, and Oh boy! what a grand country. Coming back next year with a larger party."

"Accommodations excellent, courtesy exceptional everywhere, customs and immigration officers most courteous, prices very little from ours at home."

"Canadian courtesy surpasses anything I have ever met."

"Had the finest trip in my life."

"Your people and your methods are truly commendable. You have a most beautiful country; have visited it many times and shall go again."

"I travelled alone through the Canadian Rockies which I believe possess the most beautiful scenery in the world. Everywhere I met the utmost courtesy and enjoyed a wonderful trip."

"Last Summer's trip to Canada was as the others were very pleasant indeed. Canada should be called God's country as it is as near heaven as I ever expect to get. Your Canadian officers and customs men should be complimented on the splendid way in which they handle matters."

"My fourteenth trip and as usual everything was O. K."

"I have been in sixteen different countries and can truthfully say my trip in Canada has left a very pleasant impression. The people we met were wonderful to us."

"Best bass fishing I ever had. Our limit every day."

These comments could be continued "ad infinitum" but we shall conclude with one from a lady in Missouri, a convincing letter and one with food for thought.

"Accommodation fine and prices fair—but it is the marvellous kindliness of everyone that "gets us." Many times I have wanted to write but feared that it might seem rather effusive to the Canadian who doesn't naturally "effervesce" about his beautiful country. Do you really know how lovely it is and how nice you Canadians are?"

Loved the Woman Who Deserted Him

No Bitterness In Outlook of J. M. Barrie; Provided Well For Her in Making His Will

(St. Thomas Times Journal)

SIR J. M. BARRIE did many fine things during his life but nothing could be finer than his treatment of and tribute to his divorced wife as revealed in his will. To "My Dear Mary Cannan" he left $5,000 in cash and an annuity of $3,000 a year as long as she lives.

For about 15 years Mary Ansell and J. M. Barrie were happily married. It was a great shock to him when she revealed that she had an association with a well-known author. He offered to forgive and take her back but she refused. So he divorced her in order that she might marry Gilbert Cannan.

Always a shy and reserved man, Barrie after that became more of a hermit than ever. He wrote wonderful plays about happy wives and happy children, while his heart was aching. The wonder is that he could write kindly about women and say so many charming things about them, always putting them in an idealistic light. There are no bad women in any of Barrie's plays, only kind, sympathetic, charming, witty, motherly ones. And all the time the wife whom he had loved had gone to another man's home, leaving him desolate and alone. He made his will two or three days before he died. He thought of Mary Cannan, who was still dear to him, and whatever her husband's circumstances, he provided for her for life.

Perhaps it was because he suffered so that Barrie wove such a spell into his plays, spun from the fabric of his dreams of what might have been. One wonders today if he might have produced such comedies of life if he had enjoyed the environments he invented for his characters.

HINTS FOR HUNTERS.

(Kitchener Record)

NOW THAT fall is here many hunters will soon be going in quest of game. Hence it is timely to impress on all nimrods to keep two thoughts uppermost in their minds respect of the game laws and the avoidance of all those things that may cause accidents.

Good sportsmen never kill wantonly, or needlessly or brutally and they make it a point to respect the rights of farmers and property owners.

As for hunting accidents, most of them are avoidable if the proper precautions are taken. Fooling with firearms, not making certain that the gun or rifle is unloaded when laid aside, carrying weapons dangerously, and a dozen other causes bring annually an appalling list of deaths and injuries. Too often the hunter fires at a vaguely seen object without ascertaining that it is really legitimate quarry, or he fails to make sure what lies behind his target.

It is often no more than thoughtlessness that causes lifelong regret, but under certain circumstances lack of thought is criminal. It is therefore up to all who go hunting to know the law and obey it and also to be ever cautious and alert.

WHAT WOMEN LIKE.

(Chatham News)

THE THREE major forces which guide the lives of women, according to an analysis made by the girls at the Columbia School of Journalism and reported by Alice Hughes, are:

Women's primary interest is to get a man—and if not to keep him, then to replace him with some more desirable one.

Third, they are interested in babies and children.

BREAD PRICES

Editor Examiner:

Sir: I have noticed in the Examiner an article about the price of bread going up another cent. I cannot see the need for such an occurrence. We consumers are suffering because of the bread being raised already. Bread is one of our most stable foods. Bread is most necessary to our children. It is essential that our Peterborough women band themselves together like the Women's Labor League did in Toronto this year. They showed that their was no need to raise the price of bread, that the bread people had formed themselves together and had big profits. They then had petitions go through the houses and presented these petitions to the City Council the results being that the price was not raised.

Our husband's wages are not being raised to meet the big demands of such raises. Our husbands are even working harder than ever and we seem to be struggling harder than we did even last year. I can't understand the big ballyhooing of Hepburn and Rowe fighting each other so ungentlemanly and the great needs of the people being neglected. I'm sure the C. C. F. candidate could have figures showing the boost these bread companies are making in profits. I felt it was necessary to write this letter. I hope other women will see the great need. I know the farmers are suffering very much in the west and are not making any big profits.

HOW THEY GET IN.

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

FISHERMEN coming back from their expeditions to district lakes this season have reported, on different occasions, the presence in them of a number of "foreign" fish, mostly the coarser pike and suckers. These fish are not helpful to the trout and the bass which are more sought after game fish, to the trout especially, the bass having more powers of self defense.

Some mystery has been expressed about the entry of these fish to lakes where they were formerly not known. A local fisherman has expressed an opinion which appears probable. It is that they have been taken in as minnows by fishermen intending to use them as bait for the trout or bass, and who, unthinkingly, have thrown them while still alive and unused as bait, into the water.

The suggestion is added that game fishermen should be careful in this connection as it would be quite possible to ruin a lake for trout fishing by stocking it with pike even inadvertently.

Talks to the People — J. H. Burnham

Those people who are crying out that the liquor question should be taken out of politics forget or ignore the fact that that experiment has been tried several times already and that the reason it was brought back into politics was that instead of fighting to get the temperance vote and thus treating the question as worth considering, both parties completely ignored it. For that reason nearly everybody, especially the wets, is in favour of taking it out of politics. We don't put stolen property in gaol. We put the stealers. And so it must be with all offenders. Putting liquor in gaol and leaving people free to make and drink it is a contradiction. The truth is we must follow God's plan, which leaves people free to make and drink liquor but holds them, not the liquor, responsible. Britishers will follow God's plans.

TORONTO LAWYER'S PLAY OPENS NOV. 1

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(CP). — A play by Brian Doherty, Toronto barrister and son of Manning Doherty, former Ontario Minister of Agriculture, will have its premiere in Toronto the week of November 1, Producer Delos Chappell announced here yesterday.

Chappell disclosed he had bought the play, "Father Malachy's Miracle," adapted by Doherty from the book of the same name by Bruce Marshall, and would try it out in the Canadian city for a week before bringing it to Broadway.

Father Malachy, a simple Paris priest, who upset his community by performing a miracle, will be played by Al Shean, whose work on Hollywood movie lots has kept him from Broadway since he appeared in "Music in the Air" four years ago.

Doherty, a 30-year-old bachelor, writes plays as a hobby in his spare time. This is the first he has had produced professionally. He formerly took an active part in productions at the Hart House Theatre, where he was associated with Raymond Massey, Florence McGee and other Canadians well-known on the stage.

CANADIAN UNITY IS "AMPS" DESIRE

Canadians must oppose all forces of dissension and sectionalism, Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Pensions and National Health, said at a banquet last night.

"You have shown by your example that whatever may eventually occur this country of ours will present a solid and united front," he told the maimed war veterans.

Hon. Ian A. Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, said the spirit of the "Amps" was "building a solid rock of Canadian unity."

Problems of pensions, war veterans' allowances and unemployment were discussed by Mr. Power yesterday at the concluding business session of the convention. Rev. S. E. Lambert, Toronto, was re-elected president.

north end of the roof. With the arrival of the Peterborough pumper it was generally believed that the fire would be quickly brought under control. It was hardly realized by the crowd that the fire had worked its way beneath the roof before the help from outside went into action.

Fire Chief Fred Dodd of Hastings was delayed for ten or fifteen minutes by a loose wheel on their steam pumper. They laid a line of hose from the creek in quick time, but had to wait fifteen or twenty minutes before they had their powerful stream pouring from the nozzle. The local and visiting firemen did everything possible with their limited resources, but they were defeated from the outset by the extensive start the fire had got beneath the whole area of the roof before the smoke began to seep through.

HARD LUMPS CAME ON HER LEGS

Ankles and Feet Swollen with Rheumatism

Rheumatism sent this woman to bed with lumps, swellings, and inflammation. Yet these symptoms soon disappeared, as they always will do when the root cause is removed. This letter tells you the method she used:—

"I was taken ill with terrible rheumatic pains in my legs. They were badly inflamed, swollen, and they were partly covered with red, hard lumps. To put my foot down to the ground was agony. After I had been in bed for 16 days, suffering agony all the time, my husband said, 'You can't go on suffering like this, let us try Kruschen Salts.' He got a bottle, and almost from the first I felt benefit. Before long, I was completely relieved — swellings, inflammation, and lumps all gone — and I am up again and doing my housework."—(Mrs.) E. L.

Do you realise what causes a good deal of rheumatic pain? Nothing but sharp-edged uric acid crystals which form as the result of sluggish eliminating organs. Kruschen Salts can always be counted upon to clear those painful crystals from the system.

The first meeting of the fall season of the 57th Chapter I.O.D.E. took place at the Armouries in the officers' quarters of the Prince of Wales Regiment on Thursday afternoon.

The secretary's report, a splendid summary of the past season's activities, was read by Mrs. Douglas Loomis in the absence of Mrs. N. M. Henry, who is seriously ill in a Toronto hospital. Mrs. Henry was sadly missed at the meeting, especially as her condition is known to be serious.

Mrs. Leslie Groombridge read a lengthy communication from Provincial Headquarters, and a number of other reports were heard. Mrs. Helson reported for the Educational Committee; Mrs. Cottrell for the flowers committee; Mrs. J. S. Fanning for relief; Mrs. W. L. Sharpe reported one hundred and ninety-four visits paid to the hospital; Mrs. McWilliams and Mrs. Sharpe gave accounts of a very successful canvas on behalf of the blind. The treasurer's report, given by Miss M. Roger, showed a very substantial balance. Letters of appreciation were read from pupils the chapter has been assisting.

Mrs. L. Groombridge tendered her resignation as press secretary, which was reluctantly accepted. Mrs. C. B. Hughes was appointed in her place. Mrs. Noftall, Mrs. Lord, Mrs. W. H. Andrews and Mrs. W. L. Sharpe were appointed to canvass for the Y.W.C.A. It was decided that an evening bridge will be held in October and an Armistice tea on November 9. A new member, Mrs. G. M. Stenton, was welcomed into the Chapter. A vote of thanks was moved to Major and Mrs. H. Dodds for the use of their beautiful grounds for a garden party in July.

The regent, Mrs. W. Gordon Hall, read an interesting report of the National Chapter Meeting held in the Chateau Frontenac at Quebec City. The meeting was opened by the Bishop of Quebec, and presided over by Mrs. Handsombody, the Municipal Regent of Quebec. During proceedings, the Lady Tweedsmuir was made a charter member. The interesting report gave details of all branches that the I.O.D.E. embodies. Vancouver was selected as headquarters for next year's meeting. The semi-annual meeting is to be held at North Bay on October 14.

During the afternoon, Mrs. R. Culmore, accompanied by Mrs. W. Greenslade, was heard in two solos. Tea was served by Mrs. W. Dodds at the close of the meeting, assisted by Mesdames R. E. Clarke, Lord, F. G. Mann.

W.A. of All Saints Hear from Missionaries.

A large number of interested friends and members of the Evening Branch of the W.A. of All Saints' Church gathered in the ladies' parlors of the Parish Hall to hear four missionaries speak of their work. Miss Gwendoline Dobbin occupied the chair, and Miss Frances Dawson presided at the piano.

A letter was read from the Rev. Canon W. Eastland Fuller of Campbellton, N.B., and Douglas Paterson son of Canon Paterson, brought a message from Miss Grace Tucker, who is working among the Japanese in Vancouver; so that six former All Saints' members were heard from during the meeting.

Mrs. Purdy, a nurse at Harrington Hospital, Grenfell Mission, Port Harrington, on the Labrador coast, told of living conditions on the islands; the hard lives of the people, and the visits of one doctor over a territory of two hundred miles. The speaker described the fear of the hospitals among the inhabitants and as a result, tuberculosis often reaches an advanced state before discovery. Much of the work of the missionaries is among Indians who dwell in tents.

Douglas Paterson told briefly of the work he voluntarily chose to do this summer in the mining district of Bridge Valley, B.C. The tiny village is built in a crack in the Rocky Mountains, and there are two main camps with a population of about five thousand men. A great many of these men are university graduates, for the most part agnostics and atheists. A fine tribute to Mr. Paterson's Christian example was the growth of his congregation from six to sixty, and the keenness of those interested to show a witness to their fellows in the face of hostile persecution and scorn.

Mrs. MacLean, wife of the Rev. Cuthbert MacLean of Queensport, N.S. then gave a description of their parish work in four missions, besides the parish church, stretching along the rugged shore line. The people are mostly fishermen, hospitable and kind, and keen workers in the church. Recently they bought and tore down an old church, and will build a new one from it with voluntary labor.

Miss Greta Clarke told of her work in Honan, China. For the past three years she has been acting in the capacity of deaconess in the Cathedral parish in Kiafung, where she started a great student movement for Christianity, which has swept along, and promises to become a great power for good in China. The students are a very powerful body and are determined to be heard, even regarding certain Government policies. From a small Bible class, this movement has grown to such proportions that mass meetings of two thousand students at a time are held in the Baptist Church, the largest church building in Kiafung. Miss Clarke earnestly requested that prayers be offered for General Chiang Kai Shek, his family and helpers, who are ardent Christians.

The speakers were thanked by Miss Dobbin, and the meeting closed by the Rev. Canon Paterson.

Trinity Mission Circle held its opening meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy, 627 Homewood avenue. There was a large attendance of girls, including a number of new members and visitors.

Group 3, with Miss Leona Wright as leader, was in charge and a most interesting program was enjoyed. Mrs. G. Fountain led in the devotional period, and Miss Anna Edmondson read an article on Christian Stewardship. Two of the members, Mrs. C. Ashby and Miss Margaret Wolstenholm rendered a vocal duet.

The new study book, "A New Church Faces a New World," by the Rev. Jesse H. Arnup, was introduced by Miss C. Forrest. The meeting closed with the Mispah Benediction. Refreshments were served and a short social time enjoyed.

W.M.S. Trinity United Hear Professor Scott of India.

The Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church held their September meeting in the Ladies' Parlor of the church.

Rev. Mr. Euston introduced the guest speaker, Professor Scott of the Missionary College at Indoor, India, who gave a very instructive address on "The India of Today." Attention was called by the speaker to the vast changes that are rapidly taking place in the East, due mainly to education and the new modes of travel. The Feminist movement also is making rapid progress among the women, who are now taking their place with the men.

Mrs. Sargant spoke in appreciation of the Society's beloved Honorary President, the late Mrs. J. K. Moore, and paid tribute to her splendid work for the missionary cause, and to her character. Mrs. Metcalfe of Hastings, Presbyterial secretary of the "Missionary Monthly," made an appeal for increased subscriptions for that magazine, and for "World Friends." It was unanimously decided to hold an autumn tea at the parsonage on November 5, and a rummage sale on October 16 in the Sunday School Hall. Miss Helen Bannister was appointed delegate to the Sectional Rally to be held at Bensfort on October 21.

The meeting closed with a hymn and prayer offered by Mrs. Carver. Tea was served by Group K.

Successful Field Day Kawartha Golf-Tennis Club.

The perfect summer weather resulted in a splendid turnout of members at the Kawartha Golf and Tennis Club for the weekly competitions on Thursday afternoon.

The tea table covered with a lace cloth, was arranged with a beautiful bouquet of French marigolds and brown-eyed Susans in a silver bowl, and on a side table a bronze bowl of asters were a pretty color note. Tea and coffee were poured by Mrs. S. O. Shields and Mrs. F. M. Somerville, assisted by Mrs. H. A. Barker, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. D. L. Davis and Mrs. F. Randall.

The house was tastefully decorated with pink and white crepe paper streamers and white bells. Discord In Home.

How many poor little youngsters grow up in homes where there is continuous fighting and quarrelling. And then we wonder that they "go wrong," when they grow older. Never having happiness and peace in their homes, no wonder they seek it in ways that are not in keeping with the rules of society. They do not have a chance to absorb fine ideals.

I don't often advocate a wife leaving her husband, especially where there are children, but occasionally I feel it is better all around for a couple to separate. Such a case is presented in a letter just received:

Mrs. B. has been married five years. She worked until her baby was on the way, and used her money to pay expenses. Hubby would sleep all day and drink all night. She thought he would change after the baby came, but he didn't.

Another thing was the interference of his mother. There have been arguments all the time between husband and wife and between the wife and in-laws, some resulting in blows. Mrs. B.'s young sister was given a black eye at one time when there was an in-law fracas. Nice people.

There is a difference of religion, and the baby was supposed to be brought up in her father's faith, but Mrs. B. "put one over" on him and secretly took the little one to her own church and had her baptized. The B.'s live downstairs in the mother-in-law's house, and the husband refuses to move. Don't I think a separation is the best thing, asks Mrs. B., and I agree with her that it is.

From your letter I should judge you have your faults, too, Mrs. B., and I am sure you would be the first to admit it. I agree with you that a mother should have the naming of her baby—or, at least, should have some choice in the matter. In the best families it is done by agreement, with the wife usually having the stronger voice in the matter.

I do not see how you ever can be happy living so close to your mother-in-law, as you seem so antagonistic and your husband sides with his mother. I think it is a terrible thing to try to bring a little innocent child up in such an atmosphere, and the sooner you take your baby and find a place where she can be well taken care of while you work and earn the money to support you both, the better. Maybe away from your husband and his people you can be calm and keep a harmonious home for the poor little thing. Anyhow, good luck to you.

Preparation for Gay Evening.

If you're at all fastidious, a daily soap and water scrubbing is as important to your sense of fitness as brushing your teeth. But perhaps you don't know that a bath can be more than a cleansing routine. It may be a stimulant or a means of relaxing.

For most people, there's no better morning eye-opener than a cool shower, provided it isn't continued too long. On the other hand, a warm bedtime tub is a marvelous sleep inducer.

A warm bath followed by a cold shower or rinse—and topped with fresh underwear—will soothe your nerves and pep you up. It's the perfect preparation for a gay evening after a hard day's work.

Modern Women Not Afraid Of Mice

Belleville, Sept. 24.

APPARENTLY women of today are not as frightened of mice as their sisters of yesteryear. As a scared brown mouse ran down the side of Front street the other day a young Miss Calmy tried to block its path with an open handbag. The mouse got away.

LOVELY TEXTURES AND COLORS IN NEW WOOL COATS

Add New Interest to Models for Fall Wear

By LISBETH

FINE WOOLLENS with lovely textures and colorings bring new interest to this fall's coats for dressy and casual wear alike. Many coats will be unfurred or trimmed with very small fur collars or bandings, to accent the beauty of the fabrics used. Silhouettes vary sharply, the fitted princess line with flared skirt or front fulness gaining rapidly in popularity for formal types, and the belted wraparound styles rivaling the straightcut swagger types for spectator wear. The richness of the new woollens for coats and suits this season is partly a matter of luxurious new textures and in part is attributable to the beautiful colors in many fabrics.

Most of the new coatings for formal wear are smooth in texture, with a suedelike finish. Dull finishes are highly regarded in these cloths, but there are also interesting soft wool coatings with gleaming surfaces that are very rich in appearance. Fabrics combining wool and mohair in interesting dull-and-shiny surfaces are favored for town coats and ensembles, the mohair appearing in glossy loops or nubs against the smooth dull wool background.

Natural Beige Popular

Wool fleece cloths in the natural beige tones are popular in coats for campus wear, and are also favored in high colors with raccoon or self collars, for both campus and travel use. Tweeds are equally popular in classic flecked and nubbed constructions or in bold herringbone, checked or plaid patternings, and are combined in patterned-and-plain ensembles that use skirt and topcoat to match, and jacket in contrasting or harmonizing tweed weave. Multi-color flecked tweed of the heather type are appearing in rich color combinations that add new interest to this old standby fabrics for fall coats.

"We are ready to deal with these problems affecting labor in an active and aggressive fashion," he said. "We recognize labor is entitled to a larger share in the profits of industry and we propose to secure that in an orderly way and avoid industrial disturbances, injurious to labor and industry alike."

Lauds Ferguson's Work

In an earlier Kemptville address, home town of former Premier G. Howard Ferguson, Mr. Hepburn expressed his praise of the work of Mr. Ferguson as Canadian High Commissioner in London but he held Ontario House was a useless duplication of Canada House in London.

Ontario paid nearly half the federal taxes, so it was paying for both.

Mr. Hepburn made a point of denying the government intended any increase in gasoline tax. This, he claimed, was merely a "backstage rumor" started by Conservatives.

TORONTO HUNTERS RUN INTO TROUBLE

LINDSAY, Sept. 24.—Inspector R. D. Windsor of the Game and Fishery Department, arrested two Toronto businessmen near Muskrate Island, on the upper Scugog, charged with shooting ducks in a forbidden area. The river north of No. 7 Highway is open to duck shooting, but the area south has not been declared open yet. The guns and motor boat of the Toronto men were confiscated.

In Full Swing.

Some of the tourist resorts in this district are in full swing yet, and if mild weather prevails the tourist season will not end until some time in October. The proprietor of one resort informed the Examiner that he is booked full with Americans until the close of October. Quite a number of tourists from across the line arrived in Lindsay this week for the purpose of duck hunting and fishing. Some of the visitors report a scarcity of both ducks and fish.

GRANDE PRAIRIE, Alta., Sept. 24 (CP)—Although voicing belief a rail outlet from the Peace River area of northwestern Alberta to the Pacific coast was inevitable at some time in the future, Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, told members of the Grande Prairie Board of Trade that he could hold out no hope of immediate construction. "It is a development which you must await with patience," he said yesterday.

be sought in "cleaning up" beverage rooms. He referred to his Owen Sound address of the previous night when he said they must be "cleaned up or closed up" and explained this was not said as a threat to hotel keepers.

"I am confident we can clean up this with their co-operation," he said. "But the people of this province demand we must clean up."

He charged standard hotels could not obtain beverage room licenses "until they made peace with the member of their riding and often they had to make more than that."

"They had to make out a cheque as well," he claimed. "In one case of an excellent standard hotelkeeper I have the affidavit he had to pay substantially."

Mr. Rowe said he possessed photostatic copies of cheques paid by hotel owners. This would be presented "to a commission which will investigate the whole situation," he declared.

MENTAL PATIENT INJURES WOMAN

LINDSAY, Ont., Sept. 24—(CP)—A woman resident at the Victoria County Home is in bed with a broken hip as the result of violence by a patient sent to the home from a mental hospital, Dr. L. V. Shier, physician to the home, told a coroner's jury last night.

The inquest brought in a suicide verdict in the death of Mrs. Verna Townsend, 34, inmate of the home, whose body was found September 13 in the Scugog River. The jury recommended extra help at the home and a high wire fence around the grounds if mental patients were to be housed there.

J. F. Brass, superintendent of the home, said there were inmates who previously had been in mental institutions.

"We have no facilities to handle these people, and they are forced to mix with ordinary inmates. This is the second drowning at the home this year and both were of inmates sent to us from mental hospitals."

Dr. Shier said there were too many cases placed in the home "who should not be there at all."

RAJAH KEEPS BODY OF FATHER 8 YEARS

HALIFAX, Sept. 24.—(CP)— Dr. William Mann, director of the National Zoo at Washington, told today of receiving two surprises when he visited the Rajah of Sumatra—first he met the Rajah's eight wives; second, he met the Rajah's father, dead for 13 years.

Dr. Mann arrived here on the Silverash, carrying a cargo of animals from the far east for the National zoo. While in Sumatra, during his search for strange and rare animals, he found it necessary to seek lodging for the night with the Rajah.

He said the Rajah has slept in the same room with his father's body for 13 years.

Dr. Mann said in Sumatra, unless a burial befitting custom and tradition of the country can be arranged, the funeral is postponed until finances permit proper ceremonies. Too poor at the time of his father's death to arrange a fitting funeral, the Rajah is letting the matter rest until suitable arrangements can be made.

CANADA'S CONSTITUTION IS LOCATED IN LONDON

Original Of The B.N.A. Act Is Kept In Victoria Tower Sleuthing Reporter Finds

Persistent Use Of Telephone In London Locates British North America Act

(By I. NORMAN SMITH)

LONDON, Sept. 24—(CP)—The British North America Act—which Premier Aberhart of Alberta says is not in North America—rests in the Victoria Tower of the west side buildings at Westminster, mother of Parliaments. But it took more than an hour of sleuthing over London telephones to find that out; and the search for Canada's Constitution provoked a few good laughs.

First call was to the Dominions Office where the query was put: Where and in whose custody is the British North America Act? It produced this answer:

"I'm blowed if I know. It must be on the statute roll somewhere. Hold on a minute, I'll find out."—Pause—"No, I don't know, unless you try the Public Records Office; and look here, please let us know what you learn."

The call to the Public Records Office, after trickling through several wrong departments, finally reached the right Clerk.

25 Cents a Look.

"Hang on, will you"—Long pause—"All original acts of Parliament are with the Clerk of Parliaments in the House of Lords. That and one other copy are signed by the Clerk when the Act is passed. We have the other copy here, which you can see for 25 cents but we haven't a purchasable copy. Perhaps his Majesty's stationery office has one. If you give us forty-five minutes to dig the copy out, we'll show it to you here in the legal search room."

A third call was in order. After more wrong departments and more long, long pauses the inquirer was told by his Majesty's stationery office that prior to 1887 the Crown copyright was held by Eyre and Spottiswoode, who were bound by law to sell a copy of any act passed in their time for a shilling.

So the query was repeated to Eyre and Spottiswoode. When was the act passed?—1867—"Oh dear; hang on please, I'll try to find out." After a prolonged pause came the rather triumphant answer that the act was now out of print and the clerk knew nothing about any law compelling a copy to be produced for a purchaser.

Reprinting Unlikely.

"Will there be another printing?"

"I don't imagine so; when old Acts are sold out we don't replace them; but you can see copies in the British Museum or any large library."

"Are many Acts out of print or is this an isolated case?"

"Oh no; there are ever so many like that. No, I don't think you'll be able to buy a copy anywhere."

So this time the question was hurled at the redoubtable British Museum.

"Yes."

"Well, we must have it as we have all the Acts of Parliament and you can see them any time you want to."

But the Canadian Press asked if the clerk could check his list and definitely ascertain the Act's presence. Whereupon the clerk countered: "Is the Act in force now?"

The inquirer wanted to answer "yes and no," but felt this would confuse unnecessarily the luckless custodian, so replied with a simple "yes."

Agreeable to Copying.

"Then we have most certainly got it, and you can see it without charge."

"May I bring pencil and paper and copy it out for myself?"

"Oh, quite; I'd be very pleased."

The seeker after the Constitution then took the bull by the horns and called the Clerk of Parliaments, but was ungustily informed the office closed at 4 p.m. It was then 4:10.

A repeat call in the morning found the accountants' office of the House of Lords exceedingly helpful and courteous.

"Yes, we have the original Act, kept in the Victoria Tower, printed in book form on about sixty pages of vellum; and we have a copy to show you, but no cheap copies to sell. We can make you a copy, with the following charges: Ninepence per folio—seventy words—for typing; a pound sterling for the Clerk of Parliaments' certification; seven and a half shillings for obtaining the Act from the Tower."

Photographing Difficult

Asked whether the Dominion Archivist might have the Act photographed if he wanted a photostatic copy of the original, the clerk said this would be difficult, as the fact of its printing in book form would necessitate many photos. Originally all bills were printed on rolls of vellum, but since 1850 they have been bound in book form.

Certainly in the clerk's mind there is no doubt of the existence of the Canadian Constitution, even though it is now impossible to get a popular edition for a shilling to read on the street car on the way to work.

REDUCE NUMBER OF POLES.

With a view to improving the city's appearance by reducing the number of Hydro and telephone poles and also reducing equipment costs by avoiding unnecessary duplication, the Utilities Commission has entered into a formal agreement with the Bell Telephone Company for use of each other's poles wherever practical. To a certain extent the two interests have co-operated in that manner in the past, but no regular agreement which would permit extensive combination of pole equipment has existed.

FIVE REASONS FOR OPPOSING HEPBURN GOV'T

Senator Iva Fallis Is Speaker At Apsley

Five reasons why votes should be cast against the return of the Hepburn Government to power were enunciated by Senator Iva Campbell Fallis in an address to one of the largest political meetings Apsley has seen in recent years in the Apsley Parish Hall Thursday evening. More than 200 were numbered in a gathering which overflowed the auditorium.

On her first speaking appearance in the northern district since her appointment to the Senate, Senator Fallis declared the Hepburn Government had destroyed the traditional British "dignity of legislature" through the manner in which it conducted its legislature sessions. A poor example of British parliamentary procedure was presented for the group of school children who daily attend the spectators' sections of the Federal and Provincial houses, she said. She declared the disorder of the beer garden marked the majority of sittings.

Returned Men Dismissed.

She charged Hepburn's appointment of a distinguished returned soldier, winner of a Victoria Cross, as sergeant-at-arms in the Legislature was an attempt to cover up shabby treatment of returned men in general by the Government. Although the sergeant-at-arms appointment was highly commendable, it did not explate the Government's action in dismissing 552 returned men when it came into power, she said.

The Hepburn Government has demonstrated clearly it has no respect for the "sacred contracts and obligations" of preceding governments and no regard for its own, the Senator continued. She referred to the Separate school act, charging that the Government executed a right-about-face with the first storm that blew.

"I do not think the people of Ontario want a surplus in the treasury at the expense of those in need of the social, agricultural and educational services which Mr. Hepburn curtailed in the interest of a surplus," Senator Fallis declared. The drastic reductions of educational, agricultural and social service grants were characterized by the speaker as false economy.

Senator Fallis charged the Government with full responsibility for a lack of control of liquor. "From the time the Liquor Control Act was passed in 1927 the aim and objective of the Conservative party has been to control the sale and distribution of liquor, wine and beer as far as humanly possible. As soon as the Hepburn Government assumed office they took control out of the Act entirely and substituted an objective of sale for revenue and profit." She reminded her audience of Hon. Earle Rowe's stand that he would not tolerate conditions which have arisen from the lack of control.

Others who participated in the full program of speeches were J. P. Strickland, K.C., former member for Peterborough city; G. K. Fraser, newly-elected president of the Liberal-Conservative Association; Rev. C. A. G. Spence, who acted as chairman, Mrs. John H. Cridland and Morley McDonald.

PORT COLBORNE STRIKE CONTINUES

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Sept. 24.—(CP)—Strike of union men at the Maple Leaf Milling Company plant continued here to-day with quiet picketing. The strikers ranks were neither swelled by other employees nor had any of the striking members of the Grain Processors' Union, a branch of the American Federation of Labor, returned to work. The mill was operating full time. Several men were employed to replace strikers on jobs where this action was necessary.

Strikers said their average pay for two weeks during the past three months had been $24 and one employee of the packing department said that he had received $442 in wages since Jan. 1.

The strikers also charged that there was favoritism in the allotment of work when the mill was only working part time.

Company officials stated strikers had made no effort to discuss the complaints with them.

FINED $100 FOR STILL

SUDBURY, Ont., Sept. 24 (C.P.).—Gabriel Lariviere, 375-pound resident of Capreol Township, pleaded guilty to-day to possession of a still for the manufacture of illicit spirits. He was fined $100, and costs, or three months.

Lariviere said he manufactured his own liquor which he used as medicine for a sore back. Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers testified they found two complete stills and a quart of "moonshine" on Lariviere's premises.

Behind Campaign Looms John L. Lewis

Behind the political campaign for re-election of Ontario's premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, looms the shadow of beetle-browed John L. Lewis, head of the Committee for Industrial Organization, and the man who Mr. Hepburn says shall not invade Ontario with his labor policies. Not opposed to the C.I.O. any more than to the A.F. of L. is trot-loving Earl Rowe, Conservative chieftain, according to his platform statements.

SCORES of tourist fishermen came to Kawartha waters and went away with fine catches during this summer but it remained for Ben Stocking of Geneva, Ohio, to catch the champion lunge of the season Thursday. With a rod and reel, he landed a big fellow which tipped the scales at 30 pounds, 8 ounces, close by the floating bridge at Gannon's Narrows.

A visitor to the district for a number of years past, Mr. Stocking was accompanied by Harry Zurbeide and Heinie Salisbury, also of Geneva, and Albert Whetung, guide. He was casting with artificial bait. A half-hour battle was required to subdue the champion.

Political Speaker Stung By Wasp While Awaiting To Address Rally

T. J. CARLEY, K.C. was one of those on the platform at the Liberal rally at Keene on Thursday night and as the restless Tom was not the first speaker on the program he had considerable trouble sitting still waiting for his turn to speak. But Tom was more restless than ever. At first he thought there was a tack in the cushion of his chair and then all at once the proceedings were interrupted and Tom almost hit the ceiling. For among those in attendance was a yellow jacket wasp and it had settled in the cushion of Mr. Carley's chair and apparently wanted to get acquainted with him. Mr. Carley later addressed the meeting and the result was that the candidate Alex L. Elliott announced that he proposed to capture a few wasps and take them around with him as they had stimulated Tom to a good effort.

Girl Who Left Scarf On Armour Hill May Secure It At The Police Station

Will the girl who left a fur stole or scarf on Armour's Hill two nights ago call for it at the police station? "You're asking me," Gord Puffer says in the common phrase that pops into place when you are not sure about either yes or no. Reportorial inexperience about the Memorial Park, some day to be the hanging garden of Ashburnham, asked "Why not," having been only twice up there and both times in daylight. And it transpires that the hill top on a moonlight, with the stars above and all that kind of stuff, inspires the poetic mood that flows eloquently into such expressions as: "How sweet the moonlight sleeps upon this bank! Here, let us sit, Jessica..."

And as they sit up there high above the town and the old fellow on the Quaker Oats tower, and the night seems timeless, and fur stoles seem superfluous and somehow manage to be moved out of the way, and eventually even to be forgotten.

Other words convey the information that it is a necking resort, but there is nothing to verify that report, except the fact that somehow a fur wrap, one of those pieces of apparel that are not ordinarily missed, was picked up on the hill Thursday morning. Conceivably in some emotional transport the neckscarf could easily disappear, and apparently that is the implication attached to the query as to whether the owner will call for it. One type of girl would barge into the place and greet all and sundry with the peremptory and blasting retort: "What about it?"

Clancy May Coach Montreal Maroons

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (CP). — Frank (King) Clancy, veteran hockey player, likely will coach Montreal Maroons this season.

Thomas P. Gorman, the Maroon general manager, who was here Friday for the semi-annual meeting of National Hockey League governors, said he was carrying on negotiations looking toward inviting King to coach for the big red-sweaters.

WINDSOR SEES CAMBRIA

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 24 (C.P.).—With the roar of her four great motors distinctly heard above the shrieks of sirens and tooting horns, the 18-ton trans-Atlantic air-liner Cambria came out of the eastern sky to-day, circled over Windsor and Detroit for 30 minutes, then landed on the Detroit River, near the head of Belle Isle, at 10 a.m. EST.

The flying ship, which brings Windsor and Detroit within 24 hours of England, was mobbed without any mishap such as marred a landing in Toronto on September 3,

THREE NATIONS EYE ONTARIO AS VOTE NEARS

Yet Only Big Issue Is Premier Hepburn

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—On October sixth, one million six hundred thousand Ontario voters will pick one of two farmers to lead the Provincial Government for the next five years.

Their decision will have no effect internationally. It can have little, if any, effect outside Ontario itself. Yet, for perhaps the first time in history, millions of people in the United States, Great Britain and across the entire Dominion, will watch the outcome of this Provincial contest with intense interest.

United States is interested because the Premier of the largest and most industrialized province in friendly Canada, should be so bold as to risk his career in a smashing attack on John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

Great Britain is interested because dynamic, colorful Premier Mitchell F. "Mitch" Hepburn was the man who daringly cancelled long-term power contracts which threatened the value of extensive power holdings, in defiance of strong financial interests.

Tories First Comeback Test.

Canada is interested for two reasons. It is the first fight of the Conservative party to regain power since crushing defeats in Federal and Provincial elections. Secondly, because Mr. Hepburn split with Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King on the labor issue, he is fighting the election with little Federal aid or outward blessing from his former leader, Mr. King. Mr. Hepburn started his career in the Federal arena, left it only to take the leadership of the Provincial party. At Ottawa he was regarded as a "coming" party power.

Above the haze of confused political platforms, emerge the faces of international personalities: energetic, two-fisted "Mitch" Hepburn, safely esconced as Prime Minister until 1939 had he so chosen, but who seized upon the C.I.O. issue as the one on which to hang an election which might put him in power until 1942; Hon. Earl Rowe, Conservative leader, member of the House of Commons, a friend of powerful R. B. Bennett and an enthusiastic trotting horse racer; John L. Lewis, C.I.O. head and the target of bitter attacks from the 41-year-old Premier; Prime Minister King; Quebec's Premier Maurice Duplessis and even President Franklin D. Roosevelt of United States.

Three Election Points.

It is agreed that electors have three main points over which to ponder.

It is also generally agreed that the C.I.O., the focal point of interest, is a matter over which Provincial officialdom has little jurisdiction.

The C.I.O. landed Ontario's youthful leader on the front pages of United States' newspapers with a crash. Who was this unheard of Canadian, a Liberal too, who should dare challenge labor in such a manner? He declared that the C.I.O. would not enter Canada, that it would cripple business, hurt labor and bring sit-downs to Canada. He organized a special police force to stamp out the menace, threatened drastic legislation to control labor organizations, but tacitly admits that he cannot keep the C.I.O. out of the province.

It was the C.I.O. that caused his break with the Dominion Liberal party. In C.I.O. discussions, he reportedly declared that John L. Lewis had contributed $500,000 to further the political fortunes of President Roosevelt. The C.I.O. caused him to lose some of his newspaper support, caused a London publication to call him the "latest of the Little Hitlers of the world," but gave him the necessary reason to call a general election.

Claims Power Savings.

The second big issue involves his battle with Montreal power barons over Ontario's power contracts. He maintained Ontario was being cheated, that the contracts for huge blocks of power were not valid; so he cancelled them. By this action he claims he saved the province millions of dollars. To prove this he points out that under the old contracts Ontario would have paid $10,965,000 for power this year which will actually only cost $3,880,000.

Then as the third outstanding point, is his action in collecting record succession duties, in suing large estates for great sums allegedly owing on wills probated years ago, and in promising to continue this campaign. Prior to his election, Mr. Hepburn says, the government was cheated of millions of dollars in death duties. He promises to try and collect these debts.

They are the three main issues. But in the final analysis the fact stands out that Mitchell Hepburn is himself the centre of the struggle, not his policies, and that he will be the reason for returning or defeating the present Liberal administration.

On October sixth Ontario will say whether it wants this compelling, forceful man at the head of its government or his less outspoken, more conservative opponent, the Tory party leader, Hon. Earl Rowe.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, September 25

This may be a troublesome day, with tenacious obstacles to contend with and possibly some private grief or bereavement, according to the dominant lunar and solar aspects. It may require dogged determination to cope with these stubborn conditions of crystallization or frustration, with postponements and disappointments in their trail. Be particularly cautious with papers and also guard the tongue, lest there be incited false report or slander.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year calling for perseverance, patience and fortitude, as there may be much to overcome tenacious obstacles and to be reconciled to delays and disappointments or impediments. Be careful with writings and speech particularly with young people, who may distort or misconstrue.

A child born on this day, while being of astute and acute mentality, may have many frustrating circumstances to cope with in life. It may require careful training to give it the proper vision and direction in life.

KINSMEN APPROVE HIGHWAY PROJECT

The Peterborough Kinsmen Club at its regular dinner held Thursday evening in the Empress Hotel approved of petitioning the Department of Highways to take over the road between Highway No. 28 and Port Perry.

George Zarfas, who for several years has presented shows here under the auspices of the Kinsmen Club, was present and outlined to the members the new show which he is putting on in several towns and cities this year. The question of a show and where it will be staged was left with the executive.

Ken Symillie, manager of the York Trading Company, was initiated into the membership by Dr. Robert Nott. Alex. Sollitt, delegate to the National Convention, gave a brief report on the activities of the gathering.

BARBERS PLANNING TO PRESENT CLAIMS

Planning to present claims for improved wage and commission arrangements on their own behalf when barbers appear before the Industry and Labor Board during its sitting here Wednesday, September 29, journeymen barbers met in the city last evening. Resolutions were prepared by the body which was almost 100 per cent. representative of barber employees in Peterborough.

The journeymen will ask $18 a week with 50 per cent. of earnings over $28 a week in the event the standard barbering charge is set at 35 cents by the Board, it is understood. In the event the charge is set at 40 cents, they will seek $20 a week with 50 per cent. of earnings over $30.

The journeymen also resolved to ask the Board for Wednesday half holidays throughout the year excepting the weeks in which regular holidays fall, and for one week of holidays with pay each year.

It is understood barber shop proprietors are planning to make representations to the Board in favour of a standard charge of 40 cents for hair cuts.

Proposes To Link Arctic Missions

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP) — Father Paul Schulte, Detroit's "Flying Priest," was back from the Canadian north today with plans for linking together the 10 Roman Catholic mission stations within the Arctic Circle by radio, airplanes, icebreakers and snowmobiles.

He announced he would begin a lecture in Washington, D.C., Monday to raise funds for financing the project.

Leaving here early in August, Father Schulte covered nearly 12,000 miles in his survey of the Arctic stations. He purchased two airplanes at Montreal and Winnipeg to be sent to James Bay for use in mission work.

In addition, he said, he hopes to establish 15 radio stations in the area and purchase more icebreakers and snowmobiles.

LIMIT PARKING TO 5 MINUTES AT BUS DEPOT

Four-Hour Limit In Parking Is Sought

Motorbuses may continue to use Charlotte Street, opposite the Empress Hotel, as a depot, but only for five minutes or thereabouts, Ald. Cotton's committee decided Thursday night in reconsidering local traffic problems.

Representatives of four bus lines out of Peterborough pointed out that the present arrangement has become established, and that the Charlotte Street position is central and convenient. The council had intended to order the bus companies to get some other terminal, but the proposal to limit the time during which the street may be used was satisfactory to the transport delegation. A special parking space for buses will be marked off, and buses will be permitted to stand there while taking on passengers and freight.

The committee also decided to renew its application to the Department of Highways for approval of regulations limiting parking of automobiles here to four hours. The committee's purpose is to give police control of the streets. Some cars and trucks, it was said, are left out on the street all winter, and nothing can be done about it. The time limit was previously suggested at three hours, but it was recognized that a large number of people would break that law in their business and social affairs.

The Department is also being asked to permit the council to prevent left hand turns at George and Charlotte Streets during stated periods. It was remarked that this has been tested all summer and had proved a real facility to traffic at the city's busiest corner. If this became a permanent order a policeman would always be assigned to that intersection while left hand turns were forbidden.

BULLETS AND BOMBS DRIVE BEACH-COMBER FROM ABODE

Man Who Can Live Without Money Finds Himself Destitute

MAY TAKE TO TREES

Weymouth.—A hermit who says he finds it quite simple to live without money on the 17-miles-long Chesil beach, near here, is being forced to give up the Robinson Crusoe life he has led for the past 20 years.

He is 57-years-old Richard Frampton, who has to leave his primitive and peaceful "island" home because the Royal Air Force in a few weeks begin bombing practice there.

His "home" is in the heart of the danger zone and Mr. Frampton has been warned he must move.

Nowhere To Go

"I have nowhere to go," he complained. "I have tramped the whole of the 17-miles beach looking for a suitable place to rebuild my tiny shack, but I cannot find a spot anywhere. The whole beach is being used for one thing or another. Next to the place where the bombing practice is to be held is a rifle range, and beyond that is the Royal Engineers' bridging camp. Portland urban district council won't allow me to build my hut on the upper end of the beach. What am I to do? I couldn't stand going back to the town after so many years on the beach away from civilization."

Mr. Frampton once said that if he was ever forced to give up his life on the beach he would build a house in the tree-tops. But now that he has to alter his mode of living he fears tree-tops won't be practicable.

"Caught" His Food

"During the whole of the 20 years I have been on the beach I have caught all my own food," Mr. Frampton went on. "I was wounded during the great war, and when I came home I found it impossible to get a job. So I decided to set up 'house' on the Chesil beach. I have been there ever since.

"I used to earn a few shilling by collecting wood thrown up by the sea and selling it to residents on land. Not that I have much use for money—because, actually, I can live without it.

"There are few people who can claim to live without money. As a matter of fact, it is very simple. On the Chesil beach I have had to pay no rent, rates, or taxes, and during the whole 20 years I have never seen a postman or a milkman."

VICAR, PART OF FLOCK LOCKED OUT OF HALL

Group Moved by Police—Secretary Barricades Door After Court Award

St. Helens, Lancs.—Rev. W. E. Colegrove, vicar of All Saints, Sutton, near here, and part of his congregation were locked and barricaded out of the parish rooms by the secretary and several members of the parochial church council.

And as the vicar and his companions stood in the roadway discussing the situation, a police officer who did not know them asked them to move on.

Some time ago the secretary and several members of the council were given custody of the parish rooms by a court decision.

When the vicar's party met for their usual whist drive they found that the secretary, who had already entered the building, had locked the doors, and with assistance from members of the council had put up a barricade inside the room, to prevent the door being opened when it was unlocked.

DESCENDS 3,000 FEET UNROPES, FALLS 120

Birmingham Medical Student Injures Head, Spine—Rescued by Shepherds

Birmingham.—Just after he had successfully descended Slingsby Chimney on Scafell (3,162 feet), second highest mountain in England, John Norton Mills, 22-year-old Birmingham medical student, slipped and fell 120 feet. He was seriously injured.

He had just unroped from his companion, S. T. Gibson, of Petersfield, Hampshire, and was returning down the track shown as Rake's Progress when he slipped.

Gibson and three other climbers went to his assistance. When they had made him comfortable two went for help to Wasdale Head.

A rescue party of shepherds and farmers, accompanied by Dr. T. Fisher of Kings Langley, went up the mountain and brought Mills back on a stretcher.

He was taken to Whitehaven hospital with head and spine injuries, as well as several broken ribs.

FREED MURDERER JAILED

Birmingham—Sentenced to death for murder, reprieved, and five years later released on license for life, Herbert Ridley, 27-years-old motor driver, stood again in the dock at Birmingham police court.

He was sentenced to one month's imprisonment for stealing cigarettes by putting discs in automatic machines.

BRITISH SHIPBUILDING EXCEEDS ALL OTHERS

Mercantile Projects Exceed Totals in Four Countries

London.—Great Britain is building more mercantile tonnage than the aggregate now under construction in Germany, Japan, the United States and Holland—the four leading countries abroad.

The present total of 1,199,973 tons is an increase of 185,519 over that of the preceding quarter. It exceeds by more than 40 per cent. the figure recorded a year ago, and is the highest quarterly total since June, 1930.

Of the world's total of 2,882,860 tons now in hand, British yards are building 41.6 per cent. The leading countries abroad are: Germany, 416,881 tons; Japan, 318,277 tons; United States, 198,654 tons; Holland, 188,464 tons; Sweden, 138,720 tons.

GIRL BRAVES WAVES TO DO 'IMPOSSIBLE'

Her First Long-Distance Venture Conquers Treacherous Spithead

Portsmouth. — Tell 21-year-old Louisa Horna, of Kensington, S.W., that a thing is impossible—and it's almost sure you'll have to eat your words.

They told her that it was impossible to swim Spithead because the five miles of choppy sea is beset by dangerous currents and shipping.

Louisa thought otherwise Domestic duties ended, she went down to Southsea pier, left her clothes with an attendant and swam out to sea.

Three and a half hours later she staggered across the sands from the water at Ryde, Isle of Wight, and told a surprised taxicab driver, "I have just swum from Southsea."

"I've never done any long distance swimming before," this Austrian girl said on her return "although I tried to swim out to the forts."

To which her employer, Mrs. Ronald Gander Dower, of Palace Gate, S.W., added: "And on that occasion she was stopped near the forts by a police launch. When the officers heard her broken English I rather think they thought this was a new type of spy scare."

GRIP WITH $10,000 IS LEFT IN TAXICAB

Driver Ends Search by Returning Suitcase

London.—The luggage of Mrs. Van der Byl, who had arrived from abroad, was being unloaded in Elm Tree Rd., St. John's Wood, when a suitcase containing £2,000 ($10,000) in cash and jewelry was missed.

Detectives were quickly on the scene, but while they were making inquiries a taxicab driver drew up and walked up to the house—with the missing case. He had found it in his cab.

Mrs. Van der Byl breathed again—and the generous reward the taxicab driver received made him breathe even more deeply.

MONSTER NEW BRITISH CAR SEEKS WORLD RECORD

Out of its garage in the motor works at Chiswick, London, England, and down the runway comes the monster racing car built for Captain George E. T. Eyston for the newspaper men to view. The famous British racing driver is planning to assault the present world land speed record of 301.1 m.p.h. now held by Sir Malcolm Campbell on the Salt Lake Flats, Utah, in his metal-clad jugggernaut shortly. Some idea of the tremendous size of the car can be obtained by comparing it with the pigmy man at the wheel. The "wonder" car is over 30 feet long and has two engines set side by side. The wheels and any other parts of the car which might provide wind resistance are enclosed.

SUNDAY NIGHT FILMS OFFERED BY CHURCH

25,000 Inhabitants of Welling Invited by St. John's Parish Vicar

Welling, Kent.—Twenty-five thousand inhabitants of Welling are being invited by the vicar of St. John's parish church to the Sunday evening "talkies" in his church.

A full 90-minute program of films —"The Passing of the Third Floor Back" and "The Wandering Jew" will be two—is to be shown every Sunday night.

The vicar, the Rev. F. Moore, has enlisted what he terms his "labor gang" of 100 helpers, to leave cards of invitation at Welling's 6,000 houses.

"I want to give the people what we think is good, in the way they like," he said. "We must use God's latest gifts to the world to the fullest extent."

WIFE AND CHILDREN SEEN IN TELEVISION

London.—Mrs. Westlake, of Hereford Rd., Bayswater, W., after saying good-by to her husband, took the two children, Rodney, aged 12, and Thelma, aged 18, to the London Zoo, about seven miles away.

Mr. Westlake has a television set. At 4.15 he thought he would see what the experimental transmission was all about.

Turning on the set, he saw his wife and children feeding the monkeys at the zoo!

3 GIRLS TRAPPED IN CAVE RESCUED BY SCOUT POSSES

Scantily Clad, Without Food or Water Off Isle of Wight

HEMMED BY TIDE

Brighstone, I. O. W.—Three London girls, trapped all night without food or water in a sea washed cave on the south side of the Isle of Wight, clad only in shorts and blouses, were rescued by scouts.

The girls, Doris Day, aged 18, of Norbury, Surrey, and Ruby and Molly Fryer, aged 24 and 22, of Hounslow, Middlesex, left a holiday camp at Brighstone to go hiking.

When they did not return in the evening search parties were organized from the camp. They took flashlights, searched fifteen miles of lonely coastline in vain.

Twenty scouts of the 161st North London troop, camped four miles away, joined in the search. One party went along the top of the cliff, others along the beach, climbing the base of the cliffs when their way was barred by the high tide.

The girls, who had been cornered by the tide and forced to climb the cliff, attracted the attention of Patrol Leader Stanley and Assistant Scoutmaster L. Dabinett, who jumped a crevice of four feet and led the girls down the rocks to safety.

BEAUTY HINTS URGED AS CLASSROOM TOPIC

Southampton, Eng. — Teachers should help girls to become interesting sweethearts and wives by advising them about the best brands of lipsticks and where to get the best cheap silk stockings, Mrs. S. E. Davies, a former board of education inspector, told a youth conference here.

PEER USES TINY CARS TO WIN COURT CASE

Newmarket. — After he had demonstrated, by means of toy cars on his solicitor's table, how a collision occurred, a charge against Lord Walsingham of Tottington Hall, Thetford, of driving without due care was dismissed here.

It was alleged that a car driven by him crashed into the back of a car driven by Horace Chilvers of Cambridge, and that Lord Walsingham's car, which was travelling at between 60 and 70 m.p.h., took 200 yards in which to pull up.

Lord Walsingham said: "My car simply ran into the other when I pulled out to pass. I presume that a tire suddenly went flat."

SHORTAGE OF NURSES FEARED IN BRITAIN

London — Sir Kingsley Wood, minister of health, is gravely concerned at the shortage of candidates for nursing, and it is possible that he may call a conference of nursing organizations and hospitals authorities to consider what action can be taken.

The minister is already in communication with the ministry of labor and other departments.

The position is becoming serious. Local authorities, voluntary hospitals and nursing homes are all finding difficulty in obtaining probationer nurses.

BREAKING CAGE DOOR TIGER ATTACKS LIONS

Jealous of Female in Next Section at London Zoo

London.—Just before feeding time in the London zoo lion house hundreds of visitors saw a tigress burst open a steel door and attack a lion and his mate.

Diana was badly wounded before she was separated from the lions by four keepers and driven into her sleeping quarters. Lurline was not badly hurt, but her mate, Alastair, had his flanks ripped by the tigress' claws.

For weeks Diana had been seen buffeting and pawing the door which separates her cage from that of Lurline and Alastair, the zoo's finest pair of lions, and there is little doubt that she was jealous of Lurline.

A man who saw the fight said: "Diana did not seem interested in the prospect of food, but kept throwing herself at the steel door. Suddenly it buckled, and with the next blow it burst open."

OBITUARY EXAGGERATED

Newcastle-Upon-Tyne — William Beggs McVeigh, whose obituary notice was "grossly exaggerated" looked on his name inscribed on the roll of honor at the Newcastle-Upon-Tyne office of Walter Runciman and Company, the shipowners. He pinched himself and walked away in relief.

A friend had told him of the premature announcement while he was spending a holiday in the district and he joyfully confronted the scroll with the most convincing of alibis.

DOLPHIN, WHALE OR SHARK DROWNS 3 OF 5 FISHERFOLK

SEEN FROM SHORE

Carradale, Argyllshire—From the shore here watchers saw, out at sea, a strange monster leap from the water, hurling to destruction a small yacht containing five people.

A fleet of fishing boats raced to the rescue, found 10-year-old Jessie Brown in the water clutching the body of her father, and another member of the party, Donald Macdonald of Carradale, clinging to a spar.

The dead were: Captain Angus Brown of Glasgow, skipper of the Hay Line steamer Duchess; Robert Brown, his brother (a fisherman) of Carradale; Neil Brown, aged 10, Captain Brown's son.

Whale or Shark?

The craft, a converted herring boat, was cruising in Portreight bay, some five miles from land at the time.

The nature of the monster remains a mystery. It is variously suggested to have been a basking shark or a whale.

By the time rescuers reached the scene it had disappeared. As evidence of its presence a large hole was found in one side of the boat, which lay on one side in the water.

Campbeltown and Carradale fishing boats brought the girl and Macdonald to shore.

The bodies of Captain Brown and his son were rushed to Carradale Pier in another vessel.

Two doctors, who had been notified, fought unsuccessfully for an hour to revive them.

One Body Missing

Fishermen think it possible that the boat was charged by a basking shark.

Richard Elmhirst, chief of the Scottish marine biological station at Millport said: "It is unlikely that a basking shark would attack a boat. They do not leap out of the water. What is more likely is that the boat was attacked by a whale. I saw a whale in the district.

"Dolphin from 10 to 14 feet long are also in the sea off Carradale. They, like whales, leap out of the water, but do not usually attack boats."

FAN DANCE IN NUDE

Proprietor of British Cafe Fined $200 and Costs

London—A fan dance, apparently in the nude, was one of the turns in a Mayfair bottle party cabaret which a policeman saw and described at Bow Street police court.

Philip Garcia, proprietor of the Paradise Bottle Party, Regent St. W., was fined £40 ($200) with £20 ($100) costs for keeping the premises for music and dancing without a licence.

BRITISH WOMAN HOLDS HER 107TH BIRTHDAY

Bedford.—Mrs. Rachel Swain, of Water End, Flitwick, near Bedford, recently celebrated her 107th birthday.

The whole of her 107 years have been spent at Flitwick. She remembers going to London in a farm wagon nearly 100 years ago.

She has lived in six reigns.

Mrs. Swain was married at the age of 19. Her husband died 35 years ago. She brought up a family of 10, of whom three survive.

Mrs. Ashton, the eldest daughter, with whom Mrs. Swain has lived for years, is 84, and has celebrated her golden wedding.

EX-CANADIAN AVIATOR MUST SUPPORT WIFE

Birmingham Court Rejects Plea for Cut in $10 Weekly Maintenance

Birmingham.—Claiming he was penniless, a former Seaforth Highlanders' captain and Canadian airmail pilot, asked Birmingham magistrates to vary a £2 ($10)-a-week maintenance order obtained by his wife.

Capt. Walter Newton Sherlock, the applicant, said he had mortgaged his private income in order to pay his creditors. His search for work, he said, had been hampered by frequent arrests for non-payment under the order.

He could get no money from his father because he owed him too much. Questioned about the spending of £6 5s ($31) at a cafe, Captain Sherlock said that he had dinner there with one or two people and had to pay the bill, which was run up in an effort to get a job.

He agreed that he was fined the previous day by Willesden magistrates for assaulting a woman with whom he had been living in Kilburn Sq., but denied he lived with her the whole of the time.

The wife told the court that she was now entirely depending on her mother, with whom she lived in Park lane.

The magistrates dismissed the application and ordered payment of arrears within 14 days, with an alternative of 21 days' imprisonment.

SLAIN GIRL'S FRIENDS THREATEN VIOLENCE

Women Rush Prisoner and Claw as He Is Led Away

Retford, Notts.—After Frederick Nodder, 45-year-old motor engineer, has been committed for trial on a charge of murdering Mona Tinsley, 10-year-old Newark schoolgirl, angry women attacked him. He is serving a seven-year sentence for abducting the girl.

One struck a blow which crushed Nodder's hat over his eyes, another clawed at him.

Police hustled him into a car, which accelerated through booing crowds with its door flying open, while women beat on the body of the car with their fists.

Sir Bernard Spilsbury and Dr. J. M. Webster, the Birmingham pathologist, giving evidence, had declared that Mona died from asphyxia caused by strangulation by a ligature. Her body was recovered from the River Idle, near Bawtry, on June 6.

BRIEF STORIES GATHERED FROM ALL CORNERS OF THE WORLD

FIVE HUNDRED WALK SAFELY BAREFOOT OVER LIVE COALS

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Madras.—Walking barefoot over burning logs and coal is a favorite trick of the miracle workers of India and Ceylon.

But the trick has been rather spoiled in Ceylon, for 500 people have just done it without mishap at the annual fire-walking ceremony at Udappa.

Logs of tamarind wood and live coals were burning for a length of 12 to 16 feet. All those who had taken the vows rubbed their feet with saffron and, headed by the priest, walked unscathed over the fire.

At Nahan, in India, a Yogi rashly promised that anyone could walk over fire unhurt once he, the Yogi, had transferred some of his miraculous power to the aspirant. An enormous crowd gathered and watched the fire.

A 18-year-old boy offered himself for the demonstration. "Behold," said the Yogi, making a few mysterious passes, "by my power you will emerge from the fire unscathed."

Trustfully the boy stepped on the burning embers. Then he screamed as his feet burned.

The crowd thought this a breach of trust and the unhappy Yogi was so severely beaten that he was eventually taken to hospital unconscious.

RECOGNIZES NEPHEW BY FACIAL BIRTHMARK

Chance Meeting Ends Search Lasting 50 Years

Ilfracombe.—A birthmark has reunited an aunt with her nephew and ended a 50 years' search.

R. Clatworthy of Seven Hills, Ilfracombe, motor-coach proprietor, was standing outside his business premises, when he saw a woman who resembled his dead mother.

The two got into conversation, and it was then that the woman discovered Mr. Clatworthy's identity through the birthmark on his face.

DESERTER HID FOR 23 YEARS, SURRENDERS

Amiens.—A French soldier who deserted during the Great War has given himself up to the authorities near Amiens. He is Dennis Caron, now 50, who disappeared from his unit in 1914 after handing over a batch of German prisoners of which he was in charge.

He first hid with his mother, it is stated, and then with an uncle near Amiens. For 23 years he never came out by day and only left his hiding place at nights to exercise in the garden of his uncle's house.

He learned only recently that the amnesty law applied to him. Actually he was never posted as a deserter but was reported as "missing—believed killed."

RESTRICT WORKERS

London.—Fleet orders announce no senior officer of the services or senior government servant may take up a post within two years of retirement with firms subsidized by or working for the government.

INCOME TAX SWINDLE IS TRACED TO NOTARY

French Official Admits Certifying Large Number of Exemption Slips

Geneva.—An elderly, rather pathetic, little man has explained how, for eight cents a signature, he had made possible the great income tax swindle just disclosed, which is now being investigated by the French police.

He is the notary of a tiny village in Haute Savoie. He admitted that he had certified large numbers of British income tax exemption forms without knowing the signatures and before the essential details had been completed.

Three months ago, he said, a business man came to him and asked him to sign a number of business forms and stamp them with the seal of the French republic, on behalf of an important Geneva bank.

He did so at a fee of two francs per certificate—roughly, 8c.

Since then he had frequent visits from the same man.

He had kept no record, he said, but agreed that he had probably signed between 200 and 250 forms during the past three months.

CREDIT CRICKET GAME WITH SAVING HIS LIFE

Fiance Set Alarm to Hear Broadcast — Flees Burning Hotel

Sydney.—Although difficult to believe, a girl playing cricket in England saved the life of a man at Mount Isa, a lonely mining township in the far west of Queensland.

The girl was Hazel Pritchard, the Don Bradman of the Australian women's cricket team in England, and the man was her fiance, Leslie Scanlan, of the Argent hotel, Mount Isa.

Keenly interested in a match, Scanlan set the alarm to awaken him at 1.30 a.m. in time to hear a broadcast. Awakened by the alarm, he found his room full of smoke and he leaped from his bed shortly before it fell through the floor into a raging fire in the room below.

Scanlon, a son of the licensee of the hotel, escaped unhurt to a balcony. The hotel was destroyed, and Scanlon had to wait for papers to learn that Hazel had made a big score.

Hazel is to become Mrs. Scanlon shortly after the team returns from England.

FEAR BOY WAS SACRIFICE FOR CULT RITE IN FRANCE

Police Search Black Magic Trials of 300 Years Ago

MISSING 2 MONTHS

Nimes (S.W. France).—Records of black magic trials of 300 years ago are being searched by police and the examining magistrate of Privas, near Nimes, who are investigating the death of six-year-old Henri Faure, a shepherd boy.

It is suspected that he may have been killed as a human sacrifice at the hands of somebody following the cult, according to the rites of the middle ages.

The boy disappeared two months ago while tending his father's herd of cows in a mountain district.

When his skeleton was found on a rock ledge 4,000 feet up a mountain it was complete except for two small vertebrae of the neck.

M. Dugas, the examining magistrate, has confirmed, with the aid of ancient maps and records his suspicion that this ledge was the ancient site of black magicians' orgies and witches' sabbaths.

In April, 1656, Isabelle Cheyne was sentenced to be burned alive for witchcraft.

She told the court that the devil had promised her she should never be in want so long as she gave him human sacrifices.

The place where she communed with the devil and made her human sacrifices is, in the opinion of M. Dugas, that where Henri Faure's skeleton was found.

TASMANIA POPULAR FOR WINTER SPORTS

All Resorts Well Patronized By Skiers, Skaters

Hobart, Aust.—Tasmania's mountainous nature favors followers of winter sports, who are enjoying a particularly good season this year. There have been excellent falls of snow on the highlands, and all the resorts have been well patronized. National Park in the south and Ben Lomond in the north offer ideal facilities for skiing, tobogganing, and ice-skating, and ski clubs report rapid growth in membership.

The construction of the Pinnacle Road on Mt. Wellington has made the mountain even more accessible to residents of Hobart, and many skiing parties make their way to the upper slopes during week-ends and holidays. The construction of a road from the railway station to Lake Fenton has done much to increase the traffic to National Park this year.

'LUCIFER' GOLFERS SWAP TALL STORIES

Duke of Gloucester Joins in Witticisms at Society Reunion

London, Eng.—The "Nineteenth Hole Reunion" of the Lucifer Golfers' society held here, unearthed some tall stories.

For instance, at the Junta, Uganda, course, one rule is that if a ball dropped into the spoor of a hippopotamus it is to be picked up and played again without penalty. Another "I can go one better" concerned Nairobi course in South Africa. When a snake was found it was the custom to leave the reptile—usually a three or four-foot cobra—draped around the hole.

The Duke of Gloucester, sitting at a table labelled "bunkered," referred to a suggestion he should take golf clubs with him on his next empire visit. "I am all in favor of tours to consolidate the empire, but if I take up golf it may be the cause of my breaking it up," he said amid laughter. "For instance, if I went to the Union of South Africa, I am sure I would leave gaps on the beautiful fairways of every course I visited.

A Kenya spokesman told of a woman "who under our unlimited handicap system plays regularly with a handicap of 72. She has not yet won a prize—but 'all desperandum' is her motto."

OFFICERS' RALLY OF INSTITUTES WELL ATTENDED

MILLBROOK, Sept. 24.—An innovation in the work of Women's Institutes, in the way of an "Officers' Rally," was held in the Town Hall, Millbrook, on Wednesday morning and afternoon, six of the East Durham Branches being represented, and Mrs. Clarence Hayes, of Georgetown, being the departmental secretary in charge.

"Fixed Finances" was the subject discussed during the morning session, the speaker using a blackboard to illustrate the information given, and the question and answer method being also used with practical results.

Mrs. Hayes rather discouraged Institute branches raising funds by means of anything in the line of a lottery, such as selling tickets on a quilt, urging instead teas, social gatherings, and other activities along similar lines.

Fixed sources of income in local branches are government grants, and grants from the local council; collections, which some branches take at each meeting under the caption of "flower fund," "tea fund," and "Good Cheer fund." The objection is that Institutes have been proud to claim they asked only the twenty-five cent fee, and nothing more, from their members. Not more than ten cents should ever be asked for a collection; and a 'copper' or 'nickel' collection is a good idea."

Fixed sources of income in the district branch were listed under four headings: 1, Government grants; 2, County grants; 3, From individuals, girls' clubs, and other organizations; 4, from the branches; and in connection with this item Mrs. Hayes urged that each Branch should pay something into the district treasury, possibly ten cents per member, though apparently many have not carried out this plan.

Fixed Expenditures

"Fixed Expenditures in the Branch" was the next theme taken up: 1, Federation fee, which each branch must pay, and which should be sent to the district secretary at least ten days before the district annual meeting; 2, Salaries— a few branches pay their president a salary, and also their secretary; the latter officer, in the speaker's opinion, should have some remuneration, even though the amount had necessarily to be small; 3, postage and stationery; 4, printing and publicity, and in this connection the guest speaker urged furnishing local papers with an account of each meeting, and printing programs covering the year's regular gatherings; 5, rents, if any, though most branches meet in a home, a proceeding commended "provided you keep your meeting as business-like as when held in a hall; the social side may find expression over the cup of tea afterward."

"Fixed Expenditures in the District" brought out some new ideas, the headings including: Officers' salaries; Mrs. Hayes insisting that with her heavy duties, a district secretary should receive at least $25 remuneration, and a higher figure if possible; expenses to meetings are obligatory, also postage and stationery; and printing and publicity. "Advertise your meetings with a notice in every paper that touches the homes in your entire district, if you would expand your work, arouse interest, and have your business gatherings well attended."

"The convention fee of one dollar from each branch must be paid, and entertainment for the day provided for the district director when she attends the district annual. Be very careful whom you appoint to this office; see that she is a capable, outstanding woman, for she may some day be the Convention President."

"Floating Expenditures" concluded the morning session, these being listed as: W.I. Services such as short courses, local leaders, etc.; 2, local improvements carried out by the W.I. such as town beautification; improvement of cemeteries; school libraries, etc.; relief work; rest rooms, all community activities; 3, Recreation and social life, embracing field days, picnics, hiring a bus occasionally to attend a convention, or provide an outing for the branch; 4, Books and magazines —providing these being a good educational project; 5, Contributions to organizations "put before you send a dollar out of your branch, be sure you could not expend that ... to better advantage right at home, in your own community. There are causes that should be helped, like the flood relief round the London district last spring. However, if you send out any money, be sure you do not send too much."

Afternoon Session

The afternoon session opened at 1.30, the discussion of questions of practical value continuing as Mrs. Hayes explained the various report sheets sent out by the Department, and the necessity of filling these out promptly and correctly. "Have as many demonstrations at your meetings as you possibly can. The 'eye gate' fixes impressions more firmly than the 'ear gate, and some members and even non-members will come out to learn, for instance, the proper method of boning a fish who would not otherwise be present at all. The more members you get working, the better for your branch."

Urges Short Cources

Emphasizing that the Department supplies excellent short courses free of any expense to the local branch, except to provide a hall, the speaker strongly urged taking advantage of this service, also the study of the literature sent out from Toronto," which helps to make your work effective."

"We have not the money in the Department any more to send out the W.I. Hand Book to every member free, but each branch receives two copies, and for twenty-five cents you may have extra copies from Mrs. W. B. Leatherdale, Coldwater. The Federated song sheets and pins are also procurable from her; and from Mrs. J. E. Hauch, Chippawa, material may be had on Peace Education and International Relationships."

A study of the proper Parliamentary procedure in connection with nominations; motions and amendments; addressing the chair, etc., was a constructive feature of the closing hour, the speaker stating, "I hope the day will come when all Institutes will conduct their business in such correct form that other organizations will look to us as examples of the proper manner of carrying on a meeting. But we have a long way to go, ladies, in this matter—we have a long way to go yet."

The difficulty of securing officers for the individual branches, and other problems, were taken up in some detail, the speaker summing up with the words: "If you could go about this province as I have done, and see the improved homes, communities, schools, etc. as a result of W.I. work, you would never again be discouraged in this great task." The National Anthem closed the convention.

FIVE YEARS GIVEN TO KALADAR MAN

TWEED, Sept. 24—A truck driven by A. M. Wood, Tweed creamery, and another truck owned by Melville Howes, Picton, were involved in a motor accident on Highway No. 7. It appears that both trucks were proceeding in the same direction and the Howes' truck stalled on a grade and commenced to back down. The creamery truck, directly behind, was struck, although no serious damage resulted, the rack of the vehicle driven by Mr. Woods having been broken.

Clarence Thompson, 22, of Kaladar, was sentenced to five years in the Kingston Penitentiary on a charge of armed robbery before Magistrate Ambrose Shea. A second charge of theft of gasoline was dismissed.

Thompson was arrested following a hold-up in Kingston, in which he robbed a taxi driver, and then made his get-away in the stolen vehicle. He was arrested in the vicinity of the village of Denbigh.

Thompson, who has a lengthy record, was severely reprimanded by the Judge, and warned that a penalty of lashes and life sentence could be imposed for the offence for which he was committed.

UAWA Goes After Chrysler Firm

DETROIT, Sept. 24—(AP)—Officials of the United Automobile Workers of America said to-day wage increases for Chrysler Corporation hourly workers, numbering more than 50,000, would be sought in negotiations scheduled to open at once.

Corporation officials withheld comment.

Richard T. Frankensteen, acting head of the international union during the illness of President Homer Martin, refused to say how much of an increase would be sought.

It was reported, without confirmation, a wage increase of from 10 to 25 cents an hour was the objective.

Changes in the production rate in the Plymouth plant of Chrysler Corporation also will be sought.

RUSSIAN GENERAL VANISHES IN PARIS

PARIS, Sept. 24—(AP)—General Eugene De Miller, 70-year-old leader of the now mythical "White Army" of Russia, was reported today to have vanished after a mysterious rendezvous which the aging Czarist suspected as a possible trap.

The case was given a broader aspect when the family of a former Russian General, linked vaguely in the affair by a note De Miller had left, reported he had dropped from sight.

Police telegraphed frontier posts and provincial stations to keep a watch for De Miller, fearing he was abducted.

Paul Kedasonsky, secretary of the Confederation of Russian War Veterans, the scattered legion-in-exile which De Miller heads, told police the General had left a note for him yesterday before he disappeared. It said:

"I have an appointment at 12.30 with General Skobline who is going with me for a rendezvous with a German officer, a military attache of a neighboring country named Stroman, and with Werner, who is attached to the embassy here. Both speak Russian well. The rendezvous was made by Skobline. Perhaps it is a trap."

Koussonsky said Skobline said last night he had no appointment with De Miller for yesterday, and was mystified by the note. This morning Skobline's family said Skobline, too, had disappeared.

Friends of De Miller recalled General Alexandre Koutepoff, De Miller's predecessor as chief of the White Russian veterans, vanished January 28, 1930. That celebrated mystery never was solved.

DESPERATE CHASE FOR FUR THIEVES NEARING CLIMAX

EDMONTON, Sept. 24.—(CP).—Grim battle of wits and woodcraft "to the death" was being staged in the remote Henry Lakes area of Northern British Columbia to-day as British Columbia Provincial Police posses closed on two fugitives who are heavily armed, veterans of bush travel, and sworn "never to be captured . . alive."

Suspected of a $34,000 fur robbery from the Hudson's Bay Company post at Fort Nelson two years ago, two trappers have been hunted by police over a 150-mile area centring on the trading post, through trackless bush, since that time. A month ago two caches of the stolen furs were discovered three miles down-river from Fort Nelson, and the fleeing trappers were reported between the Fort and Henry Lake, 80 miles southwest.

After weeks of manoeuvring into strategic position, with the assistance of airplanes, two posses under command of Sergeant Gammon and Corporal Cook of the British Columbia Police, were closing in to-day from Henry Lakes and Fort Nelson respectively, according to reports here.

Until discovery of the fur caches, one of them destroyed by fire, in August, police had been following a false trail about eighty miles north of Fort Nelson, but it was believed the desperate chase was approaching a final showdown.

Canada's Football Classics Open To Customers Saturday

Imperials At Hamilton Tigers Tops Bill In Exhibition Games

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—(CP)—The east's football season opens in a limited way tomorrow for the purpose of warming up the players and, just as important, warming up the customers. Eight senior teams, all but one appearing for the first time in 1937, engage in exhibition games.

Designed to steam up the fans in rather a big way for opening of the three major circuits, October 11, the program Saturday is:

Toronto Balmy Beach at Montreal Indians.

Barnia Imperials at Hamilton Tigers.

Queen's at Toronto Argonauts.

Royal Military College at U. of Western Ontario.

The Barnia-Hamilton battle may top the bill, bringing together as it does rivals who won't meet again this year unless they qualify together for the eastern final, but the football observer will find something of interest in each of the other tilts.

For instance, he wants to know how much to expect of Montreal's Indians in the Big Four race. Pre-season favorites a year ago, they finished in the cellar. If that was a case of too many stars, as someone suggested, it's just too bad because the Indians have more stars than ever.

Full of Stars

In this tryout game against the rugged Beachers, who respect no man's team, the Indians can send such "names" as Johnny Ferraro, Abe Eliowitz, Pat Burns, Oke Olsen, Chapple O'Connor, Tommy Burns, Pete Jotkus, Ernie Hempey. But the Indians haven't yet proved they are headed anywhere in particular.

So it is with the Imperials, Eastern champions in 1936, who will trot out a few "names" on their own — Bummer Stirling, Ormond Beace, Mike Hedgewick, Arnie McWatters, Alex Hayes. Imperials are a team with great bulk in just the right place and speed scattered generally over the lineup.

Against the Tigers they will use two of the fleetest ball-carries in the sector—Hedgwick and McWatters. They have the best of all Canadian punters in Stirling. And wards. And all of them have join-

Will Manage Team

ALEX SMITH

Another Ottawa hockey star, so reports state, will soon sail for England to take over the managerial post of the Streatham club in the English National Hockey league. He is Alex. Smith, former Ottawa National Hockey league defence star, who is a native of England but learned his hockey around Ottawa. He is the fourth Ottawan to manage an English hockey team.

But Imperials have lost Rocky Parsacagn a sparkplug of the backfield in other years who has returned to his native Detroit. Mike Rodden's Tigers will discover if Imperials are the same without Parsaga, a fine forward passer in addition to other qualifications.

Depends On Huck Welch

Back at the helm in Hamilton after an absence of nine years, Rodden has a backfield built around Huck Welch and a line that has shown exceptional speed in practice. The forward passing will be attended to by Doc Painton, an 'ineligible' from the United States last season.

Ted Reeve's Queen's University team has lost three star halfbacks from the 1936 team—Harry Sonshine, Curly Grug and Johnny Eded Argos who face the Tricolor collegians in Toronto.

But Reeves still has his first-string kicker, Johnny Munro, and here and there he has discovered bits of fresh talent to try out against the Scullers.

London expects to see Bill Storen's Western Mustangs pile up a score on the Intermediate R.M.C. team. The Mustangs, with most of last years stars on hand, are expected as the team to beat in the Intercollegiate Union.

GERMAN STAR DEFEATS HUNT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—Gottfried von Cramm, German tennis ace and second world ranking player, advanced to the finals of the Pacific Southwest tennis singles championship yesterday after routing Joe Hunt, Los Angeles, in a hard battle.

The 18-year-old national junior singles titleholder forced his more experienced foe through five sets before von Cramm finally won, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

MAYBE WE will have more bowling next week, maybe not, but if we do bowl, through this column, just what the activities will be as soon as we find out.

A NICE CROWD turned out last night (Thursday) to play in our most popular tournament of the season, twilight doubles. The bowling was very good, and the games rather evenly contested. We saw one big 8 end, a 7 that looked just as big, a 6, two 5's, and three 4-ends, which is not too bad scoring...Loftus and Burns slipped the 8-end over Oscar McGill and Dr. Barr, and we were the victims of that 7-end. Fitz and Connell being responsible. The others were fairly well distributed.

OVER ON the Markham greens this week, G. Gimblett and E. Sackville landed fourth place out of an entry of 42...Tonight (Friday) at 7.30, a mixed tournament with draw from the board.

FROM TIME to time we have been advocating that every bowler should be well acquainted with the rules of lawn bowling. We believe it would stop a lot of unnecessary arguments if the players would get a rule book, and not only read it thoroughly but learn it by heart.

WINNERS.

First—L. Loftus and Burns, zipper bags. Second—G. Sorenson and E. Coleman, zipper bags. Third—H. Martin and E. Spurway, club bags. Fourth—W. Fletcher and W. Cashcart, thermos jugs.

EASTERN RUGBY WATCHES HANSON

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—(CP)—Memories of a rainy, fall day in 1936 are stirred up among the East's football men these days as they read of the exploits of Fritz Hanson, the blond bombshell of Winnipeg Bombers' backfield.

In the rain and mud in Hamilton stadium, December, 1935, Hanson ran wild against Hamilton Tigers to account, more than any one other person, for the west gaining the Canadian football championship for the first time. No one in the east has forgotten how Hanson spreadeagled Tiger tacklers.

With the Eastern season soon starting, the Bombers of 1937 are moving steadily towards a playoff for the Western Canada championship and a possible meeting with the East's best. Hanson is enjoying a better season than ever, passing and running for Winnipeg touchdowns.

And if East meets West this season, the man the crowds will watch and coaches fear is the same Hanson. One long run can win a football game, and Hanson is a long-run threat every time he gets his hand on the ball.

There was no playoff for the Canadian title in 1936.

'37 Rugby Season Opens On Saturday

Rugby football makes its 1937 debut here tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at 2.30 o'clock in Riverside Park when Toronto Eastsides tangle with the P.C.I. seniors in an exhibition match. It will be the first football of the season and, with no other sports attraction on—the Orfuns playing that day in Cobourg—a big crowd of grid fans is expected. The admission is 25 cents and these young outfits should dish up a lively scrap all the way. They play fast, open football and are in good condition after several weeks of practice.

Both teams have good records. The Eastsides were a junior O.R.F.U. entry last year and went as far as the Dominion junior finals before being knocked off. The senior P.C.I. squad was nosed out by a close score by St. Mike's of Toronto last autumn in Provincial semi-finals. The locals appear stronger this year and Coach Bamforth will shoot all his players into action through tomorrow's tussle. He expects a good game between these teams, both being speedy, tricky and with plenty of weight all the way through. It promises to be an interesting initial encounter.

Cricket Notes

The Peterborough Club are playing Oshawa at the Oval tomorrow. Play to begin at 2 o'clock and players are requested to be punctual as Oshawa is still on Daylight Saving Time and the team will arrive here early. Whitaker are playing Eglinton in Toronto.

These are the last matches in this season's schedule.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

AN IMPORTANT motorcycle hill climbing competition will be held at the Nassau Hill on Thanksgiving Day, starting at 1.30 o'clock. It will feature Class "B"—which is pro—and Class "C" open events, and the show is sponsored jointly by the local Lions Club and the Kawartha Motorcycle Club. Proceeds go for the Lions Club and the Kawartha Motorcycle Club. Proceeds go for the Lions Club boys' band, admission being two bits, including free parking. There will be a bunch of outside and local motorbike daredevils doing their stuff, a strong contingent coming from Toronto for this card, which has the sanction of the American Cycling Union. Hill climbing championship of Canada will be at stake. Seems these gees compete in various programs through the summer, piling up points. At present, Percy Mann and "Tarzan" Schoemick of Toronto are tied and they will battle it out here in the final climb for '37 honors. Other noted Ontario riders coming here are Bert Layco, Dick Gauer and Don Eby.

WE ARE informed that the local Riverview A.C. is swinging along okay with a bunch of boxers training steadily. A show is being planned here in three weeks, with four good Toronto mitt-slingers swapping blows with four of the better Peterborough pugs. There'll be eight bouts in all, well-matched ones, too, the promoters state. If the lacrosse arena can be procured, and the weather is right, the initial ring card will be put on outdoors on October 15. More fight dope next week.

DESPITE THE fact that the Can.-Am. pro ball circuit, in which Knotty Lee's Colts of Ogdensburg won the title the other day, is noted as a hitters' league, some good pitching marks were hung up during the past season. They seem to stress both hurling and clouting in the loop, figuring fielders in the money ranks are a dime a dozen. Mound averages just released show Johnson of Oswego with 18 wins and five loses for a .783 mark, and several others not far behind. The huge Pukas guy, whom Knotty is set to sell to the highest bidder, won 18 and dropped nine, one of his victories being a no-hit effort. He specializes in speed.

EASTSIDES JUNIOR O.R.F.U. team plays the P.C.I. seniors in an exhibition rugby game here tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at 2.30 in Riverside Park. Should be a nifty number with lots of open football dished up by these young squads. Coach Bamforth has a promising gang this autumn and they may knock "off" the smart Torontos tomorrw. It is the first football of the year and should draw a good crowd of grid fans to the fixture.

COACH CHUCK Peck of the Cobourg Red Raiders—whom the Orfuns meet tomorrow on the Lakeshore gridiron—leaves this weekend to resume his studies and his football at Queen's. He has a husky Cobourg crew in good shape before his departure, and predicted that this outfit would hustle any intermediate squad in Central Ontario plenty. He stressed good conditioning, pointing out that chances of injury were slight when the players are in the best of shape. The Red Raiders will be attired in new uniforms, the sweaters having a white body with red stripes and flaring on the shoulders. Some of the '36 huskies of Cobourg didn't need any color emphasis on the shoulders—they were plenty wide enough! F. F. Dufton has been re-elected prexy of this club, and we don't doubt but that it will be just as dangerous as last year's edition. Big, strong and full of fight.

A PRETTY FAIR turnout of players and officers at the Orfuns' meeting last gloaming in the Y.M.C.A. President Lou Brooks conducted the session, which dealt mostly with financial details and club plans for the schedule. Raffle ducats have not been coming in so well, the players not breaking their necks in this respect. A light practise will be held this eve at Riverside under the floodlights, and the team will leave at 12.30 tomorrow for Cobourg, the town still being on fast time. Starting lineup will be chosen by Coach Turnbull tonight. Raffle draw will be here the following Saturday when Eastsides of Toronto play in Peterborough.

BILLS HAVE been posted around town announcing that the G. W. Grads of Toronto will play the GM-men in Alexandra Park, Oshawa, tomorrow aft at three bells in the first of the senior O.B.A.A. finals. Admission is half a slug (okay, then, 50 cents) and quite a bunch of ball fans from this section of timber no doubt will be on deck to cheer the Petes' conquerors along. It is the second straight year for the Motor Citizens to go into Ontario senior finals, the GM-men having ousted St. Catharines last summer. The prospect of a pitching duel between Lefty Biddle and Smoky Smith ought to draw over 2,000 cash customers, if the weather is similar to today. There will be six imports on the Oshawa lineup—proving you need lots of good ones to go anywhere these days in sports, and also showing that the fans will support a winner regardless of homebrews or imports.

ON WEDNESDAY night last at Cheltenham, the minister of agriculture was scheduled to give a political address. But not a soul showed up but he and a reporter! Seems that was the night the Cheltenham-Inglewood Combines—who eliminated our lacrossers — had an O.A.L.A. final playoff tilt in Brampton with Hamilton, and everyone in the village left the minister flat to cheer the gutted-stick wielders along. We're not saying this is right—nor do we think it very wrong—but that's the how of it. No doubt politics are important, too. The speaker took it in good part and philosophically remarked: "There is no use trying to compete with sports."

ODD ITEMS FROM A SPORT SCRAP BOOK

By Bradley

JAMES J. BRADDOCK

There have been few, if any, more popular champions than Jimmy Braddock, the Jersey Irishman, who just recently relinquished his crown to Joe Louis at New York city. Perhaps the reason for this popularity was the fact that Jimmy had been down and out before his amazing rise to the top, or perhaps it was just the man's engaging personality that endeared him to the fighters and fans alike.

We interviewed Jimmy not long ago, and asked him if he saw any difference in the attitude of his admirers, or had the hangers around just been fair weather friends who had gone with the wind on the loss of his title?

His answer surprised us, for Braddock stated that he found his personal friends, as well as the fans, even more cordial than when he was the top notcher of the world's fighters.

WALL'S QUARTET CAPTURES TROPHY

PORT HOPE, Sept. 24 — With three wins and 43 points, Ernest Wall's rink, of Peterborough, won the Dr. James T. Daley memorial trophy in a mixed tournament held by the Port Hope Lawn Bowling Club on the club greens here this week. The cup, in its third year of competition, had on both previous occasions been won by Joseph Topping's Kingston rink which failed to carry it off for the third time.

Sixteen rinks from Kingston, Peterborough, Oshawa, Cobourg and Port Hope participated. With an early start secured, play was concluded shortly after 10 o'clock and trophy and individual prizes awarded by W. A. Meadows, president. Silverware and bowless sets were the prizes presented the team in first place.

The Port Hope rink of H. B. Rosevear was a close second in the Daley trophy play with three wins and 37 points. James Cullen's Peterborough rink was in third position with two wins and 40 points and another Port Hope rink, that of T. W. Stanley, with two wins and 36 points, was fourth. Fifth place went to Dr. Wilkins' rink, of Cobourg, with one win, 36 points. Entree dishes, candlesticks, water pitchers, lamps, ice cups and relish dishes were the prizes awarded.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Barney Ross, 143, Chicago, world's welter weight champion, outpointed Ceferino Garcia, 145½, Philippine Islands (15); Fred Apostoli, 159½, San Francisco, stopped Marcel Thil, 159, France, European middleweight champion (10); Lou Ambers, 134½, Herkimer, N.Y., world's lightweight champion, outpointed Pedro Montanez, 136, Puerto Rico (15); Harry Jeffra, 116¼, Baltimore, outpointed Sixto Escobar, 117¼, Puerto Rico, world's bantamweight champion (15).

Technical Knockout Deprives French Boxer Of Middleweight Title

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (A.P.). — Three championship prize fights in one night, while a laudable enterprise on the part of any promoter, seems to be at least one championship prize fight too many. Especially if each of them goes the limit of 15 rounds without a knockdown and the feature event curls up and plays dead.

Thirty-two thousand six hundred patrons sat through last night's pugilistic extravaganza at the Polo Grounds, and when they finally stumbled out of the place some time this morning they were wondering if the new flatic czar, Mike Jacobs, hadn't perhaps been guilty of choking them with cream.

Wins Bantam Title.

Harry Jeffra of Baltimore, whose chief ambition up to recently had been to become a golf professional, added a final fillip when it was badly needed by winning the bantamweight championship of the world from Sixto Escobar of Puerto Rico, on points.

The bout betwen Lou Ambers, lightweight champion, and Pedro Montanez was the one that curled up. Ambers gave him an awful going-over in close, and it was a dreary thing to watch.

Marcel Thil, the bald Frenchman, made a considerable hit in the night's initial turn before he suffered a serious cut on his right eyelid, and was declared the loser to Fred Apostoli of San Francisco early in the tenth round. Marcel had a clear lead on points at the time Apostoli stabbed him and the blood began to spurt. He had put almost a permanent wave in his flashier opponent's mid-section.

Thil's European middleweight title wasn't at stake. You've got to be a European to win that one.

Soccer Notes

The Canadian General manager notified the secretary of the local association that they could not play the re-play cup tie Father Finalen Charity on Saturday afternoon, owing to a number of their players being away on other business. The Canada Packers were also given notice that there would be No Game Saturday.

Next Saturday afternoon, Oct. 2nd, arrangements have been made to play this important cup game which will start at two o'clock so that extra time will be played—ten minutes each way—until a winner is declared in thirty minutes' duration. There will be no meeting on Monday night.

On Monday afternoon in the Public School League King Edward plays Central on King Edward Park Kick-off at 4.30.

NEWARK BEARS REPULSE BIRDS FOR THIRD TIME

BALTIMORE, Sept. 24.—(CP)—Newark's notorious Bears, ballyhooed as one of the greates minor league outfits in baseball history, seemed in a fair way to-day of knocking their International League play-off jinx for a loop.

They turned back the Baltimore Orioles last night for the third time in a row and need only one more victory in the best-of-seven final-play-off series to win the right to meet the American Association champion in the "Little World Series."

The opportunity to clinch the honor and the Governor's Cup series may come to-night when the Bears meet the Orioles here in the fourth game of the League's last play-offs.

Last night's 7-5 win over the Orioles was No. 7 play-off victory for the Bears. They bumped off Syracuse in four straight games, then beat Baltimore 2-0 and 6-5.

The Bears had their ace, Joe Beggs, ready to work again to-night. He held the Orioles to one hit in the series opener. If Beggs doesn't start, Marius Russo is available.

Either Carl Fischer or Harry Matuzak will take the mound for the Orioles, but to win they will need more batting punch and better fielding support than the Birds put up in the first three games.

Pete Sivess, upon whom the Orioles had counted strongly, started last night, but gave way to Hy Vandenburg in the seventh, when Newark came from behind, scored four runs and went out in front.

One of the biggest and most beautiful trophies in the domain of amateur outboard racing, is the $6,000 silver cup, held here by Paul B. Sawyer, Jr., of New York and Pocono Lake, Pa. The young Yale graduate who was intercollegiate champion last year, won it by virtue of his victory in the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy race. The races were run on the Schuylkill River at Philadelphia.

Don Padgett and Mike Ryba, Cardinals—Padgett hit homer, two triples, driving in three runs, as Ryba pitched four-hit shutout in 4 2-3-inning relief trick to beat Dodgers 8-4.

Jojo Moore, Giants — Hit two doubles, three singles and scored two runs in 8-7 win over Cubs.

New York Giants Practically Clinch National League Flag American Circuit Race Over

Hubbell Gets Credit For 21st Win Of Season As Cubs Go Down Fighting

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(CP). — New York's Diamond Embroidery Society got down to-day to the serious business of winding up its second straight pennant stitching monopoly.

The Yankees had the American Baseball League flag all sewed up. The Giants, somewhat slower on the fancy work, but apparently headed for the same results, were rapidly completing their hemstitching on the National League flag.

The Embroidery Society's very good friends, the Bronx Baseball Cheering and Chowder Club, was all set to whoop it up in another exclusive civil war of the diamond for Little Old New York, come World Series time, October 6.

The Giants were 3½ games ahead as a result of their win over the Cubs yesterday. The victory by an 8-7 margin yesterday in the rubber match of the three-game set with the Cubs produced the daffiest battle of the lot.

Despite a 17-hit New York attack, Terry had to trot out all four of his starting pitchers before the Chicago clouters surrendered. Finally Lanky Cliff Melton, the southpaw rookie who applied a six-hit coat of whitewashing in Wednesday's game, was called on to save the day. And he did—by retiring the final two Cub batters in the ninth, with one run in, and the tying and winning runs on base. Although he lasted less than two innings, Carl Hubbell was given official credit for the victory, his 21st of the year.

Yanks Clinch Pennant

The Yankees, meantime, although taking a 9-5 beating at the hands of St. Louis Browns, had the pleasure of watching an old ex-Yankee, Ben Chapman, clinch the American League pennant for them. Chapman, who loses no love for the Yanks, hit a homer with two on in the nine inning, which gave Boston Red Sox a 4-3 decision over Detroit Tigers, and eliminated the second-place Detroits from the pennant chase. The Tigers are now 12 games behind and have only 10 to play.

Cleveland Indians, finding Washington's rookies too much for them, were beaten 3-2 and sank to fifth.

Jim Turner hurled No. 19 as Boston Bees nosed out the Pirates, 2-1. Don Padgett hit a homer and two triples and led the Cardinals to an 8-4 win over Brooklyn Dodgers. Dolph Camilli's homer with the bases loaded, gave the Phillies a 9-5 triumph over Cincinnati Reds, who used 22 players for a new National League record. Johnny Whitehead won his own game for the White Sox by driving in the only run for a 1-0 edge over the Athletics.

Remember When—

Max Baer, openly afraid of brown-skinned Joe Louis, was counted out while on his knees at New York two years ago to-night. Before 90,000 persons, the Detroit negro—who became champion this year—carried the fight to the clowning Californian, winning in the fourth round.

Congratulated After Setting Mark

Sir Malcolm Campbell, famous British speedster, opened up his new Bluebird, at Lake Maggiore, Switzerland, and smashed the world's speedboat record with an average time of 126.324 miles per hour. Next day he did 129.5 miles an hour. He also holds world's speed record for racing car. He is shown being congratulated by the official timekeeper.

HAVELOCK GAME CALLED IN 7TH

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Sept. 24.—The second game of the Kawartha Junior League finals was called in the seventh inning last night, on account of darkness, with the Wreckers and Hastings Juniors deadlocked 13 all. The Havelock boys won the first game in the three-out-of-five series 12 to 9, and the third game is scheduled to come off in Hastings Monday evening.

The Hastings crew went into an early lead, piling up six runs in the first and two more in the third, to lead by eight runs. The local squad, however, rallied in the last of the third, chalking up two runs, adding ten more in the next three stanzas. Behind three runs in the first of the ninth, the visitors took advantage of a couple of errors to add three more runs, tieing the score.

The teams:

Hastings: Phillips c, Radford 1b, McCoy 3b, McKee p, Stickles ss, O. Bonds 2b, Turner lf, Brindlow rf, Faux cf.

Sports Spice

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP).—Joe Louis sat in the press box at the Polo Grounds last night and thought young Harry Jeffra was a whiz....Of course, Mike Jacobs has all the winners tied up...If he doesn't land a Fred Apostoli-Freddy Steele title go for the Garden this winter, it will be Steele's fault...At that, Apostoli isn't so proud of his victory...Old Man Marcel Thil was miles ahead on points when his eye was cut...Nobody can understand how Referee Johnny Martio called the Lou Ambers-Pedro Montanez bout a draw...Many think Johnny should have been a baseball umpire.

Best bout of the evening was the extra added attraction in which Dan (One Round) Parker) sports editor of the Daily Mirror, planted a perfect right on the beak of Marcus Griffin, Broadway columnist of the New York Enquirer...It was a pip, while it lasted...Night's biggest disappointment was the terrible showing of Pedro Montanez...Why he didn't throw his right oftener is still a mystery...Mike Jacobs served the press with baskets lunches...Barney Ross was worried more than once in his bout with Ceferino Garcia.

The crowd was below expectations, but nobody has a kick...Mike cleared some dough and when you add it to what he got out of the Farr-Louis and Braddock-Louis fights, he hasn't had a bad summer—unless you call between $50,000 and $100,000 bad.

New York Rangers The Team To Beat

DETROIT, Sept. 24—(CP)—Ebbie Goodfellow, defenceman for the Detroit Red Wings, has already sized up the opposing teams in the National Hockey League.

New York Rangers will be the team to beat when Detroit fights for the Stanley Cup it has won for two years in succession, Ebbie says.

"Manager Lester Patrick is a shrewd old cuss," said Ebbie. "He had a gang of good kids last year and the experience they gained will stand them in good stead."

But, "this season's Stanley Cup winners?" "Why, Detroit Red Wings, of course," said Ebbie.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. W. Williams, Engleburn Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter Gwendaline Ellen, to Herbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Merrett, Burnham street. The wedding to take place the latter part of October.

IN MEMORIAM

INNES.—In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Gordon Innes, who passed away September 24, 1925.

When the Lord said, "You have finished,
Come up higher, Mother dear,
You have won a crown in Heaven
By your love and kindness here."
We remember well our sorrow,
As we stood beside your bed,
Our deep and heartfelt anguish,
When we saw that you were dead.
We miss your kind and willing hand,
Your fond and earnest care;
Our home is dark without you, Mother,
We miss you everywhere.

—Ever remembered by her two daughters, Mildred and Jean.

RUSTLE OF SILKS

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 42

LARRY HOLK said it was like winning a world's championship, like being the author of the best seller, like being the mother of quintuplets! To be commissioned to costume the play of the season in New York for the most widely-heralded actress was an accomplishment.

She left the villa, still filled with guests, and went directly to Paris with Carla. She barricaded herself in her home and had fabrics sent to her there. And then for nearly seven days she sketched, discarded her sketches and made new ones. She read Carla's play, demanded that Carla do scene after scene for her until she herself became the woman in the play. Until she felt in her very deepest heart, every shading of emotion that Carla was to portray.

And when her spirit was permeated with it, she began to make the sketches that she wanted, the costumes that were a part of the mood. Therein lay Mari Barat's art. She was no mere dress designer then. Her lines sprung from an inspiration that was deeper than the mind alone.

There was a gown of misty blue-black with a sweep of magenta. There was rich brocade and regal velvet. There was tenderness in the daffodil yellow, and passion in the deep purple.

And all the while that Mari labored for perfection, she was selfless. But when the gowns were finished, she knew that she had sewn some of her heart in them. For now Tony Castle would see them; would know that "the untried girl" had produced a work of art.

Carla had said generously that her costumes were as great as her role, that they'd demand more applause than her acting.

That wasn't true of course, but that her costumes were a sensation was true.

Again there were the cables from America. Cables of congratulation, cables containing offers from other actresses, other producers and four contracts offered from Hollywood. There were notes from unknown admirers. And treasured most, a hesitant, shy letter from a girl in New York named Louise O'Brien.

That letter Mari read over and over again. At first it had puzzled her. She knew no one named O'Brien. And, at last, when she realized it had come from the model who had been her friend at Castle's shop, she treasured it.

Surely if Louise had seen and heard of her clothes and had written to her, Tony would do no less. Tony could not disregard her now! He must, if only out of professional courtesy, write her a congratulatory note.

Weeks, months passed after the opening in New York. There was never any word from Tony.

Mari ceased to run through her mail, separating that from America and then, slowly and with high hopes, set it aside, letter by letter. With fingers that trembled she opened those envelopes that gave no clue to the writer.

At last she knew it would not come. She settled back into the calm that was neither happy nor unhappy.

She had her work. And that year, she had labor troubles. Hesitant because she was not a Parisian, she deputized her representatives to draw up a code that was to be accepted and right the difficulties. That move was to make her position more secure and later—

In the meantime, like so many women whose cup is filled to brimming, but tasteless, she traveled. She took a North Cape cruise. She went to St. Moritz for the winter sports; to England for the races and to renew her first friendship with Ellen Verlaine. She went to Scotland to shoot grouse, and to Salzburg to the opera festival.

She refused a proposal of marriage from an English lord with the same grace that she refused the Italian composer. She told the young French flyer whose plane she christened that, of course, she believed he was making the flight for her alone, but refused the diamond bracelet he wanted to give her.

She was hostess at a ball given by an Indian Maharaja and accepted the priceless, crusted cigaret box he offered her. She accepted, without ever thinking of them, the constant attentions of Mark Sutherland who was a quieter, less mature person than she had thought him when she first knew him.

She moved in the smartest of continental society, wore clothes that were the envy of every woman who saw her, and became more beautiful and brittle with the passing of time.

She went to Cairo with Mark and Ellin. Long since, she had lost her bright feeling of anticipation when she embarked upon a journey. But she was touched and inspired by the beauty of the Orient.

Every scene, so different from the accustomed panorama, inspired a color combination, a motif with which you are since familiar.

Going by boat to Alexandria, from her deck chair she saw a dusky maiden waving a scarf from beneath a palm tree on an island in the Azores. Hastily her sketch book came out. She would print a fabric in brown and red and orange. She must experiment with dyes, get a combination to give white the strange cool greenish tinge of pineapple. You remember "pineapple white?"

When she heard that there were seals and rare birds — seals in the tropics!—at Madeira, she resolved to make amusing buttons of black wood, shaped like seals and cleverly treated to have their sleekness.

So it was wherever she went. It was the machine in her, and not the woman, who made much of the beauty that should have held her spellbound.

She looked for designs everywhere. The only time that she was stirred deeply was when she realized that she rode the same waters that Antony and Cleopatra had sailed thousands of years before. She thought of Caesar and Zenobia, and wondered if duLac would have her shipment of ordered skins from Russia when she returned.

On the delta she saw the natives driving their water buffalo, camels and donkeys. She heard the ever present chanting of the blacks, the turbaned youth that served her.

Unmoved she looked upon the indescribable beauty of Egyptian nights—palm fronds stirring, silhouetted against the yellow eastern sky. She heard the weird music of cymbals as slowly moving figures sang on the river's brink.

Once, sitting on deck, watching the skies turn from lilac to purple, watching the mimosa trees and date palms grow black, she saw great white cranes rise and wheel against the dark sky, and felt the impact of beauty with unbearable poignancy.

"What next?" she whispered aloud.

Mark was sitting beside her. "So you're not satisfied yet? Why not try a look-see at your home town? There's been many a skyscraper put up since you turned your back on it."

"New York?" Mari felt suddenly breathless. She had never admitted that she was still running away. But could return in triumph. It was exciting! She wished her visit to Cairo were not just beginning. She must go to New York.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SLEEPY BUSH

"Aren't you scairt, Tratsie?" asked Tootsie, the little pussy girl who had been "scairt," as she called it, or frightened, when she thought a box turtle was a stone with head and legs.

"No, I'm not," said Tratsie, a little rabbit boy. "But it looks funny."

"Let me see what it is," said Uncle Wiggily, who had taken the class from the Hollow Tree School out in the woods giving them lessons in Nature Study.

"Pay attention to Uncle Wiggily, please, children," squeaked Miss Mouse, the teacher, who was also out in the woods.

"Where is it, Tratsie?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"There," said the new little rabbit boy. He pointed one paw at what seemed to be a ball of fur on the path. But the ball of fur had a tail, four legs and a head. "It's some animal, I think, Uncle Wiggily, spoke Tratsie, "but I guess the poor thing is dead."

"Oh, too bad" said Baby Bunty. "Poor thing!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily.

Makes Believe

"How can you laugh when some poor animal is dead?" asked Miss Mouse.

"Because it isn't dead, it is only pretending," said Mr. Longears.

"Pretending to be dead?" asked Tratsie in surprise.

"Yes," went on the rabbit gentleman. "From this you may learn a lesson somewhat like the one about the box turtle which pulls its tail, legs and head within its shells when in danger.

"But there is no danger here," said Baby Bunty.

"This animal, pretending to be dead, thought there was," said Uncle Wiggily. 'It heard the noise we made here in the woods so it curled up and thinks by pretending to be dead, we will not pay any more attention to it."

"It's all right, Poodle!" called Uncle Wiggily in a loud voice. "You needn't pretend any longer. We will not harm you."

"Oh, all right, Uncle Wiggily!" answered the animal which Tratsie had thought so funny. "I'm glad there is no danger."

Then Poodle got to his feet and bowed to Miss Mouse politely and she squeaked:

"Oh, I know you now. You are an Opossum."

"Yes, I am one of Dr. Possum's little boys," said the animal that had pretended to be dead. "Daddy taught me to curl up and make believe I had no life in me. That's how we Opossums escape danger."

Pretence.

"That's right. Another little lesson for my nature class," said Uncle Wiggily, laughing. "And because of what Opossums or Possums, as they are sometimes called, do in time of danger, we have the saying 'playing Possum,' meaning to pretend sleep," Uncle Wiggily told his class.

Little Poodle waddled on by himself, Mr. Longears led his class deeper into the woods and, all of a sudden, as they came to a green plant, or bush, Baby Bunty stumbled and almost fell.

"Oh!" cried the orphan rabbit as she grasped the bush to save herself from a tumble. But as she looked at the bush she called: "Look, Unwie Wig, this bush is going to sleep!"

"So it is," said Mr. Longears. "And it gives me a chance to tell you another lesson. Gather round, my dears."

And in the next story, if the bathing suit doesn't get all wet when it goes in swimming, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the flying leaves.

DOMINION FRUIT CROP ABOVE 1936

OTTAWA, Sept. 24—(CP). — All commercially grown fruits in Canada have produced larger crops this year than last except pears and cherries, said a fruit and vegetable crop report issued yesterday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Substantial increases were shown by apples, peaches, strawberries, raspberries and grapes. Plums had a moderate gain. The falling off in Ontario's pear production was not wholly offset by an increase in British Columbia.

Vegetable growth has been normal in most areas of production. The canning tomato crop in Ontario has not fulfilled earlier expectations but is still well above that of 1935. Late crops of all root vegetables promise well with heavy yields of potatoes in prospect.

Cool Weather Helps.

Following extremely hot weather of late August and early September in Ontario, temperatures recently have been much cooler, with a fair amount of rain. These conditions have materially improved the coloring of fruits, and in all sections of the province size and color are superior to last season.

In Western Ontario the apple crop has developed well, with noticeable improvement in color since the advent of cooler weather. There has been some side-worm injury, varying in severity according to district, but apart from this all pests have been kept well under control.

The plum crop sized well, but the hot, humid weather of three weeks ago was responsible for considerable spread of brown rot with consequent loss of fruit. Late varieties coming on the market now are free of any disease.

Peaches were similarly affected by the adverse weather and the promised increase in crop due to the excellent sizing was partially offset by brown rot losses. The Elberta crop now being harvested shows little or no sign of rot.

Increased Pear Crop.

Conditions have been favorable for the development of the pear crop and the present estimate shows some increase over last month.

The grape crop is sizing and coloring well with generally compact bunches. The crop promises a substantial increase over the very small yield of last season, but will still be below average. Apart from the usual leaf hopper damage in neglected or poorly sprayed vineyards, pests are well under control.

In Eastern Ontario apples are sizing much better than last season. Picking of McIntosh is now under way in many orchards. Buyers are selecting the cleanest and best-sprayed orchards and are paying as high as $3.00 per barrel for apples on the trees, $2.50 for Snows and $2.00 for other varieties.

So far the truck movement has been light, but a heavier demand is anticipated soon.

NANKING BOMBING WORRIES LONDON

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The reaction of London's millions to the bombing of Nanking is apparent to every one in the city yesterday afternoon. Newspapers proclaimed the fact that upward of a hundred Japanese bombers dropped tons of high explosive on the open city with defenseless civilians as targets.

The Londoner's reaction is highly personal. It isn't a matter of ordinary humanity nor loating of an act of unprecedented barbarism. Londoners recall their own air raids of the Great War, though the greatest of these was but a minor ordeal in comparison with what happened in Nanking yesterday.

The Nanking bombing is regarded as almost certainly prophetic of the future course of events in Europe. It supplements and strengthens the feeling of horror and anger occasioned by the bombing of Guernica in Spain by the Nazis.

It requires no imagination to substitute London for Nanking, millions of British for hundreds of thousands of Chinese and European Fascist or Nazi bombers for those which flew over Nanking yesterday.

ASHVILLE VOTES TO TEST DRY LAW

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 24/ —(AP).—Dr. Tennessee, where five per cent. beer is the strongest legal beverage, balloted to-day on repeal of its prohibition laws, but the result will have no binding effect.

The referendum will be merely an advisory recommendation to the Legislature.

Edward H. Crump, Memphis political leader and the State's No. 1 repeal advocate, said he would not have anything to do" with the referendum.

"The referendum provides for nothing—a mirage in the desert," he said. "You imagine you see something but you don't."

This inactivity of repealists in Memphis, coupled with what he called "lack of interest on the part of the Wets," led the Rev. Robert S. Tinnon, superintendent of the state Anti-Saloon League, to forecast an "absolutely certain" victory for the Drys.

No Brick Greetings From The Air

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Sept. 24.

A YOUNG woman planned a sightseeing trip at the local airport, and wanted to let her family know about it.

When she emerged from an automobile at the airport, she carried two bricks and an American flag.

"What are the bricks for?" asked Pilot Ralph C. Barnard.

"I want you to fly over my house," the girl answered, "and when you do I am going to drop the bricks and the flag so the folks will know it's me."

"Oh, no, you're not," declared the pilot.

The girl took the ride, sans bricks but she waved the flag throughout the flight.

Death Bests Pilot After 2 Attempts To Save Gravely-Ill Woman

Charlottetown, Sept. 24 (CP)

BODY of Mrs. I. R. Lebourbois lay in death here today despite two gallant attempts of a man she had never seen to save her life.

The 28-year-old wife of a Magdalene Islands physician died in hospital here last night, little more than 24 hours after an emergency operation was performed to remove a dead, unborn child.

She was brought to hospital from lonely Grindstone Island through a 40-mile gale in an airplane piloted by H. S. Jones of Canadian Airways, who answered an appeal from Dr. Lebourbois to bring assistance "at all costs."

Yesterday as her condition became weaker following theoperation, doctors decided a blood transfusion was necessary. In an attemot to save her life a second time Pilot Jones gave his blood. She died a few hours after it was administered.

TEACHER VICTIM OF CHLOROFORM SAYS NURSE

STEAMER SINKS SUPERIOR GALE DROWNING FIVE

Barge Captain Saves Nine From Wreckage

RED ROCK, Ont., Sept. 26 (C. P.). — Treacherous Nipigon Straits to-day held the bodies of five persons, plunged to their deaths when a south-east gale lashed the steamship Neebing until it keeled over and disappeared.

Fifteen persons were aboard the ill-fated craft, owned by the Sin-Mac Lines of Montreal, as it towed the barge Couleau with a gravel cargo. The vessel was bound from Paradise Island to Red Rock, near Nipigon on Nipigon Bay in Lake Superior.

Captain A. L. Carney of Port Arthur went down with his wrecked ship. Others who died were: T. J. Bechencke, chief engineer of Fort William; W. Smith, fireman, Fort William; Ray Paterson, cook, and Mrs. Ray Paterson, cook's helper.

As it moved into the gale from the shelter of Moss Island, the Neebing faltered. The gale whipped the waters about her until a huge wave struck. The battering finally shot the Neebing, 1,109-ton vessel, built in Toledo, O., in 1892, to the bottom.

No Time To Launch Boats

So sudden was the ship swamped the crew had no time to launch lifeboats. Mrs. Paterson, lone woman aboard, and the four other victims apparently were trapped below deck by onrushing waters.

Survivors aboard the barge which was cut loose from the sinking Neebing were Ollie Konderka, 33-year-old barge captain; P. B. Medwid, mate; M. Lucas, wheelsman; B. Lewis, wheelsman; J. Page, deckhand; S. Boiyk, deckhand; William Shewchuk, deckhand; H. Harman, fireman; A. Basset, oiler; F. Colostmo, derrick operator.

Second Engineer James Keenan, Port Arthur, suffering from exposure, was helped to safety when those aboard the barge put out in a rowboat to pick up crew members floundering in the rough water. Konderka said the barge was anchored until the Sin-Mac Lines tug Strathmore hove in sight to take the survivors to Red Rock.

From Red Rock the crew and Pictures indicate extent of the damage suffered by Norwood United Church which was gutted with an estimated loss of $20,000 when fire believed due to a short circuit in the electric wiring broke out shortly before Friday noon. Walter Hagerman one of two men who were repairing the bell tower saw a thin drift of smoke rising from the roof of the gable over the organ loft and gave the alarm. He is pictured in the lower centre. A general view of the church property at (LOWER LEFT) was taken just as the flames and smoke began to break through the roof, while the picture above it shows the roof completely gone. Remaining pictures show efforts of firefighters to stem the onslaught of the blaze, while that at lower right is of pumpers old and new sucking water from the creek located a quarter mile south of the church. The pumper nearest camera was sent from Peterborough in response to a call for help.

Died In 10 Minutes; 12 Hours After Illegal Operation

Claims Doctor Found Dark Deep Spot in River; Said "Cheer Up, For We'll Get Away With It"

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 25 —(CP)— Mary Wilkinson died from effects of choloroform administered her by Dr. C. A. Cline about 12 hours after an illegal operation was performed on the 37-year-old school teacher, Mrs. Emily Robertson testified today at the preliminary hearing of Dr. Cline on a charge of murder.

"She died within 10 minutes," sobbed Mrs. Robertson, a graduate nurse held by police on a nominal charge arising from Miss Wilkinson's death. Her husband also is charged with murder, and Lorne McFarlan is being held on a nominal charge in connection with the case.

Crown Attorney Norman Newton, before opening his cross-examination, asked that Mrs. Robertson be given the protection of the court. There was a possibility a grave charge would be preferred against her, he said.

As the woman was not represented by counsel, Alex. Ferguson, who has been appointed by Attorney General Leduc to defend her husband, agreed to act for her. Robertson said in his first court appearance Monday, he had no money to retain counsel.

Knew Doctor Four Years

Mrs. Robertson, under cross-examination, admitted knowing Dr. Cline for four years and caring for patients of the doctor's at different times in her own home. She said a woman patient, whose name she did not know, was brought to her house on the morning of September 7 by her husband. The woman went straight to a front bedroom and Dr. Cline arrived a half hour later. The doctor went in to see the patient, and asked that his instruments, a sponge, forceps, a pair of scissors, be sterilized.

The witness under the questioning of the Crown Attorney described further details of the doctor's attentions to the woman.

Mrs. Robertson, on her own accord, said there was a considerable amount of bleeding, which was unusual. Later the patient was returned to bed and Mrs. Robertson said she was instructed to administer a hypodermic. Three hypodermics were administered, witness said.

No Anaesthetic Used.

When the doctor returned that night the patient was again placed on the kitchen table and no anaesthetic was used at any time. The doctor used the forceps and began pulling with all his strength.

The patient, fully conscious, asked only that her abdomen be pressed in.

"He then realized what he had done and ordered the patient put to bed," continued the witness.

When placed on the bed the pa-

BONUS IS PAID 230 EMPLOYEES JOHNSON MOTORS

Employees of Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company (Canadian Johnson Motor) this afternoon headed for the company's big annual picnic outing at Hiawatha with substantial bonus checks in their pockets. Bonus's were paid to all 230 employees on the company payroll.

The bonus distribution was explained by General Manager Hugh Campbell as evidence of the most prosperous year the company has enjoyed since its establishment here and a continuation of the company practice of rewarding its employees with a share of the profits. Similar bonus's were paid this time last year.

Mr. Campbell said an improvement in both the export and domestic business has been responsible for the prosperity enjoyed in 1937. All lines of production showed advances with the result that the number of employees was increased during the year. Further payroll increases may be necessary within the near future and more plant space may be required, he said. Standing at 230, the payroll is at its peak for the company's history here.

The present bonus is the second benefit extended to the Outboard Marine employees this year. During the summer, the company provided for the first time a one-week holiday with pay for all hands. Mr. Campbell said wages through the plant compare favorably with those prevailing in other industries here and, in a number of cases, are above average.

The company management was optimistic in looking toward the coming year of business.

REGAINED HIS FAITH

OCEAN CITY, Md., Sept. 25 (A. P.). — Archie Davis, a barber, has regained his faith in human nature —and $4.50.

Davis heard no more from his debtor until this week — when a money order for $4.50 arrived.

HOLLYWOOD "A RACKET"

INDIANAPOLIS Sept. 25 (A.P.). —Mary Pickford, trim in modish black, stood on a table here yesterday and warned people who like to act to stay away from Hollywood.

"Hollywood,' the Toronto-born actress told amateurs of the Indianapolis Civic Theatre, "is a racket. Stay at home if you are interested in acting."

Then she stepped down to sign the season's first membership card and begin a campaign, she put in a good word for the Little Theatre Movement as a means of expression and leisure-time activity.

HEPBURN TO SEEK WIDER REDUCTION IN DEBT CHARGES

OTTAWA, Sept. 25 (CP)—Since the Liberal government assumed office steady progress had been made toward reduction of the proportion of revenue required each year to meet interest charges, Premier Hepburn told a Liberal rally here last night. This was due to the administration's successful struggle with financial interests for lower interest rates and to increasing revenues as a result of business methods of administration.

In 1934 the government had to disperse 42 cents out of every dollar collected in revenue for interest charges. Had the debt-increasing policy of the Henry government continued this proportion would have gone up. Instead it had gone down and now only 25 cents was required.

A Further Cut

If given a new lease of power, Mr. Hepburn predicted he would be able to reduce the province's debt-carrying charges still more and perhaps cut them in half.

An assured revenue of $10,000,000 in perpetuity was in sight as a result of the government's administration of the lands and forests department. When it took office this department was in the red. This year it would return a profit of $4,000,000, next year $7,000,000 and in the following and subsequent years when 12 large mills now being constructed were in operation, $10,000,000.

ROWE OFFERS PLAN OF REFORESTATION WESTERN ONTARIO

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 25 (CP)— A water conservation and reforestation plan to aid western Ontario districts that have suffered from floods and drought is promised by Conservative Leader Earl Rowe if his party is elected to power in the October 6 Ontario election.

Concluding a western Ontario tour last night at this centre of the disastrous Thames River spring floods, Mr. Rowe declared: "We're going to have a plan for water conservation and reforestation and we're going to give men something to do rather than teach them to do nothing."

To Clear Up Beer Situation

Reference to the proposals, which he believed a provincial responsibility, came after Mr. Rowe continued his attack on the liquor administration of the Liberal government. He promised to "nail the hide of this beer-tanned government to the fence."

"Here is the picture and criminal record of a man who served 11 jail terms in 11 years," he declared, holding aloft a photograph and some papers. "He was given a beer license under the Hepburn government."

The Conservative leader also declared he had the affidavit "of a respectable hotel keeper" which alleged "an agent of a member of the legislature forced him to pay $50 to defray the expenses of the Liberal member and his wife to the opening of parliament.

Mr. Rowe said before October 6 he

WATERDOWN BANK LOOTED OF $7,000

WATERDOWN, Ont., Sept. 25. — (CP). — Cash estimated by bank officials at $7,000 was obtained here today by two armed robbers who held up the Royal Bank of Canada branch. The pair escaped and sped eastward towards Toronto in a costly car.

The robbers lined the staff up at the point of their guns and scooped up available cash.

Provincial police in Hamilton, five miles south of here, and Toronto spread a drag net over highways.

The stolen car, a large new coupe, was reported stolen from Toronto yesterday.

The pair charged into the bank yelling "stick 'em up. This is a hold-up." With the employees covered by two guns, the men cleaned out the cash drawer in the teller's cage and the money compartment in the vault.

A waterdown woman noticed the men enter the bank and saw them hurry out. She telephoned the Hamilton police and gave them descriptions.

EUROPE UNEASY AS HITLER, DUCE GO INTO PARLEY

MUNICH, Germany, Sept. 25 (AP) —Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Hitler met today for the second time in their spectacular careers and Europe tensely awaited the result of their rendezvous.

The first few hours of the visit of the Italian dictator to Munich, where Hitler started his rise to power, was taken up with a round of social activities in a flamboyant setting of bunting and banners, troops and bands, cheers and parades.

The serious "brass tack" conversations either were sandwiched into the nine-hour program in Munich or were put off until later. But whenever they come, the results promised to be of deep concern to Europe.

Wreck Survivors Barely Have Time To Jump

Wheelsman And Mate Grab Belts As Ship Vanishes In Gyser Of Debris

RED ROCK, Ont., Sept. 25.—(CP) —If the sinking of the steamship Neebing in Nipigon Straits yesterday in which five were drowned, had occurred much later in the day, Bill Lewis, wheelsman, Port Arthur, would have been asleep instead of standing in his cabin in position to realize what was happening and grab a life belt.

"I was having breakfast when we left shelter at Eagles Nest," Bill said last night after being brought ashore with other survivors." I was up forward in my room when she started swaying. She sort of listed right over.

"I grabbed for a life belt and made for the high side of the deck. I was just about to jump over and the mate, Pete Medwick, was right beside me.

"He asked me if there were any more belts in my room. I said there was one more, so he ran to get it. We both jumped and we had only got a few feet away when she went right down, the suction starting to pull me down.

Finds Self Among Wreckage

"The next thing I knew was a pile of wreckage all around me. I made for a hatch and climbed onto it. As I was floating around I saw the second engineer, James Keenan, he was barely hanging on. I made for him. There was a life belt floating around. I picked it up as I got to him. I pulled him up and shoved the belt under him.

"I saw the fireman floating around about 15 feet away. There was a cork life ring near him. He

Young "Fire Eater" Cured Of Habit

Hull, Que., Sept 25—(CP)

Gerald yesterday tried to emulate the gentry who eat fire like the ordinary man would eat spaghetti. He filled his mouth with gasoline, scratched a match and touched the flame to the gasoline as he spat the liquid from his mouth.

There was a streak of flame and a scream from Gerald. When the fire died out the boy's face and mouth were badly burned. He was taken to hospital, where his condition was reported today as not serious.

Rescues Brother From Drowning

FORT ERIE, Ont., Sept. 25—(CP) —George Rutter, Jr., 17, rescued his nine-year-old brother, Weldon, off the Royal Hotel dock at the foot of Jarvis street. According to Charles Davis, local contractor, the elder boy displayed rare courage.

Weldon fell off the dock into the Niagara River and was not observed until cries for help were heard. George, fully clothed, plunged in. After Weldon had sank twice, George succeeded in getting a firm grip on the lad's clothing.

David extended a fishing pole which the elder boy gripped and thus aided in getting his brother back to edge of wharf.

London Starts Drive To Boycott All Trade With Japanese

League Executive Urges Government To Uphold Covenant, Help Block Aggression

LONDON, Sept. 25.—(CP Cable.) —A movement is under way for a trade boycott of Japan. The executive committee of the League of Nations Union urges the government —should the committee of 28 find Japan responsible for the present conflict in China—to declare publicly:

That they (the government) are prepared to carry out their duties under the League covenant:

That they are ready in particular to join in whatever measures may seem wise and effectual in putting a stop to aggression, provided other countries are ready to do the same in sufficient numbers to make such action effectual.

The committee added that in its opinion the best metohd would be for all countries concerned to refuse to accept exports from Japan.

The National Executive of the Evangelical Free Church Council adopted a resolution calling on the government to take steps to prevent further atrocities and especially to MAUDED by a wounded bear at the head of the Berland river near the western boundary of Jasper National park, Harry Phillips, guide, being conveyed over tortuous trails is expected to arrive at hospital here Sunday.

Guiding a party of St. Louis sportsmen tracking a wounded grizzly, Phillips came upon the infuriated animal. The bear sprang upon the guide and mauled him about the head and legs before two of the party, A. W. Buck and Frederick Robinson, shot the animal. The bear fell dead across the injured guide and had to be lifted off.

Bumper Holland Marsh Crops Lie Rotting, No Market

Acres Of Finest Vegetables To Spoil—Owners On Verge Of Destitution Returns So Small

BRADFORD, Sept. 25. — It is strange that there should be tragedy in the sight of row upon row of thriving green vegetables, growing in the warm autumn sunshine from rich black soil stretching for hundreds of acres as far as the eye can reach, in a land that can probably be classed as Ontario's most fertile area.

Incredible as it may seem, this situation actually exists in the marshlands that spread out from this village and border on the Holland River. With their crops the most bountiful in years, tillers of the Holland Marsh are faced with the curse of a glutted market and the possibility of seeing the results of their summer's labor lie rotting in the fields or in the garbage dumps of Toronto's commission markets.

RUSSIAN GENERAL PUT UNDER GUARD

PARIS, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A police guard was posted today about the residence of General Anton Denikin, one-time leader of the White Russian army, after investigators learned of an incident that may throw light on "the case of the vanishing generals."

Surete Nationale agents learned General Nicholas Skobline, one of two missing generals of the dead Czar Nicholas, had offered to drive Denikin to Brussels following the disappearance Wednesday of General Eugene de Miller, head of the Confederation of Russian War Veterans.

Skobline vanished Thursday. But before he dropped from sight, associates of Denikin said, Skobline suggested Denikin accompany him to the Belgian capital to attend the 20th anniversary celebration of the old Imperial Russian Kornilloff regiment.

These sources said Denikin declined to make the motor trip because he believed de Miller, with whom he had been unfriendly after a recent argument, would also be at Brussels.

Denikin's friends said Skobline then told the former White army leader: "De Miller will not be at Brussels."

Investigators sought to learn the significance of that remark—if Skobline actually made it.

1938 Naval Program To Give Britain Fleets In Two Hemispheres

London, Sept. 25—(CP Cable)

A HEAVY naval program is predicted for 1938. According to Hector Bywater, the Daily Telegraph's naval correspondent, proposals aim at re-establishing British navy on a 2-hemisphere basis.

This involves provision of sufficient tonnage to maintain one powerful battlefleet, complete with auxiliaries, in European waters, with another available, if need be, for service in the far east.

This policy, Bywater continues, is being pursued with the approval and cooperation of Dominions, whose share in the task of naval defence is about to be enlarged."

Introducing the 1937-38 naval estimates, Sir Samuel Hoare, then first lord of the admiralty, emphasized the need of carrying out British naval duties in both hemispheres.

those on the barge were rushed to Port Arthur by automobile. Keenan sped to Port Arthur in an ambulance and was placed in hospital at the lakehead.

Tug Sights Wreckage.

Captain V. McCabe of the tug Strathmore glimpsed wreckage as his craft proceeded towards Red Rock, and his search brought him to the anchored barge with its shivering passengers. The Strathmore appeared more than eight hours after the Neebing went to the bottom.

Konderka, barge captain, said the Neebing and the barge lay in shelter off Moss Island from eight o'clock Thursday night until seven o'clock Friday morning. Lake Superior gales drove the craft to cover, but Captain Carney decided to make the run to Red Rock.

Only a few hundred yards from Moss Island shelter the storm whipped the Neebing out of control. Konderka said no explosion rent the craft. High seas, kicked up by the fierce winds, claimed it. The Neebing, 193 feet long with a beam of 40 feet, went down shortly after seven o'clock.

Swamped By Waves.

"We had just nicely got underway from Moss Island when a terrific wave broke over the Neebing's bulwarks," said Konderka.

"She listed sharply to starboard and I knew something was wrong, so I slashed the tow rope on the Couteau immediately.

"Another big wave crashed over the Neebing and she lurched violently once or twice from the shock. Then she heeled over a little more and suddenly slid almost edgewise under water. Nobody had a chance to do anything until the boat was gone."

The after-house of the Neebing, which contained the galley and quarters of the crew, broke from the ship and popped to the surface with the two lifeboats still in place shortly after the sinking.

Only a few feet from the barge one of the crew appeared to grasp a rope thrown by Konderka. When Konderka saw crew members clinging to the wreckage he picked them up in a lifeboat from the floating after-house.

Dares Storm in Punt.

Konderka dared the angry waters in a small punt from the barge. He rowed to each crew member clinging to wreckage. He asked them to hang on and then set out for the floating afterhouse and towed it to the barge.

After succeeding in launching a lifeboat, the barge captain with the help of two members of the barge crew rescued those afloat in the high seas. With the rescued ones aboard the barge, he started to pull towards Red Rock.

The tug Strathmore finally hove in sight, picked up the barge captain from the lifeboat, and then rescued those aboard the barge. Only Keenan was in bad shape, and at Port Arthur Hospital little hope was held for his recovery as a skull fracture is feared beside exposure effects.

The Neebing, formery the Coalhurst and John B. Ketchum II., was hired by the Alke Sulphite Pulp Company to haul gravel to Red Rock, a new Northern Ontario town under construction since spring when J. O. Sweezy and Montreal associates started development of large timber limits in the Nipigon area.

Hepburn's Onions Help A Merchant

Pickering, Sept. 25

FRED Bunting, well - known Pickering merchant and prominent Liberal worker in Ontario County, struck a novel scheme to advertise his politics as well as his wares. As the motorist arrives in the eastern suburb, his attention is arrested by Bunting's store window display. He beholds a mass display of onions from the farm near St. Thomas, owned by Premier Hepburn. Over the display hangs a photograph of the Premier in a smiling mood, while a huge sign reads: "Hepburn knows his onions."

Another display of winter rubbers is accompanied by the exhortation not to "vote Tory and be all wet."

will show further evidence of his charges against the Government's liquor administration in the form of "cheques endorsed and cashed for the Government and by Government agents."

Land Ought to be Third Wooded.

Speaking of his plan for drought and flood relief, Mr. Rowe said such a plan was a provincial responsibility. He said he would "rather spend $30,000,000 on reforestation than spend $20 and teach men to do nothing."

The Conservative Leader declared scientific authorities estimated that to be useful and fertile a piece of land should be one-third wooded. He went on to declare that in Central Ontario "we have only half that."

If his Government came to power, Mr. Rowe said, men would be appointed to the Labor Department on the recommendation of labor men. He declared his Government would have a Conciliation Board of men who understood labor problems.

WHEAT MOVES UP ON WEEK'S SALES

WINNIPEG, Sept. 25 (C.P.). — Movement of Western Canada's new crop wheat to Eastern ports to meet cash wheat demand and replenish diminishing stocks east of the Lakehead loomed to-day as one of the major price controlling factors on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Higher ocean freight rates, scarcity of shippers' offers and a strong cash wheat situation in North America forced world wheat prices upward during the week. At Winnipeg gains of 1⅝ to ⅞ cent were made for the week-ending yesterday, October at $1.28¼, November $1.27⅝, December $1.23¼-⅜, and May at $1.24¼.

Reluctance of Western farmers to sell their wheat at present prices, though premiums for top grades of red spring wheats were eight to four cents above the October future, held the spotlight during early sessions of the week. However, hedging sales were slightly heavier yesterday and wheat futures eased around a cent from Friday's high points.

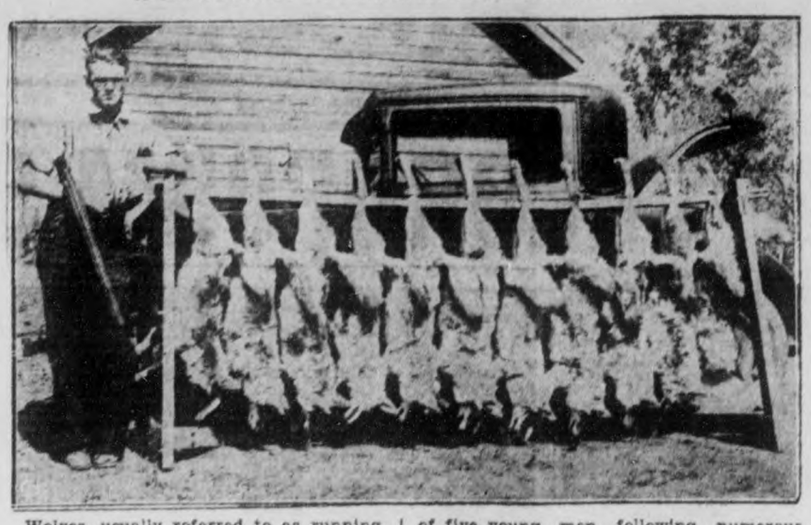
Wolves Shot In Central Saskatchewan



Wolves, usually referred to as running in 'snarling, ferocious packs" do not always habitate the frozen north as fiction writers often would have us believe, if we can take the ABOVE photograph as an example. The wolves shown ABOVE were shot in the central part of Saskatchewan by a group of five young men following numerous complaints from poultry raisers near Dinsmore, Sask. Although without the customary aid of dogs, the hunters brought down 11 in one afternoon. The "victims" are shown ABOVE with Mr. Blumer, of Dinsmore, one of the hunters.

BUMPER HOLLAND FLAT CROPS SPOIL

these Holland Marsh farmers stand in their wide, flat fields where grow food to bulge the walls of a hundred warehouses and wonder whether they can make a go of it for another year.

J. L. Ferguson stood knee-deep yesterday in a plot of cabbage from which grew heads as firm and as large as one would find on the shelves of Toronto's finest fruit and vegetable markets and said:

"I'm getting past fifty now, I don't know what I'll do if I lose these five acres."

He was typical of the men and women who have moved into the rich marshlands expecting to make a small fortune or at least a comfortable loving for their families, only to find that no one seems to want the things they grow.

In the rough-board kitchen of the little shack in which he lives with his son, Farmer Ferguson pulled out a little sheaf of pink bills from commission markets in Toronto to show how things had been going for him.

Loses on Shipment

A few days ago, he shipped to the city by truck one bushel of cauliflower (about fourteen heads to the bushel); four bushels of cabbage, nine bushels of turnips, twenty-one bushels of red cabbage, two six-qt. baskets of tender beets and five six-qt. baskets of parsnips.

He showed the reporter his little pink slip from the market. The bushel of cauliflower was dumped into the garbage when it spoiled before a buyer could be found. The turnips met the same fate. For the rest of the shipment he received $6.70. From this amount the market deducted $1.41 for commission and handling fees. His baskets cost him $2.82 and the charge for hauling the vegetables to the market was $2.66. Added together and subtracted from the total return these figures indicate that Mr. Ferguson went into debt exactly 19 cents on his shipmen of produce.

It was all there on the little pink slip, pathetic evidence of the discouraging conditions faced by practically all of the farmers of the Holland Marsh.

On September 18 he shipped six bushels of turnips. His net profit was 44 cents. A few days later he shipped four bushels of baby beets. They lay on the market until they rotted.

An ironic factor in Mr. Ferguson's story is the fact that he was driven out of his grocery business in Alberta when drought ruined the district, and he came to the Holland Marshes only to find his livelihood threatened by an overabundance of crops.

Wants to Ship Crop West

"Why can't they find some way of shipping our surplus out West?" he asked. "People are sending old clothes and other things out to the drought areas; why not send vegetables? The farmers on these marshes could sell their surplus at $10 a ton and be glad to get it. Just think of that—we could send them fresh carrots and turnips and cabbages and beets for prices cheaper than you'd pay for hay."

He thought that perhaps some plan might be devised whereby a fund could be created to buy and ship the vegetables to the West, thus relieving the crisis faced by the growers and at the same time provide a godsend to the people of the Prairie drought areas.

Over in a field across the road from Mr. Ferguson's farm worked Joe Seibert, his wife Lena, and their son. Smiling, Slavic people, they were, with friendly faces. They were working in the celery plots, leaning over and sweating in the sun because this business of growing vegetables is a manual one and not a job that can be done with mowers and binders like some crops.

Seibert's produce has the reputation on the marshes of being among the best that grows there. He swept his arm about the farmland to show the growth that bulged from the earth on all sides.

"I came here," he said, "with $3,000. The first year I lost $900. Last year I lost $500. This year . . ." He shrugged his shoulders, because the season is too early to predict how much the loss will be.

the government. A program calling for the development of a number of public parks, beaches and playgrounds has been mapped out and will proceed as revenues are available.

While primarily intended for the enjoyment of Ontario people these recreational centres would add greatly to Ontario's tourist attractions. The premier said Ontario was wedged in amidst the most populous areas of the United States and was in an ideal position to benefit from the tourist traffic.

A threat to the tourist industry was seen by Mr. Hepburn in Conservative Leader Earl Rowe's proposals to give hotel beverage rooms a trial of one year. Mr. Rowe proposed to name himself a dictator and to cancel all beer and wine authorities at the end of a year if it suited his purposes.

Need Good Hotels

Good hotels were needed for a thriving tourist trade and the beverage rooms, besides making for improved hotel accommodation provided a convenience demanded by tourists. There was no reason why travellers should not have the legal right to purchase small quantities of wine and beer without having to buy in bulk at warehouses, he said.

The premier moves up the Ottawa valley today on his election speech-making tour. This afternoon he is billed to speak at Eganville and to-night at Pembroke.

SERVICES IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES TO-MORROW

Church In Northern Manitoba Boasts Mementoes Of Franklin Search Parties

Hand - carved pews were placed in new edifice at The Pas

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 25. — Ninety years ago this coming winter, a party of the Franklin relief expedition, sent out from England to search for the survivors of Sir John Franklin's ill-fated exploration group, spent the winter at Cumberland House, under the command of Sir John Richardson.

Cumberland House was the focal point in the great north country. It was a Hudson Bay Company trading post and the centre of commercial activity for a wide area. Three years before the arrival of the Franklin searchers, Rev. James Hunter, an English clergyman, had been sent out from England to form an Anglican mission at this point. He met Rev. Henry Budd, a highly intelligent Cree Indian, who had been ordained to the ministry, and the two joined forces to push forward mission work in the district.

Budd, one of the most remarkable characters in the early life of the north, was the first Cree convert to Christianity and in 1840 he founded a mission at The Pas. Budd had come north from the Red River settlement, and two years after his arrival his first converts, 38 adults and 49 children, were baptized by Rev. John Smithurst, who came up especially from the Red River settlement for the baptism.

The little religious community at The Pas was badly in need of a larger mission house, and members of Richardson's party, glad of an opportunity to relieve the monotony of their bleak existence at Cumberland House, offered their assistance, which Hunter and Budd accepted with alacrity.

Hand-Carved Pews.

Jack pine logs were cut at a point about thirty miles up the North Saskatchewan river from The Pas, rafted down to the site and sawn into lumber by whipsaws. The lumber was then used in the building of the church and mission house, and in the making of house furnishings and the church pews, pulpit, etc.

There is no present day record of the manner in which the pews were carved, but it is evident there were skilled workmen among the Richardson party, and cabinet-makers at that. Every piece of the finished product bears evidence of painstaking skill and every article would do credit to a modern cabinet-maker. In addition to the pulpit and pews there are a communion rail, three pulpit chairs and three beautiful bureaus, one of which is in the present Christ Church rectory, and the other in the mission house at Big Eddy.

A few years after Cumberland Mission, or Devon Mission, as it was also known, was built, the spire showed evidence of decay and later on the church began to sag. In 1896 it was demolished under the direction of Rev. John Hines, who died in Winnipeg in 1931, and the present Christ Church was erected, across the street from the power house in The Pas. The hand-carved pews, the pulpit, communion rail, and three chairs were moved over to the present edifice, where they remain to this day, treasured mementoes of the efforts of early missionaries in the north country.

Found Pencilled Record.

When the old Devon mission house was being torn down workmen preserved a piece of wood taken from the wall. It bears this inscription, written in lead pencils

"James Mackie, Robert McLaren, on the Arctic Expedition, led by Sir John Richardson, Feb. 28, 1847."

During the building of Devon mission, Mrs. Hunter, wife of the missionary, died, and was buried in a vault under the church. A white marble tablet was later placed on the wall of the church by the women of the congregation, inscribed to the memory of Mrs. Hunter and her two children who were buried with her in the vault.

When the old mission house was torn down the vault became a grave and the tablet to Mrs. Hunter's memory was used to mark her grave, which is right in the centre of the small church cemetery. The other dead buried there are mostly Indians. In recent years the white tablet was rescued from the moss and dirt and now hangs on the wall of the present church.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

All creation is but the end product of a series of vibratory energies, much as the image on a motion-picture screen is the result of the varying intensity of the beam of light issuing from the projector. Therefore, while the world about us seems very real, yet its reality is only relative to our conditioned existence in the world; conditioned by the reaction of our organs of sense; its truth is not the ultimate truth. If man was not a spiritual being this would not concern him, but inasmuch as he is an immortal, using a flesh and blood body much as a musician uses his instrument, it is of vital concern that he arise from his ignorance and see life as it really is, and no longer as it seems to be. To do this he must arouse and cultivate the inner spiritual faculties and when he has more or less done this, he begins to realize the utter foolishness of ignorance and prejudice. The mystery of life must be solved. Until we know why and whence we came, how can we fathom our destination? To seek to know God from without is as futile as for a blind man to seek to grasp the beauty of the rainbow, for the blind man lacks the bodily mechanism whereby the varied light vibrations are translated into the mental concept of color. Realization, whether it be of God or of God's creation, is from within and not from without. When the Lord spoke to the prophets He spoke inwardly within their minds and consciousness for they had evolved their spiritual faculties to the point where they could attune themselves and be at one with the Cosmic Consciousness. They were trained and evolved mystics. That there are no prophets and seers today is simply because there are few who are single-visioned in regard to spiritual things and the technique of the Master is largely forgotten in the confusion of creed and dogma. All spiritual growth and gifts are from within and cannot be bestowed from without. Hence a part of the great work is to arouse and stimulate people so that they may awaken and think, reason, ask why this and why that. For the Kingdom of Heaven must be sought each for himself. Instead of this we have had over 1,600 years of imposition of rule from without of beliefs forced upon the people, beliefs that had to be at least outwardly accepted lest worse befall the unbeliever. So that the Law of Love today is regarded as a visionary thing for those who should have been its exemplars have debased it into a law of hate and even our social system reflects our spiritual downfall and is based on destructive competition instead of wholesome emulation and co-operation. God has revealed Himself as the Supreme Lover, but man has rejected Him and set in His place a fabulous being of terror, hate and bloodshed. There is nothing higher than Love. Set as we are upon a microscopic speck of dust whirling in the immensity of space, able to live only by reason of a most delicate adjustment of mighty forces, we yet waste our lives in suicidal destruction, turning our hearts away from the more abundant life which is ours if we but only seek it. Even the brute beasts are wiser.

God in the Making of a Nation

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Sept. 26 is Deuteronomy 8:11-20, this being the quarterly review lesson. The Golden Text is verse 11, "Beware that thou forget not the Lord thy God, in not keeping His commandments, and His judgments, and His statutes, which I command thee this day.")

"BEWARE THAT thou forget not the Lord thy God—But thou shalt remember the Lord thy God." Here is the keynote of all Moses had to say in the farewell addresses to Israel which make up the Book of Deuteronomy.

Think and Thank

Thankfulness is the natural corollary of thoughtfulness. If we think we thank, especially if we think of God and of all He has done for us. Thanklessness, more often than otherwise, springs from thoughtlessness. An attitude of insensibility is the result of constant repetition of the same sense perceptions. Folk who live near noisy factories eventually become unconscious of the noise. The regularity of the recurrence of an experience tends to produce indifference toward it. Just so it is with the unceasingly regular blessings of God's loving providence to His children. We do not think and thank Him for the blessing of health until sickness threatens us. We do not think and thank Him for prosperity until the adversities of depression loom before us: "Beware that thou forget not the Lord thy God, in not keeping His commandments—lest when thou hast eaten and are full, and hast built goodly houses, and dwelt therein; and when thy herds and thy flocks multiply, and thy silver and thy gold is multiplied, and all that thou hast is multiplied; then thine heart be lifted up, and thou forget the Lord thy God, which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage.' If we think aright we must thank aright!

Our National Debt

Moses was reminding the people of their national debt—not to money lenders, but to Jehovah, who found them in slavery, brought them forth from bondage by a marvelous redemption, led them through that great and terrible wilderness . . . brought them forth water out of the rock of flint . . . fed them in the wilderness with manna, that he might humble them and prove them . . . and that they might never say, 'My power and the might of mine hand hath gotten me this wealth.' The American people have such a a national debt of which they should especially remind themselves on this 150th anniversary of their Constitution. In his first Thanksgiving Proclamation President Washington sought to remind the nation of its debt to God as Moses sought to do for Israel. He exhorted "the people of these states to the service of that great and glorious Being, who is the beneficent Author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be—that we may then all unite in rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks for His kind care and protection of the people of this country previous to their becoming a nation—for the signal and manifold mercies and the favorable interpositions of His providence; for the peaceable and rational manner in which we have been enabled to establish constitutions of government for the safety and happiness, and particularly the national One now lately instituted—for the civil and religious liberty with which we are blessed, and in general for all the great and various favors which He hath been pleased to confer upon us." Moses and Washington agree in exhorting us to think and thank, to serve and obey the God of our redemption and deliverance.

Biblical Thoughts For The Shut-Ins

By Rev. E. R. James, Toronto

THE NEW JERUSALEM

I, John, saw the Holy City, new Jerusalem, coming down from God.—Rev. 21, 2.

The Bible opens with life in a garden and closes with life in a city, the Holy City, the new Jerusalem. It is the ideal city. It is a vision of men and women living together in peace and harmony. It is the fulfillment of the prophecy, "Jerusalem is a city that is at unity with itself."

Is it absurd to write or think about such a city in an age when the great nations are at daggers drawn and defenceless people are daily killed by shells and poison gas from the air. It is at a similar time that this beautiful picture of the new Jerusalem was written by St. John. Jerusalem had been destroyed twenty years earlier by Titus amid awful horrors. It was a time of terrible persecutions for the Church of God, handfuls of people scattered over the Empire. Men's hearts were failing them for fear. With divine certainty, he writes, "I, John, saw the Holy City, new Jerusalem, coming down from Heaven." St. John's Master, the Lord Christ, on the eve of His Passion said, "Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world." The next day He died upon the Cross, an apparent failure. But God raised Him from the dead." "I am He that liveth and was dead and behold I am alive for evermore."

Let us think briefly of that new Jerusalem.

It is a city that is four-square; perfect proportions. There will be no slums benind the palace gardens. The walls of the city have twelve foundations and in them the names of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb, who gave their all to found that city. The gates are never shut; there is no night there; no darkness; no sin.

It is a city of beauty. The gates are of pearls and the streets of pure gold. The oriental loves precious stones and colors make a great appeal to him. The streets are of pure gold, transparent as glass. The streets are the channels through which flow its life and activity. When gold can be pure, when it becomes part of the pavement of the city, it becomes transparent; lovely. Beauty is apt to be forgotten by many religious people. Beauty is one of the great spiritual realities, it is everlasting. God must be beautiful, for He has made the world very beautiful.

The city has twelve gates, three on each side. Men from every quarter of the world can enter, no matter what their origin or race. They have their contribution to make to the wel-being and perfect proportion of that city.

Above all it is a city of light. "In the beginning God said, "Let there be light, and there was light." Light was the first created. Without light there can be no life. Light is life. God Himself is the light of that city. He has revealed Himself to man through Jesus Christ as a God full of compassion, love, mercy, goodness and charity.

Moreover, it is a city of men and women who live together in harmony. "God Himself shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, nor any more pain." Is there anything more touching than the thought of God Himself drying our tears—His children—OUR FATHER?

What are you doing towards the building of that city? Every city is composed of men and women, and each is a member of a family. Is your family life so sweet, so attractive, that visitors feel that the atmosphere is heavenly? In your home they get a glimpse of that Holy City—it is a bit of the new Jerusalem. Your gentleness, your charity, your thoughtfulness, your courtesy impresses. That is the ideal; that is the way in which you may help to bring down from Heaven by God's help the new Jerusalem.

"O sweet and blessed country,
The home of God's elect,
O sweet and blessed country
That eager hearts expect,
Jesus, in mercy, bring us
To that dear land of rest;
Who art, with God the Father
And Spirit, ever blest."

Rev. Edward R. James.

A National Message

By the Late Rev. W. Pascoe Goard, LL.D., F.R.G.S., F.R.E.S.

Now we are come to the time of the restoration.

This is the work of the generation now coming into its own responsibilities. God is Eternal Youth. While it is true that He is called "The Ancient of Days," it is the days which are ancient; it is never God, the fountain of life, who is ancient.

Men grow old. Therefore, in order to preserve the youth of the world, God has arranged the law of our generations as that of a constantly renewed succession. So we ever have youth with us.

The old, having served their day and generation, pass up into the realms of eternal youth. They have served their term here and go on to the higher life, and to eternal youth.

Thus it is with the generation which is now passing. Thus it is with the youth who are now arriving.

Headed by our youthful King, reinforced and supported by that generation of ministers of state of whom Mr. Eden is the pioneer, what great things will the Lord our God accomplish through His and their means? May their progress from youth to maturity be fruitful in the restoration and extention of the Kingdom of God.

So we issue the call to our own young people to "fall in" and take up the march of the battalions of the Kingdom of God.

God in the Making of a Nation — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Deuteronomy 8:11-20.

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Just before his death Moses reminded the Israelites of their debt to God for delivering them from many years of slavery in Egypt. Moses had been spared to become Israel's deliverer.

God delivered the Israelites as Moses led them through the Red sea whose waters he opened to let Israel pass through safely, and closed upon the hosts of Pharaoh to drown them.

At Mount Sinai in the wilderness God gave the Israelites a great moral code which we call the Ten Commandments. Here he set forth man's duties to God and to his neighbors.

Throughout their years of wanderings in the wilderness God fed the Israelites gave the Israelites a great moral code daily with bread. For all this Moses urged their grateful service of God.

He Should Resign

Senator Hance J. Logan of Nova Scotia has been placed under arrest in connection with the now thoroughly famous Gypsum Queen case. There has been one court decision in connection with this case and Capt. Hatfield has been sent to the Reformatory for 18 months and the 78-year-old mariner had been under arrest for a long period before his sentence. The Gypsum Queen was alleged to have been sunk by a German submarine, and on the strength of that claim the Reparations Commission paid out $71,276 to the owners. It has been proved the report on which the money was paid was not correct in any of its essentials. The payment of the money was secured by false claims.

When a gentleman occupying a seat in the Upper Chamber at Ottawa is placed under arrest, this paper believes the first thing he should do is tender his resignation, and he should do so at once and without being told to do it. We are making no comment whatever on the part which Senator Hance Logan has played in the case or history of the Gypsum Queen, being satisfied the courts of the country can deal capably and fairly with such matters. But until the case is disposed of it would be much better if Senator Logan would drop his senatorial role until such time as he had vindicated his past course and shown himself innocent of any wrong-doing. It would add dignity to the public service of Canada were such a step taken.

Not a Cordial Reception

Location plays a fairly large part in determining the way in which a visitor is treated. Vittoria Mussolini is 20 years of age, and he is the son of THE Mussolini of Italy. The young man has seen service with the Italian army in Ethiopia. At home he is popular.

Vittoria landed in New York the other day, being on the way to Hollywood, where he will spend three weeks or so. He is interested in the moving picture business in Italy, and is looking for information.

Before he landed in New York an anti-Fascist body had secured a launch with loud speaker, and put out into the harbor to greet the ship on which the visitor was coming. The cry from the loud speaker was that the junior Mussolini be not allowed to land. But he landed quietly because a police boat took him off and sped along to some quiet and convenient place.

Like other people in New York for the first time Vittoria took a ride around Manhattan but he was closely guarded. Reporters sought him at the hotel where he stayed, and found outside a picket walking up and down bearing a sign: "Vittoria Mussolini—How many innocent were murdered in Ethiopia, Spain and Italy by Italian Fascists?"

The enthusiasm with which Vittoria Mussolini is greated in his own country is well and far removed from the open and blatant hostility directed at him by the anti-Fascists of New York. Not good manners of course, but it may make the young man conscious of the fact that there are those in the broad world who do not share the views of the Mussolini family.

Might Leave Them Alone

Nearly everything under the sun comes up for discussion during a provincial election campaign. Dr. James McQuibban, Conservative candidate in North Wellington, has attacked the government for its handling of insulin. There was a time when a great deal of free insulin was being handed out on the plea that those who needed it were not in a position to pay for it. There was a change made and it had to be shown definitely that the recipient was not able to pay for the supply received.

Dr. McQuibban in a campaign address claimed that virtually everybody who needed insulin was too poor to pay for it. Whether the free distribution was seriously abused is something on which information is hard to secure, but it is a plain fact that many diabetics who use insulin do pay for their supply and have never at any time received it free. Nor have they ever asked for it on that basis.

Regulations should be such that the matter of money should not deprive a diabetic of securing a supply. The poor person who can pay nothing has just as much right to the benefits of insulin as the individual who can secure a supply on a cash basis. But we fail to see why the diabetics of the province and their supply of insulin should become an issue in an election campaign. They are not sufficiently large in numbers to crowd out John L. Lewis, the beer and wine business or the threat of communism in our midst. With their needles and small bottles of insulin they might well be left alone.

How Many Shades?

It used to be recited in school that the cardinal colors were: red, orange, yellow, green, blue and purple, and people who pay attention to such matters will assert such colors can be readily seen in any rainbow.

The trouble seems to be that people do not agree on standard colors or shades. That is one of the problems of the textile business and it would simplify matters a great deal if there were some method devised by which colors could be standardized.

At the plant of the Bonner-Worth Co. in Peterborough the Examiner was informed that something like 2,000 shades had to be created in order to meet the demands and preferences of all the people to whom the product of the mill is sold.

There are a number of purposes for which scarlet yarn is used, but in that one color there is a wide range of opinion as to what constitutes scarlet. Passing under the general heading of scarlet there have been 47 different shades created in order to meet the requirements of various customers, and yet if they were all gathered together it is likely the claim would be that each had purchased scarlet.

It is about the same with any of the colors which are much in demand. One buyer might select a shade and say "That is sky blue," while the next order for sky blue would have to be something quite different or slightly different in order to fall in with another opinion of what sky blue actually was or is or should be. If it were possible to standardize colors or shades it would simplify the work of the textile industry in general, but there is such a diversity of opinion today that the Bonner-Worth plant in this city has to supply a full 2,000 shades in order to meet all the requirements of buyers who have their own fixed ideas of what color and shade should be.

A Weak Plea at Best

Magistrate Arnold of Chatham held court in Tilbury, and Charles Dupuis was present. Present because he was charged with having beaten his wife. His treatment of his wife had been severe so the magistrate considered it would be well to send the husband to jail and have him treated to five lashes. The magistrate said something about a man getting a taste of his own medicine, and probably that has some bearing on such a case.

More interesting was the plea entered by the husband. He was drunk at the time and was therefore not responsible for what had taken place. If he had been sober he would not have beaten his wife.

The wonder is that any man would enter court and present that sort of a plea in the belief that it would be considered adequate reason for beating a wife.

If the husband were drunk then that condition was something which he brought upon himself. His wife had nothing to do with it; neither had the officer who arrested him or the magistrate who heard his plea. There were only two agencies figuring in that condition, (1) the man who purchased the liquor and got drunk, and (2) the government which sold him the liquor. Going into court with the plea "I was drunk at the time and therefore not responsible," is hardly worth bothering with any more. It does not produce results, nor should it.

The Union Jack

The freighter Silverash was taking a cargo of wild animals from the far east to the United States Government zoo at Washington. Dr. William Mann, director of the Washington zoo and leader of the expedition which secured the animals, considered it desirable to take precautions when passing through the Mediterranean.

The plan was to display a large Union Jack. An unknown vessel approached the Silverash during the night and turned on it a powerful searchlight, but the ship with the Union Jack was not molested and all the strange and wild animals from the east reached Washington in safety.

We are not even suggesting that a ship carrying a United States expedition and bearing a cargo destined for the capital of United States should have displayed the Stars and Stripes when going through dangerous territory. Merely commenting on the good taste exhibited in selecting the Union Jack for such a purpose.

When a Church Burns

The loss by fire of the United Church and Sunday school at Norwood is something which concerns not only the members of that congregation, but the community as well. From all available accounts it does seem that everything possible was done to save the building, but structures of that kind are known to present great possibilities for the spread of fire once it has had opportunity to get under way.

A calamity such as has come upon the United Church folk in Norwood generally serves as a challenge to rebuild. It calls for work and effort, and it places before the people an objective which is generally a good thing for them. The congregation in the meantime may have to get along with such facilities for meeting as can be arranged, but always will there be that strong desire to see a new place of worship arising from the ashes and wreckage and charred walls of the place which had before been the church home.

Regulating Santa Claus

The Merchants' Association of Hespeler went into a huddle the other evening to consider what they would do to handle and encourage the Christmas trade. It seems that Santa Claus comes to that town prior to Christmas day, and the main street has been closed off in other years so the old fellow would have time to move about easily.

The merchants do not like that idea so they are starting to protest in September about something which may take place shortly before Christmas.

It makes not the slightest difference to us what Hespeler does or does not do with its artificial Santa Claus. Business people in general have rather overworked this fine old man who in other years and in other times appeared to be quite able to deal with the little folk the country over without much assistance from outside agencies. It never used to be necessary to close or open a street for Santa Claus, nor can we recall a time when he asked for a better highway or a smoother road, a change in parking regulations or any such thing. We have more faith in the Santa Claus who used to be than we have in the ones which councils or associations seek to regulate when they meet in conference.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Canada's exports of explosives last year amounted only to $173,000 and that wouldn't go very far toward destroying the peace of the world.

Cars may cost more next year the Tariff Board has been told. And there goes the saving on the reduced cost of license markers!

A discovery of dinosaur eggs is announced from Waterton Alta. So far as we know the egg-grading act has no jurisdiction in this case.

Farmers near Sault Ste. Marie are finding it impossible to get help for threshing operations. They must be working on the roads up there, too.

Inmates of the Collins Bay Penitentiary have been refusing to work. Possibly the room service has deteriorated or the menu has not been carrying enough caviare.

It has been ruled in the United States that government action in appropriating $10,000 for a national egg-laying contest was illegal. That takes a lot of pressure off the hens.

A. C. C. F. candidate will enter the contest against Premier Hepburn and the Conservative nominee, Norman R. Martin. His name is Tough and he is likely to find the going that way.

Canadian institutions have no place for the C. I. O. says W. H. Moore M.P. But perhaps Mr. Moore does not regard General Motors, Oshawa as a Canadian institution.

Complaints are being made in rural Quebec that subscribers listen on conversation being carried on by other folk using the line. What do you suppose they had the gadgets put in for?

Recall proceedings have been instituted against Premier Aberhart but the head of the Social Credit government merely calls it a politic-financial move and lets it go at that.

While the Prince and Princess Chichibu of Japan were being given official welcome to Canada, London crowds were putting on a hostile demonstration in front of the Japanese embassy.

All fruits in Canada, except pears and cherries have produced bigger crops than last year. With an election in Ontario it is not surprising to find the crabapple flourishing.

NAMES

¶ A little lad was born last week, he's small just yet but pink of cheek, his lungs are sturdy too; and if his meals come not on time, he does not gently ring a chime, but hollers for his due.

¶ This little lad has uncles four, of aunts I think there's even more, grandparents down the street; if all his relatives were there, they'd make the neighbors stop and stare, they'd be a goodly fleet.

¶ Grandfathers and the uncles too, are wondering what the folk will do, to build up family pride; they want the lad named after them, for they are proud and haughty men, not easy satisfied.

¶ Twould take six names to suit them all, some names are fat and broad and tall, Josephus heads the list; and all the relatives have come, suggesting name plates one by one, for fear they might be missed.

¶ And now the parents hesitate, they fear a spell of family hate, they'd like to have their way; they know some names and goodly ones, and still the question always comes, what will the uncles say?

¶ I worry for this little lad, who seems so cheerful like and glad, I tremble as I think; for if he ever grows and lives, with names of all his relatives—I fear the child will sink.

Scientists from Fresno, California State College and other nearby universities, are absorbed in the study of a fossil of a rare lizard found in the hills near the city. The discovery was made in a shale hillside. Charles L. Camp, curator of the University of California paleontology museum, declares that the fossil is that of a huge sea lizard of the upper cretaceous geological period and may be millions of years old.

Ernest Benault, of Launceston, Tasmania, claims the banana-eating world's record, having consumed 44 bananas in half an hour. Before making his attempt he ate ¾ of a pound of German sausage, a tin of condensed milk and a biscuit, and drank a bottle of cordial. The champion stated afterward that he could have eaten more than 44 bananas, but thought it advisable not to do so.

Spirits Are Explosive.

Dr. Alexander Baldie, the division surgeon of the Metropolitan Police and a well-known psychotherapist, has issued a number of rules in regard to drinking and driving, claiming that cocktails and spirits are explosive in their action on a motorist and beer causes drowsiness under certain conditions. Dr. Baldie's advice to motorists includes the following: On any occasion on which the drinking of alcohol is a contemplated ritual, leave the car at home. Avoid alcohol for at least two hours before driving, and this period is only applicable to the most modest amounts. Especially avoid alcohol on long journeys or any journey undertaken alone. Any alcohol consumed should be taken only with meals.

Kissing, according to a news despatch, is stated to be the only medicine for a strange disease which is found in certain villages in the Northern Shan States in Burma. The symptoms of the malady are fever, loss of appetite and a feeling of lassitude. The only remedy, a Burmese newspaper states, is to kiss the patient. The treatment must be given by persons other than relatives.

The names of Glasgow's first "Big Four" will not be announced for some time.

About Rattlesnakes.

In the opinion of biologists, the rattling of a rattlesnake's rattler serves as a call to other rattlesnakes during the breeding season. They doubt that the rattles were naturally evolved as a warning device.

Although one or more species of rattlesnakes may be found in almost every region of the United States, the geographical centre of the rattlesnake population is in the East. The snakes infest nearly every part of the New World and are not found elsewhere.

Boy of 15 Tells of Drought in Verse

Says His People Came From This District; Longing For Rain and Mud Ankle Deep

THE VERSES printed here were written by Beverley Sutton, age 15 who lives in Sceptre, Sask. In a note accompanying the writing Beverley explains his parents come from this district in 1915. He adds "We have seen all kinds of weather. These verses which I composed give you a true statement of what we experienced."

The Examiner is glad enough to publish the verses just as they were sent by this lad of 15. All the lines may not run true to poetic dimensions, but the statements in them are unquestionably accurate.

SASKATCHEWAN THIS YEAR

With faith this year
We sowed our land,
But nothing grew—
Just shifting sand

Our money is gone
We are broke clean flat,
But still on school books
We must pay a tax.

Our bedding is gone
Our towels are few,
It makes our mothers
Wonder just what to do.

Our cows are thin,
They are ill fed.
Soon us children
Will hungry go to bed.

Our boys and girls have gone
To other growings fair,
To see if by hard work
They can earn some clothes to wear.

Paralysis has hit here too,
With doctors fifty miles apart,
And nurses not one near
The outlook here is drear.

In June the storm came from the east,
With wind and dirt galore,
The machinery was half covered up
While an inch lay on table, bed and floor.

Our yard is piled up high with drifts,
To and fro they blow,
Our washing can't go on the line,
But dries beside the stove.

And when the wind blows from the south,
We clean until we keel,
On such days as these
We never get a meal.

The eastern people will not believe
That in our house we almost smother
But if they'll come some day and see
They'll not wait for another.

We gaze o'er land for miles and miles
Where once the wheat did gleam,
Now it looks so bare and grey
Not a thistle to be seen.

Some of our neighbors have pulled out
To places where it's calm,
But a few of us are left
Who have faith in this land.

We hope and pray for rain this Fall,
With crest more than ankle deep,
With a bumper crop in '38
To remove this feeling of defeat.

Sceptre Sask.

Find History Contains Much Bias

And Much Should Be Taken With Bit of Salt; Comparing U. S. and Canadian Versions.

(Ottawa Journal)

REV. DR. BONNELL, minister of a Presbyterian church in New York, the other day in Charlottetown was talking about some research he had made into high school histories of the United States and Canada. He looked up what they said about the naval battle in Lake Erie in 1813 when Admiral Perry defeated the British fleet. "One of the most brilliant triumphs in all naval annals," said a United States text book he consulted—and the Canadian work called it "an unimportant skirmish," said "victory came to the Americans through a fortunate change of wind."

The explanation apparently is that American historians, finding little to satisfy the national pride in their country's conduct of the land warfare in the 1812 unpleasantness, concentrate on their unexpected successes at sea and on the lakes. Canadian historians reverse the process. They feature the capture of Detroit, the gallant defence of the long frontier by a little band of regulars and volunteers, the brilliant campaign of the Niagara Peninsula, and have little to say about the naval engagements.

The important thing, however, is that these two nations can read and write about these old battles without soreness and bitterness, can find something amusing in the varying stories their histories tell. Dr. Bonnell proposes, in the interests of a better understanding between the two countries, the interchange of teachers, of professors, of ministers, even of history text books. But such measures would reach only a tiny proportion of the citizenry and we doubt that much good would be done.

We doubt also that much harm is done by a glorification of national gallantry. All of us blow a bit, nations as well as individuals, and knowing our own failings we make allowances for the other fellow. We take his story with a grain of salt, and nations do the same.

UNTIDY AMERICANS.

(Irish Independent)

IN THE COURSE of a day . . . the Yankees disgorge on this one street (Broadway) 30,000 cigarette ends and a tenth that number of cigar butts; 30,000 burnt matches, 10,000 chewed-up chewing gums and a miscellany of papers, cartons and scrapes that bring the daily grand total to 116,000 pieces. Vienna is at the other end of the story. While the Viennese do not eat chewing gum, they have all the other personal vices of the New Yorker. Personal vices, yes, but not social ones. They light their cigarette and carefully put the match end in their pocket, where it joins orange peel and chocolate tinsel until a litter basket is found. If you are caught napping, there is bound to be a policeman who gives you a receipt for your fine on the spot.

TEST OF TIME.

(New York Times)

TWENTY-FIVE years now the world will be pilorying one of two proposers: the man who in 1937 said the automobile trailer would never amount to anything or the man who said that the automobile trailer would sweep the country. All we can say now is that Time shows up some of the pundits as well as some of the sap-suckers. We are inclined to laugh a bit too much at the man who said the steam locomotive would never amount to anything and that men would never fly. We forget the "discoveries" which never did come off. We remember the truths that were persecuted and nevertheless triumphed. We naturally have no remembrance of countless errors and superstitions which deservedly perished.

CHURCH MEMBERS.

(Canadian Baptist)

THERE ARE over 81,000,000 members in the churches of the United States. This is virtually half of the entire population and a gain from 47 per cent. to the 50 per cent. in the last ten years. Of course multitudes of the millions are but nominal members, yet one is pleased at the possibilities for good that lie in such figures if a consecrated, whole-hearted attempt was made to put the principles of Jesus into effect. The sad part is that for many communities to a church means little more—if as much—as their place in club or lodge.

EMIGRATION JOBS.

(Glasgow Bulletin)

IF EMIGRATION is resumed on any considerable scale in the near future the various Dominion offices in London will, I'm told, require a in London will,' Im told, require a considerable augmentation of staff. In the peak period of 1925-26, when between 30,000 and 40,000 people went overseas each year, the Australian, Canadian, New Zealand, and South Africa offices had all large staffs handling the rush.

At Australia House, for instance, there was an emigration staff of 120. At the present time there is a single emigration officer to look after the few wives and children nominated for travel to the Commonwealth by their husbands already here.

BIG CROPS.

(Lethbridge Herald)

BIG GRAIN yields are news these days—good news to the farmers of Southwestern Alberta who are lucky enough to be reaping them.

We have recorded wheat crops as high as 75 bushels per acre, and more than 100 bushels of oats to the acre. These, of course, are top yields, but when we can record returns of that kind it is fairly good evidence that average yields are satisfactory.

All through the Southwestern area of Alberta business is pulsing because the threshers are turning out the golden grain these days. Plenty has returned once more and farmers are feeling that, after all, the agricultural industry is recovering from the depression.

Talks to the People – J. H. Burnham

It is this inability to unite for the general benefit and the warring with each other to get control of the state amongst the workers, the farmers, the merchants, the bandits and rival generals all subsidized by foreign powers who also wish to gain control that has ruined China and left the vast mass of the Chinese people a pitiful prey to high taxes, plagues and the horrors of starvation and war.

The C.I.O., which is seeking to get control of Ontario, differs from the main stem of Labor in that it advocates the taking possession of any plant, shop, farm or household until the demands of the employees thereof are satisfied. This of course is common banditry or highway robbery. The A.F. of Labor is in favor of appealing to the people and public conscience, as at present, with resulting laws and improved conditions therefrom. The C.C.F. is C.I.O., which the C.C.F. has adopted. So if you want to hand over all industrial plants, shops, farms, household or other institutions where labor is employed to Labor, vote C.I.O. or C.C.F. What does Rowe say? He says to let Labor fight it out and that he will not interfere in industrial or labor disputes, which is sidestepping his responsibilities for the sake of votes in a way unparalleled even in party politics. He in effects says to the C.I.O., "go to it."

But the C.I.O. also advocates the "Closed shop" which is the shutting out of all labor which does not join the C.I.O., pay its dues and stand in with the C.I.O. local executive. In case of shortage of employment the C.I.O. would have the power to shut out all labor not highly efficient and aggressive, and members of the union, and would mean at all times that the weak, the old, and the humble toiler must go to the wall. It is the C.I.O. with its closing-out-of-all-other-labor that aims to rule, and if necessary to ruin.

Stand by democracy, the rule of all the people, the British way. Why hand over the province to the Closed Shop?

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Sept. 25 (C.P.). — Farmers in Western Canada took advantage of advanced wheat prices on Thursday and Friday to sell their new crop wheat and wheat futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange closed 1c to 1⅛c lower.

An export business estimated at 400,00 bushels with local and commission firm supporting the market led to gains of more than a cent in opening deals. However, support thinned and the trade turned quiet.

Though mill buying in the futures pit was light a fair business was reported in cash wheat. Cash wheat prices advanced 1¼c to ¼c in early deals, but eased near the close. Shippers were credited with purchases of three and four northern grades. No. 4 Northern eased a cent at the close. Durums were firm.

Continued firmness of ocean freight space and scarcity of shippers' offers influenced the Liverpool mart. Wheat advanced from the start and closed 1⅜d to 1⅞d higher. Buenos Aires t noon was ⅝c to ½c up.

Adverse inter-market spreading in rye was reported in quiet coarse grain trading. Oats futures closed unchanged to 1c lower, barley 1⅛c to ⅜c down, and rye ⅜c to 1⅛c off. Flax was virtually neglected, with final prices fractionally lower.

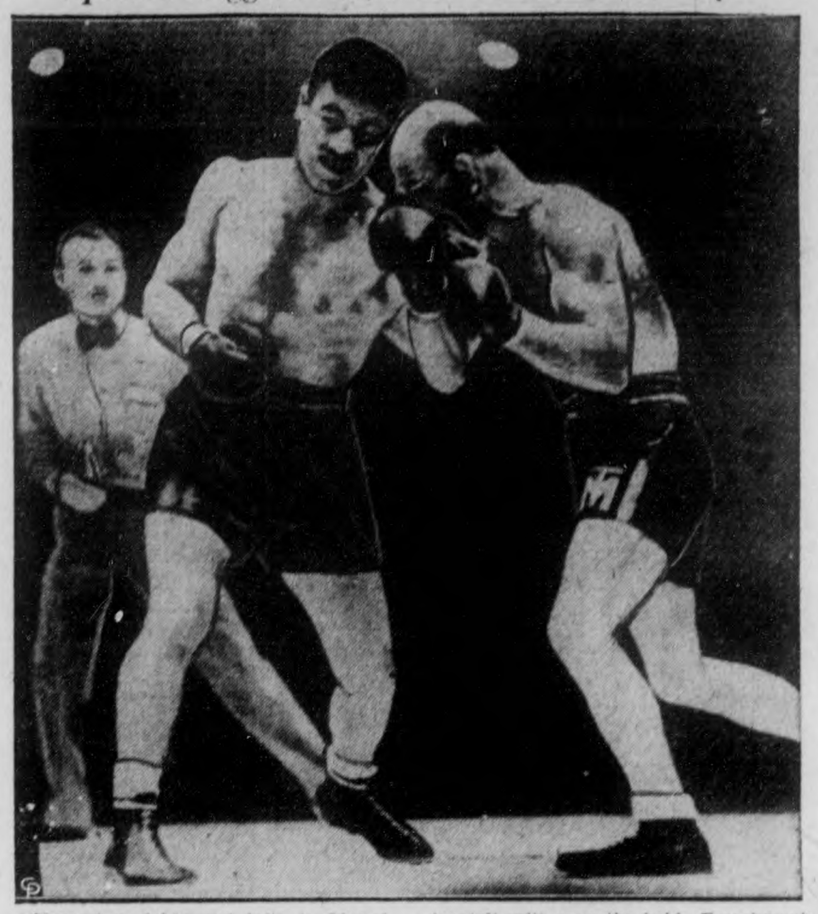
Apostoli Staggers Thil, Wins On Technical Kayo



Showering rights and lefts to Marcel Thil's head, Fred Apostoli won the first bout on Mike Jacobs' Card of Champions at the Polo Grounds in New York when Referee Art Donovan stopped the fight in the tenth round on a technical knockout. Apostoli split open the bald Frenchmen's right eye, and when seconds could not stop the flow of blood, the referee halted the bout. Apostoli is shown landing a hard left to Thil's head which caused the Frenchman's knees to buckle.

DIED 10 MINUTES, NURSE REVEALS

tient was in such agony witness said she told the doctor: "For God's sake get some morphine."

The doctor obtained some morphine and left to return the next day. The patient was kept under the influence of the narcotic in the meantime.

Mrs. Robertson said the patient's pulse was normal. When the doctor return he had a bottle of chloroform and a mask.

"If the girl asks, just tell her I'm going to do something," witness said she was told by Doctor Cline.

He then administered the chloroform and "she was gone within ten minutes."

"We'll Get Away With It"

Mrs. Robertson went into detail about clothing the body and its removal from the house. The doctor told her he had found "a dark deep spot in the river," where the body could be deposited.

After the disposal of the body, the doctor again advised her to "cheer up."

"'You might be subjected to some unpleasant questioning, however, if the neighbors begin to snoop,'" he said.

The doctor returned two days later, "because he said he thought it better that he continue coming to the house."

Again at another stage the doctor openly congratulated himself in her presence on finding "a good spot" for secreting the body, she said.

The doctor at another stage told her the police might try and indu ce her and her husband to confess but not to worry because he wouldn't "squeal."

Mrs. Robertson said that up to this time she had not known the patient's name. She learned this only after the body had been found and identification made. After Mr. Newton finished his questioning, Magistrate Menzies declared a re-ss.

Under cross-examination, Mrs. Robertson told again about details of the operation. As the girl was dying, Mrs. Robertson said the doctor "was walking back and forward and saying 'We can't do anything about it, the girl is going to die.'"

Her husband carried the body from the house after she dressed it, Mrs. Robertson said.

Alberta Women Seek To Be Jurors

CALGARY, Sept. 25—(CP)—The Alberta Federation of Women will petition the Provincial Government to permit women to sit on juries in criminal cases. Under the present Alberta Jury Act, "No woman shall be called on the jury as long as the juries in criminal cases stay together during the adjournment of the cases at night."

HAD TWO TEETH AT BIRTH

CALGARY, Sept. 25—(CP)—The Toronto baby that had a tooth pulled 36 hours after birth does not hold the All-Canada record. When Harvey, son of Mrs. Albert Wastmouth of Lethbridge, Alta., was born 14 years ago he had two teeth. Both were extracted when the baby was only 12 hours old. Her second son, born nine years ago, had one tooth at birth. It was extracted 10 days later.

Y.M. CANVASSERS READY FOR DRIVE

A rally of canvassers set the annual enrollment campaign of the Y.M.C.A. in motion at the association Friday evening. Captains organized their forces under the chairmanship of Charles Lasheur, and the division leaders, T. A. Mackay and W. L. Ferguson.

J. G. Wharry, sales manager of the Quaker Oats Company, pointed out that the Peterborough Association has the highest per capita membership of any association in the Dominion, in an address to the workers. The association has something to offer the young men and business men of the city which they have not been slow to appreciate, he said. He stressed the importance of the power of example, saying boys and young men of the city who become Y.M.C.A. members saw the older men playing the game on the gym. floor and thus learned valuable lessons to carry into everyday life.

General Secretary G. H. Roper outlined campaigning tactics to the workers. He announced the first report meeting for 6.15 o'clock Monday.

Tot's Aunt Found Reunion Near

DETROIT, Sept 25—(AP). — The International problem of her status apparently solved, Margaret Dorothy Dickens, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frederick of San Diego, Calif., played with dollars to-day and waited for a relative to arrive.

The child, en route by bus from her home to visit an aunt in Oshawa, Ont., was refused admission to Canada because she forgot the address.

The Travelers' Aid Society obtained the address from Margaret Dorothy's parents, and "boarded" the girl at a home until her aunt arrives to escort her across the border.

STOCKS TUMBLE IN ONE OF YEAR'S SEVEREST BREAKS

TORONTO, Sept. 25 (CP). — Stocks came tumbling down on the Toronto market this week in one of the severest breaks of the year, blasting the hopes of holders who had nursed their enfeebled securities through the summer market depression in expectation of a fall pick-up.

The slow downward drift through the first three weeks of September was blamed on war talk and international clashes in the Orient and in the mediterranean, but when easing of the political tension brought no relief to the stock market slump more was heard about lighter steel bookings, receding business generally and labor unrest.

All indices of the Toronto Exchange were at new lows for the year. The gold index in fact is under the low of 1936. The group has forfeited all the gains accumulated since November, 1935. A loss of about 10 points in the index was recorded this week.

Base metal shares, however, have suffered more than the golds in the 1937 decline. The miscellaneous mines index, which embraces the base metals, shows a drop of 42 per cent. from the March highs while the golds have declined 37 per cent. Industrials trail with a loss of 27 per cent. The mines index weakened 18 points in the last week.

One Stock Slumps $14.

Consolidated Mining and Smelting led the field in the downward rush this week, dropping $14 to close yesterday at $58. It sold at $100.50 early in the year. Noranda followed with a loss of $6, and Hudson Bay and International Nickel dropped $4.25 to $5.50. All the cheaper base metals fell into line, Ventures leading with a loss of $1.50.

Eldorado was on the skids and it slipped to $1.80, its low for the year, off 45 cents this week.

Senior golds battled the downward drive and in the case of Lake Shore, Dome, Hollinger and McIntyre losses were held down to $1 to $2. Dome was helped in Friday's market by the dividend announcement.

Influenced by the marked weakness of U.S. Steel, Canadian Steel issues lost heavily. The week recorded losses ranging up to $5 among the leaders.

Spain's civil war; Italian and German intervention in that war — whether it should continue, be curbed or halted; rivalries in middle Europe; and Vatican attempts to terminate opposition to Roman Catholicism in Germany.

Conjecture on the subject matter was as varied as on the possible results of the Hitler-Mussolini talks.

This holiday-making city cheered loud and long and there was all the pomp of a militaristic state to salute Mussolini.

After his and Hitler's cordial but almost matter-of-fact greeting in Munich station the two statesmen reviewed troops and labor battalions.

Greeting of Hitler and Mussolini inside the station was brief. Hitler made a quick salute in the Nazi or Fascist style, smiled and utter a word of welcome. Mussolini shot out his arm in like manner and with an answering smile said: "Thank you."

WRECK SURVIVORS BARELY ESCAPE

threw it to me and I gave it to the second engineer.

"We floated around like that for about an hour. Then I asked the mate how he was and he said the cramps were getting him. By this time the fireman was beside the second engineer, so I got off the hatch cover onto a bigger piece of wreckage and paddled towards the mate. I helped him get aboard this piece and helped him put his lifebelt on. He had been holding it in his hand because he didn't have time to put it on before we had to jump off the boat.

"We started making for the shore, which was about 200 or 300 feet away. We thought we would be able to run around and warm up a bit. Ollie Konderka came for us in the life boat with the deck hands off the Neebing."

Grabs Belt And Jumps

Medwick, 29, said that after he got the life belt he had no time to put it on. He just grabbed it, scrambled back to the higher side and jumped with it in his hand.

"The boat disappeared as I jumped," Medwick said. "I had only about four feet to jump to reach the water. The next thing I knew was there was wreckage all around me. It just kept foaming up. You would think there was a falls the way it kept coming up. I got hold of a hatch, there were lots of them around.

"Next thing I saw the second engineer James Keenan splashing around for a while and then Bill and the fireman got together and started building a raft. They got Keenan on to it.

"Frank Colosimo and I were on hatches. The sea was pretty heavy and I was getting tired and numb and kept slipping off. Lying lengthwise our feet were down and just our heads out of water. I was afraid I was going to fall off when Ollie Konderka came along in a skiff. He might have picked one of us up without upsetting the skiff, but I don't think so. He went over to another pile of wreckage, he said he would go and get the lifeboat. One of them was still floating around on top of the Neebing's house.

"Trying to get ashore did us good, it warmed us up. We got ashore and ran up and down to get warm, but had to go back into the water up to our necks to get into the lifeboat because it was too rocky for him to come near the shore."

WOMEN ASPHYXIATED

Coroner Dr. W. J. O'Hara said no inquest would be held.

NOW IS THE TIME TO MODERNIZE AND REPAIR - 3 YEARS TO PAY

Indians Battled Along Coast But Found Peace At The Post

Savages Made Sure Tribal Wars Did Not Interfere With Business

STUIE LODGE, B.C. Sept. 25 (CP) — Canada's governor-general and his wife stood this summer at a spot near where centuries ago savage tribesmen of two peoples met peacefully to trade and exchange gossip.

At Landmark and Painted Rock they paused one rainy afternoon and gazed at blurring symbols traced by Indians in prehistoric days—symbols painted on the rock in red ochre to record events that occurred before the white man came to the country.

On Painted Rock, three miles east on the trail to Anahim Lake where the hard-riding Chilcotins live, appear art forms which meant something to their long-dead authors. Their meaning now in many cases is lost.

Many "copper signs" blur the rock face, indicating in ocean days that an important chief, then and mighty, had passed that way or that a big deal had been completed in the shade of the giant, trees. For here, almost 90 miles from the Pacific's salt water the coastal Bella Coolas and the men of the interior met to barter.

In leather containers the Bella Coolas packed up the winding, rocky trail grease derived by rendering thousands of Oolachan, or candle fish. From the high plateau eastward the Chilcotins brought down in exchange furs or slaves, luckless men and women captured in savage raids against neighboring tribes to be sold into bondage in a far country and to live among strangers for life or until a mistake, perhaps, brought quick death under a heavy club.

One Place of Peace

Traditional enemies in the olden days, the men of the seacoast and the men of the interior kept inviolate the ancient agreement that made Painted Rock a peaceful meeting place. There is no suggestion in the legends growing dim in the minds of the oldest natives that it was ever otherwise.

Near Painted Rock is Landmark Rock, a great boulder weighing perhaps 1,000 tons that apparently rolled off the mountainside above down to the rail's edge. There in peaceful days the Chilcotin knew as he walked down the trail to the sea that he was nearing his destination. From the rock it was two-days' journey to Bella Coola if one travelled light, more if one was heavily burdened.

As the vice-regal couple looked at these relics of a wild civilization, now almost dead, Lady Tweedsmuir expressed the view it was a pity more literature did not exist to present in popular form the story of those ancient days.

Toronto Trustee Given Remand

TORONTO Sept. 25 — (C.P.). — Dr. Gordon W. Armstrong, Toronto Public School trustee, was remanded to October 1 to-day by Magistrate Browne in police court, when he appeared on a summons charging false pretences.

The information, sworn to by William B. Gliks, city welfare investigator, has to do with accounts rendered by Dr. Armstrong for attendance on relief patients. It alleges:

"Gordon W. Armstrong did unlawfully obtain from Dr. G. S. Cameron, E. W. Vanalane, Ontario Medical Association, the Government of the Province of Ontario, and the Corporation of the City of Toronto, the sum of $21.36 by false pretences with intent to defraud."

LEGS AND PRAYERS SAVE GIRL CHUTIST

BLACKSTONE, Va., Sept. 25 (A.P.). — Pretty 17-year-old Gloria Allen "pedaled" and prayed her way back from a professional parachute jumper's death when her chute ripped at 1,700 feet yesterday. She came through it with two broken legs.

As the Batavia, N.Y., High School girl detached herself from a balloon over an exposition crowd here the fabric of the 'chute snagged somewhere on clothing of her brother Eddie, 19, who also was hanging to the balloon with sister Florence, 15.

The cloth tore from side to centre and the girl dropped like a rock, the parachute fluttering behind.

Desperately, she churned her legs and hauled at 'chute cords to bring herself under the ripping silk which meant life. The air caught it, billowed it open, and she floated downward.

Again it gave way; again she fell.

Hundreds of feet below on the ground, her pale-faced father, William Allen, shouted the instructions he had given her before they started touring with the show. Several women fainted.

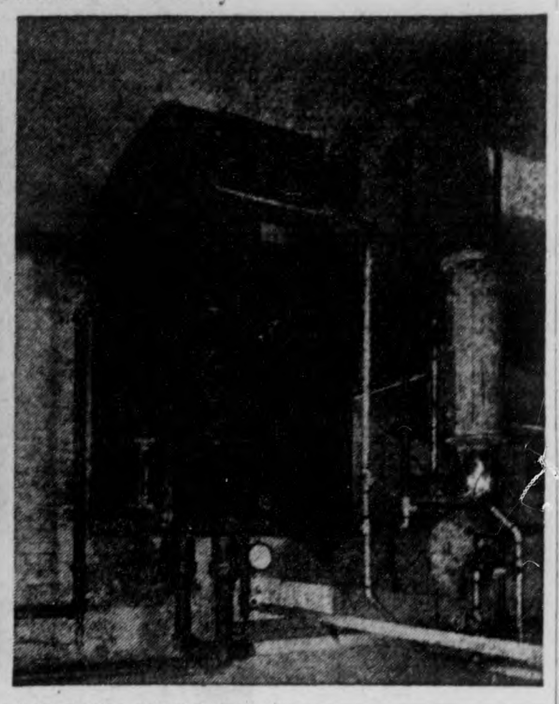
Gloria again fought with her legs as if riding a bicycle, and five times manoeuvered under the parchute to block her fall.

Twelve feet from the ground the 'chute collapsed the last time. She fell again, breaking both legs and her left foot.

BEES HATCH EGGS

When a hen died while hatching nine eggs at a farm near Fredericksharen, German, the farmer placed the eggs in a beehive where the chicks were duly hatched by the heat of the bees.

A New Heating System Saves Money



Recent years have seen the introduction of much more efficient home heating plants. Many of the newer boilers have borrowed ideas from the highly developed industrial installations. Modern boilers give considerably more heat for a given amount of fuel. New heating systems can be arranged for through the Home Improvement Plan.

ATTRACTIVE FLOOR SETS ROOM OFF

A room can be no better than its floors. No matter how attractive the furniture or rugs may be, if the floors are unsightly the appearance of the room is spoiled.

If you plan to modernize and improve the appearance of your home, it will be wise to pay special attention to your floors. If the wood is in good condition the general procedure is to scrape, varnish and wax but if the wood is not in a condition to take this treatment there are other ways to make the floor attractive.

Any cracks in the wood may be filled and the floor painted black or dark red. Floors of this type are frequently found in very old houses.

There are also many composition coverings on the market which may be laid over the old floor.

The Home Improvement Plan offers the home owner an opportunity to borrow funds for redecorating at a very low rate of interest.

WATER IS SCARCE WHEN PIPE BREAKS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 25.— The west side of the town was without water for a short while on Friday evening when a water pipe was broken by Bell Telephone employees who were replacing a pole on Queen Street.

The mishap occurred late in the afternoon when a shovel pierced a lead lead-in pipe which quickly filled the hole with water. An electric pump was put into service when the pressure had been turned off and men worked nearly the whole night repairing the break.

Number Of Teams Cut To Seven In British Amateur Hockey

Association Scraps Rule Compelling Clubs To Play Native Son Ten Minutes

LONDON, Sept. 25—(CP)—More Canadian than ever, England's six-month hockey season will start Oct. 9 in the distinctly un-Canadian setting of white shirt fronts, linen-covered dinner tables and regiments of uniformed flunkies.

But if newcomers from the Dominion find the scenes behind the boards strange they should feel right at home when they step on the ice and start exchanging bodychecks. They will be hitting the same old hips they crashed in Vancouver, Prince Albert or Moncton. The percentage of Canadian players will be greater in the National League than it has been for years.

The British Ice Hockey Association has tossed overboard the rule which called for each team to play a native son at least 10 minutes of each game. As few of the British players can compete with the Canadians and without the protection of the rule, most of them will disappear from the scene.

Scrapping of the rule and cutting of the number of teams from 11 to seven is expected to improve the brand of hockey and make the league financially stronger. The best of last year's teams are being retained and calls have gone out to Canada for more of the same.

Arrange New Players

Percy Nicklin, formerly of Moncton Hawks, and now coach of the two Harringay teams, is dipping deeply into the Dominion's supply of talent for new faces.

Providing arrangements can be made with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for transfers, he will bring over Bill Hogarth, Fort William; Jerry Hefferman, Montreal; Fred Hunt, Toronto; Emmerson Reynolds, Port Colborne, Ont., and Hazen MacAndrews, Toronto.

Of last year's Harringay teams Nicklin already has signed netminder Jimmy Foster, Dunc Cheyne, Jack Brunning, Duke Campbell, Len Burrage, Bob Whitelaw, Walter Monson, Archie Creighton and Steve Latoski, all of Winnipeg. Dick Adolph, Wilkie, Sask., Earl Nicholson, Port Arthur; Bert Peer, Oakville, Ont. and Fan Hexmer, Kitchener, also will be with Harringay Greyhounds or Racers.

When Billy Boucher, former Montreal Canadian and member of the famous Ottawa hockey family, arrives to coach Brighton Tigers he will find several players already signed for him. Boucher, successor to Don Penniston of Montreal, will have Johnny Lascelle of Ottawa, former Manchester goalie and Bob Lee and Gordon Poirier of Montreal, who were with Brighton last year.

Formerly with Richmond Hawks, George Redding will move to Earl's Court to coach the Rangers. They already have signed Doug Maundrell, Toronto; Joe Brown, Edmonton; Jack Forsey, Calgary and Howie Anderson, Newmarket, Ont. Among newcomers they will have Charlie Teno of Windsor and Sudbury and Jerry Brown of Edmonton.

Many old faces will be back with the champion Lions. Winnipeg's Roy Musgrove, the bespectacled goalie, will be in the nets again and Albert and Tony Lesnay, Cam Shewan, Alex Archer, all of Winnipeg, Edgar Murphy and Bobby Walton, Ottawa and Jo-Jo Gesboski of Cornwall, Ont., also will be back.

PLAY-ROOM BOON FOR THE KIDDIES

The homemaking instinct asserts itself at an early age in many little girls. This is evident by that favorite indoor sport of nearly every small girl—playing house.

It is not always possible for children to have their own room, but mothers should make an effort to see that they have some place, however small, which they may call their own. This should be borne in mind when improving or redecorating the home.

Frequently a large closet with a window may be converted to a play-room. Basement rooms are becoming increasingly popular and, when there is no other space available, a play-room may be made there.

Funds for remodelling and redecorating the home are now available under the generous terms of the Dominion Government Home Improvement Plan.

TRINITY STAYS CLOSED

PORT HOPE, Ont., Sept. 25 (CP) —As a safeguard against infantile paralysis it was announced here today that Trinity College wil remain closed until October 6. The school had been previously scheduled to open on September 13.

For the past week a class has been in progress in Montreal for students from that centre. Work for all other senior students is being sent out by mail.

ARRANGE STORAGE SPACE IN HOME

Does your family lose its temper when it continually trips over umbrellas, canes and sticks?

One of the most useful things that can be done when closets are being considered is to plan storage places for these things. A rack can be built on the inside of a closet door for umbrellas and sticks, which can be kept out of the way and at the same time be found when needed.

Modernization funds, obtained under the Home Improvement Plan, may be used for making repairs, improvements, additions or alterations to the home.

Turkey plans a broader exploitation of its mineral resources.

FINDLAY MOISTAIR FURNACE

The Findlay "300" series All-Steel Furnaces are built to burn soft coal smokelessly. It is so designed that air is diverted through the blast door, behind a deep baffle plate, forced through a series of flues and sprayed over the top of the fuel bed. This air, heated to the right temperature gives perfect combustion, more heat, lower fuel consumption, greater comfort, increased durability.

A Findlay "300" is a furnace built for inexpensive installation and low operating cost. Large radiator with extra heating capacity. Double damper. Direct draft damper, with gas explosion damper and automatic pull. Large fire door. Fires large stove pipe thereby the right humidity throughout the house. Like all Findlay furnaces — built to last.

The 15 to 20 per cent extra capacity of the Findlay Sterling Moistair Furnace enables you to heat, with the same quantity of fuel, one more large room than any other furnace of the same size. If this extra capacity is not required it gives you an equivalent surplus of heat for extreme weather and reduces fuel consumption proportionately in normal periods.

The heat shield hung two inches inside the galvanized iron casing, and the heat retaining apron circling the fire-pot of the Sterling, give you two supreme advantages—a cool basement and a saving of fuel—and scientific evaporation of rust-free water adds to comfort and removes stuffiness from the air.

Don't suffer with the cold when this furnace will make it easy to heat your home. Ask your dealer or write for folder descriptive of this or the Findlay Furnace suited to your needs.

Your dealer or your banker will tell you how you can obtain the necessary funds for financing the installation of a Findlay Furnace—or write direct to Findlay's Limited, Carleton Place, Ont., about our easy payment plan.

Recreation Room Real Asset To Any Home Owner

Either The Cellar Or Attic Will Yield Sufficient Space

A basement recreation room is often thought to apply only to junior members of the household. The idea is associated with play rooms for children, and a vague air of dolls and toy soldiers surrounds the thought. But who delights in the room when it is completed, and who entertains their friends in "the cellar"? Mother and Dad!

Real estate men have found that houses with recreation rooms in cellar or attic have a greater sales or rental value than those without such apartments. Funds are now available under the generous terms of the Home Improvement Plan which will enable you to have an attractive game room in your house.

One couple who had an 18-year-old daughter converted a corner of the basement into a recreation room when their daughter's friends seemed to overrun the house. They wanted the young lady to be able to entertain her friends, but they did not like to be banished to the bedroom. One of their friends suggested the recreation room and they jumped at the idea.

Nice for Games

The room was built in a corner of the basement. Floors and walls were of a composition material, and arrangements made for numerous games.

Tan, yellow, white and bright blue were the colors used in this room, combining the cheerful and the practical. Two windows, high up on one side of the room, were curtained with a modern rough weave that was effective and hid the room from the casual, curious eyes of outsiders.

Light, modern, easily movable furniture was purchased. One comfortable, upholstered divan, a few straight chairs with arms, a coffee table and small tables for holding a chess board or ash trays and glasses, and a bridge table completed the furnishings.

When the room was ready Mother and Father found it an excellent place to entertain their friends and were more than pleased when Mary and her friends were content with the living-room.

Negress Arrested Torturing Baby

NEW ELASGOW, N.S., Sept. 25 —(CP)—Police to-day held Goldie May Shephard, 25-year-old negress, on a warrant charging assault occasioning bodily harm to her 20-months-old baby, Margaret, who has had a three inch needle piercing her brain for several months. The child, operated on Wednesday, has a "fair" chance for recovery, doctor said. Police arrested the child's mother.

Dr. R. M. Benvie, assisted by Dr. Hugh Mackay, removed the needle at Aberdeen Hospital and declared he believed the operation unparalleled in medical history.

"There are many strange cases of foreign objects entering the brain and patients surviving," he said. "But I have never seen or heard of a case such as this before."

Sen. Logan Given Week's Remand

OTTAWA, Sept. 25—(CP)—The case of Senator Hance J. Logan, arrested Thursday on a charge of false pretences, was adjourned today by Magistrate Glenn Strike for one week. The Senator accompanied by Senator James Murdock and his counsel, Gordon McDougall, appeared before the local magistrate, but no plea was taken.

A. P. Madden, Assistant Crown Attorney, told the magistrate that "in all probability the Crown Attorney will carry on the prosecution" until definite instructions have been received from the Department of Justice. Bail was continued at $5,000.

CHINA NOT SO FAR CIVILIZATION SAFE

LONDON, Sept. 25 (CP Cable)—The News-Chronicle, Liberal newspaper, in a leading editorial on the Japanese invasion of China to-day said that "if enough governments and people can still be found in these crazy days of nationalist pride and hatred to think with their minds instead of with their stomachs, even now it may not be to late to save civilization from the final folly of blowing itself to pieces from the air."

"Do you care, or does China seem such a long way you can't be bothered?" the paper asked. "Turn back a page and if the terrible picture reproduced there is a shock to you and turns you sick, write now to your M.P. and demand that the British Government take immediate action among the Powers to put a stop to indiscriminate bombing now before it is too late."

The picture referred to is a horrifying enlargement of a four-year-old Chinese boy, crying from severe burns and wounds. He is lying on a stretcher, receiving first-aid, while at the other end of the stretcher lies his dead father.

"Just one small tragedy resulting from Japan's barbarous war on civilians, which occurred when 200 women and children were killed when bombers raided Nantao South Railway Station," the News-Chronicle commented.

DEMAND BLACK RESIGN

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (CP)—The Catholic Club of the city of New York today circulated a resolution demanding Hugo L. Black, newest appointee to the bench of the United States Supreme Court, resign or be impeached.

Copies of the resolution, adopted last night as a protest against the alleged affiliation of Justice Black with the Ku Klux Klan, is being sent to every Catholic organization in the country.

What Can Be Done To A Frame House

These two photographs depict in convincing manner, the remarkable improvement which can be made in a frame house through the application of asphalt sidings. Elimination of upkeep costs, improved appearance, insulation, are but a few of the advantages to be gained.

THOUSANDS SLAIN IN 15-MINUTE RAID ON PACKED CANTON

LONDON, Sept. 25—(CP)—Reuters News Agency correspondent in Canton last night pictured a scene of horror in describing bombardment yesterday of the large South China city by 10 Japanese planes. He declared the raid the most terrible since the outbreak of hostilities, although the squadron was over the city for only 15 minutes. He estimated the dead "in the thousands."

"I have just returned to my hotel after a visit to the quarters ravaged by the bombardment," the correspondent cabled. "Entire streets of humble Chinese homes were disemboweled.

"In some places bodies are as numerous as flies on flypaper in the summer. Amid unspeakable confusion, fragments of human limbs and mutilated bodies lie here and there, wherever they were caught by chance.

"I met knots of men seeking in the ruins whatever might remain of their families.

"I estimate in the thousands the number of those killed or mutilated, but it will be days, and even weeks, before the exact number of victims can be verified.

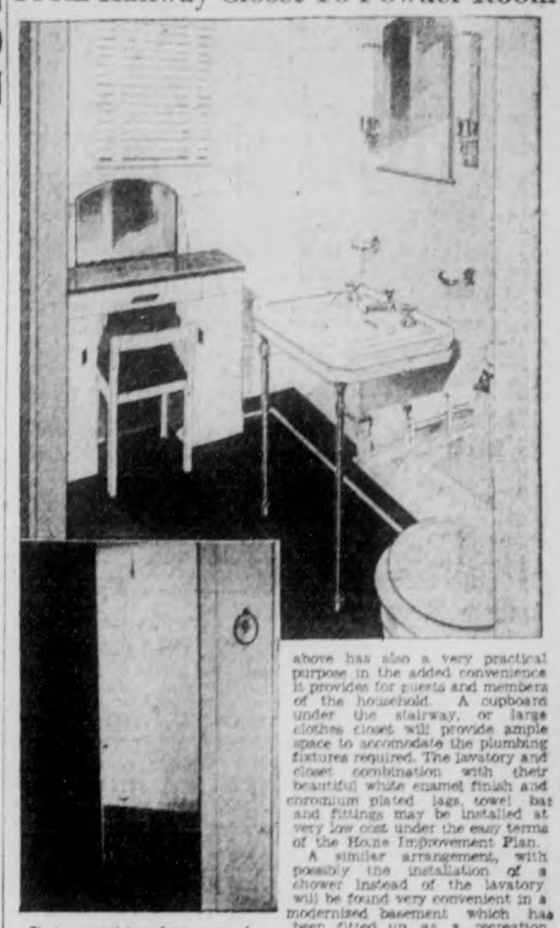
"I saw a Chinese woman killed while sitting on her doorstep. The stiffened body remains seated, calm in death.

"Farther on, a fierce-faced middle-class Chinese, raising a piece of matting which covered a shattered body, said to me simply, 'This is my wife.' Hundreds of children run through the streets seeking their parents."

TO IMPOUND POULTRY

All stray chickens, ducks and geese are to be taken into custodity and released only on payment of a fine of six cents a bird, according to an order issued by the mayor of a village in the Rhineland.

From Hallway Closet To Powder Room



It is surprising how very few homes haven't space available somewhere from the installation of a "Powder Room." The charmingly designed room illustrated above has also a very practical purpose in the added convenience it provides for guests and members of the household. A cupboard under the stairway, or large clothes closet will provide ample space to accomodate the plumbing fixtures required. The lavatory and closet combination with their beautiful white enamel finish and chromium plated legs, towel bar and fittings may be installed at very low cost under the easy terms of the Home Improvement Plan.

A similar arrangement, with possibly the installation of a shower instead of the lavatory will be found very convenient in a modernized basement which has been fitted up as a recreation room, suggests the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating. In large families the extra washroom which it provides is practically a necessity.

An Old Dusty Basement Made Over Into An Attractive Card Room.

These two illustrations are a good example of how a comparatively small sum of money, plus the use of inexpensive modern materials such as wood fibre insulating board will transform waste basement space into one of the most attractive rooms in the house. Work of this kind can be arranged for under the Home Improvement Plan.

DRESSES THIS SEASON GLITTER WHILE NEW COATS ARE GLAMOROUS

By LISBETH

DRESSES WITH a bit of glitter, and coats that have glamor are important in the season's mode.

I am showing a model of each, the dress at left having metal knobs on a black imported wool that is simply made, with V neckline and tucks incorporated into the shoulder line and giving fulness to the bodice.

The glamorous coat, pictured right, and shown at the same fashion show, is one of the new Persian lamb models that has an unusual interest—a tuxedo front that can be made by snapping back the revers on either side. A Persian lamb hat in beret style accompanies this coat.

Speaking of Accessories.

Speaking of accessories, Albany brown is a new color in them. In gloves there is cedar brown to be worn with black dresses, black bag and shoes. The hat may be either the color of the gloves or black to match the rest of the outfit.

The new cedar brown in suede gauntlets may be worn with the new stocking beige, brown or ashes of roses, the latter being a darker shade than you would imagine from the name.

Some of the new gloves have a square-cut look. These come in kid with suede inserts between the fingers, or the reverse. Pastel flowers are embroidered on the cuffs of some long afternoon or evening gloves in black suede—imported models.

French doeskin gloves comes in such delightful colors as prune, wine, green, navy, brown, chamois and gray.

New Pigskins.

A new costume, designed by Molyneux in Paris, is distinctly unique. The coat is ankle-length, several inches longer than the dress over which it is worn, fastens in front with a slide fastener, which, however, does not come all the way down, but allows the lower part of the coat to open and show the dress beneath.

The material of which the coat is made is crinkly black woollen, collared in black fox (a favorite fur in the Paris showings), and a large black fox muff accompanies the coat. The dress is of pebbly silk crepe, also black, and embroidered in gold.

Furs used as subtly as fabric are a new development of the past few years. Lelong does a black broadtail coat in this manner. The coat has a flat, ripply collar, is double-breasted and fitted, and has gold and silver buttons. It tops a black crepe dress which has a red inset toned down by lace work of black braid.

Smartest Thing In Fall Frocks

(By L. F.).

Have you been in to look at Miss Williams' absolutely new collection of distinctive dresses? They are the smartest things. Daytime frocks are in all the interesting new materials, and sporting all sorts of different trimmings. Evening gowns in the most gorgeous dreams of materials, have the new high low waistlines, and marvellous swishing, sweeping skirts, with some of them, of course, only ankle length in front.

There is the smartest daytime frock of "crepe appeal" in Burmese blue. It has the prettiest stitched pattern, and the popular zipper front. Another navy faille, with square Roman gold clips at the neck and ornamenting a little chain at the waist, has the most tricky embroidered pattern, with little tufts of the silk. And a wine crepe has three great raised velvet flowers.

For evening there is a period gown of blue velvet with a cluster of pink flowers at the new heart-shaped neckline. Its skirt is swished up in front too. Its skirt is a Patou copy, with the draped sleeve treatment, and narrow V-neckline, and made in a new crepe with the loveliest weave. Imagine a Moyan-age frock of multi-colored French lame. A black Chantilly lace posed over taffeta with the new fitted bodice, and three great poppies making a vivid splash of color in the front. And there are such a lot of others.

Miss Williams' coats are equally exciting. One of the smartest was a Burmese blue, form-fitted, with a high notched Bombay lamb collar. And don't forget her lovely knitted things, in bucle and wool, and so reasonably priced.

Dust Cloth Cleanliness

Soiled dust cloths are not only the mark of a poor housekeeper. They may be a source of real danger if left lying about after they have been saturated with furniture polish containing turpentine or oil. After each day's dusting and polishing, the dust cloths should be dropped into a pail of hot soap-suds, soaked for a while, and then washed in the usual way.

TROTTING HORSES INTERESTED ROWE FROM BOYHOOD

By HERBERT MURRAY
Central Press Canadian Staff Writer

TORONTO, Sept. 25.—No greater difference exists between his flashy, quick-stepping trotter Peter Chilcoot and his powerful, methodical Clydesdales, than between Ontario's Conservative Leader Earl Rowe and Liberal Prime Minister Mitchell Hepburn.

Both were raised on the farm. Both are champions. Both represent widely divergent classes and characteristics.

If impulsiveness, audacity and daring describe the attributes of the young Premier, cautiousness, seriousness and methodical calculation tell the characteristics of the man who, on October 6, hopes to replace him at the head of the government.

As two nations watch this comparatively insignificon political fight they see two widely divergent men representing widely separated views in action. One is a close friend of the leader of the Dominion party. The other has broken with his leader. One was regarded as a stalwart member of the House of Commons. The other has been called parliament's "bad boy." Earl Rowe never makes a hasty statement. He is deliberate, dignified yet friendly.

Has Won Often.

Sir John A. Macdonald said there are no more uncertain things in life than a horse race and an election. Earl Rowe has consistently won at each. He has never been beaten in an election.

He was born on May 13, has been in 13 electoral campaigns, and was made leader of the Conservative party 13 years after he was first elected to the Provincial Legislature.

While his birthplace was Hull, Iowa, he was taken to the little settlement called Newton Robinson, about 40 miles north of Toronto, when he was just two. He went to school not far from his father's farm. Then to high school and finally to Toronto, where he took a business course only to return home.

Today, at 43 years of age, he is a fastidiously dressed, muscular, 180-pound man almost six feet tall with cleanly cut, unwrinkled features and friendly, eminently companionable nature.

Earl Rowe started racing and politics pretty young, but the trotting came first. He bought his first horse from his father and began to train it himself. Pretty soon he was known wherever trotting races were held.

After he bought his own farm from his father he built his own track and really showed what he could do in the way of training trotters. He bred Daisy Grattan, one of the fastest pacers ever to run on the grand circuit. Then he sold Grattan-at-Law, a horse he had insured for $30,000, for the sum of $10,000.

Still Drives Pacers.

It wasn't until politics began to take up all his spare time about a year ago that he stopped racing his own horses widely. Even so he found time to drive at a county track last July.

He was in his early twenties when he first became interested in politics and contested his first election when he ran for township council.

From there it was a short step to the Ontario Legislature, to which he was elected in 1923 only to resign two years later to become Federal member for Dufferin-Simcoe. In 1926, 1930 and 1935 he was re-elected with ease. In the last Bennett government he was a minister without portfolio.

Today he carries the full responsibility of the Conservative party. During this election he will travel almost 10,000 miles. Already he has been caught in a heavy storm while flying to a meeting in a far northern section of the province. Sometimes he takes his wife and perhaps one or two of his three children to political meetings to hear him talk.

Whether he sits in the Legislature as leader of the government or leader of the Opposition it is admitted that he will henceforth be one of the predominant figures in Ontario's political life.

Ontario Conservative Leader

HON. EARL ROWE

Leader of the Ontario Conservative Party who is making his debut as the leader of a party in the election of October 6.

PETERBORO TICKET WINS AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. Thomas Williams, Elcome Crescent, held the ticket that won the Orono fair automobile. It was bought several months ago by her sister of Queenstown who has not yet been informed that the Pontiac coach will be delivered to her from Peterborough on Sunday. The ticket was bought here from representatives of the fair who spent a selling day in the city, and Mrs. Williams' address was written on it. She had put it away thoughtlessly, and only a few days before the fair she was going to burn it in the course of a little housecleaning. However, she noticed the date, and decided she might as well keep the ticket a little longer. And it proved to be the winner.

Mrs. Williams' sister who actually bought the ticket while on a visit here is Mrs. T. Orr of Queenstown. Ten consolation prizes went to ticket holders in Bowmanville, Newcastle, Toronto and other places.

INQUIRY ORDERED IN LINDSAY DEATH

LINDSAY, Ont., Sept. 25.—Dr. McOhie, Deputy Minister of Health, has announced that he will investigate the circumstances in connection with the death of Mrs. Verna Townsend, an inmate of the Home for the Aged, who drowned herself in the Scugog on September 13. The unfortunate woman was a mental case and the Deputy Minister states she must have had a relapse. For some years, he states the policy has been to send some of the quieter patients from Whitby institution, where they get "cleared up sufficiently" to the House of Refuge. They are first on probation, and if they get along well they are dismissed from the mental hospital and remain at the home.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, September 26

Sunday's Horoscope is a rather difficult one, with omens of antipathies or hostilities both open and under cover. It may be necessary to drag these subtle enmities into the open by ruthless or drastic measures. Jealously seems at the root of this discordant circumstance, with some sordid, mysterious or intriguing state of affairs.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which both open and subtle conspiracies, jealousies, rivalries and antipathies seem to menace progress and peace of mind. It may be necessary to cope with such mysterious undercurrents or intrigues by drastic measures, although it might be wise to attempt measures of conciliation before directness of a ruthless sort.

A child born on this day may be of a very positive and aggressive character, determined to get its ends by fair means or foul. It may be emotionally tense, high strung and prone to incite all manner of reprisals. It requires very early training and discipline.

For Monday, September 27

Monday's Astrological forecast is for a day of conflicting and contradictory conditions, in which there may be much effort required to combat difficult and inharmonious situations menacing all the affairs. It seems as though open hostilities or bitterness of speech might precede more amiable and noble methods of confronting these ominous situations which involve employment and probably elders.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a series of difficult or discordant situations which involve employment or an elderly person. Much preliminary caustic speech and rancor seem likely, followed by softer and kindlier measures, when friendship and happy understandings lead to advantageous denouements, although calling for change.

A child born on this day may be kindly, likeable and friendly, but at the same time deep, studious, melancholy and aloof. Once this difficult nature is understood, it will be found very attractive and companionable.

LIBERAL RALLIES DOURO, WARSAW

Liberal rallies were held on Friday night at Douro and Warsaw by the candidate for Peterborough, Alex L. Elliott. At Douro Hon. G. N. Gordon, Dr. E. M. Crough and the candidate spoke while at Warsaw F. D. Kerr, K.C., Dr. D. W. Monroe, Fred Crowe and Mr. Elliott spoke.

Following the meeting at Warsaw the speakers and practically the entire audience went to the barn dance on the farm of Percy Bell, where close to 500 people had gathered.

At Warsaw the candidate challenged Hon. Iva Campbell Fallis to say what agricultural services had been curtailed in Peterborough county at the expense of the ratepayer and in order to build up a surplus by the Hepburn government. He asked his audience if the service offered by the Department had ever been of such high standard as is being given at present by Agricultural Representative A. E. Runions.

Increase In Taxes Levied On Banks In Alberta Is Proposed In New Bill

EDMONTON, Sept. 25. —(CP)— A resolution denying federal rights of disallowance of provincial legislation and expressing determination to enforce recently disallowed legislation is before the Alberta Legislature along with notice of a bill to increase taxation on banks and bring an estimated $2,064,080 more revenue to the Provincial Treasury.

Introduction of the resolution and notice of the increased taxation on banks came last night at the close of the first day of the special session of the legislature after an opposition motion to adjourn debate on the reply to the speech from the throne was defeated 37-11 on division. The reply was adopted without division and the House adjourned until Monday.

Action Promised

Criticism of the press came from William Tomyn (S.C., Whitford) and D. B. MacMillan (S.C., Lacombe) in moving and seconding the throne speech reply. Mr. MacMillan indicated some action would be taken regarding the press. He believed in a free press but "As with the individual who becomes a public menace at times, their activities must be restrained."

"Ever since our people placed this government in office there has been a determined attempt by certain newspapers to thwart the will of the people by suggesting to courts and the Dominion government to throw out or disallow the legislation of this government in an effort to improve the economic conditions of our citizens," he said.

Press Bureau.

On September 22 an order-in-council was passed providing for a press bureau to be connected solely with the Alberta Social Credit board to collect and distribute "news" and "information." W. J. Allnutt, formerly editor of an Alberta weekly, was appointed bureau director and has started work, said G. L. MacLachlan, chairman of the board. A $5,000 appropriation was contained in the order-in-council to be used for the bureau, he said.

Citing disallowance by the Federal government in August of the Alberta legislature's credit regulation act, bank employees' civil rights act and judicature amendment act of 1937, the resolution on disallowance introduced by Municipal Minister Maynard, said:

"Now therefore be it resolved that the legislative assembly of Alberta accepts the declaration of the provincial government that the right of disallowance of provincial legislation no longer exists and approves the determination of the provincial government that the disallowed legislation shall be implemented."

Increase Taxation

The three disallowed acts provided for licensing of bank employees and apointment of a bank director-ate; barring of Alberta civil courts to unlicensed bank employees and prevention of actions designed to challenge validity of Alberta statutes. Recently an order-in-council was passed changing court procedure to prevent clerks or registrars from accepting actions challenging validity of Alberta statutes without permission of the lieutenant-governor in council. Hon. E. C. Manning, provincial secretary, gave notice of motion to introduce a bill increasing taxation on banks through increasing a present tax and imposing a new tax.

A bill to amend the coal mines regulation act was introduced. Bills to amend the male minimum wage act of 1936, to amend and consolidate the licensing of trades and business act and to amend the debt adjustment act also were introduced.

The amendment to the debt act, Mr. Maynard said, would concern "points raised by the moratorium but not covered by the act" and affect retention of crops by farmers before the readjustment board.

Eggs Are Quoted At 35 Cents Dozen

Eggs jumped several cents in price to sell for 35 cents a dozen when an increasing scarcity became apparent on the Farmers' Market this morning. The supply was exhausted before the close of the market by one of the biggest market crowds of the season.

Butter sold at 28 to 30 cents a pound and chickens were plentiful at 22 to 25 cents a pound.

Amid the profusion of Fall produce on the outdoor section of the market, potatoes brought 75 cents a bag. Tomatoes were in smaller volume at 25 cents for the large basket. Apples sold at 30 and 40 cents a peck. Corn advanced in price to 20 cents a dozen.

BEAR DERAILS CARS

When an express train speeding from Assam to Calcutta, India, ran into a huge bear, the first three cars were derailed.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Defence, has accepted an invitation to speak at Peterborough's Armistice Day celebration, J. J. Duffus informed The Examiner. He will be the guest of the ex-Officers' Association at dinner in the evening, and it is likely that a civic luncheon will be given in his honor at noon.

NO ELECTION TALK

The business of selling and buying monopolized the folk on the crowded open air market here this morning. At least a reporter walked up and down through the crowd several times without hearing the election mentioned which with voting only ten days away must be some kind of a record.

Two children each suffered a broken arm at play yesterday. One of them was Kenneth Deck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Deck, 650 Rogers street, and the other was Anne Overend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Overend.

ARMOUR HILL CROWDED

One thousand Peterborough citizens were waiting atop Armour Hill as the great Cambria came into view exactly on schedule at 2.16 o'clock on Friday. Thousands others viewed the flying boat from housetops and open spaces throughout the city. With its four monster motors at little better than idling speed, the plane made three complete circles over the city, extending its scheduled visit of three minutes here to twelve minutes. Flying very low, 500 feet over Armour Hill, it made a final turn over the center of the city and disappeared to the southeast.

AL SCRIVER HURT IN CAR ACCIDENT

HASTINGS, Sept. 25.—Al Scriver, of Hastings, received painful but not serious injuries to his face and leg last night while riding in a car driven by J. M. Queen of Toronto at a curve in the road about a mile and a half south of Hastings.

Queen, while driving south, met a car coming around the curve on the wrong side of the road, which forced Queen to the loose gravel on the shoulder of the road, and he then skidded into the ditch.

The driver of the other car came into Hastings without stopping to see if anyone was hurt and up till now he remains unknown.

Places Fire Loss Church At $10,000

Chief Gimblett's estimate of the damage to the Norwood United Church by fire Friday was $10,000.

"Norwood people thought it would run to $20,000, but I don't think the loss will run that high," he said. "It needs a new roof, and new furnishings, and there are a couple of patches burned through the floor. Of course the organ would have to be considered, too, but that is out of my line.

The pumper made the trip, including the detour from the city to the sixth line of Otonabee by the old road from the liftlock, and had water on the fire in thirty-six minutes.

14,682 Names On The Voters' List In City Of Peterborough–802 Added

THERE are 14,682 names on the voters' list in the city of Peterborough, eligible to vote on October 6, according to Vincent Eastwood, returning officer. In 1934 the number of names totalled 13,880. Of the 802 additional names, 388 were added by the enumerators and 304 by the Election Board at Court of Revision.

"The enumerators have a difficult piece of business to get through in a short time," remarked Mr. Eastwood. "There are places where it is hard enough to find any person home. People in some cases leave in a car early in the day and do not return until evening, and it is also a fact that a number of people were still on their holidays at the time the registration was taking place."

Swingtime In Quintuplet Land

Swingtime has reached the Dafoe hospital in Callendar, Ont., but it's not the kind usually associated with Hollywood or Broadway. This swingtime is the old-fashioned type of fastening a swing to a tree and sailing high into the air. Annette Dionne, who seems to be going individualistic, has already learned the technique of leaning forward to accelerate her speed. Her four sisters are equally at home on a swing as is the famous quint shown ABOVE.

MURPHY TRIAL IS SET FOR HEARING AT FALL SESSIONS

Two criminal matters, two jury civil actions and seven non-jury actions are set down for hearings at the autumn assizes of the Supreme Court to open before Mr. Justice Hogg here Monday afternoon.

A charge of spreading false news against Harvey Murphy, president of the Ontario Federation of Unemployed, will go to the Grand Jury for consideration early in the afternoon, it is expected. The Crown alleges that Murphy falsely declared Ivena Reid to have suffered skin disorders from contact with tear gas released by police at the Bonner-Worth plant on August 10. The charge has been applied rarely in the history of British justice.

Re-trial of George Selmes on a serious charge is scheduled. He was granted the re-trial on appeal from an earlier conviction.

The first jury action listed is a suit by Cyril Rice, formerly of this city but now of Orillia, against Herbert Mason, local grocer, for $5,000 damages for alleged assault. W. J. Arthur Fair is acting for the plaintiff and G. N. Gordon, K.C., for the defendant.

A sequel to the spectacular automobile crash on Highway 28 which took two lives last summer, an action by Herschel H. Corn of Erie, Pa., against James C. Campbell, of South Monaghan, for $10,000 damages is scheduled. The plaintiff is contending the defendant was responsible for the accident by leaving the Department of Highways truck which was in his care, parked on a traveled portion of the highway. Mr. Gordon is acting for the plaintiff and Phelan and Richardson of Toronto for the defendant.

Non-jury actions listed are as follows:

Frederick Squire, Havelock, vs. S. E. Munro, William L. Munro and Thomas Lloyd Munro individually and as the Stirling Cheese Box and Basket Company operators, for $5,000 damages and an injunction against alleged trespass and wrongful removal of timber. W. P. Huycke, K.C., for the plaintiff and C. R. Bastedo of Stirling for the defendants.

James Leo Logan, Dummer, vs. Township of Asphodel for $10,000 damages, the plaintiff alleging the defendant responsible for an automobile accident by reason of the condition of its road, Peck, Kerr and McElderry for the plaintiff and Mr. Gordon for the defendant.

Dennis Patrick Hendley, Burleigh, vs. John McColl, Burleigh, for $1,400 and an injunction, the plaintiff alleging trespass, wrongful cutting and breaking of fences and other damages. Emmett F. Sheehy for the plaintiff and Mr. Gordon for the defendant.

Elmer B. Liddell and Florence C. Liddell vs. City of Peterborough and the Treasurer of the City of Peterborough, the plaintiff alleging wrongful levying of back taxes and seeking $1,000 damages and an injunction against disposal of property in question by the city. Mr. Sheehy for the plaintiff and J. M. Corkery, K.C., for the defendant.

A. E. Taylor, Toronto, vs. D. V. Kecheson for payment of $2,294 and $1,500 damages in connection with a contract for construction of a dwelling house. A. L. Elliott for the plaintiff and Mr. Gordon for the defendant.

THE MINISTER'S MESSAGE
Christianity is "New Life". The grotesque thing called 20th Century Christianity professes neither "life" nor "new life." Jesus never once associated true Christianity with the confused ideas of our day; that birth in a "Christian land", that civilization's ethics, that golden rule living, that philanthropic gestures, that mere church affiliation whether by ceremonial rite or by signature on a church roll, puts upon the individual the grace of Christian personality. Jesus said, except a man have a change of personality by receiving a new life, he has not even begun to know the Christianity that Jesus came to secure and provide in His apparently divine life and death. In Him was life. To receive Jesus and His salvation is to have life. To fail to definitely and personally receive Him is to continue in the death of sin. Rev. W. McArthur, Pastor.

Better Understanding Of Basic Rules Great Need Of Players

Lew Hayman, Toronto Argos Coach, Writes First Of Series On Football Fundamentals

I believe that football, played in the proper way under able guidance, is a benefitting influence to the maturing boy.

His morale, his courage, his mind are strengthened and developed, tending to mould his character as your parents and mine would like to have it.

In the far greater battle than that which is found on the gridiron, the successful are those who can fight adversity, take punishment, and until the final whistle blows never give up. Football dramatizes this courage and thought in a manner that boys can and will understand.

In the daily articles to follow, I am going to endeavor to present and illustrate from the very beginning the practical fundamentals of the game.

It is my belief that too little attention has been given to the ground work of football. The lads on the sand lots, in the public parks and a number of the schools have been trying to play this somewhat intricate sport in too slipshod a manner.

There is a right and a wrong way to do anything, but in a strenuous game, particularly where there is bodily contact, it is absolutely essential to do things the correct way to achieve the best results with the least chance of injury.

It is to these boys and their coaches that we are directing this series of "Football Fundamentals."

I hope, through the suggestions and methods offered, to make for a better Canadian rugby for boys and young men to play; to fit the beginner so that if he decides to play Intercollegiate, O.R.F.U., Big Four or other senior football, he will be better adapted for the more involved play.

In these articles only a working knowledge of the game and its rules will be assumed our methods will be simple and concise and aided by illustrations and photographs. Emphasis is to be placed on those phases of the game which I think are the primary requisities of good football; blocking, tackling, passing kicking, pass receiving, running, after which a few offensive and defensive manoeuvres, generalship and plays will be gone into.

We can start right here with the very basic rule for this or for any other sport. Every player should possess a sound body, an elert mind, a desire to play and a willingness to learn. The best way to obtain these requirements is to be your own trainer — watch your foods, stay away from starches and fats — get plenty of rest — loads of fresh air—develop your wind, your muscles and your brain.

So let's get healthy, be happy, for tomorrow is the first day of practice in "Football Fundamentals."

Tomorrow — BLOCKING.

Inside Sportin' Dope

BY A. WISE CRACKER

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, what with holidays and 1 thing and another I ain't had a chat with the customers since away back in August some time. Since my last out different summer sporting organizations has folded up and passed outa the picture until right now they ain't 1 left and we are all set for the opening of the rugby season.

The last gang to dive into the tank was the box-las, the Auburns what was wiped out by the combines from Cheltenham and Inglewood was 13 and 9 in both places. I didn't see the 1st game of the tilt played in Brampton but after looking at the 2nd one here I think the lads done well to hold the score down as well as they did on the Combines' stamping ground. Certainly here the visitors was the best team in the nite's play.

They was big and fast and they played sound lacrosse, satisfied to wait for the brakes and when they got them they didn't make no mistakes. In fact they was so smart around the nets that our Mister Creighton thought they must be doing it with mirrors. They scored twice while he was out of the citadel and several other times their stickhandling had the Auburns' net guardian groggy. Some folks see the Auburns was away off color in that final game; others claim it was the good playing of the Combines what made them look that way. I think the truth lies somewhere in between them 2 views.

Anyway the lads had a great season. The house that boxla built down George St. is all paid for, they give us a lotta colorful entertainment and next season they should come back stronger than ever now that it has been showed that the fans will go for lacrosse in a big way.

Softballers Fade

Our softballers passed outa the picture a week ago when they was licked by the Toronto Polish White Eagles in the 2nd game of the series. For a while it looked like the Big Bens was going to waltz away with that 2nd fixture and sew up the thing. They scored 4 runs the 1st 3 frames and that looked plenty especially as our Mister Parsons had the Eagles hogtied for the first few innings. However Mister Tilly Pasolo which had pitched against the Sugar Bowl team of a few years back, tightned up as the game went on and the Westelox didn't do anything with him after the 3rd. Worse than that they kicked in with a few defensive lapses hat give the Toronto gang a chance to come from behind and win out. I think the better ball club took the honors but at that the Peterborough representatives might easily of copped that 2nd tussle.

Giants Come Through

Well, Mac, in the Big Loops the chief excitement has been the clash between the Giants and the Cubs in the National and right now it looks like the Terrymen after taking 2 outa 3 games in the croocial series at Chicago and blowing outa the Windy City with a lead of 3 and ½ games ain't likely to be headed now. In other words the old Wisecracker's prediction of another nickel world serious looks to be almost in the bag. Odds in the big tussle is all in favor of the Yanks but I for 1 ain't going to sell them Giants short. They has plenty of good pitching with Mister Hubbell, Melton and Schumaker to toss in at the McCarthyites and them Giants ain't a bad hitting club either and they got plenty of what the neighbors call intestinal fortitude. It will be a lively round old timer.

Take it away, Mac. That's all for now.

Sportfully yours,
A. Wise Cracker.

SILK PANTS FOR CHICAGO HAWKS; N.H.L. RAMBLINGS

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (CP)—Governors of the National Hockey League in semi-annual meeting here had one of the largest turnouts and discussed more problems than any meeting in years...Final score was one of the smallest.

Bill Stewart, newest League coach, arrived from baseball umpiring in Chicago as yesterday's meeting ended. Informed a statistically-minded reporter figured he was the 13th coach Chicago Black Hawks have had. Bill said 13 was his lucky number...Stewart said he sold Wildor Larochelle, wingman, formerly of Montreal Canadiens, to St. Louis of the American Association for cash and had drafted two high-scoring forwards from that league named Dahlston and Anson..."That's all I know about them," said Manager Bill...The Hawks will be the only team in the league sporting silk pantties...Their drab uniforms have been changed to flaming candy stripe of red, black and white.

Art Ross of Boston thinks Bruins will have one of the finest younger groups in the league...Ray Getliffe, Bobby Bauer, Porky Dumart and Milton Schmidt are ready to make history in the big league, he says...Bruins will train at Hershey, Pa., and 45 players will report, including the great Eddie Shore...Recall by Montreal Maroons of Allan Shields will force Ross to shift Dit Clapper back to defence...Hooley Smith, veteran centre, will be used only sparingly.

Disposal of Happy Day to New York Americans recalls the Hamilton veteran was the last of the old St. Pats manager. Conny Smythe said Toronto Maple Leafs let Day go to Americans is a gift, because he could do just as well financially in New York and possibly he would be happier in the big city.

Hershey Bears of the United States Eastern Amateur League missed having a new coach by a few hours. Ching Johnson, veteran New York Ranger defenceman, applied for the job...Terms were stated and he was to have replied within a certain time...Shortly after Bears had re-engaged Herbie Mitchell, Johnson's assent was received.

Johnson, like Murray Murdoch, will have to fight for a job with Rangers now...Murdoch was released at his own request but Wall Street failed him and he will report at the Winnipeg training camp...Butch Keeling, Rangers great minute man, has been signed, but it cost Madison Square Garden more shekels for the Owen Sound horseman's signature than previously.

Seibert Of Chicago First N.H.L. Holdout

KITCHENER, Sept. 25 (CP)—Bi Seibert, Kitchener boy who stars at defense on the Chicago Black Hawks, is the National Hockey League's first known holdout. Seibert left for Chicago Friday to start training, but said he was not satisfied with the contract offered him.

Seibert spent the summer at Springfield where he did a great deal of bicycling to strengthen his bad knee. As a result his weight is down to 204. When playing last year he was 217.

The Hawks, according to Seibert, are going to dlo gymnasium training in Chicago for two weeks, and then move on to Muskegon, Mich., for ice training, starting Oct. 11.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

LET US while away some space and time discussing sports columnists. Not that they are very important but a lot of folks while away some spare time by reading 'em. It does not take much to become a scrivener. Only you must attend games and have a vague idea of what is going on. And you must shuffle around among sports gatherings with your eyes and ears open and your trap shut. You should have a fair to middlin' memory and a hide thicker than a bride's first pie crust. You must also have a well-oiled pair of scissors and a paste pot as necessary implements in the gentle art of clipping. Your average scribe ambles into work at least 20 minutes late, yawns 18 times, smokes two cigarettes, argues with anyone available and finally gets down to work. Writing the column is simple. All you do is put down one word after another till the desired space is filled.

* * * * * *

IT IS not a bad racket, though you take as many bumps as you hand out, and get few boosts in return for the output. The clubs and athletes treat you okay so long as they are winning and packing in the fans but when things go wrong, the holler too frequently is: "Poor publicity." On the whole, though, you click pretty fair with 'em. Very rarely does such a thing happen as the recent incident in Oshawa where the praise agent was barred from a boxing and rasslin' show for knocking a previous one. When it does, you slap back at the racket—if you have any self-respect at all—as the Oshawa Times chap did.

* * * * * *

HE SAID: "It was a novel experience for us as we had never been refused admission before. We never hesitate to wield the vitriolic pen if we think it is called for. But this is the first time we have met anyone in the sports world so small that they couldn't take the knocks as well as the boosts. We humbly suggest that it is a case of the truth hurts. We do not believe we were unjustly critical, and have rarely been accused of being unfair. In the world of sport, you expect to be boosted until such time as it is shown that criticism is justified. We have never hesitated to express our views. We call 'em as we see 'em, we always have and we intend to keep on doing it—or get another job." Which about covers the situation.

* * * * * *

LIKE EVERYONE else who reads sports, we have our favorite columnists. Some good U.S. writers and several doggone smart Canuck jotters-downers. Some big sheets and some small. The fact that a guy is writing a daily pillar for a big town sheet does not necessarily mean he is much better than the scribe in the sticks. Some of the smaller centres have good columnists, too, and we read several each day that we like better than many metropolitan key-mauslers. A couple of the Toronto writers dish up a lot of baloney, quite often inaccurate, too, which is hard to digest. On the other hand, you look up Ted Reeve every night—when he takes it into his head to really write a column—and you know you are reading a smart gee's stuff. Just to name one. Or Baz O'Meara of Montreal.

* * * * * *

THE LATTER has just celebrated his 25th anniversary in the newspaper game. He gave an outline of it the other day and predicted what the world of sports would be 25 years hence. A masterpiece of crystal-ball gazing. He tells of how he started as a cocky reporter for a Scottish managing editor, and goes on thusly: "You remember becoming a managing editor yourself on a smaller paper in time, and though they got wise to your pitching in six weeks or so, you still maintain that no one could put more into swivelling around to meet invaders into what you laughingly considered your editorial sanctum. Then after the war another managing editor, this time an Irishman, figuring that anyone with so much gall really belonged to the sport whirl. Pitchforking you into the gay mad whirl practically against your will." Yesh, a great game.

* * * * * *

BEFORE LEAVING the subject, we might point out that it is not necessary to have been an athlete to become a sports columnist. Some of 'em did play the games, but many merely graduated from one sedentary mode of life to another. Well, maybe graduate isn't the word, either. Quite a number of the inky brotherhood are actively connected with clubs as officers or coaches. The same Reeve is one of the better known as a successful grid coach at Queen's University. Damon Runyon was for a long time boxing promoter in N'Yawk. Getting closer to home, the Belleville gent is an umpire, the Lindsay Post scribbler plays football, the Oshawa guy managed a gals' softball team and played lacrosse, and yours truly once was lacrosse manager here—but don't ask how long we lasted! But enough shop talk.

* * * * * *

TO USE a time-honored phrase, the lid is being pried off today in the 1937 football season for Peterborough. Our Ontuns are playing in Cobourg in an O.R.F.U. intermediate fixture. It will be started about the time this paper hits the pavements. Rain or shine, come hail or high water, the rugbyists play according to schedule. They never postpone a game because of inclement weather. We've seen 'em sweating under their heavy pads and a boiling September sun, and we've watched 'em slithering through plenty of snow on the gridiron with the air so filled with big flakes you frequently lost sight of the pigskin. Weather, hah!

* * * * * *

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON, the proposed exhibition rugby game here today between Eastsides' junior O.R.F.U. team of Toronto and F.C.I. seniors was called off. The fact that there has been so much infantile paralysis in Toronto sort of scared some of the local authorities connected with the Collegians' squad, and they decided to take no chances. The Toronto team was so informed. Too bad this opening number had to be thrown out after preparations were made, but it may have been a wiser course to pursue. Meantime, the Garnet and Gray gang will continue daily practises and may later have an exhibition game before their C.O.S.A. schedule starts with Oshawa here on October 8th.

OBSERVATION PLATFORM: Red Wakelin has been elected captain of the Blue Bombers of Lindsay for this autumn . . . . Kingston scribe thinks the Ponies will play pro baseball next summer in the Can.-Am. loop; we have been hearing that rumor for two years now . . . . Ball club officers met here last night to clean up some of the season's business, pay bills, and what not—mostly what not . . . . Won't be long till the local puck clubs holds a gabfest . . . . Red Geddes would like to be back here to play hockey this winter; he's in Northern Ontario now . . . . Thanksgiving Day sports around here will consist of motorbike hill-climbing at Nassau, rugby in Peterborough, and races in Hastings . . . . Some of the bowling leagues are getting set to re-organize again . . . . J.L.: He is a bit punch-drunk from beatings about the head—balmy but not dangerously so . . . . Gotta go now as press time is early Saturday, and the Ontuns leave shortly for Cobourg, so ciao all.

SPEEDIER GAME IS SOUGHT BY HEADS AT N. H. L. MEETING

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—(CP). — Readying itself for another season, the National Hockey League met out to-day to dish up ever greater speed in the 1937-38 ice strife than customers have seen under the Big Top in previous campaigns.

League governors took steps for the speed-up at their semi-annual meeting here yesterday, adopting rule changes designed to eliminate excessive stalling and roughness in the season that gets underway early in November.

Exact date of the opening was held in abeyance pending revamping of the tentative schedule to satisfy protests of Boston Bruins that their road-trip schedule allowed too little rest before home games.

Tentative opening dates, to be approved at a future meeting along with the complete schedule, show first games at Toronto and Chicago November 4, Montreal about November 6, and New York around November 11.

Signs With Maroons

That was about all the governors accomplished in a full day's wrangling, but outside the committee room Thomas P. Gorman made known he signed Frank (King) Clancy, erstwhile "Goodwill Ambassador" of Toronto Maple Leafs, as assistance coach for his Montreal Maroons.

Clancy, one of the greatest warriors hockey has produced, retired from active duty last year after a sparkling career with the Leafs and Ottawa Senators. He became the Leafs "Ambassador of Goodwill" then, a post which Leaf manager Conny Smythe said he could have "for life" if he wanted.

Letting the King go to Montreal, Smythe stipulated the battle-scarred Ottawan must be a bench coach, not a playing manager.

Before tackling rule changes the governors decided to hold a benefit game for the family of Howie Morenz at Montreal, November 2. Morenz, star with Montreal Canadiens, died last winter. An All-Star Canadien-Maroon team will play an All-Star lineup picked from the rest of the league; benefits to go to Morenz' widow.

Most important rule change from the spectators' point of view, is that forbidding a team to shoot the puck up the ice when the opposing team is putting on a power play. The rule applies only when teams are to full strength. Breaking the rule calls for a face-off at the point where the puck was shot out of bounds.

Gord. Brydson Wins In Toronto Golf

TORONTO, Sept. 25 (C.P.). — Stanley Horne, Ottawa's promising young golfer, failed in a bid for the Ontario Professional match play when he struck the inspired golfing of Gordon Brydson, one-time professional hockey player. The former American Association ice star defeated the favored Horne yesterday 2 and 1 to win th crown.

Horne, considered Canada's outstanding 1937 pro, saw Brydson from the Mississauga Club of Toronto display a mastery of the ancient game which the Ottawan just could not match.

BRITISH DEVELOPS HOCKEY INTEREST

LONDON, Sept. 25 (CP)—Junior and intermediate hockey leagues will be launched by the British Ice Hockey Association this season in an effort to develop local interest in the game. The magnates are seeking to take hockey out of the spectacle class and make it a major sport in a few years by developing native talent.

J. H. Ahearne, secretary of the B.I.H.A., plans to have each team in the National League, the senior circuit, sponsor a junior and an intermediate team. They will play half-hour curtain raisers to National League games at home and on the road.

Besides developing players the plan will aim at creating more interest in the game through participation of native sons. Officials believe the public has tired of skating exhibitions that are almost invariably an accompaniment to National League games and that it will throw more support to teams of local youngsters even if their hockey is bad.

One of the greatest drawing cards in the English game has been Carl Erhardt of Streatham, an Englishman who learned the game in Switzerland. He was one of the few natives who could hold their own with Canadian imports. Now Erhardt has retired from hockey through pressure of business.

To give other native-born players an incentive to emulate Erhardt, the B.I.H.A. may choose an all-English team to play in international competitions this season in place of the English - born, Canadian - trained teams they have used in the past.

Whether this team, if it is organized, will meet the Allan Cup winners, Sudbury Tigers, after they arrive here Dec. 24 to start a European tour has not been decided. Another Canadian team — North Battleford — and a United States club may tour England this winter.

Joe Gould Advises Jacobs That Former Champion Needs More Rest

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (A.P.). — Mike Jacobs came out of his carnival of champions with little more than a splitting headache, but between pills today he let it be known the show will go on.

Although Thursday night's parade of stars failed to draw as many customers or dollars into the Polo Grounds as had been expected, Mike said the carnival will be repeated next summer, but on a different basis.

"I'm not going to give the fighters guarantees," he said. "They'll work on a percentage basis. Thursday night the guys who drew the most dough (Lou Ambers and Pedro Montanez) put on the poorest fight."

An Even Break.

Mike figures he wound up in the red, but other quarters estimate he did no worse than break even, and maybe emerged with a little profit. With a net gate of approximately $198,000, plus $30,000 from radio and picture rights, Jacobs came out all square, even with his top cost estimate of $228,000.

"I haven't any kick, at that," Mike said. "I developed some good cards for the Hippodrome and Madison Square Garden this winter. Ceferino Garcia will be a good drawing card. So will Barney Ross, Lou Ambers, and little Harry Jeffra."

With the carnival out of the way, Mike began to plan for the winter indoor season. He'll try to match Ambers with Henry Armstrong, may give Garcia a return bout with Ross, and will try to sign Pedro Montanez for a welter title bout. Montanez is stronger and better at around 140 pounds than as a lightweight.

Orillia Club Revenges Loss With 17-6 Win At Cornwall

Winners Outplay Opponents—Indians Set On Making Trip To Vancouver

CORNWALL, Ont., Sept. 25—(CP)—Canadian champions for the last three years, Orillia Terries to-day were back in the running for the All-Ontario championship.

Defeated 11-10 at home Wednesday by Cornwall Indians, Eastern Ontario's all-star aggregation, the Terriers smashed through to a 17-6 victory in the second of their best-of-three series here last night to force a deciding game at Toronto Monday.

Attributing the Wednesday upset to over-confidence, the Terriers settled down to business, out-played and out-checked their heavier opponents and left no doubt after the first few minutes of the game as to its outcome.

Their passing combinations clicked with precision as they tired the Indians with their speedy style of play. Cornwall faded as the game continued, and after a brief flash in the second quarter concentrated on trying to keep the ball out of their nets, guarded well by Chuck Gamach.

Winner of the All-Ontario championship meets Montreal Canadiens, Quebec titlists, for the chance to represent Eastern Canada at Vancouver against the best of the West. Terriers left no doubt they were set on making the trip.

Joe Cheevers and Ernie Curran were Orillia's top goal-getters, but it was difficult to pick an outstanding member of the Terrier team, as they concentrated on team-work that usually ended in the Indians' nets. Cheevers and Curran both were good for three goals.

Gamache looked good for Cornwall as he turned away many sure-looking shots. Percy Whitford, who sunk two goals and fired the Indians with his enthusiasm, stood out for the locals.

YANKEES KEEP WINNING WAYS TO BEAT SOX

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(CP). — Bill Terry has his fingers crossed; "Boiling Boily" Grimes has his tongue in his cheek, and Brooklyn's drooping (but still daffy) Dodgers are ready to give their all to make history repeat for dear old Gowanus.

Anything can happen now. The Giants, sporting a 2½ game edge and seemingly headed for the National Baseball League pennant, tangle wit hthe Dodgers in a series opening to-day. And the Brooklyns, struggling with a nine-game losing streak, would like nothing better than to beat their best-loved enemies right out of the picture.

There was no change in the National League picture on yesterday's program. The Giants, travelling in from the west, had the day off. The Cubs, 3½ games behind in second place, had a date with the Cardinals, but rain in St. Louis washed it out after an inning of play.

In the American League, meantime, the Yankees began the polishing process for the start of the world series less than two weeks off by topping the Red Sox 5-1 in their first start as 1937 pennant winners.

The win was the Yanks 97th of the year ad gave them a lead of 13 games over the second place Detroit Tigers, who met up with Denny Galehouse on one of his few good days of the season and were whipped 2-1 by Cleveland Indians.

In the only other game on the program, Cincinnati Reds made four errors in one inning and were trampled by the Pirates 8-2. Every other club in the big show had a holiday.

Newark Bears Run Win Streak To 8

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25 (AP) — Completing the most awesome record the five year old Governors' Cup series has ever provided Newark Bears trampled the Baltimore Orioles 10-7 last night and ran their string of playoff game victories to eight in a row, the last four over Baltimore.

The triumph, achieved after the Flock had scored seven runs in the sixth inning, gave the eBars a purse of $4,000 and the right to meet the American Association playoff winners in the Little World Series. The Bears' jinx went looking for a new home after last night's game. In the first division four times they had failed to get as far as the finals in any of the previous cup series.

IN MEMORIAM

MARTIN.—In loving memory of a dear Sister and Aunt, Annie Lillian Martin, who passed away September 26, 1936.

One year has passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away
God took her home, it was His will
But in our hearts she liveth still.

—Sadly missed by Sister Rose and Niece, Isabel.

MARTIN.—In loving memory of our dear Daughter, Annie Martin, who passed away September 26, 1936.

No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain we have suffered since we lost you.
In our hearts your memory lingers
Sweetly tenderly, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear daughter,
That we do not think of you.

—Sadly missed by a fond Mother and Father.

McFARLAND.—In loving memory of our dear son, Douglas, who died one year ago to-day.

No stain was on his little heart,
Sin had not entered there, and innocence slept sweetly on.
He was too pure for this cold world,
Too beautiful to stay.
And so God's Holy Angel bore our darling Douglas away.

—Mamma and Daddy; Sisters and Brothers.

Woman's Keen Eye Saves 2 Boys

BARRIE, Ont., Sept. 25—(CP). — A woman who stopped J. V. Byrne and asked him, "Is your eyesight good," was credited to-day with saving Carmon Dollery, 17, of Weston, and Charles Sinclair, 15, of Barrie, from drowning yesterday at nearby Minet Point.

"Is that an upturned boat out there with two people beside it?" the woman asked Bryne, who didn't wait to answer, but rowed with Harold Nixon three quarters of a mile out in the lake, where the boys were clinging to their overturned canoe.

CHAPTER 43

AMERICA was beginning to recover from the long depression. Her women were beginning to dress with elegance again. Everywhere, in fashionable circles, you saw them dressed in magnificent furs, glittering jewels, expensive gowns. On this crest Mari Barat flourished as never before.

And that year she gambled on a product that was to bring her great sums of money. She met a young Swiss chemist who had a formula for an exotic perfume, and no money. Mari offered him capital and put the perfume into her shop as a novelty.

Larry Holk, whom she had long since recognized as the organizing genius back of her, immediately made a world famous feature of Hibiscus. Fabulous prices were asked and received for it.

Mari had never lost interest in designing children's clothes and, when the demands and genre of her big shop no longer permitted time or place for it, she had continued it as a hobby. Designing miniature fashions had been a pleasure for her and she would not let it go. She had organized a group of French needlewomen, engaged a small shop for them and seldom saw the reports of the growing success which Letitia Higgins handled.

Mari had the Midas touch. A syndicate in America offered several thousand dollars a year for the privilege of handling the children's clothes on a large scale.

Her staff grew as she took on scientists, modern designers, wood carvers, other artists and artisans of the various crafts that entered into her work.

And on her thirtieth birthday, she awoke to the realization that she had accrued great wealth; more importantly, that she need no longer be in debt to her backers. The shop of Maribarat was all hers.

But her backers did not want her to repay them completely. Her trade was important to them, they wanted her to expand further. She was ready, they told her, for her grand opening, to take her place at the top. They offered her unlimited capital, pointing out that it would be but a matter of a few years until again she could repay it. She was their showroom.

This was her ultimate dream. This was her only goal. This was the fruit of all her effort. Yet she could not give them an answer. For there was something else on her mind.

In her heart there was a hope that was bursting into flower. She was going to America. The last flame had come out of the embers that had burned steadily, without hope, for nearly seven years.

And suddenly hope had come when she met Carla Mentone. She owed it to herself to see it realized or forever quenched. When Mark Sutherland had suggested America, she had known what she had to do.

"I shall go to America soon," she had said then.

And Ellin Verlaine had said, "Mark, Grandmother would love Mari. And, Mari, you'll love Grandmother. She's an old martinet, but she's grand! You must meet her."

Mark said, "Meet her? She'll be her guest! If I know Grandmother, she can't wait. You know, Mari, it is no secret in America that I'm devoted to you."

"Are you?" Mari asked with a bemused smile.

"At least I'm faithful."

"I don't want you to be faithful to me."

Mark sighed deeply. "That's the trouble with you. You don't make any demands. Now, if you were to make one little demand, I'd know how to handle it, but you never do."

"How would you 'handle' it, darling?"

"Run away," he said simply. "I've been running away from demanding women all my life. You may not know it, but you have the quality that any woman who makes men her pursuit ought to have. You give them enough rope. But you never want any men."

Mari thought, with a trace of bitterness, that she had given her man plenty of rope and it had served only to tie her heart into knots.

"The best time to go is in the late autumn," Ellin said, recalling them to the conversation of the moment.

And so it was the late autumn of the next year that Mari Barat, Mark Sutherland and the Viscountess Verlaine sailed for New York. And Mari Barat, who had been born obscurely in Brooklyn, was to be received by the press as a world famous celebrity, and entertained in the highest social circles of New York where she was the house guest of the dowager Mrs. Suydem Sutherland.

A great wave of pride swelled her heart and struck her tongue numb when she saw the skyline of New York. The seven years behind her were a dream. Only this was real, part of her. The shop in Paris was a theatrical set and the play was over.

Standing there at the ship's rail, with Mark's possessive hand at her elbow, she saw the scenes that she had lived pass before her mind's eye, like the unreeling of a film.

As though it had been but yesterday, she saw a heartsick, angry girl holding back her tears, stifling the ache in her heart as this same view receded from her at the rail of another ship.

She saw the little upstairs shop on the Left Bank and felt the burning ache in her back as she had so often felt it during those early days. She remembered her first Christmas Eve in Paris. The triumphant day when Anetka, the shop "with a window" was opened by two apprehensive girls; the unforgetable day when she saw her own name in that window; the day when the bankers' committee came to offer capital, came to spread the world at her feet.

Her later memories seemed less real; the villa at Nice, London, Cairo. Alec Garland had receded completely.

And over all these memories, the stout cord that ran through all her days and all her nights binding her to New York, bringing back the undimmed glory of the one spring in her heart.

She was Mary Barrett then. But only until the boat docked and the reporters swarmed into her cabin. Then she became the local girl who made good. She was the great designer. She posed on deck, smiled shyly for the cameraman, answered questions and made no startling news.

Driving up Fifth Avenue to the whitestone mansion of the Sutherlands, her eyes drank in the dear, familiar sights, searched the faces on the avenue, seeking—

And all that first fortnight of her holiday, her restless eyes sought but one face.

Mari found that in New York, as in every other place that she had visited, she had no time to do the things she wanted; everything was arranged for her. There were luncheons, cocktail parties, dinners, theatres, night clubs. Her host and hostess wanted her to see New York at its gayest.

So whatever she came into a room, to a hotel lobby, to a party or a theatre, her eyes sought Tony.

But never once did she go near West Fifty-seventh Street. Never once did she pick up the telephone to call him. The temptation was almost a madness.

And so she never learned that she would not have found him there.

But five days before she was to return they met.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S FLYING LEAVES

"Don't be silly, Baby Bunty, if you please," said Jingle, one of Uncle Wiggily's little rabbit girls who was out with her daddy, Miss Mouse and the school class learning nature secrets.

"I not silly," said the little orphan rabbit. "Am I Unkie Wig?" she asked, using all the baby talk she was permitted.

"It sounds silly when you say that bush you grabbed hold of so you wouldn't fall has gone to sleep," went on Jingle. "You can go to sleep and so can I and Dr. Possum's little boy can play dead and go to sleep. But a bush can't go to sleep."

"This one did. Look, Unkie Wig," said Bunty. "Isn't this bush asleep?"

"You might call it that," said Mr. Longears. "You have found a sensitive plant, or bush, Baby Bunty, and when the leaves are touched or when there is too much light, they curl up and droop and seem to go to sleep. But they awaken again. Come now, learn this little lesson about the sensitive plant, children," he called to the others.

Plays Dead, Too.

In turn each of the animal children touched or squeezed a branch of the green leaves on the strange plant. Just as had happened when Baby Bunty grasped them to save herself, the leaves curled up and some of them drooped as if the plant had died.

"Just like a Possum!" laughed Baby Bunty.

"In some ways the sensitive plant is like an Opposum," said Mr. Longears. "But now you have put this bush to sleep, you may awaken it."

"How?" asked Buster, a big rabbit boy who had grasped several leaves of the sensitive plant growing in the woods.

"Just shake a branch and see what happens," suggested his father.

Buster did and soon the curled parts of the leafy branch unfolded again just as if they had awakened.

"Nature is just wonderfuller and wonderfuller," said Baby Bunty.

"What is the name of this sensitive plant, Mr. Longears?" asked Miss Mouse, "I mean its Latin name," she added, for she had studied Latin as all teachers do.

Some Are Big.

"The name is MIMOSA SENSITIVA," said Mr. Longears. "In some places the plant grows wild. Sometimes it grows in greenhouses. There are also Mimosa trees that grow very big. The name Mimosa is given because the plant mimics or pretends to be asleep. But now I have given you enough lessons for today."

"Then could we have a picnic?" asked Bunty.

"Yes, said Uncle Wiggily. ? "Miss Mouse and I will give you a picnic here in the woods. I told the Rat Gentleman janitor to follow us with a picnic lunch."

Soon Mr. Rat came along carrying boxes, baskets and bundles. The Nature Class was having a fine picnic when, all of a sudden, having smelled the good things to eat, along came three Bad Chaps.

"Oh, what shall we do?" squeaked Miss Mouse.

"We must make some flying leaves," said Uncle Wiggily. "Here, Jackie and Peetie!" he called to the puppy dogs. "Scratch up a lot of dried leaves and send them flying into the faces of the Fox, Wolf and Bob Cat. The leaves will blind them so they can't see us."

Quickly the puppy dogs scratched up many flying leaves which so got into the eyes of the Bad Chaps they were glad to run away.

And if the eye of the needle doesn't try to read the paper of pins when they are standing on their heads, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's harvest moon.

BOMBINGS PLACE INDELIBLE STAIN JAPAN'S RECORD

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—(CP). — The New York Herald Tribune today said the latest United States' protest to Tokyo—in connection with the bombing of Nanking—would "no more deter the Japanese authorities" than did protests in 1913 over the seizure of Manchuria.

Once more, the newspaper said editorially, the American government had gone on record in opposition to a major policy of Japan. The list is impressive, it added, listing events from 1905 when the United States "took the lead in inducing Japan to make peace with Russia...." Down to 1931 when Secretary of State Stimson protested the Manchuria occupation.

"There is no doubt that the latest note of the Secretary of State (Cordell Hull) expressing the hope that Nanking will not be bombed voices the moral sentiment of the world," the Herald Tribune continued. "No more utterly indefensible return to brutal barbarism has been witnessed than the bombing by Japanese aviators of unfortified cities in a country with which Japan claims not to be a war.

"But America's formal protest will no more deter the Japanese authorities now than it did in 1931. In the meantime it adds fresh fuel to Japan's hatred of the United States. Once again this nation has taken a stand tending to persuade the Japanese people that America is the one nation that stands between Japan and the realization of her ambitions.

'In applauding the motives of the Secretary of State, let no one shut his eyes to the inevitable consequences of such candid fervor."

Could Not Believe.

The New York Times said that in Secretary Hull's protest, sent after receipt of official information that Japan contemplated an air attack on Nanking "the dominating note was one of sheer incredulity. The American Government simply 'could not believe' it was stated in our protest, that the proposal to subject the whole Nanking area to bombing operations really 'represents the considered intent of the Japanese Government.'

"Yet it has happened.

"If there is not a touch of madness in the policy upon which Japan now has embarked, what is there to explain?" the Times asked.

"Hundreds of headless coolies cluttering the debris-littered streets of Canton do not impair the strength of Chain's arms or weaken the defence of Shanghai."

JUNIOR W.M.S. HAS OPENING MEETING

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 25. — Mrs. S. E. Eaking entertained the Junior W.M.S. of Grace Presbyterian Church for its opening meeting after the holiday season, the gathering being at her home, Anne Street, on Wednesday evening, with the president, Ada Peers, in the chair.

The leader, Miss Agnes Johnston, read the lesson and led in prayer, and the study of India, which the girls are taking up for the current year, was continued by a reading, "One Small Life in God's Great Plan," by Emma Peers. The leader continued with an account of the Rev. Arthur Louder's work among the Bhils of India, whom she had known personally and who spoke recently in Riverdale Church, Toronto.

The president read a letter from Miss Walling on girls' work in India, and also one from Miss Stringer. Work on the articles for the bale which the juniors prepare annually will go forward in the near future, a sample quilt block (Dutch Girl pattern) sent in by Mrs. R. J. McMahon, who promised assistance in making the quilt if the girls liked the pattern, was passed round, and the donor's kind offer accepted.

It was decided to hold the Junior meetings in the evening from now on, instead of after four when the members are just out of school, the first and third Mondays in every month being the dates set for the fall and winter gatherings.

A social hour was enjoyed at the close, the hostess and her daughter Miss May serving light refreshments.

Grant to Church.

The Ladies' Aid of Grace Presbyterian Church met on Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. J. N. McGill extending the hospitality of her home for the gathering. The president, Mrs. J. R. Thompson, was in the chair, and it was decided to donate one hundred dollars to the Board of Managers of the church.

Much time was occupied with discussion of details in connection with the dinner which the Aid serves on Fair Day, Friday, October 1; and it was decided to again have a booth for the sale of hot dogs, etc., just outside the dining-hall, in addition to serving meals.

The date for the church anniversary falling on Sunday, November 14, the annual fowl supper will be the following Tuesday, and a number of helpers were appointed with this activity in view. A later meeting will take care of many details in connection with this event.

The hostess served home-made candy during the social hour at the close.

MISSING GENERALS PROVIDE MYSTERY FOR PARIS POLICE

PARIS, Sept. 25—(AP).—Agents of the Surete Nationale, hunting clues to the whereabouts of two vanished generals of the dead Czar Nicholas' scattered army, took the wife of one of them to headquarters for questioning to-day.

The authorities had been unable to find the woman, known professionally as Mme. Plevitzkaia, since before noon yesterday when she had reported her husband, General Nicholas Skobline, mysteriously missing.

Skobline was an aide of the aged General Eugene De Miller, leader of the thousands of Russian emigrees, who dropped out of sight Wednesday.

Surete inspectors, who had searched the Skobline apartment, found the General's wife near Rue Faisanderie in the Bois de Boulogne vicinity.

When she left her apartment yesterday she was reported to have said she was going to see a doctor. She has a reputation as a concert singer among the Paris emigres.

The case was latest of a series of International complications that have plagued French authorities since Jean De Koven, an American dancer visiting Paris, disappeared July 23.

Bombings Enter Scene.

Other investigators continued to pick their way through a bumper harvest of intrigue, including attempts to bomb a railway tunnel at Cerbere on the French-Spanish frontier and a plot to steal a Spanish Government submarine at Brest.

An explosion occurred early today along Rue Halevy in the heart of Paris. A package containing paraffin oil and explosives, police said, was left in the gutter. When water used by street cleaners came in contact with the bomb it exploded but caused no important damage.

A major phase of the inquiry into the disappearance of the two generals was concentrated at Le Havre, where Surete agents were checking a theory De Miller and Skobline might have been spirited away on a Soviet Russian freighter.

Shown here, James Roosevelt, eldest son of President Roosevelt, and Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chat during the luncheon.

HAVELOCK W.M.S. HEARS PEACE TALK

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Sept. 25.—The opening fall meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church was held this month at the home of Mrs. Harry Peters, with a splendid attendance. Mrs. S. A. Kemp, president, who has not been able to attend the meetings for several months, owing to illness, was present and received an enthusiastic welcome from the members.

The devotional period was conducted by the president, and was very inspiring, the theme being "The Unchanging Christ." The devotion story on the same theme was read by Mrs. James Young.

Reports from the various departments were read and the roll called, after which a brief talk on "Peace" was delivered by Miss M. Seeney. The talk was most interesting and very optimistic, despite existing conditions in world affairs. The prevailing thought was that war drums beat no longer and the battle flags were furled in the parliament of men in the federation of the world.

The program leaflet followed, "The Church Everywhere," several taking part. This being concluded, Miss Barbara Fennell sang very sweetly, "Let Christ Come In."

The meeting was adjourned with the singing of a hymn and prayer by the president. Refreshments were served.

ALMOST CORNERED TRAPPERS GIVE UP

EDMONTON, Sept. 25—(CP).—A prolonged man hunt through the wild Hinterland of North-eastern British Columbia in which airplanes were used by police posses to corner the fugitives was ended today with the surrender of two trappers, wanted on charges of complicity in the $34,000 fur robbery at the Hudson's Bay Company Fort Nelson post two years ago.

The trappers, who boasted during a surprise visit to Fort St. John when police were absent that they would "never be captured"—alive," walked into Fort Nelson yesterday, after being harried by police close on their heels for two weeks, and gave themselves up. Names of the men were not yet known here.

Through 150 miles of trackless bushland, with airplane pilots guiding them, Sergeant Gammon and Corporal Cook, of the British Columbia police, with posses of heavily armed men, pursued the armed pair for several months.

The men we eralleged to have stolen two bales of furs from the post, valued at $34,000, in a masked, armed hold-up.

A Bit Nerve Racking?

Shoots Self To Aid His Invention

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Sept. 25—(CP).—Arthur G. Cadeeau, Port Colborne, was remanded a week yesterday on a charge of vagrancy after he walked into the Sarnia Steamship office here with bullet wounds in his right arm and left ear. He claimed men in a car bearing a Michigan license had waylaid and shot him in a grove near Cedar Crest, on the Lake road west of Port Colborne. Cadeau said that the men demanded the formula of an invention.

Some months ago Cadeau demonstrated that he could generate enough electricity to supply the average household by allowing water from an ordinary water faucet to drop on a coffee can containing his formula.

After investigation of the story by Police Chief Fred Davies, Cadeau said he had shot himself with a small calibre rifle and planned to revive interest in his formula.

DR. LORNA COTTON SPEAKS IN WINDSOR

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 25—(CP). —The Cooperative Commonwealth Federation differs greatly from the old line parties, said Dr. Lorna Cotton of Peterborough at a C.C.F. meeting here Thursday.

Dr. Cotton spoke on behalf of Roscoe S. Rodd, C.C.F. candidate in Windsor-Sandwich riding, and Ernest Atkinson, Windsor-Walkerville riding. "More important than getting vote is making Socialists," she said.

Mr. Rodd claimed he had been informed manufacturers were contributing thousands of dollars to assist the Liberal campaign because of Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn's industrial organization stand.

Mr. Atkinson charged David Croll, his Liberal opponent and present member for Windsor-Walkerville riding, with inconsistency on the relief question. Suggested the former Provincial Minister of Labor-Welfare had an erroneous opinion of the International relationships of Labor.

LEAGUE CONDEMNS JAPAN ON CIVILIAN BOMBING

DEMAND LEAGUE CALL THE BLUFF GERMANY, ITALY

GENEVA, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, Spanish Government delegate to the League of Nations, demanded to-day the League "call the bluff" of Germany and Italy, "this two-headed monster which appears to want to declare war on all Europe."

The former Minister of Foreign Affairs created a tense atmosphere with his impassioned appeal and condemnation of German and Italian intervention in the Spanish civil war on the side of the insurgents.

Not a seat was vacant at the long tables of the Committee on Political Questions. Every inch of press and spectator space was packed throughout his hour-long indictment.

Del Vayo demanded the adoption of five proposals presented by Juan Negrin, Spanish Government premier, to the League Assembly. They are:

1.—Recognition of Italian and German aggression.

2—Study of ways to restrain it.

3—Granting of rights to the Spanish government to buy war materials freely.

4—Withdrawal of all non-Spanish combatants.

5—Extension of the protection of the Nyon anti-piracy patrol to the Valencia regime's shipping on the Mediterranean.

Fear of Invasion, Death

A year of Europe's "hands off Spain" policy Alvarez Del Vayo said, "has helped produce a situation admirably described by President Roosevelt in his recent commemoration address on the 150th anniversary of the constitution of the United States when he said:

"'Fear is spread throughout the world; fear of aggression, fear of invasion, fear of revolution, fear of death.'"

He told the committee, "the other party of the Spanish conflict, if you wish to reduce the problem to personal terms, is Hitler and Mussolini."

"If the democratic countries declare a collective decision—before it is too late—that peace should be

REPORT CONTACT WITH ENDEAVOUR

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(AP)— The master of the British steamer Cheyenne radioed the London office of the Associated Press to-day that he was in contact with the Endeavour I, long-missing America's Cup yacht, at noon British summer time (6 a.m. EST).

Captain Alcock, the Cheyenne's master, reported his contact with the Endeavour I through the radio of the yacht Valantia, from which the one-time cup challenger broke her tow off Nantucket two weeks ago.

His message from off the Irish coast near the regular steamer lanes said:

"Noon B.S.T. spoke Endeavour I. Captain and all well in Latitude 49.9 north, Longitude 15.36 west, steering 120 degrees, wind N.E."

The Cheyenne is an Anglo-American Oil Company tanker en route to Manchester from a Mexican Gulf oil port. It was the second time in the past week that the Endeavour had been reported found. The first report, from the Azores, far to the south, proved erroneous.

Neebing Wreck Down 108 Feet

RED ROCK, Ont., Sept. 27 (CP)—The wreckage of the steamer Neebing, which sank in the Nipigon Straits with loss of six lives, was located today in 108 feet of water following two days' sounding and dragging operations carried out under supervision of W. E. Mutch, superintending of the Sin-Mac Lines, owners of the vessel.

A diver was sent down after a ship's anchor had pulled up a section of the Neebing's forward cabin. He reported no visibility, and search for bodies was found impossible. The vessel was believed to be lying on its side near where it foundered in a gale Friday.

Dragging operations were conducted from the tug Whalen and from a light skiff yesterday without success.

Health Services In Ontario Cut To Produce Surplus

Terrible Abuse of Patronage System by Liberals Is Alleged by Local Conservative Candidate

Curtailment of Ontario public health services to produce a treasury surplus for election purposes was blamed by Senator Iva Campbell Fallis for inadequate control of the Ontario infantile paralysis epidemic as she addressed a Conservative rally here Saturday night.

Referring particularly to dismissal of the Province's eight district health officers, the Senator claimed the plan of dividing health supervision of the province over eight districts under experienced officers was designed for just such a province-wide emergency as the present epidemic.

"These special officers were ready to come to the aid of the local health officers whenever situations requiring large-scale supervision arose," Senator Fallis said. "The need for them came with the arrival of the infantile paralysis epidemic this summer but the services of that extra brigade of able experienced medical men were not available because the Hepburn Government had dismissed them to build up a surplus for this election."

False Economy

Senator Fallis charged false economy had been practiced in many fields by the Hepburn Government. She said the government ignored grand jury protests that patients were sleeping and even eating on floors, so crowded were the mental hospitals. "That went on without any correction until an election date was announced. Then, presto! Extravagant expansion of hospital accommodation began, just as though a wand had been waved."

"For every reduction of unnecessary expenditures we give the Government due credit," she said. "But when it comes to curtailment of necessary services I think the gov-

CRIMINAL CASES BOTH LAID OVER

No criminal cases were presented to the Grand Jury at the opening of the Autumn Assizes before Mr. Justice Kingstone at the court house this afternoon. Judge Kingstone presided in the absence through illness of Mr. Justice Hogg, who had originally been assigned here.

At the request of the Crown the indictment charging Harvey Murphy, president of the Ontario Unemployed Federation with spreading false information was not presented and will be brought before a later court. Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., intimated that this action was being taken at the request of J. L. Cohen, counsel for the prisoner. Bail was renewed in Murphy's case.

A charge of incest against George Selmes was laid over until the December sittings of the Court of General Sessions because of the illness of a material witness. Bail was also renewed in that case.

GUN TRIO KIDNAP RICH CHICAGOAN NO WORD SINCE

CHICAGO, Sept. 27—(AP).—Mrs. Charles S. Ross sat near a telephone in her apartment to-day—hopeful the abductors of her husband, a wealthy retired manufacturer, "will call me and make their demands so I'll know what to do."

"They've kidnapped him, but I don't know why," she said last night as the 24th hour passed since her 72-year-old husband was forced into a car by one of three gunmen.

"I haven't heard a word from the kidnappers" she added, "but I'm sure I will."

Meanwhile, Police Capt. Daniel Gilbert threw his department's resources int othe search for the men who abducted Ross Saturday night while he was driving home from a dinner engagement with Miss Florence Freihage, 45, his former secretary.

Miss Freihage, described by Mrs. Ross as a "fine woman' and a "friend of the family" said her former employer invited her to dinner to discuss matters pertaining to the Valentine and greeting card company which he headed until his retirement two years ago. Miss Freihage is secretary for one of the new owners.

Followed From Sycamore.

"We drove to Sycamore, Ill., she said, "and when we started back I remember the car pulled out of the parking space of the hotel where we dined. It followed us for a great distance.

"Finally Mr. Ross remarked that the car behind him was shining its light on to his mirror. 'I think I'll draw over to the side and let it by,' he said. One man jumped out. He was young. He thrust a pistol at Mr. Ross and yelled that he'd shoot unless the door was opened.

"Mr. Ross obeyed and at his command got out of the car. I think there were two other men in the car. The one with the pistol said, 'This is a snatch; my boss told me to bring you alone.'

"He took Mr. Ross over to the other car. Then he returned and took $85 out of my purse. He says, 'You're his secretary. Is he good for a half-million or a quarter-million? I assured him Mr. Ross had no such wealth.

"The man paid no attention to that. 'You get down on the floor of the car,' he said. 'If you get up I'll shoot you.'"

Miss Freihage wrove Ross' car to a filling station where she notified police.

NEW MARTIN DRIVE

DETROIT, Sept. 27 (AP).—Homer Martin, president United Automobile Workers of America, left to address a meeting in Hamilton, Ont., tonight which he said would open a new campaign to organize Canadian auto workers. Martin said he had recovered from an illness which kept him from U.A.W.A. executive board sessions last week.

Drought-Ridden Saskatchewan Crop

Drought-ridden though much of Saskatchewan is this year, the western province, which once boasted the proud title: "Bread-basket of the World," produced this excellent crop. The field, thickly dotted with wheat stooks, is located northeast of Prince Albert, on a farm which a few years ago was dense bush. This year the yield was 45 bushels per acre from this field and the owner, Fred Lewis, could visualize a handsome profit from his year's work. Higher prevailing wheat prices have guaranteed a good financial return to wheat-growers in the crop areas.

Traffic Mishaps and Gun Kill 5 Over Week-End

TORONTO, Sept. 27 (CP)—Traffic accidents claimed five lives during the week-end with a hunting mishap raising the toll to six. Rain made highways treacherous and visibility poor.

The hunting victim was 14-year-old John Blazett, killed at Harrow, 34 miles south of Windsor, when a gun accidentally discharged. Two companions were attempting to fix a jammed gun when it discharged, the bullet striking Blazett in the neck.

Basil Coe, 22, Windsor, was killed when his truck got out of control and plunged into a field near Windsor. U. Z. Maybee, Cayuga, was killed, his wife and father, 83, injured when his auto skidded into a ditch, three miles east of Cayuga.

When knocked down by a car near her Tecumseh home, Mrs. Mabel Leacock, 51, was fatally injured. Her body was hurled 60 feet when struck by the auto. Three young men were struck by the body.

Mario Albert, 21, Ottawa, died from a fractured skull suffered when hit by a car in the Canadian capital. The driver of the machine failed to stop.

Worm Digger-Upper Champ A Woman

Oklahoma City, Sept. 27 (AP)

FOUR million worms are a lot of worms, and at $1 a gallon they have run—or squirmed—into a profit of between $1,000 and $1,200 for Mrs. Bertha Campbell.

Mrs. Campbell, 31, mother of five children, claims to be world's champion worm digger-upper. She started digging two years ago to boost the family income.

"Some man came down and told us he would pay us $1 a gallon for fishworms, so I started digging," Mrs. Campbell said.

SALESMAN'S BAIL IS SET AT $1,000 IN MURDER CASE

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 27—(CP)—Bail was set at $1,000 to-day for Lorne McFarlan, 40-year-old London real estate salesman, held on a vagrancy charge since 36 hours after police launched an investigation into the death of Miss Mary Wilkinson, 37-year-old school teacher.

At the same time, the vagrancy charge was amended, so that McFarlan will be bonded only as a material witness. Authorities said that he would be bailed to appear at the next Assize Court for Middlesex County, which will open probably in the latter part of January.

Two men, Dr. Charles A. Cline and Lochlin J. Robertson, are now in Middlesex County Jail, facing charges of murder in connection with the teacher's death. Should a magistrate rule that there is sufficient evidence for them to go before a Supreme Court judge and jury, they would most likely appear at the January Assize Court. Preliminary hearing of the charge against Dr. Cline opened Saturday and was adjourned to October 12.

McFarlan did not immediately raise the $1,000 property, or $500 cash bail which County Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw demanded. It was understood, however, that relatives are coming to London and that they will post the bond late to-day.

Robertson's Story.

Robertson received the protection of the court before he began his testimony on Saturday, after that of his wife. His counsel, Alexander Ferguson, had entered formal protest against him being called on the ground anything he said might tend to incriminate him.

Robertson said that on September 7 he went to Dr. Cline's office and picked up a young woman and drove her to his home. The next morning he was in a back bedroom when his

EMPIRE AIR MAIL STARTS BEFORE '38 INCLUDES CANADA

OTTAWA, Sept. 27 (CP)—Tentative plans for Canada's participation in Empire airmail scheme, with consequent reduction in air mail rates to Empire countries served from London by Imperial Airways, were announced today by Postmaster-General Elliot.

A statement from the Postmaster-General's office said it was expected the service would be made available "shortly," and that while it had been impossible to fix a definite date, the start would probably be not later than the end of the year.

The statement said:

"The new airmail service will be introduced by gradual stages, beginning with the service to South Africa, which includes Egypt, and later will extend to India, Straits Settlements and Australia and New Zealand—also to the non-participating intermediary countries through which the air service will pass.

"The effect on the Canadian public will be a substantial reduction in airmail rates. At least a 50 per cent. reduction in the present airmail rate is assured with the possibility of a further reduction up to, perhaps, 75 per cent."

The scheme, the statement said, will be operated at heavy expense, which will be met to a considerable extent by contributions from participating countries.

"Canada," the Minister explained, "has decided to contribute to this service in order to obtain the right to participate, and the benefit will be passed on to the Canadian public in the form of lower rates, which are expected to prove an important factor in fostering closer Empire relations and stimulating intra-Empire trade."

Russian, Jap Troops Begin Massing On Siberian Border

Japs Collect Duty on U.S. Goods to Shanghai; Raids on Eastern Cities Take Heavy Toll

GENEVA, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The 23-nation League of Nations advisory committee on the Far East tonight adopted a resolution condemning bombardment of Chinese towns by Japanese airplanes.

Japan was denounced by Great Britain, France, Sweden, Russia and China. The committee of 23 nations thereupon recessed and its president, Foreign Minister William Munters of Latvia, ordered drafting of a resolution condemning Japan.

Dr. Wellington Koo of China, had urged the League to point out Japan as the "wrongdoer to the world,' and asked that the committee at least name Japan, the aggressor, if it could not go further, and "enforce international law and principles of the covenant."

Troops Mass In Siberia.

TOKYO, Sept. 27 (AP).—Russia and Japan were reported today concentrating large forces along the already heavily guarded frontier of Siberia and Manchoukuo.

Reliable sources said the situation between Russia and Japan was more serious than it had been at any time since 1932 when the Japanese army created the Manchoukuo empire out of Chinese Manchuria.

MOSCOW, Sept. 27 (AP).—Japan was advised by Russia today she would be held fully responsible for any bombing of the Soviet embassy in Nanking, whether it was accidental or "intentional."

Russia, in what was described as a "determined protest" against bombardment of the Chinese capital, charged Japan with "pure provocation" and "some Japanese military powers" with planning an international bombing of the Russian embassy.

City Bombings Continue.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 27—(AP).—Japanese reinforcements were moved to north-west of Shanghai today to halt a Chinese counter-attack as Japanese airplanes bombed crowded cities of the eastern coast.

At Canton in the south, the terminus of the Canton to Hankow railroad was fired by the bombs of the air raiders and there were heavy civilian casualties.

The environs of Nanking, the capital, down the Yangtze River, were bombed, but Chinese pursuit planes turned back the attackers from the city proper.

A series of heavy explosions rocked Shanghai as Japanese warships and land batteries opened fire on the North Station area. Several shells struck near the British barricades on the north border of the International Settlement.

United States importers bringing goods into Shanghai on Japanese boats said the Japanese had established customs depots in the Japanese occupied Yangtzepoo and Hongkew areas of the International Settlement and were collecting duty on all imports.

A Chinese spokesman said they had broken the Japanese attack on the north-western flank in the Liuhong and Lotien sector and recaptured three additional villages.

CAPTAIN, 35 CREW RESCUED AS SHIP PILES UP ON REEF

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., Sept. 27 (CP Cable) — Stranded in their storm-battered freighter when it grounded on a reef south of Bell Island in Conception Bay, Captain and the 35-man crew of the British vessel, Lackenby, were taken ashore today by the steamship Maneco Baronet.

The Moneco Baronet and another vessel, the Marysmith, had put out from the island after the Lackenby had sent out an appeal for aid when she became fast on the hidden reef last night.

The vessel was broadside to the shore and the pounding all night of breakers threatened to break up the 5,000 ton freighter. Her crew and their personal belongings were taken off in lifeboats from the rescue ship which took the men ashore and returned to the scene to survey salvage possibilities. The crew was taken to Wabana where the freighter was due to pick up an ore cargo.

4 Suspects Nabbed At Colborne

COBOURG, Ont., Sept. 27.—(CP).—Four alleged robbers were arrested and $375 recovered during the week-end by Provincial Constable Fred Blucher at Colborne. The four were said to be wanted in Belleville and word was conveyed to Chief W. J. Carey at Cobourg. The latter apprehended the men at Colborne in a car and brought them up to Cobourg, where they were locked up and later taken back to Belleville. They gave their names as John McCardel and Joe Castentino, Toronto; Gordon Trevitt, Montreal, and N. Dicko, Winnipeg. The four had $375 in their possession.

Blucher recovered three hypodermic needles, taken from the office of Dr. W. Wade on Aug. 28. Chief Carey said Dicko would be brought back to Cobourg to face a charge of robbing Dr. Wade's office.

MAY SPARE THE ROD

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(CP).— The rod may be spared in England. After four months' investigation a Government Departmental Committee on Corporal Punishment have decided to recommend magistrates should no longer have the right to order children to be "birched."

The report will be presented to Sir Samuel Hoare, Home Secretary, who in turn will introduce it to the House of Commons.

Bund Camp Shuts Fight Goes On

ANDOVER, N.J., Sept. 27—(AP) — The German-American Bund's camp Nordland was closed to-day but Bundsfuehrer Fritz Kuhan said the organization was determined "to continue its fight for Americanism until America is controlled by Americans and not by a group of Russian-controlled Jews."

The hills of Sussex County echoed to the "Heils" of 20,000 persons and the march of goose-stepping paraders yesterday at a harvest day fete marking the closing of the camp until next year.

Kuhn called for contributions to a fund for construction of a $40,000 centre building and said, "Instead of spending 40 cents in Jewish movie houses, it would be much better to give money to the fund."

Classification Of Unemployed Being Tackled In Ottawa

Provincial Officials Bring Results Of Check-Up All Across Dominion

OTTAWA, Sept. 27.— (CP). — Classification of al lunemployed persons in Canada to discover forms of work to which they are best suited is a problem being attacked in conferences here between Dominion and Provincial officials, Labor Minister Rogers announced to-day.

Provincial officials are placing figures before officers of the Federal Labor Department and Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, member of the National Employment Commission, is participating in the conference as a representative of that body.

Mr. Rogers said the discussions are being held in pursuance of the interim report by the Employment Commission published during the summer. Much valuable data had already been obtained through registration of those on relief, the report said.

"In this connection," it continued, "it must be borne in mind that even in improved times it will be necessary to maintian a re-

Two Girls, Three Youths Accompany Unidentified Bandit "For The Thrill"

New York, Sept. 27

A MAN shot in a $35 holdup battled for his life today as police held two girls and three youths who, Detective Lieutenan Martin Owen said, had accompanied an unidentified bandit "for the thrill."

Detective Owen said if the victim, William Patterson, died all members of the group would face possible murder charges.

The girls' Viola Wright, 16, and Marie Broderick, 19, told police they and the three youths met a stranger at a bar and accepted his invitation to take them along on a holdup.

The detective said the girls and their escorts—Emil Siroky, 20, Charles Cholde, 21, and John Walsh, 19—waited outside in a car while the stranger entered a tavern and robbed the customers of 35. Patterson was shot three times when he resisted. His assailant escaped.

Girl Loses Pasha Gets Cash, Jewels

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 27 (AP). — Maria Huebner, 17-year-old daughter of an Austrian hotel proprietor, who came to Egypt to marry the 64-year-old former Premier, Tewfik Nessim Pasha, will go home without a husband. Financial arrangements collapsed today.

Nessim said a disagreement with the girl's father over the terms of the marriage settlement had caused the engagement to be broken. The former adviser to the late King Fuad said he had settled a large cash sum on his former fiancee, and was allowing her to keep jewels worth about $20,000.

Aerial Torpedoes To Mine Skies Around Great Britain

Can Be Shot Up 32,000 Feet Carrying Parachutes With Bombs Against Air Raiders

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Behind an electrified iron fence guarded by a native which warns "Keep Out," a lonely building set amid a thousand acres of desolate Welsh mountainland, houses a remarkable invention which, it is claimed, can make Britain safe from aerial attack.

It is a rocket aerial-torpedo which discharges parachutes bearing steel wires, to the end of which bombs are attached. The aim of the invention is to lay an "aerial mine-field" for raiding aircraft.

Full details of this amazing device were given by the inventor, Harry Grindell-Matthews, at his laboratories on a 1,500-mile plateau, ten miles from Swansea.

Visitors are not welcomed at the laboratory. In addition to the electrified fence, barbed-wire fences ten feet high surround his experimental station. Near the house is a landing-field for airplanes. In the house there are six bedrooms, a lounge, a dining room, kitchens, and an elab-

New York, Sept. 27 (CP)

THOSE New Yorkers who take their anti-noise campaign seriously will have something more to cheer about Tuesday than the departure of the American Legionnaires. That's when the barkless dog makes its North American debut.

Incredible as it may seem, the dogs really don't bark. They are born that way; no bark-removing operations have to be performed. Natives of the Congo in Africa, the barkless wonders are known to the Africans as Basenji, which means "bush thing"—for the dogs are excellent hunters, although they can make themselves heard only with a sort of growl or rumble.

Dog lovers never heard of these animals until last December, when a few brace of them were taken to England by Mrs. Olivia Burn, an Englishwoman who found them in the Belgian Congo. In the last 10 months the Basenji have been bred and shown in England, attracting considerable attention. On Tuesday two barkless but otherwise alert and playful puppies will arrive from their English birthplace aboard the Berengaria.

ROWE TURNS GUNS G. M. STRIKE STAND TAKEN BY HEPBURN

OSHAWA, Ont., Sept. 27 (CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn's recruiting of extra police during the Oshawa General Motors strike was branded Saturday night by Conservative Leader Earl Rowe as "political bluff, fiasco and burlesque" which cost the province $110,000.

The premier obtained 200 Royal Canadian Mounted Police from Ottawa, some of whom "just celebrated" when they arrived in Toronto and "saw the political fiasco of Hepburn recklessness," said Mr. Rowe. Ottawa, however, turned down the premier when he sought more troops to protect Oshawa in case of what he claimed was an invasion of Communism.

Mr. Rowe challenged the premier to deny the special police he recruited when refused by the Ottawa authorities were not still on the payroll." The premier purchased $22,000 worth of uniforms for these policemen and "400 raincoats so they could sleep out on cold wet nights around Oshawa this fall," Mr. Rowe said.

"Called Off Streets, Patronage List."

These men were called in "from the street corners and the patronage list," continued Mr. Rowe. Mr. Hepburn called on Col. Fraser Hunter, Liberal member of the last Legislature for Toronto St. Patrick, to train the special force.

"Col. Hunter taught them to form fours in the basement of the Parliament Buildings on wet days, and they played ball in the Armouries on dry days, waiting the call to arm," the Conservative leader declared.

During the spring of 1933 George Henry, then Conservative Premier, did not send troops to Stratford, scene of a furniture strike, until he was asked to do so, Mr. Rowe told an interrupter. Premier Hepburn also should not have interfered in the Oshawa strike until he was asked by Mayor Alex. Hall.

When the Premier declared he stood 100 per cent. for General Motors, he ceased to be a conciliator, said Mr. Rowe. "I realize it was a definite scheme to establish a smoke screen for election purposes."

"They had a right to strike," he continued. "They had a right to collective bargaining so long as they maintained the law. They had a right to organize any way they wished, the same as the farmers, as long as they maintained law and order."

SHOULD SHARE PROFITS

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 27.—(CP).—The church to-day is not satisfied with capitalism in its present form because the church believes profits should be shared by labor as well as capital, said Rt. Rev. Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen of the Catholic University of America, Washington, who spoke here last night, under the auspices of the Assumption College Lecture League.

Msgr. Sheen branded Communists as "cheap champions of the poor." They are to be found all over the United States to-day and hate capitalists because they desired to be capitalists themselves and are poor involuntarily, he said.

Urges More Settlers Peace River Area

Edmonton, Sept. 27 (CP)

SIR Edward Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, will urge the Dominion Government to launch a broad program of colonization through the Peace River country north of Edmonton, he said in an interview here yesterday.

"That north country needs a settlement plan of rail development," Sir Edward said after concluding a four-day inspection tour of the Northern Alberta Railway. He is President of the N.A.R., administered jointly by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways.

TRADE SUSPENDED IN CHICAGO CORN

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (AP).—Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade invoked emergency power Saturday to suspend trading in Sept. corn and end the market deadlock between traders in the commodity.

The board ordered settlement of all open contracts at a price of $1.10¼ per bushel.

The action averted a threatened "squeeze" which developed when it became apparent that there was not sufficient September corn available to permit traders to make deliveries in accordance with their contracts.

President Kenneth S. Templeton said the board had no alternative under the commodity exchange act which requires all contract markets to prevent manipulation.

A showdown on the threatened "squeeze" was due next Monday before the directors acted. All deals were to have ended at that time and the "shorts" would have had three days thereafter in which to make delivery.

Shortage Of Old Corn

The market crisis was precipitated by the realization that "shorts" were faced by a shortage of old domestic corn due to the drought of previous years, Pres. Templeton said. The shortage, despite heavy importations of Argentine, South African and other foreign corn, he added, "permitted the 'long' interests to take advantage of the situation."

The directors decree that "short" interests must notify the board of intentions to settle open contracts at the stipulated price or elect to make delivery. Failure to deliver after such notification would render the trader in default under exchange rules. At yesterday's opening, contracts remaining for settlement involved 8,400,000 bushels.

Malone School Traces Back To Shack 75 Years Ago

Digging Up History Of Their Charges Gives Centre Hastings Teachers Interesting Work

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Sept. 27.—Teachers of Centre Hastings are asked this year to compile a history of the school in which they are teaching.

Through the kindness of Miss Gertrude Franklin teacher at Marmora S.S. No. 6, the following is submitted for readers of The Examiner:

Malone School Log, 1937.

Education in the Malone district began in a year that is remote from the earliest recollection of the oldest living scholar to have attended school there. That individual recalls his father having told him that a few ratepayers got together and built a shack which was the beginning of better things to come. Even its location cannot be ascertained now. Only the mere mention of its existence remains.

As far as can be conjectured, the erection of a log school-house took place about three-quarters of a century ago. This building facing south, took shape on the north side

SEVEN ARE BURNED BLAST ON CRUISER

LA SALLE, Ont., Sept. 27 (C.P.).—Seven La Salle persons suffered burns and shock when a blast of unknown origin set fire to their 25-foot cruiser in the Detroit river off Fighting Island on Sunday

The explosion threw Mrs. Chappus into the water and her husband jumped in to save her. Mrs. Taylor, Louis Chappus, and Norman Monforton got in a small boat tied to the stern of their launch, unable to find oars, paddled with their hands to where Mr. and Mrs. Chappus struggled in the water.

Felix Monforton and Gignac remained on the burning cruiser in the belief others remained on board. When they had made certain no one remained, they dived into the river and were picked up by a motor boat. The people in the burning cruiser's boat were towed to shore by another rowboat. None was taken to hospital.

The cruiser, owned by William Gray, Windsor, burned to the water's edge.

TWO SHIPS REACH BEACHED STEAMER

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—(A.P.).—The Canadian Pacific Liner Duchess of Atholl, reported by radio early to-day to the Radio Marine Corporation, two small steamers had reached the British freighter Lackenby and one was standing by to render assistance.

The Lackenby, a 410-foot, 5,066 ton ship which left Montreal Sept. 18, had sent out an SOS signal at 12.35 a.m. (EST) saying it was ashore on the south end of Belle Isle and in immediate need of aid.

The Strait of Belle Isle, separating Newfoundland and Labrador, is on the regular steamship route from Montreal to Liverpool.

The small steamers set out for the Lackenby from Wabana after the Duchess of Athol radioed it was fog-bound in the vicinity of the Lackenby and unable to proceed.

The Lackenby is owned by the Ropner Shipping Company, Ltd., of England.

HEPBURN HOPEFUL TAX ON GASOLINE MAY BE LOWERED

(By C.P. Staff Writer)

TORONTO, Sept. 27.—(CP)—After a swing around Eastern Ontario Premier Mitchell Hepburn today turns his campaigning to the southwestern end of the province. He speaks tonight at Thorold, will visit Aylmer fair and speak at Simcoe tomorrow and will go to his home city of St. Thomas for nominations Wednesday.

Saturday, Mr. Hepburn spoke at Pembroke and assured his hearers there was no truth in a rumor the government would increase the gasoline tax. On the contrary, he said, it was hoped the tax could be reduced as the province's financial position improved.

It was quite possible, he said, stiffer penalties would be provided for fraudulent evasion of succession duties if the government continued in office.

Having discovered many large estates had defrauded the province of millions of dollars under the former government the Liberal administration had secured legislation for increased penalties, speedy and economical investigation of suspected fraunds and an increase in the succession duty rates on estates over $1,000,000.

Sees Rowe's Hand Tied.

All these proposals had been bitterly opposed by Conservative members of the legislature, some of whom would be in Hon. Earl Rowe's cabinet if the Conservatives won the election. Mr. Rowe could not go on with the collection of these moneys. To do so would be to expose the maladministration of his own colleagues.

On the other hand the Liberal administration, if endorsed at the polls, would continue its drive for back succession duties in an orderly manner, said Mr. Hepburn. The resistance estates were now putting up in the hope of delaying settlement until the return of a Conservative government would cease.

From 44 estates now under investigation the government hopes to collect a total of between $50,000,000 and $70,000,000. The Premier named the second of the five large Ottawa estates which have been under review. It is that on the late J. Frederick Booth and the claim is for $1,300,000. Previously he had announced a claim for $3,500,000 against the estate of the late John R. Booth.

ROWE TO REVEAL TOLL-GATE FACTS

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 27—(CP). — Existence of a toll-gate collecting from beverage room operators was charged by Hon. Earl Rowe, Ontario Conservative leader, in a statement issued Saturday after his address to a public meeting.

Mr. Rowe's statement follows: "That there may be no mistake as to the seriousness of this situation and the unfitness of this government to continue in office, I propose in the course of my next few public speeches to lay before the people of Ontario sworn evidence where persons employed as inspectors to administer the liquor laws of this province are themselves acting as toll-gate collectors from licensed beverage room operators in Ontario to financially assist Liberal candidates to be elected to office.

The statement was prepared as part of Mr. Rowe's address, but was not included in its delivery.

Quit Buying From Japan

As a rule this paper does not believe in boycotts. They are generally born in a feeling of hatred or spite, and the cause which brings them into existence or touches them into action is often enough one to which reasonable people could not subscribe.

The executive committee of the League of Nations is considering a boycott against trade with Japan, and there are reasons why this ought to be done.

Japan his sinned in the eyes of the world in introducing a form of warfare more awful than anything which has happened before. Japan sends planes where she will in China and drops bombs on defenceless communities. There is no warning; there is no notice that women and children and old people shall leave a certain area. Nothing like that at all. Just a sudden rain of death from above. It is nothing but plain mechanical murder.

There is no nation which does not feel the pinch of lost trade, and Japan is no exception. When a country finds it can sell nothing it is headed for bankruptcy. Japan right now is ripe and ready for such treatment.

Not The Right System

Reports from a number of districts in Ontario tell of names being missed by the enumerators in preparing the voters' lists. The Toronto Telegram says between 25,000 and 30,000 were omitted in Toronto, but that figure seems away high. The claim is also made that enumerators "deliberately refused to put on names, and struck others off knowing them to be opposed to the government in politics." That is rather a bald sort of charge to make, and we are moved to doubt if there has been much work of that sort carried out. It is not possible that enumerators should go up and down the streets putting on whom they desired and leaving off those whom they chose to ignore. When they work they know well enough there is going to be a check-up by way of a court of revision.

The trouble is the system is wrong. A government can announce the date of an election when it so desires. It is not a fixed date, and after the date has been announced there is always the same hurry in preparing a voters' list. It is not like revising a permanent record, but rather resembles the preparation of an entirely new list in a hurry. It might be the court of revision itself could by holding more frequent sessions revise the old list with as much accuracy as we attain by our present method of seeking to bring into existence an entirely new list in too great a hurry.

It is easy enough to understand the feeling and outlook of the individual who has long been a resident of a community and at the same address who finds his name is not on the voters' list. He has taken it for granted it would be there because it had been there for a number of years, and it is difficult enough to see why such a name should not continue to be on the list. We are inclined to believe better results would be obtained by having a few well-trained people attending to this business all the time rather than having many attending to it a few weeks before election. And the cost might be a great deal less than we are paying now.

He Can Have Only One

Several weeks ago the Government Employment Bureau in London, Ont., received a letter from a Western Ontario man who was in search of a wife. In his letter he gave a general idea of the sort he wanted. Not an easy thing to do, but the seeker did the best he knew how. There would be no book of rules which would make his task easier, nor would there be any particular set of plans or specifications for which he could express a preference. Trying to describe the wife the man required or desired would not be nearly as simple as going to a store and selecting an axe-handle which might be to a woodsman's liking.

But that is apart from the story. The Employment Department at London at least caused the man's desire to be made known, and as a result there have been 35 replies received. With many of the letters there were photographs and a good deal of descriptive material, most of which would undoubtedly be complimentary.

It is worth noting too that the man in this case did not pose as one who was well off and who could and would provide for a woman according to any specified standard. All the 35 ladies know is that a man is foot loose and unclaimed and thinking of matrimony. If the man does not at once proceed with the serious business of selection and elimination and show signs of early action then he ought to be dealt with rather severely for the commotion he has created in the ranks of ladies who have expressed a desire for participation in domestic life in double harness.

Not Like It Used To Be

Newspapers are finding it difficult enough to keep up to the minute when it comes to interviewing men who go flying about in airships. In one issue of the Globe and Mail there were two stories dealing with the return trip of Sir Hubert Wilkins, who has been in the Arctic regions searching for the lost Russian fliers.

One story appeared from Lac Du Bonnet, Manitoba, telling of a statement made by Sir Hubert on his arrival there. In the same day's paper was another report telling of the arrival of Sir Hubert in Toronto and accounting for his movements after reaching that city.

There is nothing which newspapers can do about it. They cannot possibly prevent men from appearing at a number of far-removed points within the scope of the hours of one day's publication. It is a remarkable change from the method of moving about only a few years ago when it would not have been possible for a man to have been at some point in Manitoba and also in Toronto on the same day.

One Man's Experience

This is just the plain statement of a man who has tried a good many forms of investing, and now he is going to own a home. This is what he told the Examiner:

"Nearly eight years ago I was told by a man who had been rather successful to keep away from real estate. He advised me to always rent and keep my extra money free to use in good investments. He had made money himself and I was certain I could do the same. I acted on what I considered sound advice, but I have been caught in every market slump which has come. I did not touch what might be called highly speculative ventures; I was not interested in what they refer to as penny stocks. I was certain I was buying good sound stuff relizing of course that the element of speculation is present in anything one secures.

"I admit I have made some money at times, but I have also lost it, and I have lost more than I have made. I have passed through several periods when I could have secured a desirable home for less money than it cost to construct it, but I kept away from real estate. The result is that I have made no money from my efforts, but have lost some, and I have no home of my own. The amount which I have lost would have paid off a good portion of a home. I am going to quit my nonsense and own a home."

The Meaning of a Promise

In the number of things being promised this election campaign is much like any other. Candidates as well as leaders are taking part in the business of promising. Many of the promises have to do with the spending of money, the erection of buildings, or the undertaking of public works which will benefit one locality only.

Chances are voters look upon this in a way which is quite different from the expectation or intent of the candidate.

A promise to indulge in the expenditure of more money may sound well at the moment, but it loses its force when the voter sits back and recalls that the man who is making the promise is not going to foot the bill. The cost of the undertaking will be added to the liability of the voter.

So when all these promises are being made it means that the voter is being told he is going to be asked to whack up more money. And that is one thing he does not want to do.

Worked Hard and Lost Money

There is good ground along the Holland River near Bradford, Ont., and people have been working what used to be regarded as marsh land. It is highly productive. A number have taken up small acreage there, the idea being to raise vegetables and produce for the Toronto market, and at first glance the scheme looks right enough. There is nothing wrong with it. There is the greatest city in Ontario not many miles away; there are roads leading to it, and few of the people living in Toronto grow their own produce. The land along the Holland river is rich in productive strength. The whole combination looks safe and it might be expected that with sufficient hard work and marketing experience one should have a fair return for the year's work.

But in many cases it does not work out that way at all. We read of the experience of one man who had the results of a shipment all set down on a piece of paper. He had forwarded the following: One bushel of cauliflower, four bushels of cabbage, nine bushels of turnips, 21 bushels of carrots, two bushels of red cabbage, two six-quart baskets of tender beets and five six-quart baskets of parsnips.

What happened? The cauliflower and turnips were dumped out because they went bad before a buyer was found. For the rest of the shipment he was credited with $6.70. From this was deducted $1.41 as market commission. He had paid $2.82 for the baskets which were used, and the cost of hauling the vegetables to the market had amounted to $2.66. When these figures representing selling costs were added together it was found they were 19 cents greater than the price the gardener had received for his shipment, so that was the amount of money he lost as well as his labor and the use of the land.

We do not know whether he was sending the right kind of stuff to the Toronto market at this season of the year. We doubt whether there would be a great sale for cabbage and turnips at this time of year. It might possibly be a good thing for the growers of market produce to give closer attention to the articles which a prospective market is likely to absorb.

There is more to this situation. The grower of the produce is in the class of the primary producer. If it were not for him the maker of baskets, the commission market and the trucking companies would not have much to do, and yet the primary producer was the one who took all the chance and absorbed all the loss. All the other parties who had anything to do with putting the produce on the Toronto market were working according to a set scale of charges. The vegetable grower along the Holland River has a problem, and the problem has been in existence for a long time. We dare say he worked long and hard in the production of what he offered for sale but the problem of selling and distributing actually robbed him of his chance to make a living. We have a great many wise men in this country, we have many schools, and we have many departments of government, but none of them has yet addressed itself successfully to the question raised by the man who is growing produce along the Holland River or elsewhere.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The captain of the Cambria is one man the folk in this part of the country have had to look up to.

It has been discovered that the original of the British North America Act is in the Victoria Tower in London. That should make it easy to obey the admonition "Hands off the constitution."

No matter who wins the election the next session of the Legislature should see a record established in the matter of new measures if all the campaign promises are implemented.

It is intimated by Premier Hepburn that Ottawa may soon cut the sales tax. We do not know just how Ontario's premier got his information but we hope he is right.

President Roosevelt's visit to British Columbia means a holiday to the school children of the province. They are hoping that the head of the republic will come often.

A dictatorship is predicted in Alberta if the Social Credit government stays in office. The authority for that statement is Mr. Aberhart's former Attorney-general so at least it is interesting.

At least the Alberta government is optimistic. It has appointed Major Douglas' envoy as one of the commission to administer Social Credit—and has given him a ten-year contract.

Quebec will have 45,000 men engaged in the woods this winter. That will help to take care of the unemployment problem and it should also prompt a little attention to the question of reforestation.

The candidate who said that his opponent was drawing a red herring across the trail so as to throw dust in the eyes of the electors may have been a little mixed, metaphorically, but at least everybody knew what he meant.

Premier Hepburn and Hon. Earl Rowe are both billed to speak at different meetings in Picton at the same hour and on the same day. Better call the two rallies off and let the boys meet at the fair grounds.

A California woman has sued her husband for a separation allowance because he compels his family to live in a trailer. She probably objects to being so far behind that she cannot do any back seat driving.

VOTING

(By A. H. K.)

¶ I read election speeches now, and can't get things just straight some how, in truth I am confused; I feel some facts are sure to flow, and some good man I also know, is sure to get abused.

¶ I read about some Tory man, who has a fair and honest plan, he says just what he'll do; he'll turn all rascals out of power, and then inside of half an hour, he'll cut our bills in two.

¶ He'll fix things so I'll own a cow, have hay to feed her in my mow, I'll own a little farm; he'll fix it so I go ahead, put paint upon my driving shed, and shingles on my barn.

¶ And then some Grit man comes along, I listen while he pipes his song, with vigor in his eyes; he says the Tories ought to hang, for they are all a wicked gang, and reckless sort of guys.

¶ If Grits get in I'll have two cows, and I can keep three breeding sows, feel brave around the heart; they'll pave the mud road past my place, so I can move with goodly pace, have grease to fix my cart.

¶ And so I'm trying to figure out, just what these things are all about, I listen while they boast; I'm putting things down note by note, because I want to go and vote—so I will get the most.

THE SMALLEST lobster ever caught in a trap in the memory of fishermen was taken recently at Summerside, Prince Edward Island. It was hauled in by Arthur Mooney Gallant and landed with a regular catch. The length of the perfectly formed crustacean was two and a half inches and it weighed only three-quarters of an ounce. The tiny lobster was caught in a trap with other lobsters, the largest of which weighed four and one-half pounds. The fact that this midget remained in the trap with his bigger brothers, fishermen say, should give the advocates of smaller spaces between the laths of the traps, and other restricting measures some food for thought.

PERMANENT WAVE ROAD

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Kindly allow me a little space in the columns of your paper, regarding road conditions in this community. We hear election promises from some of the candidates as to what roads they are going to complete, etc. But why go so far back? Surely if money is so plentiful it could be put to good use on a road, that is a connecting link with other roads that furnish traffic for our American tourists, as well as Canadians.

Our township representatives seek our support at the polls, but they fail to better some of our main thoroughfares.

This road passes the House of Refuge property and surely it deserves more consideration, and I think I am voicing the sentiments of a great many people when I say it is about the worst road in Peterborough County. So to all the prospective aspirants to office a hearty invitation is extended to travel over our permanent-wave road at 20 or 25 miles per hr. and maybe some action will result.

W. A. FAIRBAIRN.

THE TEMPERANCE ISSUE

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Again we are on the eve of a Provincial election. The lowly elector, almost forgotten and often ignored, during the next few days will become the lordly voter. Opinions he expresses oftimes unaccepted and sometimes bitterly assailed by the party in power will now be heard with sympathy and in many instances gladly accepted.

Within the past few days the Temperance question has thrust itself into the political picture and is now being considered by both party leaders as being one of major importance.

Smoldering discontent and general dissatisfaction with the Act and its administration, which during the past three years has received little consideration by Government or Opposition has now on the eve of an election infected the leaders of both Liberal and Conservative parties, and lavish improvements are promised if only the electors will return them to office.

Within the next few days the candidates nominated in Peterborough County as well as other ridings throughout Ontario, will be asked to give a written reply for publication to four questions of major interest to the Temperance voter.

The abolition of beverage rooms.

Local option extended to the County as a whole.

Removal of Temperance issue from party politics and the freedom of the individual member in Parliament to express himself as to his convictions direct rather than through the dictation of his party, the caucus or his leader.

That re promise to confer and co-operate with like-minded members of all parties to secure enactment of most progressive Temperance legislation possible.

As over 5,000 voters in the city of Peterborough recently expressed themselves as against existence of beverage rooms in their city and thousands more outside the city limits have been forced to submit to this curse without even the privilege of expressing themselves by their ballot, it would seem only reasonable that as we unite electorally as a County to elect a Provincial representative, that County boundaries should determine whom should be entitled to vote upon the question of the existence of beverage rooms concerning as it does the people of the County as a whole.

As the leader of the Liberal party by his proposal of a Commission has now made the repudiation of a one-man dictatorship of the administration of the Liquor Control Act unanimous, and the leader of the Conservative party by precept and example has shown his sympathy for allowing the private members in the Legislature greater freedom of action when voting on Temperance legislation, we believe candidates in Peterborough County will be well-advised in giving considered, conscientious and frank replies to the questions to them submitted.

Yours very truly,
O. A. BRETHEN.

DEAD RATS

Editor Examiner:

Sir: "Where do rats naturally end their days?" A question propounded in the editorial columns of Fiddler's edition of The Examiner sent the Marmora correspondent on the job of ferreting for the answer. Some folks who have been disciples of Bacchus are more expert at recounting the appearances rather than the disappearances of rats. It was no use to seek testimony from such. And the one in the village who is credited with knowing most of the habits and haunts of wild life from bears to rodents, namely Sanford Lawrence, having left for Thompson Lake an hour before the arrival of the evening newspaper, ended the prospects of success there.

However he who seeks shall find. Three men were edcountered on the way to a committee meeting of the Marmora Agricultural Society and the question was popped. "I can tell you" said one. "The rats who escape the traps die of disease and go when stricken, to their holes to pass out similarly to rabbits."

ASKS COUNTY VOTE

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Having read in the Temperance Advocate a manifesto to the electors of Ontario. I felt impelled to write you with the hope that you may see fit to give my letter to the public, through the columns of your worthy paper.

I understand the candidates in the approaching election will be given the opportunity to declare their temperance sentiments, and their willingness, if elected to the Legislature, to offer their influence in this direction. One of the four questions proposed by the Temperance Federation, to be submitted to each candidate, impresses me very much. It reads thus: "Recognizing, that under improved modes of transportation, and consequent widening of the area affected by each liquor selling unit, and that adjacent municipalities suffer from a nuisance against which they have no redress, that without prejudice to municipal local option, Counties be given power on a majority vote to prevent the establishment or operation of government liquor stores within their bounds."

Now, Sir, This clause becomes quite apparent and convincing to any intelligent reader. Should the people of Peterborough County be compelled to sit perfectly composed, and silently watch the evils and the paralysing influences of drinks, as it spreads over great areas, far beyond the City?

The beer parlors were thrust upon us without mandate from the people of Ontario, and furthermore we have no redress, whatever from this grievance. Should not a people, with a democratic form of government, have something to say about a question that affects its life and vitally, that has spread so much ruin abroad, that has become disastrous to life and limb, and that is costing the people of this Province the handsome sum of over seventy-one millions of dollars annually?

In view of these awful facts we feel that we are justified in writing you, and that we are not exceeding our modest rights when we make an open protest in the name of humanity.

We desire, moreover, to have this question taken out of politics entirely, and submitted to the people in a referendum, so that the electors may express themselves freely without severing any party affiliations, and it is surely not too much to ask that the temperance people suffer no longer that disagreeable handicap in the three-fifth clause. It is neither fair nor British, and we respectfully submit that a vote be sought on a majority basis. Is this too much to ask from a candidate seeking to represent the people who, according to our system of government, should have, at least, a minimum to say, as to the manner in which they should be governed?

SENTENCE TOO LIGHT.

(Brantford Expositor)

THE OTHER day in the City of Toronto a case was brought up in the Magistrate's Court of an intoxicated driver who had been involved in two accidents on Yonge Street. "When I told him to pull up," the officer deposed, "he stopped his car eight feet from the curb. He smelled strongly of liquor and his speech was thick, the bumper of his car was smashed. After investigating we found that he had been involved in two accidents within ten minutes while driving down Yonge Street." Most persons would consider that that was a shocking violation of the law. He pleaded guilty to being intoxicated while in charge of a motor car and was sent to jail for thirty days. Is that an adequate penalty for an offense of that kind? Will such penalties make the highways and streets safe for driving? In view of the campaign for safety conducted by the Highways Department, is a sentence of thirty days in jail effective as a deterrent to reckless driving? In the opinion of ordinary observers it is not. The driving permit of an intoxicated driver should be cancelled for a term of years, and the license plates should be taken from the car in addition for at least a period of six months. The only way to rid the roads and streets of such drivers is to impose drastic sentences.

HOW A STORY GROWS.

(Bracebridge Gazette)

"A WOMAN on a farm on the outskirts of Bracebridge was carrying a bottle of cream when a bolt of lightning struck the bottle, cutting the bottom right off. The woman was rendered unconscious but soon recovered. Her salvation was probably due to the cream acting as a lightning conductor." Such was the story as published in a Toronto daily paper. The Gazette made a personal interview and found the facts are that the woman was carrying a bottle of milk when a sudden sharp clap of thunder startled her and she dropped the bottle and it broke. "Thus does news get in our great daily papers."

ELECTION POSTERS.

(Ottawa Journal)

AMONG the penalties of elections are election posters. Just now we are learning how appalling they can be. The Liberals have one in which Old Man Ontario is depicted grasping Mr. Hepburn by the hand and saying "Thank You Mitch—Carry On," and right beside it is found another of Mr. Rowe, his fist clenched and his face seemingly in pain, and under the picture the legend "You Can Trust Rowe."

Just what sort of mind it is that imagines that any sane person may vote for somebody because of these frightful banalities, puzzles us. True, there is such a thing as mob psychology, but what our election strategists don't seem to understand is that even mob psychology must be played upon intelligently.

LOOKING TO '38.

(Winnipeg Tribune)

THERE ARE good grounds for optimism regarding 1938. As a matter of fact, the total rainfall this summer throughout practically the whole drought district has been greater than it was in 1936. The trouble was that it did not come in time.

This fact, taken together with the rising level of the Lake of the Woods, the fact that Manitoba this year had enough rain and grew a better-than-average crop, and the fact that the drought broke this year south of the international border, are the best possible indications that a period of normal rainfall is beginning.

"Seen you havin," he said, "and I thought I'd work out that wood." At the end of the fourth day he figured accounts were even and shook hands on it.

"All square now," he said. "But I'll do ye an ax belve next Winter—for interest."

A Meeting of Poll Chairmen and Liberal Workers at COMMUNITY HALL, Ashburnham TO-MORROW NIGHT At 8 o'Clock

Talks to the People – J. H. Burnham

Sept. 26th, 1937.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P.,
Peterborough, Ontario.

My Dear Friend Burnham:—Yesterday evening a friend handed me a partial copy of "The Globe and Mail" containing a brief article of yours on "The Labor Union." This morning I dropped into Dr. Stevenson's office and had him read the article, saying that it was "the best thing I had read on the question," and after reading it he said, "Why don't you write him?" Hence, I am using the doctor's stationery.

I think you will remember me as the pastor of "Park Street Baptist." I believe you spoke at my reception after my resignation. I came from Peterborough to Calumet, Mich., where I was pastor of the First Church for five years, and from there to Flint, where I have now been for fifteen years.

Remember me to any of my old friends you may chance to meet. I would be glad to receive a line from you if you find the time to write.

As ever, your old friend,
(REV.) F. A. CONNERS.

Stage Set For New Evolution Trial

Although no Clarence Darrow or William Jennings Bryan has yet appeared to star in the drama, Waynesburg, Pa., will see a repetition of the famed Scopes trial of Dayton many years ago, when the theory of evolution was the case in point and Darrow and Bryan became world-known names. In the current instance, Mrs. Laura Elms Morris, a school teacher, is appealing her dismissal by a rural school board on charges of incompetency and cruelty. Mrs. Morris avers that classroom discussion of the evolution theory were regarded by the board as contributing to her incompetency as a teacher. A sixth grade pupil testified that Mrs. Morris "was always telling us we were descended from monkeys." Judge Challen Waychoff, TOP LEFT, will try the case which may become historic. The Bailey school house where Mrs. Morris taught is shown BELOW.

wife called him and said "an awful blunder" had been made. Dr. Cline remarked: "I can't conceive how anything like this could have happened."

Robertson said he then went with the doctor to the latter's office and was given a vial of morphine to take back to Mrs. Robertson. Dr. Cline had told him then that "the girl is going to die."

The next morning at 1 o'clock he met Dr. Cline by appointment on a street corner and they both went to the Robertson home. Mrs. Robertson said the patient was "pretty sick."

Dr. Cline went to the woman's room, placed a mask over her face and asked for a towel. Witness said he left the room when the doctor brought a small bottle with a split cork and dripped fluid on the mask."

When Robertson re-entered the room, he said Dr. Cline was holding the patient's pulse. He saw no sign of life. After the body was dressed, he and the doctor carried it out of the house and placed it in the luggage compartment of the doctor's car.

They both got in the coupe and drove out the asylum sideroad. The body was taken to a point northeast of the city and dumped in the river.

Magistrate Donald B. Menzies, presiding at the hearing, asked Robertson if he handled the body while it was being dumped in the river. Robertson replied he had. In answer to another question, he told the Magistrate there was no sign of life at that time.

Port Colborne Mill Pickets Brandish Clubs And Sticks

Night Shift Workers Warned Not To Return—Several Are Turned Back

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Sept. 27 — (CP) — Pickets aided by their wives turned back a number of workers from the Maple Leaf Milling Co. plant here Saturday as shifts changed. The women brandished sticks and clubs as workers attempted to enter the mill where the Grain Processors' Union called a strike earlier in the week.

Non-strikers in cars got through the picket lines with little trouble but those who walked or rode bicycles ran into difficulty. About six, said to be union members who had refused to strike, abandoned efforts to work.

Men coming off the night shift were advised by pickets not to return tonight. Tension developing since the strike was called three days ago was heightened by the presence of women in the picket lines.

Chief of Police Fred Davies and Constable Stevenson were on hand to see that those men who wished to work were permitted to go through. When police left, however, several were turned back.

May Call Provincials.

Chief Davies said that any employee of the company who wished to work would go to work without interference, and if the situation became any worse Provincial Police would be sought to protect the men. There would, he said, be no intimidation permitted. As long as the strikers were content to picket in a peaceful ordinary manner police would not interfere.

Strikers were not bothering millers and other skilled employees, three men being allowed to pass through the lines unmolested. The warehouse and packing room employees were subjected to much verbal abuse. The strikers claimed this morning that the company had filled their jobs with men from out of town bringing farmers in from the surrounding district to take these jobs. They also claimed that youths were being employed replacing married men.

Company officials said six or seven men had been employed to replace strikers. The plant was operating as usual, they said, with two shifts working extra time instead of the usual three eight-hour shifts.

CLASSIFICATION OF UNEMPLOYED

liable record of all types of distressed persons to the assistance of whom the Dominion, the provinces and the municipalities contribute, if overlapping is to be avoided and the unintentional demoralization of individuals minimized."

Every One Categorized.

Eventually it is hoped to have every relief recipient categorized according to his aptitude for some form of employment and a special classification will be made for those who probably will never be employable.

In March, the report said, the number of employable persons on relief was under 260,000 men and women for the whole Dominion, made up of heads of families, their employable dependents over 16 years of age and individual persons.

Heads of families and others receiving agricultural aid, not "unemployed" but awaiting improved crop conditions, numbered 70,000 and there were 618,000 not available for employment. The latter total made up of 58,000 unemployables and 560,000 non-worker type dependents. Unemployables were so classified as a result of some physical, mental or social handicap.

Pens Sympathy

Japan's beautiful Empress Nagako, who, with her country engaged in a war of major proportions against China, penned a poem of sympathy and consolation for the soldiers' families at home. She wrote:

"There are no words
With which to console families
Who live in worry
Over sons and fathers at the front."

HEALTH SERVICES CUT FOR SURPLUS

ernment is open to criticism." She said profits from liquor sales in 1936 were $10,000,000, yet the Ontario grant to the blind had been reduced $10,000. "That $10,000 was taken from people who needed it to put towards a surplus for election purposes."

Senator Fallis asserted 90 per cent. of the people of Ontario feel there should be a change in the administration of the Liquor Control Act. "The control feature is gone, yet Mr. Hepburn refuses even to acknowledge that any evils exist. She recommended to the voters the Conservative stand that the Act should be administered by a central board free from political interference and advised by district boards and that "mushroom dives" which have sprung up over the Province in the guise of beverage rooms should be closed. Forty per cent. of the establishments holding beverage room licenses at the present time were not registered hotels in 1934, she said.

Abuses

T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., Conservative banner bearer, hinted "investigation in the courts" may result from "terrible abuse of the patronage system" of the Hepburn government. "You people in Peterborough will be shocked by the abuses which have gone on in Peterborough County in the Highway Department," he said.

He claimed scores of men employed on the roads in northern Peterborough County are merely moving shovelfuls of earth back and forth in efforts to appear busy. He declared: "It's an absolutely plain system of bribery. Yesterday I saw one gang of men cutting weeds. You know how much use that is at this time of the year now that the weeds have long since gone to seed and dried up."

"What has the Liberal Party done for labour in its highway work north of the city?" he asked. He said he has heard that men seeking work on the highway jobs north of Peterborough and failing to present their Liberal credentials, had been told to "get the h - - - out of here!" The Conservative policy in distributing work to the needy during the depression years was simply to hand orders for the men to city relief officers and heads of the rural municipalities without political instructions, he said.

Recall Licenses

Mr. Lancaster said on his travels throught the county he had found day by day more evidence of a change of political opinion from 1934. "Those Conservative who stayed at home in 1934 or voted against the party in the hope of getting something better are eager today to vote to record their disapproval of the Hepburn government. Just as I think his Minister of Highways is going to be forced to recall those auto licenses, the people of Ontario are going to force him to recall his ministers."

The member asked his audience to vote Conservative and give the party a chance to show what it can do for the labouring man. He advised them a vote for the C.C.F. candidate would be wasted as the party has no hope of gaining control.

"Let Mr. Hepburn tell us definitely whether new agreements for purchase of power have not already been consummated," challenged Mayor Alex C. Hall of Oshawa. "He has never given a definite answer on that question."

Mayor Hall declared a definite shortage of power exists and that this shortage forced Premier Hepburn to advance the election date in the face of an acute situation looming for this winter. It is widely believed the Government has already made new agreements for the purchase of power, Mayor Hall said. If these agreements have not been made already they will have to be made in the near future, he said.

Not An Issue

The speaker said the C.I.O. is not an issue in any sense. "You can form whatever union you want but you have got to keep the law. That is the Hon. Earl Rowe's stand."

Stating that the average working man today faces the problem of providing, without government assistance, for his own old age, for his own emergency needs in times of sickness and other emergencies, Mayor Hall said, "If we cannot solve these problems for the working man who are we to put obstacles in the way of the working man to prevent him solving them himself in a lawful way?"

Is Hepburn going to license unions? Let him answer that. As soon as he begins to license unions he can refuse licenses to unions he doesn't like, clubs he doesn't like and lodges he doesn't like."

Cecil Frost of Lindsay, Provincial organizer, said Premier Hepburn set the election at its early date because he did not dare risk four by-elections of the main road, and west of the house now owned by Miss Ellen Terrion. The land on which it stood was bought at that time for a small sum from the late Henry Derry.

MALONE SCHOOL TRACED 75 YEARS

Furniture in this old school was vastly different to what may be seen in a modern rural school. The solitary desk was the teacher's. The scholars were seated on long unvarnished benches.

There were no eager glances at the clock to divide the closing hour of study as the teacher's timepiece regulated the periods devoted to reading, writing arithmetic and spelling.

Scholars' equipment of that time would be considered meagre in these days. In consisted of a slate and pencil, and sometimes the occasional book.

Some Of The Teachers.

Difficulty was experienced by the compiler of this log in obtaining the names of various teachers who taught in this school-house of pioneer days, but the following available names are submitted because of the interest they will doubtless occasion: W. H. Minchin, Miss Aggie Osterhout (1871), Miss Catherine Dolan (1873), and Miss Annie Smith (1875).

It was about the summer of 1875 that a new school was constructed about one mile northeast of the log school-house on land purchased from the late Ed. Nihill for one dollar, plus the old school property. The dimensions of the new building were 30 feet by 24 feet. Its construction was undertaken by a Mr. Fox of Eldorado. Originally it had more windows than at present. Some windows were boarded up to improve the lighting system, and to make more space for blackboards. Included in its present number of desks are twelve purchased in 1905 at $39.25. Now the school is lighted by five windows on the west side and one on the east. There is also a small window in the porch which faces the south.

Fuel for the building is accommodated in a frame structure, 18' x 17', which is situated in the northwest corner of the school grounds.

$9 For 6 Cords Of Wood.

An interesting item in the account book runs as follows: "Nine dollars was paid for six cords of wood in 1883."

A more complete lost of teachers who have taught in the present school-house is available and is appended herewith: Miss Annie Smith (1875), W. H. Minchin (1876), Miss Bridget O'Donnell (1877-8), J. N. McPhail (1879-80). Miss L. M. Murray (1881), T. P. Hart (1884-5 and probably in 1886-7), Thomas Lafferty (1888), M. Gallagher and L. Breckell (1889), Miss Minnie Geary (1890), Miss M. E. Hall (1891), Miss Nora O'Reilly (1892), C. Jones (1893) Miss Amelia Holt (1894), R. P. MacKenzie and E. J. Stewart (1896), Miss Madge Keating (1897), Miss Murtha Chambers (1898-1900), Miss Annie Farrell (1901), C. McKay (1902), M. L. Reid and Miss Mabel Tuffy (1903), M. McClatchie (1904), Arnold Craig (1905), Lyn Empey (1906), Miss Mabel R. Smith, Irvine M. Ivey, and Miss Violetta Hart (1907), Miss H. E. Shoebotham (1908), Miss L. E. Blair (1909-10), Miss L. E. Blair and E Bailey (1911), Miss Valerie Fry (1912), Miss Della Empey (1913), Miss Della Empey and F. J. Nickle (1914), F. J. Nickle and Miss M. Skeoch (1915), Miss L. Easton (1916), Miss D. Empey (1917), Miss A. J. Nickle and L. E. Rorke (1918), L. E. Rorke and Miss Jennie Devolin (1919), Miss Jennie Devolin and Miss Beasie Chambers (1920) Misses Clara Hamilton, Marguerite Coulter, and E. Nicholson (1921), Miss E. Nicholson and Mrs. Anna Bouchard (1922), Mrs. Anna Bouchard (1923), Mrs. Anna Bouchard and Miss Mildred Gawley (1924), Misses Mildred Gawley and Emma Blakely (1925), Misses Emma Blakely and Marguerite Finnegan (1926), Miss Marguerite Finnegan (1927-28), Misses Marguerite Finnegan and W. Adamson (1929), Misses W. Adamson and Margaret White (1930), Miss Margaret White (1931-32), Misses Margaret White and Gertrude Franklin (1933), Gertrude Franklin (1934-..).

The First Parade.

A few comments on some of the teachers might not be out of place here. It is recalled of Miss Annie Smith, the first teacher in the new school, that on its opening day she paraded the children two by two ahead of her from the old building to the new one.

W. H. Minchin, who was related to the Laycock family, had the experience of teaching in both schools with an interval between. He also taught at Wiley's School and was the holder of several public offices.

Miss L. M. Murray was a sister of James and John Murray, who still reside in Marmora Township and Village.

T. P. Hart, who taught there sevra years, was married to a sister of Daniel Neil, who is the oldest living scholar of Malone School now in the district.

C. Jones may be identified as Clive Jones, son of the late Dr. H. M. Jones, who was a medical practitioner for so many years in Marmora.

The late Mrs. James Sheridan was formerly Miss Annie Farrell, whose name appears on the list of teachers. She also taught at Shanick.

Salaries Under $200.

Reminiscences of those early days given by the octogenarians of to-day whose memories are good, include references to salaries and the boarding of the teachers of those by-gone days. Thus we learn that the teacher's salary was about $200 to $220 and that each ratepayer boarded the teacher for a period of one or two weeks according to the amount of taxes paid.

W. D. Nickle has held the position of secretary of S.S. No. 6, Malone, since 1906. Included among his predecessors are these names: Ed. Nihill, William Broadworth, John Terrion, Sr., Daniel Neil, and Barney Derry.

Names obtainable of those serving as trustees throughout the course of the years follow: Ed. Nihill, William Broadworth, John Murray, Sr., Thomas H. Derry, Daniel Thompson, George Richardson, W. J. Derry, James Terrion, W. H. Derry, Vincent Terrion, Henry Nickle, and Charles Kelly. The present trustees are: John Laton, Walter Gawley, and Henry Weese.

The inspectorate in which the school is situated was under the direction of Mr. MacIntosh for many years. Following him was Mr. Minns. The present holder of the office is A. W. McGuire of Tweed, who has been the inspector about fifteen years.

Some Former Pupils.

Among former pupils who have taken up professions are: Joseph Murray (doctor in Ottawa), Patrick Terrior (teacher now retired and living in the West), Edith B. Nickle (nurse), A. J. Nickle (teacher), W. L. Terrion (priest), and F. J. Nickle (doctor).

Scholars of S.S. No. 6 who enlisted for the Great War were David McCann, Dr F. J. Nickle, Vincent Terrion, and W. J. Nickle. David McCann reached France and Dr. F. J. Nickle served overseas in the Navy.

First Mail Carrier.

Other features of the past social life of this community are submitted in conclusion:

The first mail carrier of whom there is recollection at present was William Derry, who travelled on horseback from Marmora, which then contained three stores, to Malone and Bailey's Corners (Shanick). With the advent of the C.O.R. about 1883, the postmaster obtained the incoming mail at Malone Station.

About 1880 Jacob Tennyson kept store in a small log house on the Tennyson Hill. The next known of the village store was its existence at the rear of the present store. C. J. Vizard was the proprietor. He in turn sold out to W. D. Nickle in 1898, who extended the premises and continued in business about thirty-nine years with the exception of two years, when the store was taken over by Mr. Fitzgerald.

A Horse Meant Wealth.

One of the pioneer settlers was Robert Neil, who lived in a small log house east of the brick structure now occupied by Pierre Murphy. In those early days people travelled by jumpers and later by wagons drawn by oxen. One rarely saw a horse, and anyone who owned one was considered wealthy. At that time there were mud and corduroy roads which were almost impassable in the spring. Occasionally Robert Neil drove to Belleville taking Potash. His journey required four days. At the end of the first day he reached a small clearing below what is now Harold. Here the oxen fed and the driver rested wrapped in his blanket. At daybreak he started out again, reaching Belleville in the afternoon.

West of Robert Neil's property was another small clearing on which a house and stable had been built. Here John Terrion lived. Still farther west and on the opposite side of the road Richard Wolfe settled later. He was murdered in 1874.

George Richardson help to clear the land now owned by Dan McCrimmon and by Mrs. Richardson, who has been residing for the past few years in Nebraska. A frame hotel was erected for the former in the latter part of the '60's owing to the gold excitement in the near vicinity.

Any further information in connection with the history of S.S. No. 6, Malone, would be much appreciated.

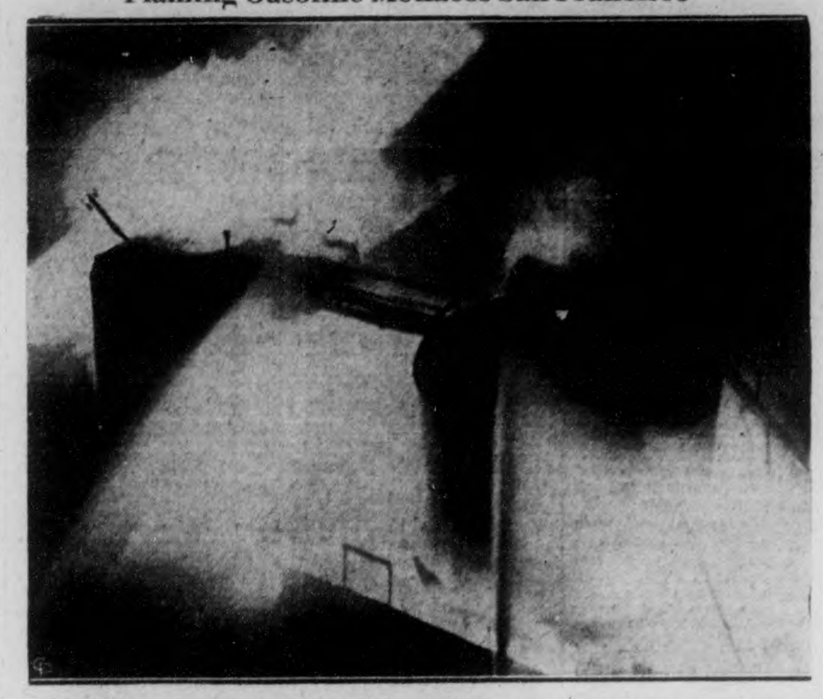
Flaming Gasoline Menaces San Francisco



Almost like a scene from a lost world is this elevation view taken in San Francisco as a gasoline blaze roared through the plant of the Standard Oil Co. there, exploding gasoline and oil tanks. A large section of the city was threatened as flaming gasoline, showered on the surrounding area by the explosions, ran down street gutters. Great sheets of flame spurting from the breached tanks, and the dense cloud of smoke that settled over the area produced the weird picture.

AERIAL TORPEDOES TO MINE SKIES

orate laboratory. Powerful searchlights have been installed, so that an airplane may land at night in perfect safety.

Mr. Grindel-Matthews in his laboratory surrounded by an array of secret instruments, said that the use of anti-aircraft guns will be futile against the bombing machines of the future that will choose their own time, fly in cloud-layers high above the earth, and use instruments to tell them the position of their objective.

To counter this, Mr. Grindell-Matthews has invented a rocket or aerial-torpedo which, using a special fuel, will obtain an altitude of 32,000 feet in a matter of seconds. At this height the rocket will discharge twenty or more parachutes to which timed bombs are attached by high-tensile steel wires.

The parent rocket is provided with its own parachute which blows out at the end of the run, thus enabling the container to float to earth and be retrieved for recharging.

Large numbers of these aerial rockets can be discharged every minute. They will release colonies of twenty to thirty smaller rockets, so creating an aerial minefield. Areas of sky can be mind as the sea was during the last war.

The cost of these rockets is a few hundred dollars apiece. This means that for a fraction of the cost of the present elaborate air-defence plans any given area of Britain can be curtained off from enemy aerial attack.

Mr. Grindell-Matthews's plan has been inspected and praised by leading aeronautical experts. The period or research and experiment is drawing to a close. Soon his workshops will be manufacturing these defence rockets.

"The first line of rocket defence," he says "will be from ships at sea. The next will be around the coastal areas. The sky can be barricaded off at need. Enemy aircraft must not be allowed to reach London or other great cities."

Belleville College Principal Speaks At St. James' Service

Rev. Bert Howard, D.D., Delivers Splendid Addresses At Formal Re-opening

The formal reopening of St. James United Church since its renovation, was held on Sunday, when Rev. Bert Howard, D.D., Principal of Albert College, Belleville, was the guest speaker at both services.

Special music, conducted by the organist, Cecil Lapp, was an attractive feature of the services, which were attended by many old friends and former members of the church. Chosen for this special celebration, the musical program was especially appropriate and included the anthems, "The Roseat Hues of Early Dawn" (Slater), "From Egypts Dondage Come," and "O Divine Redeemer."

A very effective trio, "Lift Thine Eyes" (from Elijah) was sung at the morning service by Mesdames H. F. Dolz, R. C. Searles and Miss Marion Wood, while "Light at Eventitde" (Jerome) was sung in fine harmony by Mrs. E. Kitney, A.T.C.M., and Ernest Davis. The other solcists for the day were Mrs. Wm. McLaren, Gerald Cuffe and W. M. Wood.

The beautiful Vesper hymn, "Guard While I Sleep" came as a benediction to the inspiring services of the day.

Welcomed Congregation.

The Rev. F. W. Craik, pastor of the church led the opening devotions and welcomed the large congregation to St. James'. He also introduced the visiting speaker, in gracious words.

The Rev. Dr. Howard brought a challenge to all church members, as he reiterated the words, "My friends, salute the church."

He declared that there is not a thing, decent, sweet and clean in life that is not a direct gift of the church. This wonderful organization should be saluted for its ideals and its splendid program, which internationally stands for brotherlove, nationally for a higher type of patriotism and individually for salvation. In concluding the morning sermon Dr. Howard said: "So let us salute the church profoundly, gratefully, humbly and in the spirit of new dedication, for what it has done and can do, if we are consecrated to its service.

His them of "Song and Sacrifice" as continued in the evening was based upon an ancient and dramatic scene enacted about the tabernacle as the people came with their sacrifices. From such a scene comes the wonderful piece of philosophy telling us that when the burnt offering began, the song of Lord began. The burnt offering was the symbol of consecration, and to-day the soul devoid of self sacrifice lacks the true music of living. This is true in the case of the daily task—giving ourselves whole heartedly to labour wakens the song that sleeps in drudgery. It is also true regarding life's burdens. To carry them without rebellion, hate or bitterness loosens the first strains of music, and it is always easier to march along life's way to music.

In our social relationships selfishness never brings music. The secret of the songless life is this failure to recognize that song and sacrifice are in separable. Living for self and self alone loses the sweet harmony of life and of all the crimes committed against the abundant life—selfishness is the greatest.

In this way we see a new church here brought about by the sacrifices of its people, whose reward will be the song of the Lord.

An effort to locate a Mr. Lefevre Ohio tourist visitor to Canada believed to be somewhere in the Peterborough district today, was made through a radio broadcast appeal from Toronto at noon today. Mr. Lefevre's son was reported killed in an accident in Ohio this morning and the father was requested to get in touch with his home immediately.

Mr. Lefevre was expected to pass through Peterborough on his way to Bobcaygeon this morning, the broadcast message stated. At noon today, neither local city police or provincial traffic police had been notified of the matter.

INDIA TO REMAIN PART OF EMPIRE PROF. SCOTT SAYS

That India, the people of which country knew that it was in their best interest to do so, would remain within the British Empire and make valuable contributions to that Empire in the future was the prediction of Rev. Professor A. A. Scott of Christian College, Indore, Central India in addressing the members of the Peterborough Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel today. Principal of the College and professor of philosophy and English there, Rev. Mr. Scott has been a resident of India for twenty-five years.

His address today was a comparison between Canada and India as two parts of the British Empire and in the course of a brief talk the speaker was able to impart a great deal of unusual and interesting information.

India he pointed out accounted for eight-elevenths of the population of the whole Empire and was a country more than half the size of Canada. As to its climate the speaker said that he had suffered more from the heat in Toronto this summer than he had ever suffered in India. There were hot days there of course but the heat was dry and the nights were always cool.

Professor Scott explained how religion, while its influence might not be as deep as in Canada colored almost every action in India. Everything a man did, almost from the day of his birth until his death was effected to some degree by religion.

A Sleeping Giant.

India he said was a sleeping giant but had begun to awaken and in recent years there had been greater changes than Canada had experienced. The speaker pointed out the recent strides that had been made along the line of social reform in India and then dealt with the political changes that had taken place, pointing out that India was beginning to feel the effects of the start of responsible government. It was significant he said that the extreme Nationalists who had been elected in various states in April and had at first refused to accept appointment as ministers had recently changed their views and had accepted office. The responsibilities of office, Professor Scott, said, had already had a sobering effect upon Nationalist Indians and this was illustrated by the fact that a motion to free all political prisoners had been turned down in the legislature, notwithstanding the previous promise that the first act of a Nationalist administration would be to liberate all such prisoners. The speaker felt sure that responsibility would continue to exert a powerful influence.

Professor Scott was introduced to the club by Rev. George S. Easton and a vote of thanks was moved at the close of his address by Rotarian Dr. J. A. Bannister.

At today's luncheon which was presided over by President Arthur Runions, a presentation was made to Rotarian T. J. Carley by proxy. The gift consisted of a couple of first aid bandages with instruction as to their use for wasp bites and Rotarian E. L. Sackville was instructed to hand over the packages to Rotarian Carley.

FIND GIRL CHAINED IN DARK COAL BIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—(AP)—A 12-year-old girl, whose ankles were chained to the wall of a dark coal bin in the basement of a west side home, was found Saturday by police after neighbors reported hearing the child's almost continuous crying.

Sergeant Herbert Demke said the girl, Gloria Repple, was shackled with a heavy dog chain which passed through an eye-hook screwed in the was held fast by two locks, one at each ankle.

The child's parents were not at home when she was found, but they went to a police station after the child was taken there, and the father was booked on a charge of cruelty. The mother was permitted to take the child home.

The officer said the girl, sobbing, her flimsy cotton dress stained and streaked with dirt, told him her father, Henry Repple, and her 16-year-old brother, had chained her to punish her from running away from home.

Where They Get 'Em.

MARMORA Sept 27.—"All things come to those who wait" must have thought Gordon Knox of this village when fishing at Nobes' Dam on Beaver Creek at 6 p.m. on Saturday. He had the satisfaction of landing his first large fish a muskie weighing eighteen pounds.

The envy of his less fortunate angling companions Morley V. Powell, 370 London street, arrived in the city from his summer cottage over the week-end with a 22½-pound lunge. An inch short of four feet in length, the fish battled, with all the gameness for which lunge are noted, for a space of twenty-five minutes. But it could not free itself from the plug and line which held it fast to the steel rod. Mr. Powell was casting from a canoe at the time he got his strike, the catch being made in front of his cottage on Fox Island midway between Gannon's Narrows and Curve Lake Indian Reservation on Saturday afternoon.

You are sentencing me to a month in prison. But when I come out I'll never go back to my family."

REALITY.

"Reality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon for First Church of Christ, Scientist, Peterborough on Sunday, the Golden Text was, "For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in Heaven." Selections from the Bible included the following: "Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel, who only doeth wondrous things." Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook included the following "To grasp the reality and order of being in its Science, you must begin by reckoning God as the divine Principle of all that really is, Spirit, Life, Truth, Love, combine as one—and are the Scriptural names for God. No wisdom is wise but His wisdom no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows".

Catch Two Giant Muskies

CYLINDER BLOCK BROKE ON PUMPER

Fireman made ready to recall from retirement the Department's ancient steam pumper in the event of any serious fire breaking out in the city while repairs were rushed on the big gasoline pumper Saturday. A piston smashed through the top of a cylinder block while the pumper was in use at the Norwood United Church fire Friday.

The heavy machine was towed hurriedly back to the city Friday afternoon and a new cylinder block was ordered immediately. The mechanical staff at the Department worked fast to put the engine back into repair before the outbreak of a serious blaze. By Saturday night the pumper was again ready for service.

Ald. Roland Wilson, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, said no estimate of the cost of the repairs had been received but it was unofficially reported the cost would total in the vicinity of $300. Whether this cost will be charged to Norwood along with regular charges for attendance at the fire has not been decided, Mr. Wilson stated.

Co-Eds Get Drama From Maud Adams

A love for the stage which she could not down prompted the actress who immortalized "Peter Pan" to give up the privacy she has prized since retirement in 1918 and begin a new carreer among gaily shouting college girls. She will teach them the arts of the drama with which Maude Adams has thrilled thousands.

Her home on the campus of Stephen's College — only a stone's throw from the business district of this college town—contrasts sharply with her quiet life at Tannersville, N.Y., in the Catskill Mountains.

When Maude Adams was as young as the girls she will coach here she already was an actress of great promise, and just had met Charles Frohman, the man who managed her career until he went down on the Lusitania.

"Miss Adams will be a counselor in dramatics," said Dr. James M. Wood, president of Stephen's College, and her host for the three months she plans to spend there.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, September 28

This should be a very lively day, with much stirring to speed up favorable developments in long static and frustrated conditions, judging by the lunar as well as solar aspects. It is probable that an element of secrecy or stratagem may best further these activities. Hard work and merit will be recognized, with financial increase and other stabilizations of the affairs.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year which may witness the very welcome acceleration of affairs long stagnant or obstructed. Industry and sound propositions may gain the substantial support of elders or those in influential positions.

A child born on this day may be talented, industrious, responsible and may win those in power to support its plans and promote its sound ambitions. It should make a successful and contented career for itself.

HARVEST SERVICES AT ST. GEORGE'S

Harvest thanksgiving services which began Thursday night were continued at St. George's Church on Sunday. Rev. C. A. G. Spence, of Apsley, was the special speaker in the evening. He recalled that he had preached in the same church twenty-five years ago when some of the present members of the congregation were babies. The harvest is the reward of work well done, Rev. Mr. Spence said, and the material fruits of nature typified in a sense the spiritual harvest that would be attained with the blessing of God and by obedience to His law.

"In the world to-day people are more concerned about receiving than giving, but there is a great deal more to do than to hold out our hands in the gesture of receiving. We must not expect a lot of good things without working for it. What is more beautiful than the fruits of the fields, and also what is more beautiful than the devoted lives of Christians, seeking God and His grace! That beauty and maturity may be ours if we hearken to the voice of God."

A harvest home supper will be held at the church, this bringing the thanksgiving services to a close. The speaker Thursday night was Rural Dean Rev. C. E. Moore of Young's Point.

Tests Of Courage In Dentist's Chair

CHESTER, England, Sept. 27 (C.P.). — Dentist dodgers won't like this annual report of the Medical Officer of Health for Chester:

"Tests of courage and character begin and terminate in the dentist's chair, and the results might be regarded as valuable constituents in present-day education of the potential citizen. It is no exaggeration to say that timidity of countless children is deplorable. Numbers of them cringe and cry, while others have been impossible. Mollycoddling, over-sheltered or disobedient children are always difficult, while the well behaved normally balanced ones accept treatment with calm and logical indifference."

SARNIA OILERS HIGHLY TOUTED TO HOLD TITLE

TORONTO, Sept. 27 (C.P.). — There is no guarantee exhibition game winners will be in the hunt for titles later in the season, but Sarnia Imperials have shown enough this early to be considered a nice wager to retain their Eastern Canada football championship.

Art Massucci's well-trained Ontario Union team ripped Hamilton Tigers' line to shreds on Saturday and, while they won by only 12-10, should have had a much greater margin. Even Tigers admitted that.

While the Imps, looking even stronger than last season, beat Tigers at Hamilton, Balmy Beach made it a double triumph for the O.R.F.U. by taking Johnny Ferraro's Montreal Indians 10-3 at Montreal.

Queen's Beaten 10-0.

Toronto's strong Argonauts looked impressive in whipping Queen's 14-0 at Toronto, but the Collegians are being reorganized by Coach Ted Reeve and had little of the strength they will show later. University of Western Ontario were easy winners 19-5 over the Intermediate Royal Military College team at London.

Playing in a driving rain, Tigers led Imperials 6-4 at half-time and topped them 9-6 at the three-quarter mark. Then the Ontario Union turned on the steam and after several lengthy ground gains sent Ormond Beach over for a touchdown which Alex. Hayes converted.

Bummer Stirling held an edge in a kicking duel with Huck Welch and the Imperials' greater strength along the line was demonstrated when they moved the yardsticks 12 times to Tigers' twice.

Lyn Thompson and Jack Frizelle, two of Balmy Beach's 12 freshmen players, led the Toronto team in their victory while their star half, Ab Box, was out of the game with a bruised shoulder. Thompson's kicking and running put Beaches in position to score points, and Frizelle tossed the pass which gave the Toronto team the only touchdown of the game.

Doug Scott, a half-back playing at outside wing, hoofed the convert and got Beaches' other major score with a left-footed placement in the last quarter.

When Touchdowns Count

Two converted touchdowns and two single points gave Argonauts their 14 points against Queen's. The Collegians seemed to lack condition and did nothing to open up the play. Argos looked good for this stage of the season. Their passing attack clicked often and on the ground they showed a great deal of power from scrimmage.

A blocked kick led to their first touch, Clary Burt scooping up the ball and passing it to Leo Deadley, who ran 40 yards for the major score. Their second came when Doug Macpherson took a pass from Annis Stukus over the Queens' line in the final quarter.

Heavy rain at London made Western's forward pass attack useless, but there was nothing wrong with their end runs. Two of their three touchdowns against the Military College men were realized in sweeps around the ends. Boyce Sherk, the bruising backfielder, got two of them and started the play for the third.

Mrs. H. Talbot Horse Wins In Coronation

TORONTO, Sept. 27.—(CP). — The Coronation Stakes clasic has come and gone—but still there is no definite claimant to the Canadian 2-year-old championship.

In the thirty-second running of the $1,500 juvenile test at the Woodbine Park opening Saturday afternoon, the red and gold silks of Mrs. H. Talbot who triumphed when Skyros, piloted by M. Dello, flashed to a spectacular half-length victory over the favorite—Willie Morrissey's Bunty Lawless.

Tempestuous, the Mrs. T. Stevenson-owned gelding, ran like a real champion to carry off honors in the 33rd running of the autumn handicap, a $2,000 event. Ridden by J. Bryson, the stellar son of Sickle, conceded chunks of weight to his rivals, but led from start to finish to defeat Dr. C. N. Mooney's Teddy Haslam by a neck. Tempestuous carried 127 pounds as compared to 112 on the second horse.

H. R. Bain's Sun Power, a double winner at the Thorncliffe meeting, was another three and a half lengths back for third.

LINDSAY BLANKS EASTSIDES CLUB IN INITIAL GAME

LINDSAY, Sept. 27.—Outplaying their heavier opponents in kicking and matching strides with them in every other department, Lindsay Blue Bombers won their opening game in the O.R.F.U. intermediate series here Saturday when they blanked Toronto Eastsides, 5 to 0.

The locals took the lead with one second to go in the second quarter, when Kirley wicked over for a single point. Early in the final quarter Kirley gained another single counter when an attempted placement went wide, and five minutes later he made sure of his direction to score the final three points for the locals.

The visitors were balked of a glorious chance to tie the score near the end of the game, when Edwards broke away for an 80-yard run, only to be tackled by Maunder on the Lindsay five-yard line. Campbell's and Wakelin's and grozelle's tackling were features of the Lindsay team's display, while Kirley outkicked Edwards. The visitors relied greatly on their forward passing attack, but only managed to complete two efforts.

Campbellford Club In Graham Cup Tie

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 27. — Loosing two of three events to the Orchard Club of Trenton on Saturday, the local tennis club is now tied for first place in the Graham Cup playoffs. Beverly handicapped by the absence of two of their strongest players, the locals were able to claim the ladies' doubles event for their only victory in the afternoon, losing both the mixed doubles and the men's doubles in three sets. Miss J. Weston and Mrs. V. Weston took the ladies' doubles event from Misses M. Bowen and E. Fillon in two sets, 6-4, 7-5. In the mixed doubles, Wilbert Kingston and Jerene Malcolm of town lost to the Orchard Club team of Pat Malinguy and Anita Hyde in three sets, 5-7, 6-2, 6-2. Alex. Little and J. Heptonstall lost the third event, the men's doubles, to Ted Reeves and Thomas Byrne, 7-5, 4-6, 6-2. The clubs are now tied with three points each and four more events to be played.

It is still anybody's cup, and it is thought likely that the remaining events will be played on neutral courts either on Wednesday next or on October 6th.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

OUR ORFUNS got off to the right start in their football schedule on Saturday with a 7-6 win over the Galloping Ghosts in Cobourg. The latter squad figured the name Red Raiders hadn't brought 'em much luck last year, so they purchased white sweaters and termed themselves the Galloping Ghosts—no doubt after the immortal Red Grange of Illinois—but they still dropped their opener. However, the Lakeshore lads are plenty tough. They are big and aggressive, and they know their football. You might call the Orfuns' win a lucky one at that. It was closer than Siamese twins all the way and anyone's game in the last quarter. However, a one-point win counts as much as a 30-point nod in the standing, so we won't worry about the Ghosts, galloping or trotting, until they again tangle with the O's here on Oct. 16th.

* * * * * * *

COACH BILL TURNBULL, ably aided and abetted by big Gill Putnam, ex-Sarnia star, was mighty glad to put that win in the gunny sack. Bill figured the locals' timing wasn't what it should be and that the Orfuns needed plenty of practise and conditioning in this tough group. Looks like every team in the circuit is tougher than a slash in salary. We wouldn't be surprised to see feelings run high in many of the contests, and this first fray saw the boys get pretty hostile in the final frame. In fact, Chuck Kearns and Cooper swapped punches, sort of tee-ing off on each other, but both were penalized. As in other years, the Cobourgites like to mix it.

* * * * * * *

OUTSIDE OF one successful "sneaker play"—where a guy away over on the sidelines, apparently out of the game, suddenly gallops away and takes a forward pass—the Orfuns played straight orthodox football. In other words, two bucks and a kick. Cobourg did ditto most of the way. It was a hot day for rugby and the first fixture of the year, so you couldn't look for much else. It wasn't a bad game either, with some nice kicking and tackling shown and not too many fumbles. Meekle, a Toronto import, did some grand kicking but Loucks wasn't far behind him. The latter and Begley—who were with the Lindsay champs last season — looked okay.

* * * * * * *

THE STORY of the scoring is in elsewhere, so we won't repeat. Except to say that it was tighter than a corsetted colleen in the five o'clock subway! The Cobourg timer said to us in the third heat: "I thought you guys had a championship football team this year." We retorted: "Well, the year isn't over yet, is it? Our gang will take the game okay." They did but we picked up some 26 allvers on the bench before it was over, sorta sliding around. And all we can see ahead is one tough tilt after another. If we could just in the heat of a grid game put our mind on an afternoon on Armour hill with, say, Ginger Rogers, we might enjoy it better—yes, indeed.

* * * * * * *

NO LOCAL stars in this game. We could single out several of the so-called Galloping Ghosts—and they did create a few cold shivers at times—but we wouldn't select any of the Orfuns, not yet anyway. They all worked hard and none looked too outstanding. That is, over the whole game. Before the contest, the two squads paraded downtown behind a band, and the Orfuns—who haven't yet got their new sweaters—were a bedraggled outfit to gaze upon. They looked like war vets returning from a tough campaign in the mud and gore around Verdun. But rugby is hardly a game where natty appearances count. The spick-and-span Ghosts soon felt they were tangling with a dozen Houdinis arrayed in Hallowe'en costumes, and they vanished in the lengthening shadows of the fourth quarter. So much for clothes making the man.

* * * * * * *

LOOKS LIKE Lindsay Blue Bombers have more than a potent monicker this semester, according to that 6-0 opening victory over Toronto Eastsides in Scugogville Saturday. It can't be that the Torontos are anemic, as they do not send down pansy grid teams—especially when there are only a few intermediate football outfits in Toronto this autumn. Kirley kicked all the points and Maunder saved the day in the fourth heat when he grounded Edwards on Linday's 5-yard strip after the latter had swivel-hipped his way on an 80-yard dash. The Eastsides tried a flock of forward passes but only a few clicked. They'll be plenty tough yet, and so will Lindsay. The Eastsides play here next Saturday and Cobourg goes to Lindsay.

* * * * * * *

QUITE A raft of local ball fans motored to Oshawa Saturday and saw the G.W. Grads of Toronto take a 13-0 pasting at the hands of the GM-men. The famed Smokey Smith was clouted from the hilltop in the fifth by the slugging Motormen, and Moffatt was mauled the rest of the route. Lefty Biddle pitched five-hit ball and fanned four, getting good support, whereas Toronto had a flock of defensive lapses. For instance, a double steal with Mathews on the front end of it! Foley again came through with three hits in five times up, to boost his playoff average this year to around the .600 mark. It was .563 before this tilt! It begins to look more and more like the stiffest opposition Oshawa had this season was from the Petes in the playoffs.

* * * * * * *

LOCAL LACROSSERS expect to have their clean-up meeting ere long. Meantime, Hastings have asked to have a junior lacrosse squad from Peterborough play an exhibition game there Thanksgiving Day in connection with their field day program, and an outfit may be sent down. Such local players as Jerry Creighton, Dutch Pammett, Don Crowe, Buster McDougall, Pup Curtin and others are available. The Hastings' gang have defeated both Norwood and Havelock, and must have a nice team. The lacrosse arena on George St. may be the scene of a boxing match or two in the fall, and might possibly be turned into a hockey rink this winter.

* * * * * * *

HITHER AND yawn: Oakville took a 5-2 nod over Oshawa's intermediates on Sat'day in seven frames, Anderson hurling for the losers . . . . No pro puck team is training this year in Oshawa, so there may be no ice till around Dec. 1st . . . . Quinte scribe says Eddie Murphy plays for Ogdensburg—but he doesn't any more; he played since in Montreal . . . . Ere Sat'day, Rowden was hitting .500 in playoffs and Mathews had a .419 mark, both well back of Foley . . . . Percy Bond sends us a card from Columbus saying the town is football mad at present, though it is about 95 degrees in the shade . . . . Hendren looked good at snap for Orfuns in Cobourg; the team has several gees playing their first rugby—chaps like Coughlin, Prete and Winslow . . . . Harle did his stuff with Orillia high school . . . . Two P.C.I. coaches saw the tussle in Cobourg on Sat'day . . . . There may be a gals' softball tourney soon in Norwood . . . . The big Toronto high school rugby loop, though retaining its O.R.F.U. affiliation, isn't operating this season . . . . Grid slogan: The pigskin you love to touch.

ODD ITEMS FROM A SPORT SCRAP BOOK

By Bradley

BARON GOTTFRIED VON CRAMM

One of the things that makes sport so interesting is the varied personalities of the competing athletes.

There are the boastful kind, to whom everything is a "lead-pipe cinch"; the uncouth, rowdy type, whose actions on and off the field of play are anything but cultured; the colorless type, who do everything well, but with such little flair that they are amost unnoticed, and many other too numerous to mention.

However, a new variety of athlete—and a welcome one at that—has come with the rise of Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany to the tennis fore. Here is an athlete who goes through his paces with little of the spectacular, and yet has an undeniable appeal. He is always the exact gentleman, on or off the courts, and this is so evident, even from the side-lines, that he is a welcome addition to the sport merry-go-round.

TORONTO BALL CHAMPS BEATEN IN OSHAWA 13-0

OSHAWA, Sept. 27.—Oshawa General Motors trounced Toronto G. and W. 13 to 0 before the largest crowd of the season at Alexandra Park here Saturday afternoon in the first game of the O.B.A.A. finals. Billed as a portside hurling duel between Devered (Smokey) Smith and Ken (Jake) Biddle, the game developed into a slug fest on the part of the Oshawa Ontario champions, who drove Smith from the game in the fifth inning after they had nicked him for nine safeties.

Biddle, however, coasted throughout, allowing but five hits and was backed up with gild-edged support, with the result that no Toronto player advanced past second base. The Toronto nine, however, fielded poorly behind both Smith and Norm Moffatt, who finished the game, booting seven chances which proved costly in the runs scored column.

Orfuns Open Schedule With Win in Cobourg

7-6 Decision Over Galloping Ghosts In Tight Football Fracas

Orfuns opened the 1937 football season Saturday with a 7-6 win over the Galloping Ghosts in Cobourg in a tight O.R.F.U. fixture. A small crowd of fans saw a neat grid tussle under a hot September sun, with the visitors gaining the deciding point just five minutes before the final whistle. They took an early lead with a 5-1 edge in the first quarter, adding a point in the next heat, but saw the score tied up in the third, and had to battle hard to pull out the verdict.

It was not a spectacular football game, both sides resorting to straight rugby throughout. While there were a number of fumbles in the first half, it was a good game most of the way. The teams were well-matched in almost every respect, both presenting husky lines and fast backfielders, and neither team going in much for tricky plays. The rival squads only gained yards twice and depended greatly on kicking.

A Tough Morsel

The Cobourg outfit proved a tough morsel as in other years, with a strong line, good tacklers and some trick backfield men.. Meekle was outstanding for this team, his kicking keeping play fully half the time in Peterborough territory. The ex-Toronto hoofer got good distance on his boots but was tackled hard repeated by the Orfuns. He, Jacobs and Henderson stood out for the losers. There were no particular stars for the winners, the line looking good and the backfielders—aside from an early-season lack of timing—going well. They all turned in a good effort in all departments. Straight football was the order with the Orfuns. Just once they pulled a successful "sneaker play" that startled their rivals.

An early Peterborough fumble on a Cobourg kick gave the home crew the pigskin on the Orfuns' 30-yard mark. Meekle promptly kicked to deadline for a point. Both sides booted the ball often in this frame and there were several fumbles. Crowe threw a 15-yard forward pass to Giardino on a "sneaker play" that surprised, the receiver racing another 15 yards before being grounded on the enemy 40-yard chalk. The kick was short and play moved back and forth. Later Loucks recovered his own kick on Cobourg's 39-yard line. They were stopped dead on bucks and Meekle ran out Loucks' boot. The Orfuns forced Cobourg back toward the end of the frame and Pulkinghorn blocked a kick on the touch-line and fell on it for a major score, which was not converted.

A Tight Frame

The second quarter was a tough one, with neither team making much headway. They stuck to two bucks and a kick between the 25-yard lines. Kearns limped out after a hard scramble from a fumbled kick and was replaced. Cobourg was within shooting distance but an attempted placement failed and Crowe ran it out. Magee plunged for eight yards but a local forward pass was incomplete. Schrum later ripped through for six yards but a Cobourg forward also failed. Cameron recovered on a blocked Cobourg kick on the homesters' 35-yard mark and Archibald broke through for five. Loucks kicked to deadline for the only point of the period. A Cobourg extension gained 15 yards. Henderson drew a 10-minute penalty for arguing with the referee, but was replaced. Cobourg drove hard but were stopped by neat tackles by Hendren and Ascott. A return kick by Archibald kept the ball in midfield after Ibey had bucked for six and a Cobourg forward was incomplete. Local interference handed Cobourg a 15-yard forward but another missed fire.

Orfuns tried a forward in the third but it missed and Cameron was hurt for a time. Edwards plunged for five but Archibald ran out a kick 15 yards from behind the line. Magee got six on an end run as play shifted up and down, with Cobourg kicking often.. Henderson skirted right end for five and then a Meekle-to-Lucas forward netted 20 yards, the latter running 10 of them to Peterborough's 40-strip. On a short return kick by Orfuns, the Ghosts got the ball on the visitors' 15-yard mark. Two bucks gained them five and then Henderson tore through for a touchdown. It was not converted. Orfuns ploughed up the field but hard tackling forced them to kick on third down.

Winning Point

Harle bucked for six yards to start the fourth frame with the score tied. Loucks was hurt and limped off temporarily and later Meekle required attention. Crowe ran back a kick 20 yards to Cobourg territory and Pulkinghorn got five through the centre. A Magee-Crowe extension gained yards but two further plunges failed. On Crowe's kick back of the touchline, Williams tackled Meekle for a rough and the deciding point with five minutes left to play. Cobourg's forward was incomplete and they had to boot. Cooper and Kearns tangled with fists flying and were chase for the rest of the game. With but a few minutes left to play, Crowe kicked and then recovered the ball at midfield on Meekle's fumble and play was in the centre zone at the last whistle.

The teams:

Orfuns: Flying wing, Marsh; halves, Magee, Crowe and Giardino; quarter, Archibaid; snap, Hendren; insides, F. Spencely, Sloan; middles, Pulkinghorn, Begley; outsides, Cameron, Grosse; alternates, Loucks, Kearns, Harle, McIntyre, Williams, Bartle, Winslow, Prete, Ascott, Broadley.

BOMBERS BLAST REGINA HOPES

WINNIPEG, Sept. 27 (CP). — Regina Roughriders, 1936 champions of Western football, retain only an outside chance of reaching the Western Interprovincial Union playoff in the current season.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers all but blasted Riders from the title hunt here Saturday with a 12-0 victory. Regina must win its four remaining games and Winnipeg and Calgary divide honors in their next two meetings to bring a three-way tie.

The Roughriders have lost four games. Calgary and Winnipeg are tied with three wins and a loss. The top two teams play off.

Two other leagues opened the season in the West Saturday. North Shore Lions and Meralgomas tied 7-7 in the Vancouver Big Four and Edmonton Athletic Club and University of Alberta tied 6-6 at Edmonton in the newly-formed Northwestern League which includes University of Saskatchewan.

Nickel Series Looms Again

As far as these two gentlemen are concerned a "nickel" world series is in the bag. They are Horace Stoneham (LEFT), owner of the New York Giants, and Ed. Barrow, business manager of the New York Yankees, during a confab at the world series conference in New York. The Yankees have about clinched the American league title and the Giants are battling down the stretch to grab the National flag.

(By The Canadian Press)

Rookie Lou Gehrig, New York Yankee first-baseman, hit his first home run in the American Baseball League 14 years ago today at New York. His Ruthian-like wallops and consecutive game-playing streak of more than 1,900 made him one of the greatest players in the game today. He was voted the circuit's most valuable player in 1927, 1931, 1934 and 1936.

Scotia Girl Swimmer To Make Second Try

BOSTON, Sept. 27 (C.P.). — Eva Morrison, the Pictou, N.S., girl whose attempts to swim the English Channel from England to France have been beaten by storms and tide, is going back next year for another try.

Eva, 26-year-old swimmer, was successful in 1935 in swimming 22 miles across the choppy Channel. She was within two miles of the shore of France, a storm was raging, and the boats which followed her had to turn back.

"I could have made it," says Eva. "But the boats started going off toward Belgium and everybody on them was seasick—so they made me come out of the water."

Bill Terry's Giants Increase Advantage To Four Full Games

New Yorkers Beat Dodgers As Cardinals And Cubs Split

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(CP). — To all intents and purposes, the Giants had the National League baseball pennant tucked away in their "weskit" pocked to-day, but there's still the bare chance those big bad Bees from Boston will knock them over the head and take the title right away from them.

In fact, the last hope for the Cubs, who now trail Bill Terry's Terriers by four full games, lies in the ability of the baffling Bees to continue their jinx over the galloping Giants in the two double-headers at the Polo Grounds to-day and to-morrow.

It will take a sweep of the four-game set, or close to it, to keep the Giants away from successfuly defending the crown through the last week of the season. And even that may not do it, unless the Cubs can make a right about face and knock off the Candinals and Cincinnati Reds in their seven remaining games.

As matters stand now, any combination of six—six wins for the Giants, six losses for the Cubs, or a sum making up that total—clinches the pennant for the New Yorkers. They have 11 games to play, to the Cubs' seven. Even if they win only six of them, the pennant will stay in their batbag.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, once the Giants' best-loved enemies, showed how easy they were over the week-end by losing a two-game series to the New Yorkers. They put up a game enough fight yesterday, but Lou Chiozza, a reformed Philly, and newest "white-haired boy" of the Terry troupe, walloped a homer in the ninth to break up the game with a 4-3 Giant win. Cliff Melton, the southpaw rookie, with the rubber arm, saved the day with a 1 1-3 inning hitless relief trick.

Meantime, the Cubs managed only an even break in their double-header with the Cardinals. Bill Lee folded in the ninth inning and the Cards took the opener 6-5 with a four-run splurge in the final frame. A six-run spree in the sixth inning brought an 8-5 Cub victory in the nightcap.

Tony Cuccinello and Milt Shoffner, Bees — Cuccinello drove in four runs with two homers in 17-3 win over Phils; Shoffner held Phils to three runs for eight innings, and drove in three run with homer.

Jim Tobin, Bill Swift and Gus Suhr, Pirates—Tobin pitched 10-hitter and hit three-for-four in 5-4 opener win over Reds; Swift faned six and allowed eight hits to take nightcap 2-1, as Suhr drove in both Buc runs with double, single.

Sock Champions 7-2.

Jack Wilson's speedball slants bothered the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox socked the American League champions 7-2, while holding them to six hits. The Cleveland Indians, given classy fireball flinging by undefeated Johnny Allen and Bob Feller, downed Detroit twice, 9-3 and 4-3. The opener win was Allen's 14th straight triumph.

The Pirates took the Cincinnati Reds twice, 5-4 and 2-1. The bees, warming up for the Giants' series, slaughtered the Phillies 17-3, with Tony Cuccinello hitting two homers and Rookie Pitcher Milt Shoffner one.

The White Sox trounced the St. Louis Browns twice, 4-3 and 4-1. The Athletics rallied to an 11-inning, 7-all tie with the Senators.

IN MEMORIAM

DOWNER—In loving memory of our daughter Lillian, who passed away September 27, 1936.

She is gone, but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of her are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Ever remembered by Mother, Father, and Brothers Asa and George.

MAY — In loving memory of Mrs. William May, who passed away September 27, 1936.

One year has passed since that sad day,
The one we loved was called away;
God took her home, it was His will,
But in our hearts she liveth still.
—Ever remembered by her Mother and Father.

WILKINSON.—In loving memory of Pte. Arthur F. Wilkinson, killed in action, September 27, 1918.

A silent thought, a secret tear
Keeps his memory ever dear.
Time takes away the edge of grief
But memory turns back every leaf.
—Always remembered by Mother and Family.

GAFANE.—In loving memory of our dear Sister, Lillian Downer, wife of W. Gafane, who passed away September 27, 1936.

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
Her weary trials and troubles are past;
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more.
—Sadly missed by her loving Sister and Brother, Violet and Newton.

Snakes His Pals

If Geza Szegedi, aged four, lacks for friends, he has no one to blame but himself and his strange hobby. Geza's father is keeper at the municipal zoo at Budapest, Hungary, and with a veritable ark of animals to choose from, the lad pick Adam's nemesis to play with. Snakes, like the python draped around his young neck here, bring him more joy than a baseball, autographed by the entire Yankee team would be an American youth. According to claims, the lad has now found delight in handling the poisonous ones and, strange to tell, the dangerous reptiles seem to know his touch and Geza has not "yet" been bitten.

KRUPP GUN PLANT OPENED TO DUCE

By Wade Werner
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

ESSEN, Germany, Sept. 27.—(AP).—The mighty metal voice of the Krupp cannon factory roared a noisy welcome to-day to Premier Mussolini.

Just before he and Chancellor Hitler strode through the clamor of Germany's "heart of steel," the centre of her rearmament, a responsible Italian official said both German and Italian troops would fight in Spain to the end of the civil war.

His declaration was made in answer to Spanish government offers to withdraw all foreign troops from their forces if the Insurgents would withdraw theirs.

Italy's policy, he said, will remain as Mussolini has described it, that Italian troops will continue to fight for General Franco until Franco wins. He said he presumed the German attitude was the same.

Most of the vast Krupp factory—which covers about as much area as the rest of Essen—was kept running so the two leaders could see Germany's arms centre in full swing.

They saw giant cranes swing 16-inch guns from forge to forge like toothpicks, raw steel transformed into the armored plates and turrets of warships, new and powerful land and sea armaments take shape.

The thin human voices of the workers added cheers to the raucous roars of the machinery as the heads of State passed from plant to plant, inspecting everything—including the locomotive workers. Where they could, mechanics left their benches and raised their arms in the Fascist salute.

RUSTLE OF SILKS

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 44.

For as long as she lived Mari Barat would never forget the few moments that circumscribed her meeting with Tony Castle.

Cool, clipped casual moments.

Herself betraying not in the slightest the sickening wave that engulfed her when she looked up to see him standing at her side. Giving him her hand with no more than the most casual cordiality she had said, "Tony how nice to see you!"

Tony had murmured something. Strange that she couldn't remember what it was. Yet she could remember every detail of the table at the Ritz. The peppermint wafers on a silver dish. Her little white and gold coffee cup on the saucer with ashes on it. The greenish hue of Mrs. Sutherland's back. A spot of coffee on the smooth suede of her glove.

Mrs. Sutherland had talked about knowing Tony since he was a painter. Tony had smiled at her with that charming deferential smile that had won her own heart. The prolonged agony of those moments being with him in a moment that she had lived for. And they were only casual strangers who met for a moment at a luncheon table.

"Are you going to be in America for long?"

"I'm sailing Friday," she had said defensively. She hadn't been sure what she should have said. She had wanted to say, "For a little longer, Tony. Please come and see me! I want to know about you." But she hadn't said it.

Then he said, "I'd like to call if you. . . ."

Uncertainly, she had answered, "I'm not sure if. . . ."

And then she was glad that she had let it go. She had seen his expressionless eyes. She hadn't seen his glance fall to Mark's hand which covered hers on the table. She saw only that Tony had no feeling for her. He didn't seem to be glad to see her.

Then Mrs. Sutherland had said that surely Tony would be proud of her.

Hastily, then, Mari had said something about being late for the matinee. And Tony had bowed to her, said he was indeed proud of her.

Then he was gone. And with him the last flame of her hope.

She had bowed, smiled at new acquaintances at the matinee, lent her ear, but not her attention, to the stage at which she stared unseeingly.

Tony would return to the shop. Perhaps he'd say to his secretary, "Remember Mary Barrett? I met her today. She was lunching at the Ritz. Let me see the proofs of the ad for the TIMES tomorrow."

Tony Castle, leaving the Ritz, turned south and struck east to the Yale club.

"A double Scotch," he said to the bartender.

He sipped it slowly, seeing in the amber liquid a head of copper curls. The ice striking against the glass reminded him of a silver tinkle of laughter in a voice that was now cool and clipped.

He rested his elbows on the bar feeling a weariness that was deep within him. Again he saw a man's bronzed hand close over a small white one that had held the strings of his heart.

"Another one. Same thing," he said to the bartender, shoving his empty glass across the bar.

He drank the second one quickly and the darkness in his soul lightened. He would see her once more. She wasn't sailing for five days. She was staying at the Sutherland place. The operator would give him the number and he'd call her tonight.

He looked into his glass, saw that it was empty and shoved it across the bar again. He was half through it when a jovial hand came down hard on his shoulder.

"Hiya, old man!"

Tony's vision was a trifle blurred. He saw that it was Willis—he couldn't remember the man's last name. He murmured something and scowled at his glass, trying to remember what had made him feel suddenly light. Tony was not accustomed to drinking; the alcohol affected him quickly.

"You look down in the dumps. Business bad?"

"Terrible," Tony mumbled. "Lost everything."

"Say, fellah, I know a cure for dumps like that! I'm taking a 6 o'clock train for my camp in the mountains. Great hunting up there! I've got plenty of gear. Why don't you come along?"

Tony looked hard at him, tried to remember what he was going to do that night; thought suddenly that whatever it was, it was something he had no right to do, and said he'd go.

At precisely quarter to the hour of midnight, the last brass gongs sounded blatantly from one end of the great liner to the other. Cabin doors opened to emit blue veils of smoke, and the last pop of corks from champagne bottles was heard amid the din of departure of a midnight sailing.

Ermine wraps and tails and top hats scurried through the crowded passage toward the gang plank. Anxious ship's officers urged them on their way.

Mari Barat and Ellin Verlaine, returning to Europe sans Mark, were the center of a group at the rail. Mari flashed a brilliant smile in all directions, repeated her thank yous, her promises to return, believing in her heart that it would be many years before she came back to her native land.

But when the ship was moving majestically down the bay, when the corridors grew quiet and the ship settled down quickly—as ships do—to the business of getting on its way, Mari let her smile slip from her. Her cloak fell to the floor. She stripped jewels from her wrists and lifted her face to look in the mirror of her dressing table. Unprotected now by the mask of gayety she had worn the last week, it looked infinitely tired, and her own emptiness was mirrored in her lusterless eyes. She looked away from them quickly, seeing them in the years ahead, empty of everything except success.

She had never felt old before. Now, emptying the ash trays, picking up the bits of oiled paper from the flowers, the cards, the sticky glasses that littered her sitting room, she reminded herself of an old aunt who had filled her life picking up things, putting them away, instinctively straightening things as a substitute for the problem of her own life which she knew she could never tidy.

She was still wearing her velvet evening gown, still picking up little things when Ellin knocked at the door of her adjoining cabins, and followed her knock by her presence.

"Good Lord! Mari, it's nearly 2 o'clock and you ought to be dead! Why don't you go to bed?"

Mari put the smile back on her face as though it were as easily donned as a bracelet. "I'm not tired," she said. "I wonder why people send pineapples to boats? And what does one do with 300 orchids? This is the last time I'll ever travel without a secretary! How I'm ever to know who sent what is beyond me!"

Ellin said, "For heaven's sake, put down that empty bottle and tell me what's the matter. You've been looking wretched every day this week; as though you'd seen a ghost."

"I have," Mari answered solemnly. "A ghost is what's left after some-

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S HARVEST MOON

"What in the world have you been doing to yourself, my dear?" asked Mrs. Longears of her rabbit husband one morning when he hopped to the back door of the hollow stump bungalow.

"Why do you ask?" inquired Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his jolly pink nose at his wife.

"You are all dirt," went on Mrs. Longears. "There is even some dirt on your nose."

"Oh, as to that," laughed the bunny gentleman brushing it off (I mean brushing off the dirt, not his nose)—"I have been pulling some of my carrots ready to store away for the Winter."

"Did you pull them with your nose?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"No, with my paws," her husband answered. "Look!"

He showed her his paws all covered with garden dirt, but it was rather clean dirt. "I came in to get washed," went on Uncle Wiggily.

Has a Plan

"But where are the carrots to put down cellar to keep through the Winter?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"Oh, I plan to have a little party tonight by the light of the moon," the rabbit uncle said. "Then we shall gather the carrots. There will be what I call a harvest moon tonight—very bright I hope—and by its silvery gleam we shall harvest our carrots! Tra, la, la!"

"You are quite tuneful and poetical!" laughed Mrs. Longears.

"Not to say dirty!" chuckled her husband. "However, I can soon wash clean and then I must send out invitation for my harvest moon carrot party."

"You will hardly have time, before night, to send any invitations, Wiggy."

"I know, my dear, I shall telephone them."

When he had scrubbed himself clean, Uncle Wiggily telephoned to many of his friends, inviting them that night to come to the bungalow and, by the light of the silvery moon help him harvest his carrots.

"We will be there!" said everyone from Mr. Twistytail, the jolly fat pig, to Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear.

Interlopers

The Fuzzy Fox happened to be calling the Bob Cat on the telephone that same time and, somehow or other, the wires were crossed and the Fox heard about Uncle Wiggily's harvest moon party.

"Did you hear that, Bobbie?" telephoned the Fox.

"Yes, I was listening in," mewed the Bob Cat.

"Let's go to that party ourselves," suggested the Fox.

"Sure we'll go!" mewed the Bob Cat.

The animal children came home from school and when they heard about the harvest moon party they were very happy. Soon after the evening meal, it began to get dark. But soon appeared a bright light in the east and the big, round, full moon came up.

"Now we can go down in my garden and gather the carrots I pulled and left in pile this afternoon," said Mr. Longears.

The yellow carrots gleamed like gold in the moonbeams. All of a sudden Baby Bunty called out:

"Unkie Wig! Unkie Wig! Look! Your carrots must be alive! They are moving" Surely enough two of the piles of carrots were moving.

Then something very funny happened. It shall be told in the story tomorrow night about Uncle Wiggily's trick. But please don't let the molasses cake go to sleep in the bread box with the butter.

thing is dead, isn't it?"

"In a manner of speaking," Ellin agreed. "But I don't follow you."

"There isn't anything to follow, my love. I'm starting all over again. When I get back to Paris, I'm going to open the biggest, most . . . Oh, Ellin, I'm in my career for keeps now, and I'm going to town, as they say in New York. Watch me!"

Italian Garrison, All Civilians Massacred In Makale

Situation May Explain Rome's Anxiety For Recognition Before Things Get Worse

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP). —The Herald Tribune, in a copyright dispatch from London, said today it was learned from an unimpeachable source that "the entire Italian garrison and Italian civil population of the northern Ethiopian town of Makale has been massacred by tribesmen."

Makale was the scene of heavy fighting in the Ethiopian campaign and was captured by Italians Nov. 8, 1935.

"The Makale slaughter," the Herald Tribune dispatch says, "May partly explain the strange step of Italy in offering the democratic powers something for nothing; that is to say, the stoppage of Italian reinforcements to Spain.

"The conciliatory tone of Rome at present suggests that, above all, the government wishes to gain recognition of its Ethiopian conquest, and that very soon, before things get any worse in Africa.

"No details of the Makale massacre are known. It is so recent that even the Ethiopian legation in London had not heard of it. The only advice is that the Italian garrison there has been annihilated, along with all Italian civilians."

Wilkins Reports Fruitless Search For Lost Fliers

Dropping from a black night sky onto the water of Lake Ontario at Toronto, the powerful seaplane which carried famed Arctic explorer Sir Hubert Wilkins and his party on their unsuccessful flights across the Arctic in search of the lost Russian fliers, completed the next-to-last leg of its return flight to New York. After climbing from the cockpit, along with Herbert Hollick-Kenyon and Al Cheeseman, Canadian pilots who accompanied the expedition, Sir Hubert telephoned Vilhjalmur Stefansson in New York to report the results of his expedition. He is shown, RIGHT, talking to his fellow-explorer who acted on behalf of Soviet backers of the search flight. The seaplane is pictured LEFT as it was moored at the Toronto harbor base after completing its flight from Winnipeg.

OLIVER PROPOSES FARM LOAN PLAN

HANOVER, Ont., Sept. 27—(CP).—Farquharh Oliver, United Farmers of Ontario member of the Provincial Legislature for Grey South, told a Liberal meeting here last night the Hepburn government has fulfilled many of the proposals he made in his first campaign 11 years ago.

Hon. Harry Nixon, provincial secretary, also addressed the gathering.

The government had taken over the cost of provincial highways, lowered the cost of motor licenses, gasoline tax and Hydro for the farmer of Ontario and had tightened upon succession duties, Mr. Oliver said.

He endorsed the government's succession duty collection campaign. No man could make a million dollars in Ontario and make it honestly, he contended, so after his death a large part of his estate should return to the province.

Some farm loan policy under which young farmers could obtain government loans to set themselves up as producing farmers was advocated by Mr. Oliver.

FARMERS SHOOT 7 BEARS IN WEEK

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 27 (CP). — Farmers in the Lion's Head district of the Bruce Peninsula have killed seven bears, five of them cubs, in a week, it was learned here yesterday.

Latest victims of the sharp-shooting farmers were a bear and her three cubs. Elgin Hannah, employed by George Caudle, was returning home from work when the bears crossed the road in front of him. They entered a thick swamp near Jacob Ackerman's home and Hannah rounded up a party to bring them out.

The bear family was finally treed and the three cubs shot, but the mother bear ran off. Dogs finally cornered the bear, and all openings guarded by the farmers with rifles. The mother bear, infuriated by the clamor raised by the dogs, charged Caudle, who dropped her with a single shot.

Just a week previous to that hunt James Malcolm saw a bear with two cubs. He had only two cartridges for his rifle at the time, and after shooting the mother bear and one cub ripped off his shirt and wrapped it around the neck of the remaining cub. He started home with his captive, but the cub became too frisky, and he knocked it unconscious. When he reached home he killed it.

TWEEDSMUIR HOLDS AIR DEVELOPMENT KEY TO RICH NORTH

OTTAWA, Sept. 27 (CP). — Development of air transportation holds the key to the opening of the Canadian northland, in the opinion of Lord Tweedsmuir, the Governor-General.

Two weeks after completing a trip down the Mackenzie River to the Arctic Ocean and surveying the western part of Canada's northern empire, Lord Tweedsmuir last night broadcast his thanks to the people of the North for their hospitality. His message was carried by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

"Canada," Lord Tweedsmuir said in part, "has one enormous advantage in that she still possesses a physical frontier, which the United States no longer possess. That frontier is in the North. There is a line beyond which her possessions are imperfectly known. I believe these possessions to be very great, and that in the North will lie the main area of her future development.

Russia's Path Easier.

"Russia, as you know, is doing wonders with Northern Siberia; perhaps the task is easier for her than for us, for her government can order its people about as it pleases. As a free democracy we cannot do that. But Canada has already a fine record in her northern development, a record which is only beginning, and she has in the North, I think, far greater assets than Russia possesses in Arctic Siberia.

"As I see it, the key to the North is the air. Rapid development depends upon cheap and easy transport. The North can never be a country of roads and railways. It has wonderful waterways which will always be valuable, but the air, I think, will be the chief medium. If air transport can be cheapened by the development of local oil fields, then not only will the economic assets be rapidly developed, but the dwellers will be brought into closer touch with the great centres."

JAPS MASSING 600,000 TROOPS TO FACE RUSSIA

Peace Our Only Aim Shouts Il Duce To 600,000 Nazis

Boasts Europe of Tomorrow Will Be Fascist Denies Dictatorships — "Rule By Consent"

BERLIN, Sept. 28. —(CP)— Premier Mussolini, in his tensely-awaited address at Mayfield Olympic Stadium tonight, declared his trip to Germany and his talks with Chancellor Hitler would result in reinforcing world peace.

Fully 600,000 Germans roared a welcome when the dictators of Italy and Germany entered the flood-lighted stadium.

Bands played the Nazi and Fascist anthems as Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini arrived.

Masses of black and brown uniformed troopers stood on the field while the Olympics Stadium overflowed with cheering crowds.

"The entire world," Mussolini said, "is asking what will be the result of this Berlin meeting—war or peace? The Fuehrer and myself reply together in a loud voice—Peace!"

"There are no secret intentions behind my trip," Il Duce declared.

Europe To Be Fascist?

"The Europe of to-morrow will be Fascist, not through our propaganda, but through the logic of things," the Italian Premier asserted.

He said thousands of Italian volunteers have fallen in Spain to save European "culture."

"The community of German-Italian thought expresses itself in a fight against Bolshevism," he said.

Hitler spoke first and briefly, declaring that peace for Germany and Italy is the meaning of the mammoth Fascist-Nazi demonstration of the past four days.

Mussolini, speaking in German, followed.

Apparently alluding to foreign intimations that Italy's international policy is fickle, Mussolini assured his audience that "the fact that I have come to Germany to-day does not signify that to-morrow I will go elsewhere."

"We Nazis and Fascists," he said, "wish peace, and we will always be ready to work for a truly fruitful peace which does not remain silent on the questions arising from the co-existence of peoples, but which solves them."

The Rome and Berlin regimes, he said, are not "dictatorships," but Governments existing through the whole-hearted consent of their peoples.

PUBLIC IN BRITAIN GROWING BITTER ON JAP BOMBINGS

LONDON, Sept. 28.—(CP Cable.)—Sir Robert Craigie, British Ambassador in Tokyo, to-day lodged a protest with the Japanese government against the bombing of the Central Hospital in Nanking. To all protests Japan merely replies she is taking extreme care not to bomb non-military objectives.

Wave of resentment against Japanese bombings of women and children grows in emphasis. Demands increase for a boycott of Japanese goods.

"The world watches Japan's action with growing resentment and disgust," said the Times. "She is earning the unqualified condemnation of the world of whom—whether she is at peace, whether she is at war, or whether she is making good the gains of war—she vitally and inescapably depends."

"Great Britain and the United States," argues the Daily Herald, "could stop the Japanese air raids and could stop the war, not by sending more notes but by the simple act of putting an embargo on all trade with Japan."

Presses For Boycott

The News-Chronicle continues to urge its readers not to buy Japanese goods.

British authorities deny reports published in the Japanese press British airplanes bombed Tanganyika natives. "There has been no bombing since the British flag flew over Tanganyika," it is authoritatively declared.

There were some disturbances recently over coffee prices. Several arrests were made by native police. Two airplanes were used in reconnaisance but there was no bombing.

Tangyanika, formerly German East Africa, is held by Great Britain under League of Nations mandate.

In its editorial the Times, recalling Japan's assurances she would safeguard non-combatants, said "these lofty words make a shabby pendant to the Imperial Navy's latest exploit....the systematic destruction by gunfire of almost a whole fishing fleet of junks without rescuing men, women and children struggling in the water."

"This massacre in cold blood of a little civilian community can be extenuated by no plea that the fishermen had even the remotest connection with the war," the Times adds.

"It is a crime revolting not only to the world at large but to all Japanese who still honor the chivalrous traditions of the Samurai."

Following a recital of recent operations of the Japanese air force, the editorial goes on:

Results Show Different

"Tokyo claims all air raids have been directed against military, or at any rate strategic, objectives, but ascertainable damage done such objectives has been infinitesimal by

STOCK CLEANED OUT OF STORE DURING NIGHT

Fall Stock Removed From Millbrook Store

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 28.—Thieves broke into the men's furnishings and drygoods store of Fowler and Pendrie here throughout the night and got away with practically the whole fall stock of the establishment, valued at around $800.

The loot included 25 new fall suits, twenty new overcoats, four dozen shirts, the entire stock of windbreakers in the store, approximately ten dozen paid of socks, some ladies' coats and webs of cloth.

The outside door of the store had been forced with a crowbar which was found outside the place this morning. It was discovered that the thieves had broken into Bentley's hardware store and obtained the crow bar and after failing in an attempt to break into the front part of that establishment had moved on to the Fowler and Pendrie store.

David Fowler, an employee of the firm had been working in the building until 11 o'clock last night. The robbery was discovered by his father, George Fowler, senior member of the firm, at 7 o'clock this morning when he found the front door smashed in.

Barred From Canada – Turns To Dolls

Oblivious to the fact that she is the centre of an international "incident"—albeit a friendly one—between United States and Canada, Margaret Dorothy, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Frederick, of San Deigo, Calif., plays with her dolls at Detroit, while customs officials seek to gain her admittance to the Dominion. Margaret Dorothy crossed the United States alone by bus on her way to visit an aunt in Oshawa, Ont. But she forgot or didn't know the aunt's name and address so customs men were placed in a quandary. They sought the necessary information from the little lady's relatives.

Fascism Seen In Canada Unless Reform Wins.

Herridge Sounds Call to "Old Capitalism" To Help Create New Economy

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 28—(CP). — Fascism is possible in Canada unless reform wins its fight against reaction and unless the people protest the denial of their rights, Major W. D. Herridge, former Canadian Minister to Washington, told the Sydney Board of Trade last night.

He sounded a call "to the old capitalism" to help create a new economy to combat the peril of reaction and Fascism.

Capitalism would never again work for Canada in the old way, Major Herridge said. He stressed value of trade unionism which he believed reactionary forces were seeking to destroy. He warned that agriculture would be the next victim once the unions were destroyed.

Those who would set up a Fascist government would "import imaginary revolutionaries," and "dress up trade unionism in a frightful way," Major Herridge said, in order to instil fear in the minds of the people.

One Light of Progress

Trade unionism was "the bright light of progress. Put out that light —crush Labor's power down—and we destroy the only kind of capitalism that will work under democracy."

There was a lack of unity in Canada—no common hopes or fears, no common enemy; there were racial and religious disunity and divisions over constitutional and other reforms.

Capitalism could take the lead in creating a new economy that would bring unity, better wages and better prices, equitable distribution of benefits under the profit system, monetary reform, social security and a national agricultural policy.

Lacking these reforms Major Herridge warned Canada would sink into another depression that would destory democracy. Those who failed to heed signs of the time would be destroyed by their own failure to meet the challenge of present-day conditions.

If democracy could work in any country, said Mr. Herridge, it would seem that country should be Canada where there existed all the means "by which to build a standard of living higher than any nation has ever known."

LABADIE RULED FIT FOR TRIAL MURDER CASE

Brief Debate Needed For Jury's Decision

SARNIA, Ont., Sept. 28 (CP).—An Assize Court jury took just 35 minutes today to determine that William Labadie, 17-year-old farm hand, was mentally fit to stand trial on a charge of murdering John Luckins, 7, son of his employer, last March 12.

Defence Counsel W. S. Haney "advised" the court Labadie was unable to instruct counsel how to plead to the murder charge when it was read to the accused at the opening of the trial today.

A jury was then empanelled and medical evidence called regarding the mental condition of Labadie.

Dr. George H. Stevenson, superintendent of the Ontario Hospital at London, and Dr. J. H. Kreimer, assistant superintendent of the Ontario Hospital, Hamilton, told the court of observations made during examinations of Labadie.

Dr. Kreimer supported Dr. Stevenson's estimate of Labadie's mentality as that of a child of 10 or 11. He examined Labadie April 8 and again yesterday, he said.

He found Labadie had an "IQ" (intelligence quotient) of 68, and felt the accused was capable of instructing counsel.

SCORES INJURED PORT HURON RIOT

PORT HURON, Mich., Sept. 28.—(AP).—At least four men suffered severe injuries and scores were pummeled and bruised when American Federation of Labor members forced their way through a picket line of opposition unionists to-day at the Mueller Brass Co., plant.

Kenneth Hunt, 21, was taken to a hospital with internal injuries. He was knocked down and kicked when 400 A.F.L. members and about 100 Committee for Industrial Organization pickets fought with fists and clubs at the main gate.

Others injured: James Atkinson, 48 fractured ribs; Guy Finch, 49, head injuries; John Alberts, 37, fractured ribs and possible internal injuries.

The A.F.L. workers returned to their jobs on the day shift after running the picket line and production, interrupted last night, was resumed.

The C. I. O. unionists called a meeting for to-day after failing to close the plant this morning. Police said they expected trouble at 3 p.m., when the C.I.O. group may be able to mobilize members from other plants.

A strike was called at the plants late yesterday by the Union of Mine, Mill and Smelt Workers, a C.I.O. unit, after it was announced by the company management that exclusive bargaining rights had been granted two A.F.L. unions.

JAPS BOMB WUKU

NANKING, Sept. 28 (A.P.). — Japanese planes killed an undetermined number of civilians and spread many fires through the city of Wuhu 30 miles south-west of this China capital, Chinese said, in a surprise bombing attack late to-day.

A number of foreigners had fled Nanking by boat for Wuhu, but it was believed they had not reached the city when the attack occurred.

Louis Vasseur, aged 23, a student of Paris, crossed the English Channel in a 12-foot canoe in 11 hours.

Whole Nation Placed On War Footing; Every Man Called

Over Half Chinese Airforce Said Destroyed; Nipponese Report Advances On All Fronts

SHANGHAI, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Japan was estimated by foreign military observers in North China today to be mobilizing 600,000 troops for a possible clash with Russia as her expeditionary forces claimed advances on all Chinese fronts.

French army authorities at Tientsin, headquarters of the Japanese North China expeditionary force, reported the full strength of Japan in Korea and Manchoukuo, on the border of Soviet Siberia, was being placed on a war footing in the event Russia becomes embroiled in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

TOKYO, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Japan was placed on an unlimited war footing today by a series of decrees affecting virtually every able man in the empire.

The war ministry issued the long-prepared military ordinance "No. 41" which indefinitely prolonged military service for all officers and men on both the active and reserve lists. The decree ordered all soldiers belonging to mobilized troops at home or ot units already stationed in China to remain in service "until further notification."

Jap Lines Advance

SHANGHAI, Sept. 28. — In the first claims of progress in several days in the conflict with China, the Japanese army announced that an armored train had pushed 50 miles south of captured Paotingfi in North China, putting the most advanced Japanese point 130 miles south of Peiping on the railroad to Hankow.

On the Shanghai front the Japanese claimed advances of 300 to 500 yards all along the entire Lotien and Liuhong sector, 20 miles northwest of Shanghai, after days of severe fighting.

Japanese bombers concentrated their efforts today on destruction of China's air strength, bombing airdromes in the vicinity of Nanking, raiding Canton three times and attacking two Chinese areas of Shanghai.

More than half of China's planes have now been destroyed, the spokesman asserted.

Four Japanese bombers dropped explosives on the Chapei and Pootung areas here for two hours, some of the missiles shaking the city. Foreign residents of the city crowded the rooftops to watch the unopposed attack.

Chinese In Flight.

The Japanese railroad advance in North China was said to have occupied the town of Sinio, capturing a Chinese armored train and 100 freight cars. The area was claimed to be filled with Chinese soldiers fleeing to the south after the capture of Paotingfu. The main body of the Chinese was placed 60 miles

ROWE, CAMPBELL RESIGN COMMONS TO RUN IN ONTARIO

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—(CP).—Hon. Earl Rowe, Ontario Conservative leader, to-day resigned his seat in the House of Commons where he has represented Dufferin-Simcoe since 1925. His resignation and that of Colin Campbell, Liberal member for Frontenac-Addington, also received to-day, were necessary before they could formally accept nomination as candidates in the Provincial General Election Oct. 6.

Both resignations were placed in the hands of Speaker Casgrain, who will formally declare the seats vacant. Announcement will probably be made within a few days of the dates for by-elections.

For the vacancy created in Cape Breton North-Victoria by the recent death of D. A. Cameron, Liberal member, a by-election has been called for Oct. 25. It is expected writs will be issued at once for the two Ontario vacancies.

Mr. Rowe was a member of the Dominion Cabinet without portfolio from Aug. 30 to Oct. 13, 1935. The Conservative government met defeat at the polls on the latter date. Mr. Campbell entered the House of Commons in a by-election in 1934 and was re-elected in 1935.

Sleeping Beauty Losing Fight

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—(AP). — Hope for the recovery of Patricia Maguire waned to-day as physicians ordered a second blood transfusion for the girl whose futile 67-month fight against sleeping sickness has been aggravated by pneumonia.

Dr. Tugene Traut, said he hoped to-day's transfusion would build up her strength to permit an operation for an abdominal tumor.

The 32-year-old former stenographer, suffering from bronchial pneumonia for the second time in her five years and seven months' illness has been administered oxygen since yesterday.

Patricia was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital Sunday, but the operation was postponed when pneumonia developed.

Nurse Mary Meath said Patricia "took a turn for the worse" during the night.

HENRY COLLAPSES DURING ADDRESS

TORONTO, Sept. 28 — (CP.). — George S. Henry, former Conservative Premier of Ontario, to-day prepared for a long rest made necessary by the strain of many years in public life. Mr. Henry collapsed last night while addressing a meeting of his York East constituents at Todmorden.

Mr. Henry, York East's Legislature representative for 24 years, is again a candidate. He had been speaking in a stuffy atmosphere for 20 minutes last night when suddenly he halted, gripped the table and slumped to the floor. Doctors said the collapse was caused by poor ventilation in the hall and overwork.

After receiving medical attention, Mr. Henry insisted on returning to the platform and he took a seat there. Shortly after, however, he decided to go home.

Mr. Henry, having previously served as Minister of Highways, and Minister of Agriculture, became Premier in 1930 when Hon. G. Howard Ferguson went to London, England, as Canadian High Commissioner. Mr. Henry retained his seat when the Liberals won the province in

CORN CROP DOWN MUST BE HAND CUT

TORONTO, Sept. 28 (CP).—The corn crop in Eastern Ontario is down so badly, much will have to be cut by hand, the weekly crop report of the Department of Agriculture said today. From Lambton in Western Ontario, however, comes the report corn yield was exceptionally good and some of it will have to be stooked in the field as silos are filled.

Oat yields running as high as 60 bushels an acre are reported from some sections of the district of Algoma. The average yield will be nearer 30 bushels. This district also reports a good potato crop, with yields running as high as 200 bushels an acre.

Southern and Western Ontario will feed more cattle than usual this winter, it is predicted. Haldimand reports the increase likely to be from 25 to 50 per cent.

Sitting Hen Ignores Trenching Outfit

St. Thomas Sept. 28.

IT takes more than the laying of a ten-inch water main to the new Mental Hospital under construction south of the city to disturb a productive guinea hen engaged in hatching out fourteen eggs.

The guinea hen was found on her nest at the side of No. 4 Highway today within three feet of where the deep trench had to be dug for the water main. She left her nest while the big trenching machine was pasing but returned before the eggs had a chance to become chilled Last evening she was back on the nest. There are fourteen eggs in the nest while thirty-four other eggs were found in the grass around the nest

Hubby 27, In Jail On Bigamy Charge But Wife 12, Wants Him Back

Phillipsburg, N.J., Sept. 28 (AP)

ALTHOUGH her 27-year-old husband of two weeks was in a jail cell on a bigamy charge, Helen Black Flatt, 12-year-old grade school pupil, insisted today she still loved him and hoped for the chance to continue as a housewife.

"I'd rather be a housewife and have a family than go to school," she told authorities in Morris county, to marry her, she said, because "mother thought it would be a good thing of I got married."

Flatt was arrested yesterday as a parole violator. Accused of having never divorced his first wife—whom he wed when she was 13 — He quickly admitted the two marriages. He thought, he said, his first wife had divorced him.

She asked Theodore Flatt, six-foot one-inch laborer who lives in the backwoods of upper Morris county, to marry her, she said, because "mother thought it would be a good thing of I got married."

Provincial Bank For Alberta Proposed In Legislature

Heated Constitutional Issues Debate Raises Allegations of Sedition

EDMONTON, Sept. 28 (C.P.). — The Alberta Legislature to-day resumes debate on a resolution denying Federal right of disallowance of Provincial legislation and expressing determination to implement three Bills disallowed by the Federal Government.

Constitutional issues were raised and allegations of sedition were heard when the resolution was debated in the House yesterday. The members also gave first reading to the Bill increasing bank taxation and providing penalties for default.

Also on the order paper for to-day, although it may not be reached, is a resolution by Charles Cockroft, former Provincial Treasurer, advocating establishment of a Provincial bank. Nazi-Italian Peace Plan Said To Have "Strings" Attached

Nearly Million Throng to Olympic Stadium To Hear Two Dictators Broadcast Views

BERLIN, Sept 28.—(AP)—The world's most powerful dictators, Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Hitler, united today for what official circles pictured as an appeal for peaceful collaboration with all nations of "good will."

Nearly 1,000,000 residents of Berlin thronged early toward Mayfield Olympic Stadium to see and hear Hitler, the host, and Mussolini, the guest, in their broadcast.

It was the fourth day of the Italian premier's five-day visit to Germany.

There was a strong indication that qualifying "strings" were attached to the side-by-side appeal prepared by the two heads of state. The limitation of collaboration with "all other people of good will" was sponsored by Mussolini in an exchange of toasts last night at a state banquet.

That would exclude Soviet Russia and Republican Spain, for example. Previous Italo-German manifestations have made clear that the dictators do not regard these two as "peoples of good will."

Peace the Only Object.

The editor-in-chief of Mussolini's Milan newspaper, Il Popolo D'Italia, in an article from Berlin said peace was the only objective of Mussolini's visit to Germany.

"But peace is only founded on justice and parity of rights," the editor, Giorgio Pini wrote. "Let none insist on sordid fictions too long endured."

Before the speeches (expected about 1 p.m. EST) Hitler and Mussolini were scheduled for a final political discussion which promised to be perhaps the most important of the visit. The home of General Hermann Goering, Hitler's chief aide, was the setting for the talks.

Miss E. McCurdy, also a guest speaker also spoke of the process of organizing.

Following his discussion of the issues of the day Mr. Wilmott expressed his sincere appreciation to the large number of ladies who attended and in conclusion reminded his listeners that they were entitled to know what Mr. Hepburn's stand with regard to the School question would be if he were re-elected.

Dictators Hitler And Mussolini Meet

This photograph radioed to America via London from Munich, Germany and showing Benito Mussolini, of Italy, and Adolf Hitler, of Germany, reviewing the long lines of storm troops drawn up for inspection as Il Duce arrived in Naziland, is remarkable for two reasons. First is pictured the initial visit of the Italian dictator to the realm of his Nazi counterpart and the second meeting between Europe's two most notable dictators; and secondly, Il Duce is smiling broadly. Not often is the Italian ruler photographed with other than his baleful frown. Cementing of the Rome-Berlin axis and a mapping of plans for meeting European developments is expected from the visit.

ROWE AIMS TO END SERVICE CHARGES UPON FARM HYDRO

OTTAWA, Sept. 28 (CP)—Conservative Leader Earl Rowe left the Ottawa Valley for the St. Lawrence today after informing electors in this area of his proposed social legislation in event of victory at the forthcoming election, and pledging removal of the service charge on Hydro-Electric power in rural districts.

"We intend to bring in legislation tried in Ottawa—legislation for unemployment insurance and minimum wages," he said at Renfrew and later at Ottawa enlarged his views on social legislation while former Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, responsible for introduction of the legislation in parliament, sat on the platform.

At present the unemployment insurance and minimum wage laws are inoperative following the Imperial Privy Council's ruling they were ultra vires the Dominion Parliament.

Neither Mr. Bennett nor Sir George Perley, an ex-member of his Cabinet, addressed the meeing in the Coliseum here. Mr. Bennett, however, interjected "Hear, hear," when Mr. Rowe, discussing his Labor policy, said the main thing at stake in the Oshawa automobile strike was the individual's right to free association.

Hepburn Opposed It.

"No man struggled harder than R. B. Bennett to bring in unemployment insurance and minimum wage laws and no man struggled harder than Mr. Hepburn to find a loophole to throw it out," said Mr. Rowe.

"Minimum wages and unemployment insurance should be worked out in co-operation with other provinces and the Dominion. If it is a Provincial responsibility, as it is now determined to be, we will proceed immediately to co-operate with other provinces and the Dominion."

CHARGES WORLD IS PRODUCER MAD

MONTREAL, Sept. 28 — (CP). — Essential primacy of the consumer has been ignored in modern economic organization, W. C. Good of Brantford, Ont., president of the Co-operative Union of Canada, told delegates to the Union's annual Congress to-day.

"The modern world is producer mad," Mr. Good, former Member of Parliament, said to the representatives from all parts of Canada here for the three-day conference. "Modern economic organization has been inverted because the essential primacy of the consumer is ignored."

"Purpose of production by industrial groups is the satisfaction of human need," he said, pointing out that goods are produced to be consumed. "Conflict between groups paralyzes production and reduces the consumer's share in the product."

"Change in the social structure is imperative," Mr. Good attested. Confusion exists in the relation between theories of production for profit as opposed to production for use. Tragic consequences of that confusion are apparent "when idle men stand paralyzed in the face of abundance of raw materials and great human need."

He contended the connection between struggles among economic groups and those among national groups is close, though it is "popularly denied."

Both Communism and Fascism are grounded in the economic struggle between capitalist and proletariat, Mr. Good said. Though more obscure, conflicts between economic groups in democracies are also related to International political situations.

Co-operative philosophy and economics furnish a means of harmonizing conflicting economic and national interests," he said.

Drawing attention to recent economic trends toward regulation of business by governments, he maintained a "trial and error" method was being used. Moves toward licensing and fixing of retail prices were seen in the Alberta Trade and Industry Act, the Ontario Milk Control Board, and the Dominion Marketing Act, recently declared ultra vires by the Dominion Government, but being made effective by Provincial legislation.

HEPBURN AIMING DEVELOP ENTIRE POWER IN ONTARIO

THOROLD, Ont., Sept. 28 (CP)—If re-eleced at the Oct. 6 Ontario elections, the Ontario Liberal Government will pursue a policy of supplying hydro-electric power consumers from the province's own resources, Premier Mitchell Hepburn told a meeting here last night. The premier who speaks at Aylmer and Simcoe today, warned against depending too greatly on power supplies outside the province.

The Ontario government would not leave the people at the mercy of any outside authority, said the premier who mentioned the threat of former Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec while consideration was given by the government to cancellation of power contracts with Quebec firms.

Mr. Hepburn also told the Thorold audience the government would give "serious thought to supplying free text books to Ontario school children." He was sympathetic to anything advancing education, he added.

"As a matter of policy, I think we should go carefully in regard to dependence on Quebec power," he continued. "Having in mind that the prime minister of Quebec once threatened to cut off all power coming to Ontario from that province."

Mr. Hepburn said his policy was "back to Niagara and to make Ontario more and more dependent on our own power resources." He said he refused to alter his stand regarding the cancelled Quebec contracts.

Power At Cost

"That was the dream of Sir Adam Beck, to develop Ontario power resources under public ownership and to supply power to the people at cost," he continued. By the government's attitude on the Quebec power contracts question part of Sir Adam Beck's dream was fulfilled as it enabled the administration "to make hydro cheaper and supply more and more homes."

Mr. Hepburn also repeated his opposition to construction of the St. Lawrence deep waterways at the present time. Development of the waterways and restoration of the cancelled contracts would prevent development of Niagara. If such steps were taken the government

ROTARY GOVERNOR GIVES ADDRESS AT CAMPBELLFORD

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 28. — District Governor Dr. P. H. Huyck of Kingston, was guest speaker at Monday's Rotary luncheon held in the St. Lawrence Hotel.

Confining his remarks to the subject of Rotary the speaker expressed regret at the situation in Germany where members of the National Socialist party had been requested to withdraw from Rotary by Dec. 31st.

"Hitler's chief objection to Rotary is that it is not Anti-Semetic" and due to the International aspect of Rotary which knows no race or creed it has been rendered a serious setback in Germany by this order," said Dr. Huyck.

Dr. Huyck related the process by which the district governor was chosen, first of all nominated at the District Conference held each fay and then elected at the International Convention. In this, the 71st district which comprised part of New York State, the governors alternated and by an unwritten law an American was elected one year and a Canadian the next. Referring to the International Convention where questions of policy relating to Rotary International were discussed the speaker explained how each speech was translated as it was being given and carried through a pair of ear phones to the representatives who could listen to interpreter in their own language by simply turning a dial.

A Great Democracy.

The machinery of Rotary International is a great democracy" and is comprised of several committees, of which the Aims and Objects committee is the most important. Other committees include the Public Service committee, and the Vocational and Community Service committees. There are 131 Rotary districts in the world with a total membership of about 185,000.

In conclusion the speaker called to attention the fourth object of Rotary, "The advancement of International understanding and good will, and peace through good fellowship of business and professional men united in ideal service."

Discussing the Ottawa Conference to be held in November Dr. Huyck urged the local club to send a delegation to represent the Campbellford Club at the Conference.

Board Decides To Supervise School Playgrounds

Chairman At Campbellford Says Disgraceful Things Have Been Happening

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 28. — Charging that some of the most disgraceful things that ever happened in the town of Campbellford took place on the Public School grounds, A. W. Roy Loucks, chairman of the School Board, urged that the playgrounds be more carefully supervised by the teachers during the noon hour.

The matter of supervision was brought up as the result of an accident to one of the pupils some months ago during the noon hour. It appeared that the parents of the child in this instance had placed the responsibility on the Board, claiming the mishap was due to lack of supervision, and although an attempt had been made to collect indemnity, no claim had been paid.

F. C. Bonnycastle drew attention to the fact that the wire fence separating the school from an adjoining property had been broken again and was practically beyond repair. He suggested that better supervision at recess and lunch hours would serve as a deterrent to such destruction of property.

Supervision Needed.

At this point Chairman Loucks called on Mr. Bonnycastle to take the chair while he addressed the Board. "Some of the most disgraceful things that have happened in the town of Campbellford happened on those school grounds. I am in earnest when I bring this to the attention of the Board," stated Mr. Loucks. "We know how unsatisfactory present conditions are...the general public know what is going on, and I know. We all know. We have made provision for supervision in the High School and we require it just as much in the Public School." He then made a motion that Mr. Dunk and Mr. Stephens be appointed as supervisors of the playgrounds from 8.30 till 9 a.m. and from 12 noon till 1.30 p.m.

Principal C. S. Haig of the Public School addressed the Board, saying that he had conveyed to Mr. Dunk an assistant teacher, the Board's instructions to supervise the playgrounds. Mr. Haig pointed out that all Mr. Dunk could do was "act as policeman, and nothing will more quickly bring resentment against the teacher than this." Continuing, he pointed out that the grounds on the east side of the school were not even suitable for a good game of tag, and that organized sport was impossible. In reference to the fence, the Principal stated that it was "not a proper school fence," and it was impossible to watch the children all the time to keep them off it. Regarding the "language," some of it was simply unfit to be used on a play grounds, "but when the children use it in their own homes, what are you to expect when you get 400 together in a school yard?"

Games Impossible.

Harold Dunk then addressed the Board, saying that he had tried to organize games in the east playground for years, "and when I took the inspector out to view the grounds he inquired what games the Board expected could be played on such ground. "It is impossible for one person to police the front and back of the school and two basements," said Mr. Dunk. "If you'll put the Public School grounds in the same condition the High School grounds are in I'll guarantee there won't be any lack of supervision and sports in the Public School."

In reply to this, Chairman Loucks indicated that absolutely nothing could be done to improve the playgrounds at the present time, and that he saw no reason why games could not be played on the grounds as they were.

A motion was then passed authorizing the Principal to make arrangements for supervision of the grounds from 8.30 a.m. till 4 p.m.

Fire Extinguishers.

Dr. H. O. Richardson reported that he had interviewed several insurance agents regarding the matter of fire extinguishers for the High School and had learned that there was one practical form of extinguisher which was given to policy-holders in municipalities where there was no fire protection but that the purchase price of them was $1.50, and they are re-filled free of charge after they have been used in extinguishing a fire. On motion it was decided to leave the purchase in the hands of a committee composed of Messrs. W. Wood Geroge Free, C. McLean, and Dr. Richardson.

The purchase of about fifty books for the Public School reference library as requested by the inspector, was authorized when the Board learned from Principal C. S. Haig that none of the volumes were at present in the school library. The purchase of fifty books to be used in conjunction with the music course was also authorized by the Board.

J. A. Irwin reported that since the rooms in the High School previously used as lunch rooms had been assigned to the teaching of domestic science and manual training, arrangements had been completed to have the boys make use of the downstairs cloak-room and the girls to use another cloak-room and adjoining commercial room.

The chairman of the Property Committee, F. C. Bonnycastle, stated that the equipment for the new courses had been purchased and the cost would run a little over $3,000. With the teaching of domestic science and manual training, the insurance rates would be increased ten cents on all policies the Board was advised.

Following a motion to have an accident policy written on the school, the pay-sheet was passed and the meeting adjourned.

PROFESSOR SCOTT SPEAKS ON INDIA AT TRENT RIVER

TRENT RIVER Sept. 28. — The Sunday afternoon service at the United church was in charge of Principal Scott of Christian College, Indore, India, who gave an interesting address on India— a land of which there is a confused and wrong idea of in Canada. The speaker has spent twenty-five years in India. He said India is a wonderfully changing land — in English language the coming of the railroad. There are 351 millions of people, the coming of the motor car has made great changes. They have a good system of roads for motor and bus service. Any sympathetic foreigner can do a great deal for India. Industry and social service is badly needed. They are eager for education, and prejudices as regards caste. The pupils who come to college have a most rigid prejudice but leave college with none. This is an indirect result of the college work. Among the high caste they are not afraid of taking their stand for Christ. The staff of missionaries are a good deal less than 25 years ago; the staff is sadly depleted. Does the church at home understand the situation? We should feel privileged to share in this work. If a church fixes its eyes on war horizons it will broaden out.

Anniversary services will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Littleton of Vroomanton on Sunday, October 10th, followed by the fowl supper the following night. Communion service will be held Sunday afternoon, October 3rd.

4 LINDSAY WOMEN POISONING VICTIMS

LINDSAY, Sept. 28.—(Special.)—Thought to be suffering from ptomaine poisoning, four Lindsay women were taken violently ill on Sunday night, following a dinner party, and, while one of them is considerably improved, the others are still confined to their beds.

Mrs. Grace Therous and Miss C. Haugh were guests of Misses Ida and Ethel Ferris. Immediately following dinner, Miss Ethel Ferris became ill. Mrs. Therous later became ill and then the other two women also became sick. Dr. F. A. Logan was called and had the women removed to their homes.

This morning Miss Haugh was reported improved, although she was unable to resume her duties as teacher at the Central School. The other women are still under the doctor's care.

Jap Sub Shells Junk Fishing Fleet 300 Men, Women, Children Drown

Hong Kong, Sept. 28 (AP)

TEN survivors said today 300 men, women and children were killed when a Japanese submarine sank a fleet of Chinese fishing junks off Cheelongkau point on the South China coast.

Some of the junks were understood to be sailing under British registry and authorities of this British naval base started an investigation.

The 10 survivors, all wounded, were brought here aboard the German liner Scharnhorst. They asserted the Japanese submarine rose to the surface suddenly while they were fishing off Cheelongkau, Sept. 22. The underwater craft opened fire and sank junk after junk.

While the wounded and dying, including 100 women and children struggled in the water, the submarine steamed away. The survivors said no effort was made to pick up the victims.

FOOD BEING SENT TO DROUGHT AREA

TORONTO, Sept. 28. — Carloads of fruit and vegetables, given by residents of more fortunate regions for distribution in Saskatchewan and Alberta drought areas, are already moving from the Eastern Provinces, British Columbia and Manitoba.

The objective for this year has been set at 500 carloads, says a statement issued by Dr. W. W. Judd, General Secretary of the Anglican Social Service Council, on behalf of the joint committee of the churches for Western relief, which includes representatives of the Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian, Roman Catholic and United Churches. Last year 300 cars were shipped.

The statement, announcing Lord Tweedsmuir has lent his patronage to the movement, explains the work is supplementary to Government relief and says: "Notwithstanding the work which the Federal and Provincial Governments must do in this direction, it is hoped the co-operation of all church bodies in every locality will be obtained, together with municipal officers, if necessary, both for the collecting of fruits and vegetables in the favored parts of Canada and in distributing them in the stricken parts."

Dr. Judd said Manitoba has already sent out cars from areas which last year needed help themselves. This year, however, the Saskatchewan drought area is much greater than last.

Cattle In Chicago Hits 18-Year Top

CHICAGO, Sept 28 (AP)—A new 18-year top of $19.00 a hundredweight was paid for cattle here yesterday. This was the highest cattle market price since December, 1919 and matched the all-time high for September established in 1918. Scarcity of choice grain fed cattle was the reason for the unusually high price.

HOPE TO SALVAGE STEAMER ON REEF

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 28.—(C P Cable)—Owners of the 5,000-ton British freighter Lackenby hoped today an attempt could be made to salvage the vessel from the mile-long reef at the south of Bell Island on which she has been stranded.

The captain and six members of his crew were still aboard the stricken freighter as giant waves that had pounded the ship mercilessly on jagged reef rocks for 36 hours gradually calmed down.

Once the waves had calmed sufficiently from a storm that swept Southern newfoundland sunday, an attempt to haul the Lackenby from the rocks would be made, it was said. Already holes had been torn in her hull and her number one hold was filled with water.

The lackenby was bound to Bell Island from Montreal to load with iron ore when she went aground. Twenty-eight members of her crew were taken into Wabana by the Steamship Maneco Baronet yesterday.

A flick of a switch, or the touch of a button summons your personal Genii. You should know him better. His name is Hydro.

It is he who, while you slept, kept the motor humming on the blower or oil heater, so that you awoke to a warm comfortable house. It is he who makes the toast—cooks the meals—bakes the cakes—runs the vacuum cleaner, the washer and the ironer.

And what a friend when you settle down in your favorite chair at night to read or sew under proper light, with your radio to bring the best in entertainment! You retire in security, knowing that should emergency strike he can be summoned instantly—Lights! Telephone!

What other service can you buy at such low cost, that does so much? And while the price of practically everything we buy has steadily advanced during the past two years, the Hydro has, and is, steadily lowering the cost of electricity to you. In addition, every effort is being made to extend the benefits of Hydro, everywhere in the Province of Ontario.

As a partner in this great enterprise, you should take a keen interest in everything that pertains to Hydro, and its efforts to lower power costs still further.

So They Fought

There was a traffic jam in Toronto. On a rather narrow street—and Toronto has its share of them—cars were parked on both sides. There was not room for cars going in opposite directions to pass. It appears two cars reached this bottle-neck formation at the same time and neither was able to proceed.

Now there is nothing serious about that. Neither of the drivers who happened to arrive there from opposite directions had anything to do with the creation of the peculiar situation. The only solution would have been for one to have waited until the other went through.

But it did not work out that way. It resulted in words and then an attack and one of the car drivers needed nine stitches to close a wound in his head, while the other was arrested charged with aggravated assault. And all over a situation which two sensible people could have settled without even engaging in conversation or blows.

The world often enough wonders why the affairs of nations cannot be settled at Geneva by the League, but looking at that Toronto case provides a good deal of the explanation on a small scale.

Who Gets This Money?

A special meeting of the Wentworth Hotelmen's Association was called in Hamilton, and the reason for the meeting was to consider a special assessment levied by the Hotel Association of Ontario. The report from Hamilton says the assessment amounts to about $200 for each hotel based on the volume of business done. We learn the meeting in Hamilton came to the conclusion it would ignore the assessment notices and refuse to pay the amount. One statement made was that the assessment was not compulsory and no hotel keeper could be forced to pay it. The nearest approach to adequate explanation is contained in a remark by H. A. McLennan, manager of the Royal Connaught Hotel:

"It is a move to consolidate all campaign contributions and relieve smaller hotel men throughout the province of the requests of local party interests and ward heelers. The money is now being collected and there have as yet been no contributions to any parties."

Whether the members of the association which met in Hamilton declined to pay the assessment makes little difference. Evidence indicates the fund is being collected and the intention is to use the proceeds as contributions for campaign purposes. Nor is it eventful that it should be recorded that no payments have yet been made. If the cash is being collected it will surely be paid out. If that were not to be done there would be no purpose in collecting it.

We believe the people of the province should be informed where this money goes. The answer to that may be it is not the business of any person to demand such information, but it appears to us it is the business of the public.

Just why should the keepers of hotels be informed by the Hotel Association of the province that a contribution of about $200 from each member was necessary for campaign purposes? It is not at all likely the members of the Assoctiation are putting up the money because of their deep-seated affection for political affiliation. It is very likely the contribution is being made because there is something which will be asked for later on.

Now that the matter has been brought out so openly and it is known that a fund is being raised by hotel keepers for campaign funds, we should be told the whole story. The publicity which has been given to the move may have killed the chances for a nice quiet handing out of the fund, but the people are entitled to know where that money is going.

For A Better Campaign

Our candid belief is that the leaders of the present political campaign in Ontario could place it on a high plane if they would seriously address themselves to that very necessary task. By way of illustration we take two topics used in recent meetings:

When Premier Hepburn was speaking at Pembroke he referred to the former premier as "Henry and the old gang who were trying to get back in office again to create more deficits and more debt and put Ontario right back in the position of depression in which we found it three and a-half years ago."

Mr. Henry is not now leading the Conservative party, and there is not a remote possibility that he will ever do so again. But if he were, we do not believe he would be deliberately planning to plunge the province into more debt. Mr. Henry was a success as Minister of Highways, but a failure as Premier, but we cannot conceive of any man seeking political control for the purpose of plunging the province into debt. Nor do we believe the depression business is regulated by provincial boundaries. We have seen too much of it and have had opportunity to observe its world-wide spread to take much stock in the claim that it is something which can be defeated in a province while it remains fixed in other provinces.

When Hon. Earl Rowe addressed a gathering in Brampton he claimed that "premier Hepburn is now negotiating new Quebec power contracts and telling his millionaire friends so they can play with the bond market as they did before." He was also outspoken in his declaration that "graft and corruption had prevailed for three years under a beer-soaked government."

If Mr. Hepburn were actually negotiating secretly for new power contracts and then quietly telling his friends to which companies the contracts were going, then he would not be a fit person to be Premier of the province or leader of the Liberal party. Our own belief is that nothing of the kind is being done. If there has been graft and corruption on the part of a "beer-soaked government" then it should be well and rapidly exposed. The beer policy of one government is not much different from that of the other. Prior to going to the country in 1934 the Henry government had made provision for an extension of the system of selling beer, and the Hepburn government in turn proclaimed and made effective that policy. If there is any difference between the two policies it is one of degree only.

We believe the entire campaign would be brought to a higher and more effective plane if the leaders themselves would deal with plain facts which they are prepared to establish by the backing of necessary and acceptable evidence.

Governing The Newspapers

At the opening of the session of the Alberta legislature there was mention made several times of doing something to control the newspapers of the province. The nearest to a definite suggestion came from William Tomyn, Social Credit member for Whitford, who said:

"Certain definite steps will be taken in dealing with the press in regard to their misrepresentation and falsities."

D. B. McMillan of Lacombe put it this way:

"In a general way I am strongly in favor of a free press, but as with individuals who become a public menace at times, their activities must be restrained."

One might come to the conclusion after reading such references that the press was an agency responsible to no government, organization, court or any other thing. But that is not so. A newspaper can be held responsible for anything appearing in its columns. If a person writes a letter to a paper and makes therein a libelous statement, the paper is responsible. A newspaper is in a more vulnerable position than an individual who makes wild statements, because what a paper says is broadcast to the public in permanent form. It is definitely on record and responsibility cannot be evaded.

If there are newspapers in Alberta which are openly opposed to the Aberhart theory and practice of government, then such papers are following a course which they have a right to take. If they print libel concerning the government or its ways then the papers can be called to court and made subject to prosecution. In that regard they occupy no more favored position than any individual in the province.

It might be well for some of the Alberta members to look back a little and make certain where the guilt of misrepresentation really rests. At the time when Social Credit was the issue in the last Alberta campaign speakers on behalf of that cause were not content to remain at home. We had a number of them conducting excursions to Ontario. They were all of them certain as could be they knew all about Social Credit and how to make it work. It would take 18 months after the election before it was established, and it was plainly stated there would be a basic dividend of $25 per month paid to the people in that province. That was the picture they placed before their own people and those residing far from Alberta.

When it came to the serious business of making Social Credit operative it was plainly demonstrated the members of the legislature and their leader were not possessed of the knowledge necessary to move intelligently toward making Social Credit an established fact. We do not accuse them of deliberate misrepresentation, but they had indulged in a much exaggerated presentation of their own knowledge.

This paper believes the press in general would welcome any move on the part of Mr. Aberhart to show he actually has the material out of which to form a better financial and social system than we now employ. A newspaper would be as anxious to present that information as it would to announce the discovery of a cure for cancer.

Newspapers are not perfect, and those who work daily with their production realize that more acutley than those who read them, but newspapers are subject to the same laws which govern individuals. The Alberta members would do better if they were to bring an offending newspaper to court and prove that it had offended the laws of the province or the Dominion. There is a vast difference between offending the law and offending the nervous system of a government.

The Prices Paid To Farmers

Toronto Globe and Mail carries on Monday reports of prices which were paid on the previous Saturday at farmers' markets in various points in Ontario, and the figures are difficult things out of which to make sense. For this reason: The difference in the quotations is so wide that it cannot be explained.

Beef hindquarters were quoted at Ottawa at 6 to 7 cents per pound, while in Hamilton (same day) the price was given as 14 to 16 cents.

In Ottawa a pound of butter could be purchased from 25 to 28 cents; in Kitchener it was 29 to 30, and in Hamilton 30 to 33.

There is not such a change in barley, although Stratford reported it at 50 to 60 cents, and at Kingston the quotation was 65.

There is a difference of opinion regarding the value per pound of a chicken. Ottawa said 21 to 22 cents per pound; Stratford placed it at 21 to 25, while in Sarnia the chicken was given a rating between 28 and 30 cents per pound, so there was a difference of 8 cents a pound between the high price in Sarnia and the high price in Ottawa, and on a 5-pound bird that would be 40 cents.

There are few farmers going to Saturday market who do not offer eggs for sale, but notice the range in price: Brantford 23 to 25 cents per dozen; Owen Sound 28 to 32; London, 30 to 38, and Hamilton 40 to 45. There is a spread of 20 cents per dozen on the high price in Brantford and Hamilton, and the two places are not far removed one from the other with a good road between. We take it that the eggs sold in any of these markets cost about the same amount to produce.

There must have been slip-up in the quotations on spring lamb, because it is quoted in Stratford at 8 to 9 cents per pound and in Brantford at 19 to 35.

Such a staple product as oats is put down in Ottawa as worth 40 to 50 cents per bushel, while in Brantford the price was from 34 to 40 cents. A difference of 10 cents a bushel between the top prices.

Potatoes ran this way: Brantford, $1.10 per bag; Guelph 80 cents, Ottawa 65 and in Windsor 30 cents. Just what the explanation is we do not know. The Brantford price is almost four times that being paid at Windsor.

We doubt very much if the farmers who visit these various markets find the same difference in the price of merchandise which they go and purchase with the dollars which they have received for their produce. If they had occasion to buy groceries or other provisions they would probably find the prices fairly well standardized. Competition is such that the high price of one place would not be far removed from the low price elsewhere. The articles mentioned above are all staple products of the farms, and the costs of their production would not vary widely in any section of the area mentioned. Beef, butter, poultry, eggs, potatoes, etc., are just as standard in their way as tea, coffee, sugar, breakfast foods, or any other article sold in a grocery store, and yet the price which the farmer secures for what he has to offer is subject to variation in price which is so wide that it defies adequate explanation.

SPECKLED HEN

—BARR

¶ My speckled hen is holding back, she's now a useless sort of hack, she won't lay any eggs; she likes to wander in the sun, to see if feeding time has come, or else she'll stretch her legs.

¶ I read the hen news now and then, and study it like other men, learn much of this and that; I brought my knowledge up-to date, and learned the feeding was too great, my hen had got too fat.

¶ I read about a diet then, that I would give my speckled hen, I watched her as she dined; I did not want to starve my hen, but I would reach the point just when, she'd start to be stream-lined.

¶ I cut her victuals down a bit, so she'd feel hungry when she'd sit, then she would use her legs; she'd go and scratch things with her feet, and look about for stuff to eat, then she'd lay some eggs.

¶ I cut her down too fine I fear, and in her eyes there shone a tear, and she was far from gay; she seemed to have no life within, and then she got so awful thin, I guess she couldn't lay.

¶ I started feeding her some more, I'd make her like she was before, the experts came my way; she weighed a pound too much they said, looked though she'd been much overfed—she is too fat to lay.

PREMIER HEPBURN'S intimation that beaches and parks may be established by the provincial government for the good of the people calls attention to what is being done along that line in the British Isles. For instance work has begun on the construction of a new seaside resort in Ayrshire which will eventually be the most ambitious lido in Britain. On the estate of the Laird of Killochan castle around the beautiful Carleton Bay, with its splendid sands will be laid out the largest self-contained holiday resort in the British Isles, the initial work will cost at least $1,250,000. Within the next few weeks a luxury hotel, a cinema concert hall and hundreds of specially designed family cottages will begin to take form. There will be an 18-hole golf course, tennis courts, bowling greens etc.

At the inquest into the death of Jack Snape, a 38-year-old British war veteran living near Blackburn, Eng., it was revealed that the man had lived for nearly twenty years with a tube in his lungs. While a prisoner of war in Germany in 1918 he contracted pneumonia and a German doctor performed an operation, inserting a tube into the body to drain the lung. The tube was later missed and no one seemed to know whether it had fallen from the body or not. In later years Snape suffered from lung trouble and a recent X-ray examination revealed the presence of the lost tube in the lung.

Interesting Fossils.

FOSSIL BEDS containing many remains of prehistoric animals have been uncovered in the valleys of the Cypress Hills in Alberta this summer by C. M. Sternberg of the geological survey of Canada. The most valuable find was part of the skull, lower jaws and other bones of a flesh-eating dinosaur which Mr. Sternberg estimates lived 60,000 years ago. He uncovered the remains on a high shelf overlooking a coulee running into the Milk River. The specimen, he said, when alive had jaws two and a half feet long, hind feet measuring from eight and a half to nine feet and a body 25 feet long.

Hitherto the British market has been flooded with American sets and this is the first time the procedure has been reversed.

May Drive Germany Into Socialism

Already German State Has Close Control Over Operation of Business, Industry

(From the Montreal Star.)

THE GREATEST annual show in the world is being staged now in the old Bavarian city of Nuremberg. The yearly congress of the National Socialist Party has been made a startling demonstration of the vigor of the new Germany, for the benefit of the German people and of the outside world. How much the impression on the countries counts is shown by the strenuous efforts of the Nazi Government to get official representatives of the great democratic Powers to Nuremberg.

The mass parading and demonstrating and "heiling" for which the Germans have such a genius have been as effective as at any congress during the last four years, according to reports. But to the rest of the world it is more important what is said at Nuremberg than what is done. It is inevitably a time for important pronouncements.

In his proclamation Hitler milled over much material that has appeared in many speeches in the last year or two. But there was one important part on a subject that Hitler himself has discussed little in public for some time. That was his warning to private enterprise that the plans of the Government had to be carried out successfully, or else the State would take over the operation of industry.

The warning of the Fuehrer is a good forecast of what German economic weather is going to be. It looks as though the end might soon be coming to the period of rivalry between the ideas of Dr. Schacht and those of General Goering. The brilliant Dr. Schacht, who has wielded immense power over German business, favors continued private operation of industry. Goering, driving hard for his four-year plan for economic self-sufficiency, is ready to see the State take a tighter and tighter grip on the operation of industry.

Already the German State in various ways exercises close control over business. A short time ago a State enterprise was set up under General Goering to exploit the low-grade iron deposits of the country. Hitler's proclamation indicates that there are good chances that Goering and his ideas of direct State industrial participation will dominate the whole German economic picture. Rumors from Berlin about the resignation of Dr. Schacht make such a development still more probable.

If Schacht goes and the State steps in to operate industries, then the German economic system will come more and more to resemble that of Soviet Russia. Neither would admit it, but the similarity may become increasingly plain to people who are neither Fascists nor Communists.

Col. Drew To Lead the Conservatives?

Claim He Is Being Groomed For the Position; No Straight Tory In Running Against Him

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

MANY PEOPLE throughout the province are watching the speeches of Colonel George A. Drew, the Independent Conservative candidate in Wellington South, because of the prediction freely made that he will be the successor to Mr. Rowe as leader of the provincial party after the latter has failed at the polls.

The position of Colonel Drew in reference to the Conservative party organization seems to call for some clarification. It will be recalled that Colonel Drew was serving as chief Conservative organizer and making a good job of it when Mr. Rowe came out with his pronouncement in regard to the C. I. O. Being unable to follow his leader on this issue, the chief Rowe organizer promptly tendered his resignation and one of his principal lieutenants in Eastern Ontario, living not a hundred miles from Court House Square, promptly followed suit and retired to his tent until pressure was brought to bear upon him to resume the duties which he had determined to relinquish.

As the campaign got under way, Colonel Drew nominated himself as the Independent Conservative candidate in Wellington South where he has been pursuing a vigorous and rather extreme and bitter anti- C. I. O. campaign. Incidentally fastening some rather nasty labels on certain principals in the recent Brockville strike which they are indignantly repudiating.

The point to be remarked is that there is no official Conservative candidate in Wellington South. Indeed, the central office of the party announced not long since that this was the one riding in which no straight Conservative candidate would be nominated, and it now lists South Wellington as one of the seats which it expects will be carried in the Conservative cause. Moreover, as far as we can learn, Mr. Rowe has studiously refrained from criticizing Colonel Drew or saying anything derogatory to his chances of election.

In view of all this, are we to believe that there is an understanding between the Conservative party organization and Colonel Drew and when Colonel Drew makes the extreme statements with which he is being credited, does he, after all, speak the mind of the powers-that-be in the Conservative party who are careful to see that nothing is done by them to oppose his election and who are grooming him for succession to the party leadership?

Ambassador Ran Away, Then Came Back

His Action In Face of Danger Needs Explaining; British Refused to Move Out As Japs Suggested

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

IT WILL BE surprising if members of the United States Senate at the next session do not show a good deal of inquisitiveness as to the actual facts about the departure of the American ambassador to China and his staff from the embassy in Nanking and their return to it again this week.

Last monday, on the heels of the warning by Japan of her intention to bomb Nanking and the accompanying suggestion that the representatives of foreign powers leave the city to avoid possible unpleasant consequences, came word that the American ambassador was acting on that suggestion. In contrast, British embassy officials and those of other nations remained at their posts in the city. The withdrawal of the American ambassador to a warship was made occasion for commendatory comments in Japan, while the action of the representatives of other nations was criticized and condemned. Among the Chinese however, there was just the reverse attitude. All the Orientals give a first-most place to "face." To the Chinese the Americans had run away and in so doing lost respect and prestige. The stand of the British, on the other hand, in staying was calculated to strengthen or raise their prestige.

As a result of second thoughts somewhere or other, however, the American ambassador and his staff returned on Wednesday to their embassy. Possibly it was this matter of "face" and the fact that the British and others stayed that decided their return. A question to be answered, however, is who made the two decisions or were they made. The ambassador has made a special point of explaining that, while he and his staff took the precaution of boarding the American gunboat Luzon last Monday, the ship was anchored within twenty minutes of the embassy and that really they were never away from Nanking at all. He is reported also by the State Department at Washington as challenging the accuracy of press reports quoting him as saying he acted under its orders. The facts as presented, however, do not indicate definitely whether or not he received orders from Washington to comply with the Japanese suggestion, or whether popular criticism influenced Washington to have him return. It was plainly a blunder. It is noteworthy that the stiff note of protest by the United States to Japan against general bombing of a non-combatant population, as "unwarranted and contrary to principles of law and humanity," followed immediately upon the rectification of this blunder.

MIXED AND MUDDLED.

(Montreal Star)

OLD MAN Ontario is quite excusably scratching his shrewd head today. He is in the middle of a political campaign in which the issues are more mixed, muddled and mangled than such things have been in this country for many a long day. He very probably thought a year or two ago that it was quite easy to tell exactly what the Hepburn Government stood for, and so quite easy to make up his mind how to vote. But any mental photographs he may have had at that time of the Hepburn Administration are now completely out of date.

AUSTRALIA'S PLIGHT.

(Montreal Star)

FOREIGN Secretary Eden spoke the only language that this age understands when he opened his peace talk by mentioning that Great Britain was now building 450,000 tons of new warships at a cost of $660,000,000, and would keep right on unless other nations gave guarantees of peace. Great Britain has further tripled her air force in two years. Plucky Australia announces armament plans to cost $57,000,000. Yet when we read what they can buy for that, and realise that, if an enemy ever attacks them, it will be an enemy that could blow that force out of the water in an hour, we realise the tragedy and the pathos of the position of Australia.

To the Editor

WHO OWNS CANADA?

Editor Examiner:

SIR: Would you be so kind as to permit a small space in your paper.

Who controls Canada? It's mines and natural resources, its transportation. Is it controlled by its duly elected parliament? Certainly not, for parliaments come, and parliaments go, whether Conservative or Liberal but no election sees any change in those few who really control the life of the nation.

One hundred great corporations dominate Canadian industry and fifty Canadian big shots hold within their hands the fate of these great corporations and many more.

Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Rowe are making a great fuss about collecting from those who have accumulated wealth in the past. Where and how these people got their wealth does not seem to worry Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Rowe. But that wealth was accumulated out of the toil of the working people of Canada and all that Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Rowe are doing is taking some of it back. This wealth should have gone into the pockets of the people who created it instead of into the pockets of those from whose estates a fraction of it is being taken in the form of succession duties. It is in the same class as the wealth now going into the pockets of the fifty big shots who now own and control Canada.

The question is, Is Canada to continue endorsement of the economic policy of the past. Namely concentration of control of credit, finance, industry and commerce in the hands of a very limited number of corporations and individuals, or are we to reassert the democratic principle of directing economic affairs in the interests of the people as a whole.

Mrs. C. S. LAMBERT.

CANNED MUSIC.

(Vancouver Sun)

THE AVERAGE radio listener, sitting contemplatively before his loud-speaker, is only barely conscious, if he notices it at all, of these frequently repeated words, "We will now listen to an electrical transcription....." Every time those words come over the air, the listener is getting not only music by a phonograph record, but also, right along with it, a concrete example of technological unemployment. The American Federation of Musicians considers the playing over the air of recordings so serious a threat to the employment of its members that it has threatened a strike.

GOSPEL BY TRAILER.

(The British Weekly)

THE AMERICAN home is on the march. Not, as it once was, in a covered wagon to seek new land, but in a luxurious caravan trailer to escape from the rents and responsibilities of towns. Already 250,000 Americans live in houses built on wheels. Their home is where they hitch up for the night.

An American minister has been pointing out that the Church ought not to neglect this restless multitude. He suggests that the preacher should go to the trailer camp in a trailer of his own, and, like John Wesley, "fling the Gospel fresh upon the air once more."

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Wheat future moved more than three cents higher again on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Trading in all sections was active, featured by heavy barley sales for export and moderate export trade in wheat. Closing prices were 2¼ to ¾c higher, October wheat $1.32¾; November, $1.32¼, December $1.27⅛ to ⅝, and May $1.26⅝b.

Though recessions occurred from opening one-cent gains, wheat fluctuated above the previous close throughout and volume of trade was reported large.

Octocer future led the upturn in late trading, during which buying came from all sources—exporters, mills, investors, locals and southern firms. Despite profit-taking by recent buyers and increased hedging sales, the market held steady near top levels just before the close.

APSLEY, Sept. 29. — Glenalda schoolhouse was completely filled on Monday evening when a meeting in the interests of T. P. Lancaster was held. The speakers were Messrs G. K. Fraser, Morley Macdonald and the Revs. E. C. Moore and C. A. G. Spence, the last named acting as chairman for the occasion. The issues of the election were exhaustively discussed by each speaker, Mr. Fraser specializing on budget figures. In connection with this he repeated what he said at Apsley on Thursday evening when a heckler questioned the truth of his statements That if the figures he quoted were proven false he would give $500 to the Apsley Red Cross Hospital."

The meeting lasted exactly three hours and was noticeable for its extreme orderliness.

BOYCOTT CALLED BY BRITISH PRESS

LONDON, Sept. 28 (CP-Cable).—"Boycott Japanese goods!" pleads the News-Chronicle in a front-page editorial today, continuing its campaign against the "Japanese butchery which is beating China to her knees.

The Liberal newspaper, owned by the Cadbury Chocolate Manufacturers, for days has been impatient at the British government's "hesitancy in the face of the mass murder of civilians in China."

Front-page editorials have been published daily, and today there are summaries of a number of week-end sermons and speeches, in which similar views are proclaimed. A list of goods imported from Japan is also printed, which the News-Chronicle urges Britain not to purchase. These include everything from canned crab to powder bowls.

Also prominently displayed is a message from children in Shanghai refugee camps to Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret, which was left in the Shanghai office of Reuters News Agency. It says:

"We have heard of the kindness of your great people to the children who went to England from Bilbao... Most of us have lost our homes, parents, and brothers and sisters. Can the children of your country help? Winter is coming and it will be very cold. We will need clothes, blankets ...Can something be done? We hope you will not be angry at us for presenting this messenger but we know you are great and kind. May your illustrious house reign for 10,000 years!"

HARVEST SERVICES HELD IN MARMORA

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Sept. 28.—The interiors of St. Paul's and Holy Trinity Anlican Churches were beautifully adorned with fruits, vegetables, autumn leaves and flowers for the annual harvest thanksgiving services. The rector officiated at a celebration of Holy Communion at 8 a.m. and also at morning prayer at 11 a.m. At the latter service, in addition to leading in the hearty singing of familiar harvest hymns, the choir rendered holy offerings, rich and rare, while the offertory was being taken. Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell delivered an appropriate sermon on the text, "If it die, it bears forth much fruit."

The rector also officiated at the afternoon service at Holy Trinity.

Evensong at St. Paul's was taken by the Rev. W. Stocks, rector of Hastings, who gave an impressive sermon on the subject, "Harvesters for God." In course of his sermon he dwelt upon the fact of Titus being sent by Paul to Crete to make up to the Cretians somewhat of what they lacked spiritually, and showed that many are placed in a similar situation today and are called upon to supply their brothers' needs.

Married The Woman Divorced 34 Years Ago

Frederick, Md., Sept. 28

CHARLES M. Ramsburg, 65, went to the courthouse to get a license to remarry the women from whom he had been divorced 34 years ago.

With the help of his attorney he got the matter straightened out without paying the $10 and married his former wife.

LABOR LEADER JEERED

LONDON, Sept. 28 (CP Cable).—Jeers, catcalls and stink bombs greeted Clement Attlee, Labor parliamentary leader, as he addressed a Labor meeting in the East Ham town hall last night. No arrests were made.

Labor charged the demonstration was an organized attempt by Fascists to break up the meeting. Amid mingled cheers and jeers, Attlee finally managed to address his audience. The demonstration brought the party's membership crusade to a stormy close.

"Her resort to the tactics of barbarism is a symptom of her impatience, if not of her alarm, and by making that resort she has conjurred up a menace ultimately greater than that represented by the elusive and indestructible Chinese soldier and she is earning the unqualified condemnation of the world, on women—whether she is at peace, whether she is at war, or whether she is making good the gain of war—she vitally and inescapably depends."

Obtaining other native guides, McInnes and Tibbitt crossed Fury and Hecla Straits just before the summer breakup, and were on Baffin Island early in June. Here they encountered difficulties. Maps of the regions were sketchy, because no person capable of making a map had ever passed over the route. They had to trudge around lakes, hunt for portages of rivers. Canyons often forced them miles off their course.

"It would have been of great advantage to us to have had detailed maps," Tibbitt said. "There are no trees to bother the prospector, and much of the rock is exposed.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Necessity Was The Mother Pennsylvania Dutch Cooking

Cookery Fits Very Well Into The Kitchens And Budgets Of Modern Household

A friend of mine who is of unblemished Pennsylvania Deutscher stock claims that her Grandmother's cookery fits very well into the kitchens and budgets of the modern household—especially farm households for so many recipes "make do" with what one has on hand—an essential in the pioneering days of these sturdy folk when roads were few and towns far apart.

The Oatmeal Scrapple I especially like because I can put it in my file for "Economical Meals" — it is so savory and so inexpensive.

Oatmeal Scrapple

From your butcher buy a fresh pork bone—buy it on Thursday or Friday when they are busy trimming and tying roasts for Saturday's extra business—a pork bone containing about ½ or ¾ lb. meat should not cost more than 10 cents. Cook this bone for 2 hours in 1 quart of water—or if your family is large 2 quarts water. Remove bone from liquid and cut off meat and force through food chopper. In the liquor cook coarse rolled oats until of consistency of porridge—using 1½ cups to 1 quart liquid and 1 teaspoon salt. When done add the ground meat to the rolled oats, season with ½ teaspoon sage, ¼ teaspoon pepper and let set in bread pans or baking powder cans until cold. Slice and fry to a crisp brown when needed. These are good as a substitute for the meat course, with chopped cucumber pickle.

Some of our school days were spent in Missouri where there are also some expert German cooks—we have often eaten Sauerbraten but down there they called it Dutch Pot Roast.

Because it calls for vinegar and beforehand preparation do not be discouraged — try it once to prove your openmindedness—you will like it I know and it can be added as a treasured recipe to your meat file.

Sauerbraten (Pot Roast)

A four-lb., slice round steak (at least 2½ inches thick), 1 pint cider vinegar, water, 4 bay leaves, 12 peppercorns, 2 tablespoons flour, salt, pepper, allspice, 5 carrots, 12 medium onions, 1 tablespoon sugar, 12 ginger snaps. Select steak with a nice rim of fat. Lay in enamel or porcelain flat dish and add vinegar and enough water to completely cover meat. Add the bay leaves, peppercorns and keep in cool place without freezing for 3 whole days. When ready drain it from the liquid, rub the meat with the flour, salt, pepper and allspice which have been mixed together, and saute it in hot fat on all sides until brown. Add the carrots and onions, cut in any desired shapes, and 2 cups of diluted vinegar (which may be spiced if desired). Cover tightly and cook over low heat for 2 hours. When done crumble the ginger snaps to a powder and add the sugar to them and stir these into the liquid around meat. Cook 10 minutes longer. Serve carved in long strips across the steak with spoonful of gravy on each strip.

Except for its extra tenderness I think beef liver is quite as good as calves' for flavor, so you may be sure the following method for liver cakes was the first recipe of the lot tried in our kitchen. I ordered fresh rye rolls especially to have with them.

Liver Cakes

One pound liver, 2 slices side bacon, slice of onion, chopped finely, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 egg. Mix all ingredients well, make into flattened cakes, and fry over medium heat in hot lard or butter, turning once. Serve with a hot bread. Chili Sauce is a good accompaniment too.

I think roast lamb is perfect served with mint sauce but many find The Penna Deutscher way to their liking:

Penna Deutscher Roast Lamb

After leg of lamb has been cleaned with damp cloth score it with sharp knife about 1 inch apart across surface. Fill these slashes with little pieces of garlic. Rub the cut surfaces of the meat with an equal mixture of salt, pepper and flour. First place roast in oven of 500 deg. Fahr. and after it is seared reduce heat to 325 for 2 hours, basting often.

German Bean Soup

Using water in which ham was boiled.

Soak 1 lb. navy or lima beans overnight in water in which a ham has been boiled. (The ham water must be skimmed free of fat). In morning add the soaked beans and water to more ham water (about 2 qts.) and add 2 cups diced celery, ½ cup chopped onion, 1 can tomatoes, 2 teaspoons parsley, ½ cup diced potatoes, salt, pepper and paprika. Let boil, stirring often until beans are soft. For family meals this is served as it is—but for special occasions, it would be strained and thin cream added and served not for dinner but a less hearty meal when company was present. I think when it is strained and cream is added and all is reheated it is one of the best possible soups.

German Potato Pancakes

About four years ago this same recipe was published under the name of Pannks (I think that is the spelling) and called typically Hungarian — I find Austrians also claim it as their own—all we care is that it tastes good.

Three cups raw grated white potatoes, 2 whole eggs, 1½ tablespoons flour (fine cracker crumbs may be substituted), pinch of baking powder, 1½ teaspoons salt. Select large potatoes, peel them and let soak overnight in cold water. Pour off water, grate potatoes and drain. Have the eggs beaten light and fluffy and add the salt, pepper, flour and baking powder to them. A little onion grated into them is preferred by many. Using a teaspoon drop onto hot well greased skillet in small flat cakes. Brown well on both sides. This short frying is sufficient to cook the grated potatoes. These are excellent with Sauerbraten (see above).

Schnitzel Beans

One and one-half quarts string beans (green preferred), cut in one-inch lengths, ¼ cup smoked bacon, lard or butter size of walnut, 3 good sized sliced onions, 4 medium sized tomatoes chopped fine, pinch salt, pinch red pepper. Fry the bacon a few moments, then add lard and onions and season with salt and pepper and stir for 2 minutes, then add remaining ingredients and enough water to cover, cover and simmer, stirring often, for 2½ hours, adding water if necessary. Serve with liquid on them, which resembles tomato sauce. This is very good as a one-piece supper dish, where soup and a generous dessert is prepared.

The traditional Shoo-Fly Cake seems to be the Pennsylvania Dutch recipe that almost any cook has at least heard of. For many years it was a well kept secret, but here is the way the pioneer women made it and it has always been a favorite.

Leghibh County Shoo-Fly Cake

Mix into crumbs, 1¾ cups flour, 1 cup brown sugar, ¼ cup butter. To ½ cup New Orleans molasses add ½ cup boiling water and ½ teaspoon soda. Divide the molasses mixture into 2 uncooked pie crusts. Divide the crumbs and sprinkle them over the molasses mixture. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. until edges begin to brown, then reduce heat to 300 to bake filling firm.

Variations of this are to serve it topped with whipped cream or add ¼ teaspoon each nutmeg, ginger and cloves, and ½ teaspoon cinnamon to the crumb mixture, and an egg to the molasses mixture. This more glorified version with spices and egg makes a richer pie and is the modern way in which the pie is usually made. While it is not every day fare for our tongues who are accustomed to fruit desserts you will like it very well.

During the next few weeks we will make a point of printing some of the cake and cookie and bread recipes the Penna Deutschers were famous for.

Tested Favorite Recipes

(By MARY MOORE.)

The following chutney is similar to one that is to be bought in glass bottles—it is most popular with cold meats—economical to make, too, my friends.

English Chutney Sauce (Cooked or Uncooked).

One lb. chopped apples, ¾ lb. of raisins, chopped, 1 dozen ripe tomatoes (4 lbs.) chopped, 2 sweet red peppers, chopped, 6 small onions, chopped, ¼ cup tightly packed mint leaves, cropped, 1 oz. white mustard seed, ¼ cup salt, 2 cups sugar, 1½ quarts vinegar (boiled and cooled), 6 cloves of garlic, and 1 teaspoon of cayenne may be added for those who like their bite.

Salt the chopped tomatoes and let drain in a bag overnight. The rest of the ingredients may be put through the food chopper. This sauce requires no cooking, but should be kept in a crock for 10 days in a convenient place, that it may be stirred every day. Or if preferred it may be cooked at once till thick enough and sealed. When cooked it becomes rather dark in color, but rich in flavor.

Enquiry Column

Conducted by Mrs. MARY MOORE

Question: I have read your page for a good many years, and enjoy it and your recipes. I want to ask you to print a recipe that I used of yours sometime ago as I have lost mine. It was peach brandy, made from dried peaches, if I remember right. Someone sent it to you to print—it was very simple and bottled right away. I made it then. I think it is about five month's old, and it is really nice and no trouble at all. I would like to make some more of it. Mrs. S.

Answer: Thank you for your letter.

Peach Brandy

(Using dried peaches)

One pound dried peaches washed, 4 quarts boiling water, 4 lbs. brown sugar. Pour water over sugar and when dissolved and cool add 1 yeast cake. Pour over peaches and let stand 24 hours. Strain and bottle. If this stands longer it has a stronger flavor of peaches.

Question: I have been reading your page for several years and enjoy trying the new recipes very much. I should be very pleased if you could print a recipe for squash for a "Pernicious Anemia" diet. Thanking you, Rhoda Mac.

Answer: See last week's page for method of baking squash with molasses.

Casserole of Squash

Cut Hubbard squash in pieces, pare it and cut into ½-inch cubes. Put into buttered casserole, spreading ¼ cup cubed fat bacon between two layers of it and another ¼ cup bacon on top. Cover tightly and bake for about ¾ hour at 350 deg. Fahr. Remove cover, sprinkle with salt and stir, replace cover and bake 15 minutes longer, slightly covered.

The bacon and tight cover give this a splendid flavor. A little sugar or molasses may be added if desired.

Question: Would you kindly send me a recipe for making Dill Pickles? I would like some that will keep in an open crock. I have several but they are all to be sealed. Mrs. H.

Answer: Thank you for your letter.

Dill Pickles

(Open Crock Method)

Boil and skim 3 gallons of water and 2 lbs. course salt. Select cucumbers 4 to 4½ inches long. Wash them and wipe dry carefully, then put a layer of them in a large crock—about 4-gallon size—and cover with a layer of washed and dried grape leaves with stems attached, and over the grape leaves sprinkle a thin layer of dill blossoms; continue putting the cucumbers and grape leaves and dill in in this fashion until jar is nearly full then cover with thick layer of cabbage leaves and pour over the brine while it is still quite hot—having it come over cabbage leaves. Quiet fermentation will take place for a little more than 2 weeks when the pickles will be transparent like amber with a subacid flavor imparted by the grape leaves. To weight down put a plate over cabbage leaves weighted down with heavy clean rock.

Question: As a reader of your paper I would like to ask a little favor if I am not asking too much. If there is any charge for it I will pay you.

I would like to get a recipe on how to preserve pumpkin. Hoping I may find one in your paper at an early date, M.R.M.

Answer: Thank you for your letter.

Preserved Pumpkin

(Canned Strained Pumpkin)

Boil, steam or bake washed, peeled and seeded pumpkin, in small pieces. When tender force quickly through strainer and put back over heat until boiling point is reached, and put into jars which are very hot having just been sterilized 20 minutes. Put on sterile rubbers tops and rings and put in hot water, both having water come to within 2 inches of tops of jars and boil covered for 4 hours. Pumpkin must hard to keep, being such thick texture. Sterilizing precautions must be rigidly observed.

I am in some doubt as to whether this is the recipe you want — since you use the word preserved. I will include the following recipe for Pumpkin Chips so that you have a choice.

Pumpkin Chips

Twelve pounds pumpkin, 2 lemons or 1 lemon and 1 orange, 1 lb. green ginger, sugar. Cut the fruit into strips one inch square and ¼ inch thick. Prepare ginger by paring and slicing thinly and boiling 1 hour in a syrup of equal parts sugar and water. Slice lemons as for marmalade, very thin. Put all in preserving kettle and let stand 24 hours, after adding an equal weight of sugar. Boil about 1½ hours or until fruit is transparent. Pour into sterile jars and seal.

We hope these are satisfactory and that we can help again.

Question: Many times I have intended sending you a line, for it is two years now that I have been enjoying your page. It is the first thing I read every Sunday morning and it never fails to give me a choice new recipe. I clip it out and some rainy night I paste them in a loose leaf book which has grown to be my very best cook book, so I feel I must say a work of thanks, for otherwise how are you to know how much your work is appreciated.

My little family just love home-outing. Also I use it iced as cake and it tastes even better three or even four days after being baked.

However I wrote this letter first to thank you and second to send you the recipe for "wheat wine". You asked for this some time ago and so far I have not seen it. I felt sure some one else would but maybe they have not so I must, and it is delicious. We made it at home in Ottawa during the War and it is very good. It has not a home made taste like some wine I have tried to praise.

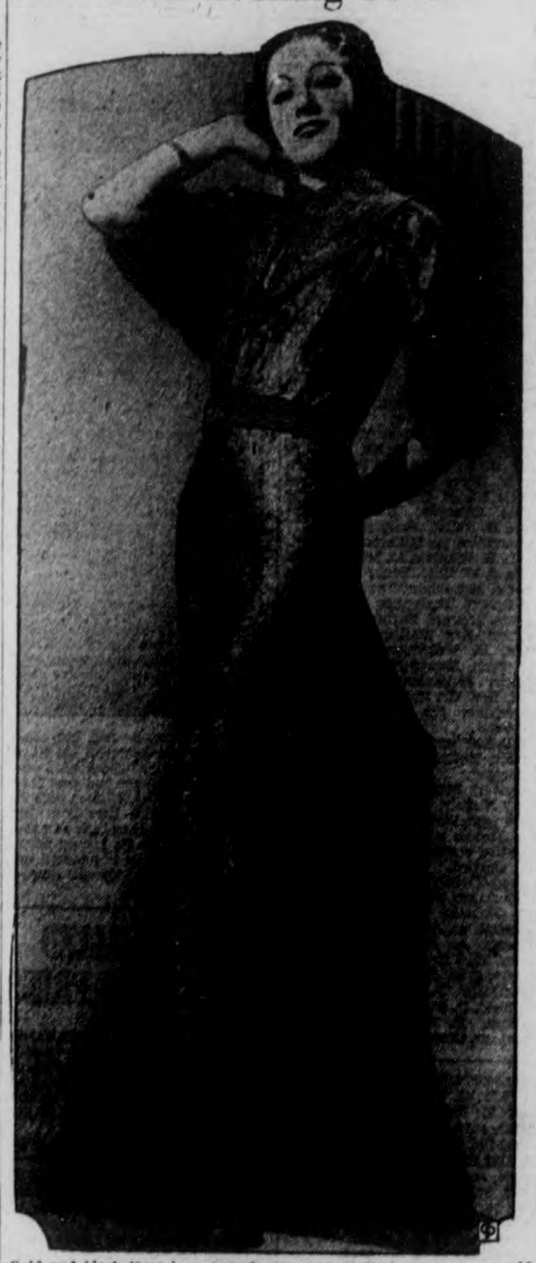
I have a mince meat that is simply marvelous, of course it is high class but as a treat is is tops. I have many teacher and nurse friends and every one must have this. If you care for it I would be delighted to send it. Mrs. M. McK.

Wheat Wine

(Contributed by Mrs. M. McK.)

Two lbs. cleaned wheat, 2 lbs. seedless raisins, 4 lbs. white sugar, 4 grated potatoes, 1 cake yeast, 1 teaspoon ginger, 10 cents worth burnt sugar, 1 gallon water. Set 5 days.

Lace And Metal Are United In A Paris Evening Gown



Gold and black lame lace dress by Muguy of Paris, worn over gold lame slip.

By LISBETH.

Pencil slim or bouffant for evening. Both are equally important. The slim dresses are growing slimmer, almost vanishing to a pin silhouette. But, on the other hand, the wide-skirted models are often very wide and quaintly styled. Daytime dresses may combine the two trends, with pleated skirts or partly pleated skirts worn with fitted bodices.

This dramatic evening dress by Muguy, Paris, is slim, with a gradual flare below the knee. It is entirely in gold and black lame lace, and is worn over a gold lame slip.

The belt, collar and edge of the skirt are all of stitched gold lame, the collar being an especially deep, pointed and interesting one for a formal dress.

The pattern of the lace is particularly suited to the lavish fabric.

Stylings New.

Late fall and winter styles as shown in the recent clothes collections, stress the draped movements. Drapes are not exactly new, but the way materials are draped in these new models is definitely different. They mold the bosom, give a lower waistline, and add new style interest to the hipline. The polonaise is important in the last named styling.

Sleeves may be bracelet or wrist length, but many are shorter, above elbow length. They are youthful looking and have a certain formality, whether simple and straight or with soft detail that gives them a natural but attractive shoulder width.

Sparkle continues for evening, and also in a good measure for the more formal types of afternoon dresses. For evening, dresses may have an allover glitter obtained by beading or palliates.

Combinations of colors are very new. There is black with brown, for instance, and various blues combined with unusual reds.

Materials again emphasize the rich and unusual. There are supple metals, two-surface fabrics that make use of both dull and shiny sides, and many novelty crepes.

Like tender heart leaves of LETTUCE, the choice, young TEA LEAVES have the FLAVOR you want

Blended and packed in Canada

Listen to "Dan Moor's Family" at 8 P.M. every Wednesday on the N.B.C. Network

"HEARTS OF LETTUCE"—you see it on the menus in good restaurants. These places wouldn't think of offering you the tough, coarse, overgrown lettuce leaves. For, like other plants, lettuce loses its delightful sweetness and flavor when it's past its prime.

Tea leaves are like this, too. The choice, young tea leaves have the flavor—the coarse, overgrown leaves are unpleasant in taste.

In every package of TENDER LEAF TEA, you get the choice, young leaves of the tea plant. No coarse, heavy leaves are included for bulk.

The difference was shown when a new scientific instrument was used to measure the amount of aroma in 14 brands of tea. Tender Leaf Tea—and one other, more expensive brand—came first. The other brands trailed behind—some had as little as one-sixth the aroma of Tender Leaf Tea.

Your grocer has Tender Leaf Tea in two convenient sizes—each package filled with choice, young tea leaves. Ask for this tea!

Conway-Leahy.

A quiet wedding was solemnized in the Church of the Immaculate Conception at half-past seven on Monday morning, when Isabel Mae, youngest daughter of William Leahy of Leahy's Lane, and the late Mrs. Leahy, was married to Joseph Conway, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Conway of Aylmer street. The Very Rev. Dean O'Sullivan performed the ceremony. During the progress of the mass, Mrs. D. Campanaro sang the "Ave Maria."

The bride was beautifully gowned in white chiffon velvet, fashioned with Queen Anne collar and toe-length flared skirt. She wore an off-the-face white hat, white accessories and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The bridesmaid was Miss Anna Meade, who was attired in a becoming gown of pale pink silk chiffon, with black hat and accessories, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. The best man was William Conway.

Immediately after the ceremony, the wedding party was served breakfast in Hooper's Palm Rooms, the bride and groom leaving shortly after for their honeymoon. The young couple will reside on Dublin street when they return to the city.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a pearl rosary, and to the best man a silver cigarette lighter. Many beautiful gifts were received by the bride from her friends.

Wills-Wilford.

The marriage of Miss Clara Florence Wilford, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilford, to Keith Pralley Wills, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bruce M. Wills of Peterborough, was solemnized at half-past one today in St. Luke's Church. The Rev. G. J. Bousfield performed the ceremony.

In the church, lovely blooms of peach gladioli, combined with fern were arranged on the altar, and bows of white satin ribbon decorated the guest pews. The wedding music was played by the organist, Miss M. Flowers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a charming princess gown of white satin, with yoke and insets forming puffs in the sleeves, of Chantilly lace. Satin-covered buttons trimmed the back, the sleeves, and across the shoulders to the high neckline. A wreath of gardenias held in place her veil of fine tulle, which fell in graceful folds to a long train. She wore white accessories and carried a pink and white bouquet of Rapture and Killarney roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Willow Wilford, as bridesmaid to her sister, was gowned in powder blue triple sheer, with wide collar and bands forming cuffs at the elbow length sleeves of stitched taffeta. Two large pale pink and blue organdie flowers trimmed the neck. She wore a matching off-the-face felt hat, with pink velvet ribbon trimming, pink lace mittens, and blue slippers. Her bouquet was composed of Rapture and Premier roses in shades of pink.

Roy Irwin attended the groom as best man. The ushers were Sidney Craig, uncle of the bride, and Maxwell Curtis, brother-in-law of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 160 Morrow street. Mrs. Wilford wore a gown in red-ingote style of yellow and brown chiffon, brown hat and accessories, and a corsage of Sunbeam roses. Mrs. Max Curtis, sister of the groom, receiving also, wore a tailored blue and white suit, with matching hat and accessories.

White bells and pink and white streamers decorated the rooms, and the bride's table, beautifully arranged with flowers and pink tapers in silver holders, was centred with the three-tiered wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wills left later to spend their honeymoon in Toronto, Woodstock and other points, the latter wearing for travelling a becoming rose knitted suit, with hat and accessories of a dark brown shade. When they return from their honeymoon, the young couple will reside at 709 Water street.

CHIC BLACK FROCKS

Have Own Place in Every Little Wardrobe Because Women Feel Dressed in That Sombre, but Smart Color.

Left, black sheer crepe dress, black stepin shoes, black velvet bonnet; right, black mossy crepe dress, high kidskin shoes, velvet bonnet with veil.

By LISBETH

That every little wardrobe should have a black dress of its own is a statement that has been made all down the years, I am sure. Every woman was almost compelled to have at least one black dress in her closet in former years because she needed it for funerals.

Black has largely gone out as a symbol of mourning. At least those attending a funeral do not feel compelled to wear this somber color. But it still is a good rule to have a smart black frock on hand, just because nothing makes a woman feel quite so smartly dressed and distinguished as black.

I am showing you two new dresses for the autumn and winter, with smart accessories. At the left is a black sheer crepe with brief sleeves, unusual ropetwist trim, and smooth, gored skirt.

High black kidskin stepins and a black velvet provincial bonnet are as new as the fall season.

Scallops

A delightful example of the elegance of pre-war fashions is the dress at the right. It is in black mossy crepe with scalloping, a charming revival, outlining the neck, sleeves and hem. The corselet waistline has the sanction of Paris.

High cut stepins of black kid-skin display delicate openwork, and the tiny black velvet skull cap has an enormous veil.

The craming young models wearing these two dresses wear no jewelry. But you may dress up your black dress with jewelry or other bright touches as much as your taste allows, for big, bold jewels are being worn with every costume by the women of Paris.

Gold and Silver Used

The use of gold and silver belts, huge clips, jeweled buttons and brilliant sequins, rich brocades, velveta and heavy satins with brocades, for day and evening, worn with amazing jewels is outstanding.

Necklaces, bracelets, enormous clips, buckles, rings and innumerable individual brooches, flower sprays, bowknots, etc., bring back the days of 1900, 1800 and the eighteenth century display of jewels. One very smartly dressed woman was seen in Paris wearing two huge clips and a string of pearls with a silk sweater—so you see!

Fashion Service

The coat-like effect of button trimmed panel right down the front adds tailored chic to this lovely brown woollen dress. The vee rever neck is convertible. It may button-up to a shirt collar. School and college girls will call it a "find," because of the comfy gathered fulness 'neath the back yoke. Plaid wool, rayon crepe, rayon satin, velveteen etc., are other nice fabrics to develop this easy to sew model. Pattern includes illustrated dressmaking guide.

Style No. 2763 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44-inches bust. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch material.

Huge Wedding Cake on Display

The largest cake ever made in Peterborough in the form of a wedding cake is on display in Zellers window. This cake, it was explained, is to be cut up and served free to the patrons of the Prosperity Ball which is being held at the Summer Gardens next Friday evening.

Hooper's bakery, who have been in business in Peterborough for the past fifty years, were asked to make this cake for the Ball, and having been in business for such a length of time, were quite able to handle the situation when asked by the management of the Summer Gardens to bake the largest cake ever baked here.

It contains absolutely the finest fruits and nuts, the best creamery butter and fresh shell eggs, etc.

Mr. Hooper, manager of Hooper's bakery, would not say just how much the cake weighed. However, he did say that it was perfectly baked and was exactly the same quality as the cakes that they have made ever since they started in business in Peterborough fifty years ago.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"Oh, East is East, and West is West and never the twain shall meet,
Till earth and sky stand presently at God's great judgment seat;
But there is neither East nor West,
Border nor breed nor birth,
When two strong men stand face to face, tho' they come from the end of the earth."
—Rudyard Kipling.

Dear Friends:

Did you ever think you had two personalities within you, like East and West? Did you ever feel them pulling against each other like two strong men, each trying to make East join West, and it cannot be done, for "never the twain shall meet."

Sometimes, too, you see a sign saying "Under New Management" in the window of a store. Maybe you feel like putting up such a sign. Try it. Stand back and look at yourself, your successes and failures, and see which is biggest, then take stock of your merchandise.

It may be that you have also been trying to make East meet West. Maybe you have stocked up on the wrong things, maybe you did not take enough stock in this life of yours. Try the sign of "Under New Management." You feel bankruptcy staring you in the face, you feel like throwing the whole thing up and saying, "What's the use?" But wait a minute. We all know of men who gave up a business because they could not make it pay, but when another took it over, it flourished like a green bay tree.

Try putting yourself under new management by using the other side of your nature. Try looking for success instead of failure. You cannot lose much, and you may gain lots more than you can imagine.

Maybe you have stocked up too much on fear. It won't sell, no one wants it because they have enough of their own, so when you can't even give it away, take it down to the furnace of your new resolves, and burn it up. It's bad to have around, slows you up with thoughts like "What if I have bitten off more than I can chew, what will I do if I cannot make good, what will happen to the family if I shall fail?"

It's like slow dynamite, you never know when it will go off. You have to have something on your shelves, so replace fear with hope, and belief in yourself, and what you can do. Stock up on courage, and decency, and fairplay, giving yourself some of this fairplay also.

Let your face be your shop-window, displaying faith, and determination and honesty of purpose. Serve your customers, who are all you come in contact with, with smiles and pleasant words. Give bargains in work sometimes, but not all the time, for you must have a decent profit as income before you can stay in business.

Be courteous, but not servile. Be friendly, but not obnoxiously so, pushing yourself where you don't belong. Show your confidence in yourself for how can anyone feel you are worth-while if you do not think so yourself.

Every time anyone has told me I could never do a thing, I have used it as a spur and tried it, and many's the surprise I got when I did what they said was impossible. Never forget that there is nothing impossible, when you use faith and hope and prayer.

And when you are going to put out this sign, "Under New Management" be sure the outside has a new front also by dressing as well as you can. If you cannot afford new clothes, you can always freshen up the old ones. If you cannot afford expensive beauty treatments, you can give yourself some at home.

Don't let yourself get so dependent on other people. Use some of your own power, you have lots of it although you did not think so. The best thing about it is, the more you use this power, the stronger it grows, you'll never wear it out. And now, I send you a basket of flowers to show my interest of your venture, for I am sure you will succeed, and the flowers are prayers, and interest, and good-wishes. Let me know your profits from being Under New Management.

Your friend,
ROBERTA.

C.C.F. RALLY IS HELD BY CANDIDATE LAKEFIELD HALL

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 28. — "This is the grandest moment of my life," Dr. Lorna Cotton-Thomas told a small gathering of Lakefield citizens on Monday evening when she spoke in the Memorial Hall here in the interests of the C.C.F.-Farmer-Labor candidate for Peterborough Riding, William Johnston of Peterborough.

"For two years I have urged Bill Johnston to run as candidate," Dr. Cotton-Thomas continued. "When I mentioned it, he replied, 'but Lorna, I am no speaker.' 'No, Bill,' I answered, 'you are a thinker.'"

Continuing, the speaker gave a quotation from Gladstone's diary to the effect that Gladstone had noted during his life that it was not the professors and learned men who gave most to their country, but that the greatest things in the statutes were written by "common men, but men of uncommon sense."

"It is a grand moment for me to be able to appeal to you on behalf of our candidate, Mr. Johnston, of whom we may truly say, 'he is a common man, but of uncommon sense.'

"Read about the conditions which prevail in our province—of hundreds of tons of vegetables rotting at Holland Landing; the owners would be glad to sell them at $10.00 a ton, but they can't get a market for them at any price. And yet there are people all over the province in need of food—on every hand plenty, and on every hand stravation and suffering and want.

Two Kinds of People.

"There are two kinds of people—first, those who refuse to think; They say, 'but what can be done about it?' They are nothing more than animated vegetables, and it is only an accident that they didn't turn out to be cabbages. These people are usually either Liberals or Conservatives.

"The other people think. They say: 'Why am I here? What is my purpose in life?' Those people," Dr. Cotton-Thomas went on, "carry the light of divinity in their eyes. There are the gods of our our existence.

"Our present economic system came into being with the discovery of steam," she continued. "This discovery of steam wrought a tremendous revolution. Previously the working man sold the product of his hands in his own shop. After the invention of steam, the working man had to discard his own hand-made tools and sell himself in the labor market to the owners of large steam operated factories. In the early days the system (i.e., our present economic system in its early form) worked, for the reason that the goods could be disposed of. But as soon as a number of countries got manufacturing, a surplus began to accumulate. There was not market for the extra produce of the factories, and the surplus increased until the factories decided they would close down. This is the present capitalist system. A surplus accumulates and employees must be thrown out of work until the surplus is used up, which means, of course, that there is a depression.

The War—And After.

"In 1914 there was the Great War. People believed they were fighting for freedom and honor; instead they were struggling for markets for their surpluses. Not long ago Italy seized Ethiopia. Why? To get an outlet for her surplus.

"The only way the capitalist system can work is when there is a market for the produce it cannot distribute to its own people.

"Bennett said: 'We will blast our way into the markets of the world.' He was trying to make the capitalist system work. King's slogan in the last election was: 'Out the strands that struggle Canada's trade.' He too was looking for markets for Canada.

"The increase in export trade is due to the war scare. Mr. King can take no credit for that. Most of the increase is in nickel, and Canadians should be ashamed of this trade when they realize that in the last war many Canadian boys were shot down with munitions made from our own nickel. Because the increase in exports from Canada is due alone to the war scare, God help us when it breaks."

Solving The Problem

Continuing, Dr. Cotton-Thomas suggested three ways in which the problem of surpluses might be overcome. First, someone might find a way to Mass, find it not industrialized and densely populated so that we could dispose of our surplus there. Or secondly, if war comes, enough of the surplus will be used to keep us going for a while.

"Another way, is for the farmers lengthy discussion of Hydro and an assertion that Premier Hepburn "had sold out our integrity" to be able to tell the man on the back concession lines he had reduced Hydro rates by cancelling the Quebec contracts.

"After October 6 we're going to wipe out the service charge and give you power at cost and we'll give you municipalities that own Hydro representation on the commission."

No More Repudiation.

The cancelled contracts would not be restored, he said, but never again would "the black emblem of repudiation" be hoisted in the Province. When Attorney-General Roebuck urged cancellation of the contracts in a long address in the Legislature, "millionaire friends of the government were selling short on the New York market," Mr. Rowe said.

At Pembroke Mr. Rowe warned against what he called a "back door campaign" regarding the school question. He characterized as "ridiculous" assertions he said were being made that if elected he would close separate schools.

Premier Hepburn's method of travelling was also touched upon in the Pembroke address. Mr. Rowe said it was "common knowledge in the north that the Premier "not only travelled in a private car he condemned others for using for business purposes, but he is using it for political purposes and scraped the name 'Whitney' off and put the number '219' on."

The railroad car Whitney was mentioned frequently during the present government's investigation of administration of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway.

Resolution Seditious.

D. M. Dugan, Conservative Leader, raised the point of order after he and Gerald OConnor (Lib., Edmonton) claimed the resolution was seditious. Mr. Dugan contended the resolution's reference to the Governor-General having "presumed" to disallow the Acts was a reflection on the Governor-General. Expressing determination to implement disallowed legislation was seditious, he contended.

Speaking to the point of order, Hon. Lucien Maynard, Minister of Municipal Affairs and sponsor of the resolution under debate, said there was nothing disrespectful in the resolution and that because the Federal Government did not have authority to disallow provincial legislation then no question could be raised about implementing the legislation which he claimed was still law.

When the resolution itself was being considered, Mr. Maynard opened the debate and was still speaking when adjournment was taken until to-day. The right of disallowance was extinct and, if by recognized convention the head of the Imperial Government could not disallow legislation, then neither could his representative in Canada. The powers of the agent were never greater than the powers of the master, Mr. Maynard contended.

Grand Jury Is Discharged Half Hour After Assizes Open

Mr. Justice Kingstone Comments Favorably On Lack Of Serious Crime

Half an hour after the autumn assizes of the Supreme Court opened at the court house here on Monday afternoon, the Grand Jury under the foremanship of David Miller, Dummer Township, was discharged from service by Mr. Justice Kingstone, the presiding judge, there being no criminal indictments for presentment.

At the request of Crown Attorney W. J. McElderry, K.C., the indictment charging Harvey Murphy, president of the Ontario Federation of Unemployed with spreading false information was not presented and will be brought before the Spring assizes of Supreme Court.

The accused who is alleged in the charge to have falsely declared Ivena Reid suffered skin disorder from contact with tear gas released by police at the Bonner-Worth plant of Dominion Woollens on August 10 last, during the textile strike, was given renewed bail in the sum of $1,000. His bondsman was Frederick Dainton.

The charge against Murphy has been applied rarely in the history of British justice.

In asking His Lordship to grant a remand, the Crown prosecutor said he did so at request of J. L. Cohen, defence counsel, and he intimated the Crown was consenting to that course being taken.

Re-trial of George Selmes on a serious charge which had also been scheduled for presentment, was likewise remanded on application of the Crown on the grounds that a material witness was in hospital having recently undergone an operation for appendicitis.

Following representations made by W. J. A. Fair, defence counsel, the accused, granted a re-trial on appeal from an earlier conviction, was brought before His Lordship in custody of a gaoler. He was released on bail in his own recognizances of $500 to appear for trial at the December sittings of the General Sessions of the Peace.

Addresses Grand Jury

In his address to the Grand Jury, Mr. Justice Kingstone who presided in the absence through illness of Mr. Justice Hogg, who had been originally assigned here declared, "It is a matter of congratulation to you gentlemen and to the county that there are no serious crimes to come for hearing, in these troublous and difficult times through which Canada and the rest of the world is passing."

His Lordship was particularly glad, he said, to see no motor manslaughter cases. He had noticed the absence of such cases at Windsor where he was presiding two weeks and he hoped it was indication that motorists were becoming more careful and considerate in driving their motor cars on the public highways. He hoped that such a satisfactory state of affairs would continue.

Commenting on recent amendments to the Highway Traffic Act by which penalties for motoring offences have been stiffened, His Lordship observed, "If only people would be more careful and think of others there would be less accidents on our highways."

A Question of Patience

He noted that in some other countries motor drivers have learned to show a greater degree of care and consideration for other users of the highways with a resultant decrease in the death rate from highway fatalities, and he urged, "It is just a question of having a little patience and allowing other people their rights on the highways."

"After all," he argued, "a motor vehicle is a dangerous thing, but we are oftentimes unmindful of just how dangerous a thing it really is."

Reminding the members of the Grand Jury that another duty they were called on to perform was the inspection of public buildings, His Lordship said he had been informed by the Sheriff that the gaol and court house were inspected by the Grand Jury at the June sessions. That being so, he suggested "It is not necessary or advisable for you gentlemen to repeat the inspection."

An Important Duty

Because he was advising the Grand Jury not to repeat the inspection, His Lordship stressed, did not mean that he suggested such a duty should not be regularly performed and exercised. It was right and proper, he said, that the members of the Grand Jury as representatives of the county should satisfy themselves and the people of the community that unfortunate people in gaol were properly looked after and that public property was in safe and proper state of repair.

Telling the jurors they were discharged from further service at the sittings, the judge stated, "I think I can safely say to you, there are no public duties you are called on to perform or exercise at this assizes."

Those sworn in for Jury service service were: David Miller, Dummer, foreman; Percy Allen, Asphodel; Alfred Bolton, Burleigh; John Brooks, Asphodel; Charles Brown, Douro; Milton Ingram, Harvey; Howard Kennedy, Belmont; Edward P. Monk, Monaghan; Benj. Nichols Lakefield; William Platt, Havelock; David Rose, Dummer; Gordon B. Scriver, Lakefield; Michael Whibbs, Douro.

PAVING CONTRACT NEAR COMPLETION

The Law Construction Company is on the last leg of their seven mile paving contract on No. 7 highway and will finish pouring cement late Wednesday afternoon. The mixer crossed the C.N.R. at Downer's Corners today, and the grading of the last section of the south strip of the road is also nearly completed between the Locks bridge and J. J. Howden's residence.

East bound traffic is using the old Norwood Road from the Lift Lock to the sixth line of Otonabee, and cars from Keene are permitted to cross the pavement and enter the city by way of a side road west of the Mark Burnham property.

The north half of the road was paved first, and then the company's plant was taken back to the east end of the job and began laying concrete on the south half. The company has won a race with cold weather, and should have the entire seven miles open to traffic as soon as the cement sets and hardens.

Asks Cadi For Remand In Order To Clean Up House For Polling Booth

What threatened to throw a little monkey wrench into the election machinery was smoothed over this morning when a local man appeared in police court, charged with being drunk in a public place.

"I wasn't in a public place," he told Magistrate Langley "and anyway I want to get a remand until a week from Thursday. They're voting in my place election day and I want to get things cleaned up for that."

"I can only give you a week unless by consent," the court pointed out.

Inspector James Reid was quite willing so the case goes over until October 7 and the election can go ahead without any interference.

"Do you think you will be in shape the morning after the election?" asked the magistrate.

"I think so," replied the accused, with a laugh.

CORN ACTION IS BEING HEARD AT AUTUMN ASSIZES

Sequel to a spectacular automobile crash on Watering Trough Hill which took two lives in August of last year, an action by Herschel H. Corn 43-year-old Erie, Pennsylvania salesman against James C. Campbell of South Monaghan, for $10,000 damages was in course of trial before a jury at the autumn assizes of Supreme Court here today. Mr. Justice Kingstone is presiding judge.

The plaintiff Corn is contending the defendant was responsible for the accident by leaving the Department of Highways truck which was in his care, parked on a travelled portion of Highway 28. Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., is acting for plaintiff and T. N. Phelan, K.C., of Toronto for the defendant.

Hearing of the case opened on Monday afternoon with the plaintiff Corn being the first witness called. The following jury was empanelled to try the action: Roy Humphries, Donald Hope, Percy Killingbeck, Garfield Dunford, Douglas Hutchinson, George Leeming, David Bongard, Robert Hickson, Howard Wood, Frederick J. Merritt, William Milne, Joseph Moore.

Plaintiff's case was about completed when the court adjourned for the noon recess, and it was expected the major part of the afternoon would be taken up with the defence and the arguments of counsel and His Lordship's address to the jury.

At the request of Mr. Gordon, the judge directed the jurors to view the scene of the accident before luncheon and directed the Sheriff to hire cars for the purpose.

Evidence at the hearing was in the main a repetition of that taken at the coroner's inquest into the double fatality and at the hearing of the charge of manslaughter on which the driver of the car was acquitted.

DINNER DANCE IS HELD BY LIONS

A glimpse of the size to which Lions' International has grown was afforded members of the Peterborough Lions' Club and guests by R. Reid Murdock of Toronto, Lions' International director, in an address to a dinner dance gathering at the Hotel Champlain Monday night.

Established now in eight different countries of the world, including China, Lions' now has a total of 91,000 members, he said. He pointed out that 2,760 clubs are now chartered. Speaking of attendance records which have been established, he said 26 clubs have had perfect 100 per cent attendance records for fifteen consecutive years past.

Introduced by J. J. Brown, of Bowmanville, deputy district governor of Lions' for zone 20, Mr. Murdock told of the great Lions' convention in the United States this year.

Greetings from the St. Petersburg Lions' Club were brought to the gathering by Burwell Neal of St. Petersburg, past president of the St. Petersburg club and manager of the St. Petersburg Chamber of Commerce. He said he had been profoundly impressed by the Canadian scenery he had witnessed during his visit to Ontario.

A feature of the evening's program which was concluded with a dance was a demonstration by the Peterborough Boys' Band, sponsored by the Lions' Club this year, of the progress the organization has already made. Eighteen little lads appeared in the band. Under the direction of William Stuart, who has been training the band, they played several simple orchestrations to win hearty commendation from their audience.

Little Lenore Gordon, amateur tap dancer, entertained with two numbers. Leonard Phillips and Bus Hutchison were well received in a song and dialogue act. A vocal solo was provided by Miss Rose Puddick and Wilg. Galvin did several unusual imitations.

When interviewed by The Examiner Miss O'Connell said that while the plane looking very small when passing over Peterborough it in reality was quite a large flying boat. There is room for 16 passengers but at present the accommodation has not been placed in the boat for passenger service.

Woman Hit By Car On Her Way Home Finds House Afire On Arrival

Bancroft, Sept. 28. WHEN Mrs. William Bowers was returning to her home in the north end of the village Saturday evening she was struck by an automobile driven by Charles Rutledge. She was rushed to the office of Dr. S. S. The house apparently took fire about 8 o'clock. A volunteer fire brigade reached the scene a few minutes after the alarm was sounded and soon extinguished the blaze.

Two hours later the fire broke out again, but was soon brought under control by the fire fighters. Considerable damage was done to the house by the fire and water.

ARTHUR METHERAL IS RECOMMENDED BY COMMITTEE

Transfer of Arthur G. Metheral from the relief department to the health department as sanitary and plumbing inspector was recommended by the property committee of the council Monday night.

Although Mr. Metheral had not applied for the position of sanitary inspector, it was recalled by Alderman Dutton at the meeting of the committee last week that when he was appointed plumbing inspector in 1925 he was also given authority to act as sanitary inspector.

Alderman Dutton's motion last night, seconded by Alderman Wilson, proposed that Mr. Metheral give full time to the dual office of sanitary-plumbing inspector, beginning October 11, and at his present salary of $1,942.50. It was stated that a new bylaw would probably not be needed to make this appointment, because the bylaw of 1925 invested Mr. Metheral with all the authority of the sanitary inspectorship.

Twenty-three men had applied for the position from which Mr. Stapleton had resigned, and the committee had reduced their number to three, who, with Mr. Metheral, were considered for final selection last night.

CAREW COMPANY FINISHES MILLING

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Sept. 28. — The Carew Lumber Company, which has limits in Harvey Township, finished its milling operations on the week-end. One million and a half feet of lumber was cut under contract at Buckhorn. The firm was unable to get out all its logs during the winter. Had weather conditions been favorable the cut would have been much higher.

It was announced on Monday that the Board of Health might take action in connection with the dust menace in the southern part of the town where the Warren Construction Company has its plant located. Residents in that locality claim that in addition to ruining gardens, house furnishings, etc., is also a menace to health.

The announcement that the Department of Highways would pave the Lindsay-Newcastle Highway in its program for 1938 was received with pleasure by local business men. This highway is paved for a distance of about three miles south from Lindsay, and its completion would afford a fine outlet to the front.

The Rambling REPORTERS

TORPEDOES ON IGNITION OF CARS

It's all in fun, but not so much for the victims. Some villain is at large in the city attaching practical jokers' torpedoes to the ignitions of parked automobiles.

Totally unsuspecting, one of the victims stepped into his car on Hunter street yesterday. As he stepped on the starter button he jumped almost out of his seat at the sound of a loud explosion, followed by a whine, from under his hood. He leaped clear of the car and headed for safety across the road. When he turned to look back, another explosion took place and smoke poured out, so he retreated to an even safer distance.

Employment is satisfactory and the private life should have happy reactions.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of decided stabilization of their fortunes, with sound growth in investments, increase in values, fortunate strokes in speculation, and a general advancement in old matters as well as fresh undertakings.

A child born on this day may be studious, dependable, industrious and have practical ideas and sound judgment, attracting the co-operation and rewards of those in position and power. Its private life will be gracious and happy.

DECREE NISI IS GRANTED J. ALLIN

John Edwin Allin was granted a decree nisi in his aplication for divorce from his wife, the former Gwendolyne Nicholls of this city, following hearing of an undefended action before Mr. Justice Kingstone at the autumn assizes of Supreme Court here on Monday afternoon. Plaintiff was legally represented by J. E. Anderson of Lindsay.

In evidence Allin said he was married to the defendant by a local minister on November 2, 1931 and immediately afterwards moved with his bride to Woodville where he managed a drug store. At the end of eighteen months his wife left him, Allin testified.

Another letter he received from his wife, dated August 4, 1936, plaintiff said was completely typewritten. In the letter his wife said she had gone through divorce proceedings in the United States.

Melvin A. Campbell of Woodville was named as co-respondent to the action, by Allin.

Sheriff John Mackay of the District of Cochrane testified he had served papers on M. A. Campbell and Gwendolyne Nicholls in connection with the suit. They were living in a 10 by 18 foot shack on some mining property when he served them with the papers, he said.

Witness said on that occasion the co-respondent Campbell told him "Mrs. Campbell (Gwendolyne Allin) had sued for divorce from her husband in Philadelphia and that he had afterwards married her there."

Later witness related in evidence he met the couple at Matheson and served them with papers of notice of trial for the present sittings here.

Fernando Gauthier of Matheson who described himself as a druggist and hotel proprietor, said he knew Campbell as caretaker at Premier Mines. He recognized photographs of Mrs. Gwendolyne Allin as being likenesses of a woman with whom Campbell had stayed overnight at the hotel on occasions.

GIRL, 19, VICTIM OF PARALYSIS

A new case of infantile paralysis was reported by G. Murray Fraser today with the complete recovery of Peterborough's four other cases in the epidemic that has spread far over the country.

A girl of nineteen years who has been maid with a Toronto family at Chemong Park all summer was taken ill Thursday night last in a house they are now occupying in the city. The symptoms were suspected to be poliomyolitis, and the diagnosis was confirmed Monday.

On account of the fact that the family had only a small apartment, the girl was removed to the Queen Mary Isolation Hospital, and the family has been quarantined for ten days.

"I understand the family came from Toronto and spent the summer at Chemong," Dr. Fraser said. "The head of the house has got a job in Peterborough and is going to stay here. That is why they decided to move in here from the park. The case is a very mild one, and the other four patients have recovered and their quarantine lifted. Peterborough has been fortunate since the epidemic broke out."

Tourists Caught Without Licenses.

Kenneth Green of Chicago and Carlos Green of Buffalo, N.Y., introduced a little variety into a holiday at Stoney Lake recently by taking a shot with a rifle at a wild duck. They didn't get the duck—but Fish and Game Overseer Lyons got them. He happened along just in time to hear the shooting and when he found the pair had overlooked the formality of taking out a license charges were laid. Today, pleading guilty through P.C. Gordon Puffer, the two were fined by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., the sum of $10 and $3 costs each for hunting without a license.

MISSION CIRCLES OF UNITED CHURCH HOLD FALL RALLY

One of the most enthusiastic and largely attended fall rallies of the Mission Circles of Peterborough Presbyterial of the Woman's Missionary Society, was held last night at St. James United Church.

With Mrs. E. Mealey, Branch Mission Circle secretary presiding the rally opened with a banquet at 6.15 when about 125 girls sat down at tables suitably decorated with the Circle colors, white, yellow and green.

Rev. Mr. Craik, pastor of the church offered grace and the delicious viands provided by the six Circles represented were enjoyed. After a few words of welcome from the leader, Mrs. Mealey, greetings from the Bay of Quinte Conference Branch were expressed by their first vice president, Mrs. A. I. Brown, who commended to them the old familiar slogan "Look Up, Lift Up."

In bringing greetings to the rally from Peterborough Presbyterial, Mrs. C. M. Scott, the president based her brief inspirational message upon the words of the hymn written by Howard Walter and entitled "My Creed". She urged especially that the girls cultivate a spirit of understanding which would lead to a world friendship. In closing Mrs. Scott paid tribute to the fine leadership given to the circles by Mrs. Mealey.

An interesting feature of the rally was the roll call and efficiency banner contest. In response, George street, St. Andrew's, Trinity, the Frances Watt of Knox, the K.L. St. James, Lakefield and Hastings Circles reported their attendance present and gave a two minute talk on an interesting feature of their work. The banner was won from Trinity by the George Street Circle and presented to their president by Mrs Mealey.

Poster Contest Winners.

A new venture this year was a poster contest with the awards going to St. James and Trinity Circles for their fine efforts. Miss Evelyn Follett the enthusiastic Circle Secretary of the Dominion Board was guest speaker bringing a fresh impetus to the already fine work being done by the circles of this Presbyterial. In introducing the new study book for the year "A new church faces a new world" She pointed out that it followed in sequence last year's study, but leaned more to the work at home. Dr. Jesse Arnup, the distinguished author, wrote the book from the wealth of his own experiences, expressly for a joint committee from the W.M.S., Y.P. societies and the M. and M. department. Thus it is essentially a text book for the whole church and is full of information of work being accomplished right now.

As an indispensable aid, Miss Follett recommended "How to Use" an explanatory book to be used in conjunction with the study book. Games and charts outlined in this help will be especially interesting to Circle girls. As a supplementary text, "Landing Fields" by Isabel Griffiths was suggested.

A lively discussion period was led by Miss Follett when various problems relative to Circle work were untangled. A delightful vocal duet "Jesus Took My Burden" was sung by members of Lakefield Circle, Misses Cora Charlton and Nora Lymburner, with Mrs. (Rev.) Kelly accompanying at the piano.

A hymn of dedication and prayer by Miss Follett, closed this very successful rally.

Effective Blocking Vital To Grid Offensive, Explains Hayman

Efffective blocking is the foundation of any offence. Whether the play be a pass kick, buck or run, it cannot succeed unless the blockers carry out their assignments.

Different situations call for different blocks but, regardless of the type used, the elementary rule of all blocking is to keep ones body between the opponent and the play.

There are many variations of blocking but they mostly originate from three simple fundamental blocks:

1. Shoulder block.
2. Body block.
3. Leg block.

The Shoulder Block

The feet are spread so as to have balance and drive. The hips are low and the elbows are extended to give life. The head and eyes must be up to keep the target in full view.

The shoulder block is used to open a hole in the defensive line for a plunge or buck. Usually you have two defensive men working on one defensive man. Both can charge the man, using the same block, shoulder to shoulder, or one may hit him high and the other low, the low man acting as a pivot, the high man doing most of the charging and turning.

However, there are times when the blocker must work alone. His charge must be fast and low, forward and then upward as he makes contact with the shoulder and side of the neck. The blocker must have his feet spread and keep driving, otherwise the strength of the contact will be broken. Don't lunge at an opponent; take a short step or two before making contact and continue the charge with short, choppy, driving steps. Always have your legs well under your body.

The Pivot Block

The pivot block is used against a moving player to prevent him from taking a particular course, and is used generally by backs in protecting the kicker and passer.

The physical contact is the same as the shoulder block but instead of making the charge he deflects the charge of the opponent away from a given spot. For example, where the kicker is kicking or the passer passing. The blocker must keep his feet, keep contact with his opponent, and stay between him and the play.

The Cross Body Block

The body is thrown across the thigh with most of the power originating from the hips. The blocker's hands and feet are well spread so as to maintain a bridge. In making the block, aim high at the opponent's stomach so that when contact is made the blocker's hips will hit the opponent's thighs.

The cross body block is the most effective block when a single man must block one who has freedom of action. In executing the block, the blocker runs close to the opponent, then throws his body against the opponent's thighs, extending his arms and legs. If the impact does not bowl the opponent over, the blocker drops his arms and legs, keeps contact, and adopts a high bridge. In starting the block don't leave your feet too soon, don't dive, just think of yourself as running right through him.

Leg Block

When a lineman or back attempts a shoulder block and misses, he may employ as a secondary reaction a leg knee block. As the blocker's shoulder slips off and the opponent starts to go by, the knee nearer the opponent is drawn up quickly and jammed inside his nearer leg, at the same time pivoting the body, putting pressure on his knee, forcing him to the ground.

Don't Forget

1. The object of all blocking is to keep the opponent away from the path of the ball and ball carrier.
2. A successful offence depends on its blocking.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP). — Signs of a jittery world series: Joe McCarthy didn't go to Washington with the Yanks but stayed here personally to scout the Giants... Marcel Thil and his easy-to-look-at Georgette sail for France Friday... Tiredest guy around is the photo finish chap at Rockingham Park... Only eight days of the 24-day meeting have gone into history, but more than half the races run so far have been decided by the silent films.

Lefty Gomez, first hurler in the majors to win 20 games this year, will open the world series for the Yanks... Current prices for the Minnesota-Notre Dame game are 10 bucks a pair, and the chances are the ante will hit $25 by October 30 ...Looks like the payoff year for scalpers who have been trying to capitalize on Minnesota's "hot team."

Bill Terry is laid up with something resembling influenza... We predict the Yanks will flail the stuffing out of Carl Hubbell in the world series... But Cliff Melton is apt to stop the Yanks the first time he faces 'em... Max and Buddy Baer are chopping wood in California to get in shape.

Ted Kleinhans of the Reds won a second chance under the big top because he developed a screwball... The New York football giants say Sammy Baugh is the hottest thing they've seen yet... But what about Riley Smith?... All Riley did vs. the Giants was run 65 yards for a touchdown, wick two field goals and an extra point for all Washington's points... Nice going, Riley... OFFICERS ELECTED WIRE-CABLE CLUB

At a picnic held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club on Saturday, 130 members of the newly-formed Wire and Cable Club of the C.G.E. elected Eddie Williams as their president for the coming year. Other officers were: Hon. President C. B. Muir; vice-president C. Butcher; secretary, Helen Roach; executive, Zita Thomas and Philomene Feeley. These officers will control this club which consists of employees of the wire, cable and cord-set departments at the C.G.E. for one year.

The initial gathering of the club proved to be a successful picnic when a group picture was taken and a number of interesting and amusing events were run off. Winners were: Men's 100-yard dash—A. Porter, A. Conlin, F. Bowen; mixed needle and thread race—J. Mitchell and R. Dunkerley, R. Akers and A. Devlin; girls' shoe race—O. Condon, N. Pearson, H. Thomas; men's three-legged race—A. Heal and R. Harding, H. Bannon and A. Porter; girls' nail-driving contests in teams—1st, A. Devlin, R. Coughlin, C. Blair and P. Harding; 2nd, H. Roach, R. Dunkerley, G. Feeley and A. Girard.

In the girls' egg race, winners were—E. Doig, V. Millen, A. Girard; mixed necktie run—H. Thomas and C. Leary, H. Roach and H. Porter; some keen competition marked the horseshoe pitching, winners being: men's, J. E. Girven and E. Williams, O'Neil and Mason; girls, N. Pearson and Z. Thomas, L. Castleman and F. Corey. The tug-of-war was interesting and saw four strong teams in. Top Floor, captained by P. Kitchen, won out. A softball game between Bachelors and Benedicts ended in a 5-1 win for the Freemen, Butcher's pitching being too much for the losers while his team bingled Ev. Thomas hard at times.

Later a banquet was enjoyed at the clubhouse with J. E. Thomas as chairman. Short speeches were made by J. E. Girven, C. S. Leary and E. Williams. The election of officers was handled by J. E. Girven with C. S. Leary, H. Northrop and J. Barry the scrutineers. Prizes were donated by members of the company. Other prizes were: Oldest man present—H. Panter, approaching 70; girls' draw prizes—A. Girard and G. Feeley; lucky chair prizes—K. Mitchell and G. Conlin; men's draw—M. Scott, A. Cunningham, R. C. Sanderson, A. Haslett, H. Murphy and J. Barry. At the conclusion, J. E. Girven thanked members for their co-operation and asked for their continued help in this club, its purpose being both social and athletic.

HOTEL CHEF'S SON STARTLES GRIDDERS

PITTSBURG, Sept. 28 (AP).—Add the name of Richard (Bandy) Cassiano to your list of sophomore football heroes and then take a look at this boy who scored four touchdowns his first time out for Pitt.

The 20-year-old curly haired son of an Albany, N.Y., hotel chef set a lot of tongues wagging by galloping 66, 48, 46 and 36 wards for touchdowns in the rout of Ohio Wesleyan Saturday. He also threw a 26-yard touchdown pass during the 20-odd minutes he was in the melee.

But multiple touchdowns are no novelty for Cassiano. As an Albany High School senior, he moved from end to halfback and scored six in one game, four in another and personally accounted for 129 points that season.

DOWN AT the C.G.E. plant—a company where athletics are encouraged—a new club has been formed. It is the Wire and Cable Club, consisting of some 130 members of the wire and cable and cord-set departments, and is the brain child of J. E. Girven, J. E. Thomas, E. Williams and J. R. Newson. It controls social and athletic activities of these fellows and gals—and a successful field day and picnic was held last Saturday at Kawartha Golf and Country Club. Races, contests and amusements. Officers elected for the coming year include: Hon. Prexy, C. B. Muir; president, E. Williams; vice-president, C. Butcher; secretary, Helen Roach; and Zita Thomas and Philomene Feeley on the executive. It sounds like a good gang and a lot of fun.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL playoffs go on and awn and obn. At present, Sudbury and Toronto are doing battle, with the winner slated to tangle in P.W.S.U. finals with Schreibers, the squad that played Keene an exhibition scrap here last month. That lasses outfit toured this part of the Province once and deponent is wondering if the gals ever got home or if they are still—like the Phantom Dutchman—trying to get around the circuit. A good thing our Westclox damsels are not still in the hunt, eh?

Remember that the fans pay the freight in football; 4. Thou must not be sucked in on a fake play; 5. Smear them with neither mercy nor malice, or thou wilt be smeared; 6. Thou shalt open up play, forgetting straight rugby, when down in the fourth quarter; 7. Give all thou hast every minute of the game or stay out of it; 8. Thou shalt not mutter "Thou fool!" to a teammate lest thou be one on the next play; 9. Thou shalt not memorize the rules, thereby causing confusion among the officials; 10, Thou must never quit trying whether winning or losing.

IN O.R.F.U. group games up this way this season, neutral officials—that is, the referee and the umpire—are brought in from Toronto. The home club supplies the head linesman but he has little to say unless requested by the referee. Bob Armstrong and Ab Chilcott were used in the Orfuns-Cobourg contest last Saturday. They were okay, too. This may be a bit more expensive but is a great deal more satisfactory than the old system of home-and-home officials, which caused some bitter arguments in the past.

ACCORDING TO the key-tapper of the Lindsay Post, the Scugog squad were outweighed Saturday by Toronto Eastsides seven to 10 pounds per man. The visitors tried a flock of forwards and frequently booted on the first down, sort of looking for the breaks. Whereas the Lindsayites played straight orthodox football. Both sides were a bit rusty in this opening number but both showed a lot of potential power. Not once all afternoon did the Torontos gain more than two yards through the stubborn Scugog line, which would indicate that the Blue Bombers are about as tough as last semester when they copped group honors. However, the writer there admits that Eastsides are no setups in any man's league. Let the Orfuns take heed as the Toronto team plays here on Saturday.

REPORTS FROM Trenton—yeah, we're skating around on thin ice now—are to the effect that unless there is artificial ice in Belleville this winter, the Fliers will play home games either in Oshawa or Kingston. The Quinte scribe doesn't believe this, saying neither town would support the Airmen as Belleville did last season, and the jump is much shorter. He adds that the Fliers actually made money during their schedule with the Petes and Redmen last winter—and we don't doubt it. They drew nice crowds for all home games, especially when Peterborough played 'em in Belleville. And they shovelled in the shekels in playoffs.

* * * * * *

SAYS THE scrivener there: "We understand the R.C.A.F. will again enter the Kingston pre-season league for training purposes. With the exception of Frank Lowrey and Roy Laing, the Fliers are intact, though rumors have Stan Partridge retiring. There are a couple of new players at the Airport now, but if the Fliers are tossed in against Oshawa, Queen's and Peterborough ,they will need more than two additional players. We know the Petes have imported three high-class pucksters while Oshawa made a creditable showing in senior ranks last winter. The Fliers' management intimated recently they would like to locate in the eastern section—that is with Gananoque, Kingston and Queen's, if possible. After winning the intermediate 'A' championship last winter, however, the O.H.A. may step in and order them into the strong group along with Oshawa and Peterborough." And will the Redmen stick to the village class still?

BIG MEETING of the City 5-Pin Bowling League will be held at 7.30 tonight at Duffus' Bowling Alleys, Chief Gimblett informs us. All teams must have their entries in at this time, as definite plans for the opening will be made and the usual re-organization business cleaned up. This loop had a big season last year and looks for a busy winter. It won't be long till the air is filled with flying pins, the roar of balls bouncing down the alleys and the cobwebby alley alibis of gees who picked the head pin or curved the apple into the gutter. Yeah, bowling commences in October and goes till well out in the Spring, tra la.

SOUTHEND ELEVEN DEFEATS CENTRAL THREE GOALS TO 0

Central's lack of soccer practice before their initial appearance in the Public School Soccer League against King Edward, yesterday (Monday) afternoon, resulted in the south-enders winning three to nil. The losers lacked combination play and trusted too much to individualism; while Langton, King Edward centre distributed play like an experienced player. C. Murduff was the outstanding performer, with two goals.

League Standing

	P	W	L	F	A	Pt
King Edward	2	2	0	16	0	4
Queen Mary	2	1	1	1	7	2
Queen Alex	1	1	0	2	1	2
King George	2	0	2	1	3	0
Central	1	0	1	0	3	0

Two points for a win and one for a draw.

Today (Tuesday)—Queen Alex. vs. Queen Mary. Wednesday—King Edward vs. Prince of Wales.

FIRST HALF

Right from the kick-off, Central carried the attack into a solid defence of King Edward—Shea and Dunlday—dominated with clever interception of every raid. Langton trapped the ball from a full-back clearance to send his right winger to the other end. Leether evaded two players on the run up the line to send a lightning drive across the goal-mouth. Jamieson met the ball with a first-timer that brought them a successful flag-kick. McMaster lifted the sphere into the goal where a central player handled to give away a penalty kick. The miniature centre-forward—Langton—was trusted with the spot kick to open the scoring. Thereafter, Central forced the play to be repulsed by the constructive understanding of clearances to the wing men. King Edward 1, Central 0.

SECOND HALF

On resuming, the Central forwards endeavoured to swing the ball to make an opening that never materialized through the effective play by Shea who never hesitated in tackling to come out on top with his clever punting. Play ran from end to end at a fast pace with each custodian holding their goal intact. Time and again, Clark, Moorhead and Lee would dribble their way through the full-backs to find the goals unbeatable. In fact, Clark about tallied when he hit the crossbar. Anderson caught the rebound to send the King Edward left-winger down to shoot the ball in front of goal. Murduff got the better of the tackle to pick the inside of the upright. He connected with another counter a little later when a Central player made a poor clearance. King Edward 3, Central 0.

Central—F. Kiff, goal; E. Moorhead and G. Lee, full backs; J. Parsons, R. Clarke and M. Foster, halves; B. Millen, D. Millen, S. Clarke, G. Burns and L. Batten; subs, Warren Smith.

King Edward—W. Curtis, goal; H. Dalliday and L. Shea, full backs; A. McMaster, T. Foster and K. Anderson; halves, R. Leether, C. Murduff, K. Langton, H. Foster, and D. Jamieson, forwards.

Referee—D. Buchan. Linesmen—A. Downer and W. Curtis.

Ferraro Orders His Indians To Heavy Drill On Mondays

Montreal Club's Coach Disappointed Over Showing Against Beaches

TORONTO, Sept. 28 (CP).—The No. 1 hate of the battered footballer—the Monday workout—will attain new unpopularity this season, in accordance with a recent trend of practice and more practice for stumping teams. Coaches assembled their squads many times last year two days after bruising Saturday battles and already they're trying the Monday cure again.

And that's not all. Originally designed as a sort of spanking for boys who failed to deliver the goods in games, the Monday scrimmage will be administered even to those who behave and come through with sparkling victories.

Swarthy Captain Johnny Ferraro of Montreal's still-disappointing Indians sounded the keynote today with a pronouncement the club would drill every Monday night this fall.

Coach Disappointed.

Ferraro's tribe, which dropped a 10-8 decision to Balmy Beach, Toronto entry to the Ontario Union, on Saturday, went to work last night. So did University of Western Ontario Mustangs, favorites in the Intercollegiate Union, who whipped Royal Military College's Intermediates 19-5 in a weekend exhibition.

Coach Lew Hayman of Toronto's Big Four Argonauts gave his squad a tablespoonful of calisthenics, let his linemen run down under kicks, and sent his halfbacks through a long signal session.

University of Toronto and Ottawa Rough Riders, who had no Saturday contests, had strenuous times on the practice fields last night. Varsity's youngsters passed and punted, panted and puffed and Coach Ross Trimble, just out of hospital after a siege of cold, watched from a heated car as the Riders drilled.

Ferraro came up with another announcement at Montreal, that he had lost Doug Smaill, clever young halfback, to the Westmount entry of the Quebec Union.

CHANGED FOOTBALL

Let us suppose, just for the sake of convenience, that one of the stars of football a generation ago was to rise and take a look in at one of the training camps of a modern Canadian team. It would be impossible to portray the look of incredulity that would cover his face.

For the Canadian game has so changed through the passage of the years, that to an old timer it would hardly be recognizable.

True the fundamentals are still the same, but so many innovations have been put into effect that the game would look like something new to one who had not had the opportunity of watching its evolution.

No, we are not knocking the modern brand, for we believe that what changes have been made, have increased the safety of the game, and made it more interesting from the spectators' point of view.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

IT ALL DEPENDS on what effort the skips put forth, just how big a crowd we will have out tonight (Tuesday). A skip may bring his scheduled rink or one of schedule calibre and play in the tournament. There will be no admission fee, and prizes will be given to the lucky winners... Tomorrow evening (Wednesday), weather permitting, we will run a mixed series from the board; starts 7.30 p.m.

THERE WERE not many out last night, but those who did had a good time. The winners were: Rev. G. Easton and R. F. Downey, W. Cathcart and W. Fletcher, R. Payne and H. McIlmoyle. Each received a basket of fruit.

Bowling honors were divided between Peterborough and Cobourg in the weekend ladies' rink tournament held at Cobourg Lawn Bowling Club, 16 rinks participating. Bowlers came from Port Hope, Cobourg, Belleville and Peterborough, and Mrs. R. Hepburn's rink from Peterborough won the prize for three wins and a total of 44. Winning two of the three 12-end games, and a total of 40 points, Mrs. F. Corbett of Cobourg was in second place. Mrs. Coleman of Peterborough was third with two wins and a score of 41, and Mrs. W. Welbourne of Cobourg was next with one win and 32 points.

Terrymen Add To League Lead Cubs Defeat Cincinnati 7-4

Giants Move Closer By Taking Double Win From Boston Bees

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—Like the man trying to go up on the down escalator, the Cubs are sliding back each time they take a forward step. They thought they'd taken a pretty good one when they whipped the Reds yesterday, 7-4—thought so, that is, until the Giants up and took both halves of their double-header with the Bees. All of which meant that, despite winning, Charley Grimm's grimmer-growing crew had lost another half game.

Today they were trailing by 4½ games with only six left to play to the Giants' nine. If the Giants win four, they're in, no matter what the Cubs do.

The picture is getting prettier by the minute for the Giants, who proved by stopping the Bees, 5-4 and 3-1, that they can win two games on 19 hits with just as much eclat as their likely world series rivals, the Yanks, win one with 20.

A Costly Balk

In yesterday's opener, with the score tied at 4-4 in the last of the eighth, the Giants filled the bases on an error, a single and a walk. At that point the usually reliable Lou Fette, running true to the rule that he can't whip the Polo Grounders, committed a balk—and boom, there went the ball game.

In the night-cap Jim Turner set the Giants down in order for six innings and got one away in the eighth, with the score 1-1. The next batter singled, then Turner, with the second out in his grasp, fumbled Bill Lohrman's bunt. He retired Joe Moore for what would have been the end of the inning, but Dick Bartell broke up his party with a two-run double.

Lohrman, fresh out of the International League, earned himself a handsome set of freshman spurs by hurling a five-hitter — the Giants got four—that ran the club's winning streak to six straight and evened the score for the season at 10 games each. He also provided a rest for the regular pitchers, who have three more double-headers in as many days.

Dodgers Drop 12th.

While the Cubs were handing the Reds their seventh loss in a row, the Dodgers gracefully dropped their 12th to the Phillies, 11-3, in a game remarkable chiefly for Chuck Klein's two homers and Long Tom Winsett's debut as a pitcher. He gave up two of the runs.

The Indians, playing their last home game, bowed to the Tigers, 2-1. Buck Newsom, after beating the Athletics 6-2 with a five-hitter in the first game, tried to come back in the night-cap for the Red Sox, but gave up six walks in less than three innings and the Sox were shut out 6-0.

The Yanks and Senators were rained out, while the other clubs were not scheduled.

MOVIEMAN SCORES WOODBINE VERDICT

TORONTO, Sept. 28 (CP).—Erindale Stable's Movieman, English-bred son of Poor Man-Marthilla Star, broke his maiden when he accounted for the Northumberland Plate, headline event at Woodbine race track yesterday. G. M. Hendrie's Storm Lass was second, and Prince Derek, from the Parkwood Stable, third, in the 1 1-16 mile test for three-year-olds and upward. Movieman toured the route in 1:48 4-5 and was well supported in the Mutuels.

Ride, from the Hamilton Stables of G. M. Hendrie, made a runaway of the six-furlong curtain-raiser, a six-furlong test for two-year-old maidens.

Sterling Young gave one of his good riding exhibitions when he brought E. P. Rickard's Cosmic Prince home on top in the six-furlong second race. Young rated his mount off the pace until the stretch turn, then shot him up alongside the leaders and went under the wire with a one-length advantage over Icanwin. Colored Artist was another two lengths back. Cosmic Prince paid $7.65 for $2, and combined in the daily double with Ridge, returned $40.45.

Headed by Bunty Lawless and Skyros, Clarendon Plate and Coronation Stake winners respectively, 41 juveniles were nominated for the $5,000 Cup and Saucer Handicap at Long Branch race track. The event is over a mile and 70 yards.

Remember When—

Andre Routis, game little French featherweight, stripped Tony Canzoneri of the world's championship nine years ago tonight at New York. Badly battered in the opening rounds, Routis staged a whirlwind comeback to take the decision in 15 rounds. Petey Sarron of Alabama now holds the title.

TERRIERS CRUSH INDIANS 25 TO 6 IN FINAL BATTLE

TORONTO, Sept. 28.— (CP). — Orillia's Terriers, their all-Ontario Senior lacrosse crown tilted at a belligerent angle, pointed for the Eastern Canada title to-day in a best-of-three series with Montreal Canadiens. The Terriers whipped Cornwall Indians, all-star team of Eastern Ontario, 25-6 here last night in the final match for the Ontario honors.

The Terriers lost the first Ontario title game in an 11-10 upset at home. Over-confidence lost them that game, the Terriers said and went down to Cornwall, beat the Indians 17-6, then took the deciding game in a manner that left no doubt as to their superiority.

Vastly Superior.

Holders of the Mann Cup for the last three years, Orillia showed the lacrosse world they were in no mood to be knocked out of the running for a fourth try at the Canadian championship. They outscored the Indians 6-0 the first quarter, 10-3 at half time and 22-4 by the end of the third session.

Only hard work in the Indian nets by Chuck Gamache kept the tally as low as it was. The Terriers scored almost at will and as play dragged in the fourth quarter part of the 4,000 fans at the game started for home confident of the outcome.

But as the play slowed tempers rose and several fights broke out in the last half of the game. Ernie Curran, Orillia, and Cornwall's defence man, Windy Deebank, traded a few blows and soon both teams took part in a Donnybrook. Piper Bain left the penalty box to join the fray and when the referees had regained order, Curran and Deebank were given match penalties.

Yorky Jordan started Orillia's march to glory 35 seconds after the opening face-off. Ernie Curran and Vern Steggal both scored four goals for the Terriers while Curran's brother Bill was good for three more, the same number as Joe Cheevers and Jordan.

Paul Pilon scored four of Cornwall's goals and assisted on a fifth. The fast centre man was in the middle of all the Indians' plays and along with Goalkeeper Gamache, stood out for the Cornwall team.

Bill MacArthur was in Orillia's goal for the first three-quarters, when he was relieved by young Ray Mortimer, Terrier junior, who also minds the nets for the younger outfit, now in a final series with Toronto Marlboros for the Ontario championship.

Minor Ball Series Opens On Wednesday

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 28.—(AP).—It's "farm" team against "farm" team—representatives of the two major baseball chains—in the little world series opening in Newark tomorrow.

Winners of the pennants in the International League and American Association and survivors of extra-curricular playoff series, Newark and Columbus are the foes in the premier minor league classic. An argument for the farm system, their triumphs, as Newark is the No. 1 farm club in the New York Yankee chain, Columbus the top team in the far-flung St. Louis Cardinal domain.

Columbus won its place yesterday by beating Milwaukee, 10-4, to take the final American Association playoff, four games to two.

BORN

LOW.—At Nicholls Hospital, Monday, September 27, to Mr. and Mrs. John Low (nee Jean Crowe), 45 Alfred street, a daughter.

IN MEMORIAM

WINSLOW.— In loving memory of my dear husband, Marvin H. Winslow, who passed away September 28, 1934.

Three years have passed, dear Marvin,
Since the angels came for you.
Yet through the mist of those long year
Your face comes smiling through.
Each lonely hour that I have spent
Is woven through and through.
With golden threads of memory,
Dearest Dad, just for you.

—Sadly missed by his loving Wife and Family.

TO MEN WHO

MARRIED Men, 20 to 50 years of age, who want permanent positions that will justify their efforts and MORE in business, that ensures an increased income. A large company, established and manufacturing in Canada—a new invention—have been doubling sales for the last three years and are establishing sales distribution the length and breadth of Canada. We are interested in several reliable Men in Toronto and vicinity.

THERE is no investment. We have no desire to sell you anything. In fact, we will establish you in your own business, pay the light, rent, stenographer, etc., and pay you a merchant's profit weekly.

WE invite ambitious, sincere Men to investigate this new business. You have nothing to lose but your time. We advise immediate investigation because next week one of your neighbors may have the franchise in that particular territory, when it will be too late. This is an opportunity that is permanent. It is possible to earn from $25 to $50 per week while learning this business.

EXCELLENT references are demanded, and we will discount sales experience in favor of a desire to work hard and learn.

Election, 40 Days Aberhart Hints

CALGARY, Sept. 28—(CP). — If Premier Aberhart of Alberta loses his seat in the Legislature through recall proceedings started against him in his riding of Okotoks-High River "the Government can go on," he said yesterday at the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute.

Mr. Aberhart said he was informed some of the leaders in seeking his recall were not Canadian citizens but oil workers from the United States brought to the Turner Valley field. "If this is the case, it is hardly excusable and should not be tolerated," he said.

Constituencies other than Okotoks-High River might have "ample opportunity to express themselves during the next 40 days," the Premier said. He did not amplify the statement.

CHAPTER 45

MARIBARAT, slight and chic, executive as a field marshal, critical as a stage director, sat at her huge table desk in the centre of a semi-circle of chairs filled by her staff.

Before her, on the deep carpet which muffled the sound of her footsteps, a mannequin glided a few steps, wheeled slowly, presented her back, and repeated the performance. All eyes were on her save Mari's. Mari had picked up a pencil and made a rapid change on a memorandum pad.

"Hair too long," she said without looking up.

Immediately a hairdresser sprang to his feet and approached the mannequin. Deftly he curled the mannequin's hair into a higher roll.

Mari looked up. "Better," she said. "Come here, my dear.... Let me see your hands please."

The mannequin held out her hands, poised them on her curveless hips.

Mari nodded, and said curtly, "She'll do."

A clerk led the newly engaged mannequin off to an outer office. M. Barlac, Mari's manager and major domo of the coming opening, checked several numbers off his list, adding the initials of the new mannequin.

"Too short," Larry whispered.

"Not at all," Mari replied. "She'll be excellent for the tennis numbers. All American girls aren't tall, Larry, and this opening is aimed at Americans."

The blond, the twenty-fourth and last of the mannequins, was engaged.

"That will be all," Mari said. "Monsieur Barlac, I would like to have you dine with me."

"Certainly, Madame."

Mari's staff filed out.

Larry Holk said, "I'd like to put my feet on your desk but I'm too impressed."

"I'm a little bit impressed myself," Mari answered. Her eyes lingered on the details of her new and unfamiliar office. They travelled strangely over the wood paneled walls, the massive furniture that didn't seem massive in the great room, to the high carved ceiling, the long velvet draped windows at her back, to the clean top of her desk.

"Well, how does it feel?"

Mari regarded her assistant with a wry smile. "I don't feel anything, Larry."

"Thirty-one," she corrected.

"Twenty-seven," he said firmly, "and you are one of the 10 most important women in Paris. You're mistress of all this"—he flung out his arm in a gesture to include the magnificence that was the new establishment of Maribarat. It was a magnificence of marble and bronze, of tapestries and satins. It included a great hall and the auditorium where the first World Showing of Mari's collection was to make its debut within three days. It included dressing rooms, conference rooms and a series of modern spacious workrooms where, at Mari's insistence, the utmost in comfort was provided for her small army of workers.

Larry continued:

"It's a dominion. Miss Mary Barrett, recently of Brooklyn, and the realization ought to cause you to burst into tears or something."

"But I'm not Mary Barrett any more, Larry. I'm a completely different person. Mary Barrett may have dreamed of what has been done, but she would have lacked the courage to do it." Mari was thinking of the great sums of money which had been involved in organizing her present establishment. She had undertaken the responsibility with no qualms, no excitement, and with something that was assurance rather than anticipation.

"Well, then—" Larry got up. "If I'm not to get copy out of you, I'd better run along. Anything else I can do?"

Mari held out her hand. "I may disappoint you by not getting emotional over this, Larry, but I'm still human and deeply grateful to you, to all my friends. And particularly to you because I know how much I ...well, you've really made it all possible."

"Only one person 'made it possible,' Maribarat. You aren't merely the head of this place, you're the life of it. It isn't merely your hand, but your heart that raised these stones."

Mari laughed at him. "This was the palace of a princess a hundred years ago, Larry." She said it because she didn't want Larry to pursue this line of thought.

She knew well enough what had gone into her work. She knew now that, great as her ambition had been, there was something greater and, that from now on, her life was consecrated to finding substitutes for it.

Already she was beginning to learn the impossibility of it. She had hoped, on her return from New York to Paris, that she could do it. For a little while, she had thought she was succeeding. Through the first weeks of settling financial arrangements, and, later when the gargantuan plans were in progress, she had lost herself in the immensity of what she was doing, worked herself dog tired, bought prodigiously.

And now everything was quiet, waiting—

Not only was the last of the collection finished to the last stitch, labeled, catalogued, standing—every one in its muslin protective cover—but the most minute detail of the opening was in place. The flowers had been ordered, the champagne, the orchestra. The many copies of the lists of guests—that careful list that no one without an invitation could crash—were in the hands of those who handled admittance.

In her new home, the palatial house in the rue de Lubeck, there was a great stir. Madame was having guests. Mari's own friends—a group of 12, who were to see the collection privately. There was Elin Verlaine who was arriving that night, and who was to have the white-and-gold room. The brown-and-blue room was set aside for M. Sutherland. M. Sutherland was giving a party for Madame the night before her showing. Madame Todd and her husband were arriving by plane from England. There was a stir of pleasant and important excitement in Mari's house.

Mari knew that she ought to leave after Larry left. She had ordered her car to call for her at 6. M. Barlac would arrive at 8 for his dinner and final directions. Ellen was coming up from Biarritz, arriving at midnight. She would have a long night ahead of her. If she left at 6, she could rest for an hour—

But could she ever rest? There were the thousands of details that fastened on her little tags, identifying her as their creator, responsible for their safe arrival at whatever destination they were meant for.

The list of guests from America—The A's. The B's. She re-checked them with a meditative pencil.

She turned to the C's. Tony Castle's name stood third on the list. It stood out seemingly, to her sensitive eye, in bold faced type. Tony had been invited. She had addressed his invitation in her own handwriting.

It was her last gesture to impress him with her talent.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TRICK

"Oh, see!"

"Look! Moving carrots!"

"If they would move themselves into the cellar we wouldn't have to do it," said Buster, a boy rabbit.

"Oh, they're doing a lot of jiggling!" said Baby Bunty, the regular rabbit, pointing to the pile of Uncle Wiggily's carrots where she had first seen a strange movement.

"Please be quiet," said Uncle Wiggily in a low voice and he twinkled his pink nose softly. "There is no danger even if some Bad Chaps are hidden in those piles of carrots."

"Oh, do you think Bad Chaps are hidden there?" asked Jingle.

"Uncle Wiggily ought to know," rumbled Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear gentleman.

"And if Uncle Wiggily needs any help with these Bad Chaps we will give it to him in the light of the harvest moon!" rumbled Mr. Snubtail, the brown bear father of Neddie and Beckie.

Prepared

He and the white bear and many of Uncle Wiggily's friends, as well as the animal children had gathered in Uncle Wiggily's garden to bring in the carrot crop at a harvest moon party.

"Yes, I think some of the Bad Chaps have hidden themselves under my piles of carrots to watch their chance to get me or some of my children," said Uncle Wiggily in a low voice. "But I shall play a trick on them."

It was true. The Fox and Bob Cat had heard, by means of crossed telephone wires, about Uncle Wiggily's harvest moon party.

"This will be a good chance to catch that rabbit," the Fox had said and the Bob Cat mewed:

"Right you are!"

So the two bad chaps sneaked to the bungalow before the moon had risen and each had burrowed and worked his way inside a pit of the golden yellow carrots. Uncle Wiggily had pulled them from his garden but needed help in carrying them down the cellar to store away for the Winter. The Bob Cat was in one carrot pile, the Fox in another.

His Plan

It was the breathing and moving of the Bad Chaps that had caused Baby Bunty to think the carrots were alive.

"Now this is what we shall do," whispered Uncle Wiggily. "You children animals will carry carrots from the piles where there are no Bad Chaps. But I wish, Mr. Snubtail and Mr. Whitewash," said the bunny to the bears, "you would play a trick on the Bad Chaps."

"That's what we'll do!" growled Mr. Snubtail. "Watch me!"

"And watch me," growled Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear.

With that the two bears pulled apart the carrot piles inside of which the Fox and Bob Cat had hidden themselves. Mr. Whitewash in his strong claws, pulled the Fox out and flung him over the trees into the Duck Pond.

"There you go," roared the polar bear.

"And there you go!" howled Mr. Snubtail as he clawed the Bob Cat out and sent him flying over the trees into the Duck Pond.

"Oh, Wow! Wow! Wow!" howled the Bad Chaps as they floundered in the water, their ears, eyes, noses and mouths filled with slimy weeds. "Oh, Wow! Wow! Wow!"

"Now we'll go on with the carrot harvest moon party!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. And they all had a good time and lots of fun.

And if the red traffic light doesn't eat a lot of grass and turn green, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Prinky's tail.

MILTON ELLIOTT GAVE YES ANSWER TO DRY QUERIES

MILLBROOK, Sept. 28. — "I am strongly in favor of any measures that will bring the liquor question under control, and I had pleasure in signing my name in an affirmative answer to four questions submitted by the Durham County Temperance Federation at its recent convention in Orono." So stated Milton J. Elliott, of Bowmanville, ex-Warden of the United Counties of Durham and Northumberland and Conservative candidate in the present election campaign.

The occasion was the initial meeting of the campaign, so far as Millbrook is concerned, and was held in the Town Hall on Friday evening, with Wilfrid W. Brown, president of the local Liberal-Conservative Association, in the chair. Others on the platform were the speaker of the evening, Alderman Albert Brabese, solicitor, of Toronto, ex-Wardens Jas. L. McCamus and George Hootan, Fred W. Bowen, ex-M.P. for Durham, and Jas. H. Paul, past president of the Cavan and Millbrook Association.

In his appeal to the electors, Mr. Elliott expressed himself as being in favor of more highways for Durham county, and claimed a personal share in having the Newcastle to Lindsay highway taken over and promised completion. He felt that motorists of the county should have more tangible returns for the large sums expended annually in buying licenses for motor vehicles, and in paying the gasoline tax. The candidate also mentioned his opinion that the proposed highway should go through the northern part of the county, rather than Millbrook way, since these townships have practically no advantages in the way of railway service, etc., in comparison with the southern part of the county.

Mr. Elliott lined himself strongly behind the policy of his leader, Honorable Earl Rowe, and particularly condemned any attempt on the part of the government in power to raise a religious issue in the province. He also condemned the repudiation of the Hydro power contracts by the Hepburn government, and promised, if elected, to do all in his power to have the rural service charge reduced, to secure development of the St. Lawrence power, with consequent cheaper power for the farmers.

In introducing the speaker of the evening, and the candidate, the chairman said: "Last time we had a meeting, we were anticipating an election; now we are anticipating a victory."

A Real Issue.

"This is more than an election—there is a real issue at stake," Mr. Brabese stated, and dealt in detail with the matter of succession duties, which he declared the Hepburn government had been able to collect in larger sums than those previously in power at Queen's Park only because of the improved conditions of the times.

Referring to the C.I.O., and the Oshawa strike, the speaker affirmed. "Those in the know declare, if Hepburn had kept his nose out, the strike could have been settled several days before it was. He says he is driving the C.I.O. out of Ontario, and yet Mr. Fine, his main man in Ontario who is settling the strikes for him, is a member of the C.I.O."

Taking the initial letters of the organization in question, Alderman Brabese went on to show in detail that "The Hepburn Government is Callous, Indifferent, and Oppressive," citing cases in proof of his assertions. He forcefully dealt with the 'Sunshine Budget,' declaring that "while Mr. Henry balanced his budget with an income from the tax payers of 51 millions, this 'mess of pottage' at Queen's Park has taken over 92 millions." Scathingly covering the unkept promises of Mr. Hepburn previous to the last election, the speaker closed with a strong appeal for supuort for Milton Elliott, "the next member for Durham in the Provincial House."

A brief address by Mr. Bowen, who spoke in the highest terms of the Honorable Earl Rowe, and the National Anthem with cheers for the candidate and Mr. Rowe, closed the gathering.

Survivors Of 21st Battalion Hold Re-union In St. Thomas

Two Colonels Of Second Contingent Unit Address Annual Reunion

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 28.—Tribute was paid to the 21st Overseas Battalion and to its immortal record in the World War, Saturday evening at the annual re-union dinner of members of the 21st Battalion Association, by two men who played an important part in the famous military unit—Brigadier-Gen. W. St. P. Hughes, D.S.O., who, as Lieut.-Col. Hughes, organized and commanded the battalion until the summer of 1916, and Lieut.-Col. H. E. Pense, D.S.O., M.C., the last Commanding Officer of the 21st in France, who brought the unit home after it had crossed the Rhine.

They came for the annual re-union with the Kingston delegation of forty-five other members of the 21st Battalion, and were among the principal speakers at the dinner held in the Armories. About 300 members of the association attended the reunion. During the afternoon they enjoyed a motor drive to Premier Hepburn's farms in South Yarmouth and the apple orchards of W. H. Mills, M.P., in the beautiful Sparta fruit district.

Rain necessitated a curtailment of the evening parade to the hospital, where a wreath to members of the 21st who sacrificed their lives, many at Passchendaele, was placed at the soldiers' monument.

By a coincidence, numbers of American Legionnaires who were members of the 21st Overseas unit from the State of Wisconsin, were in St. Thomas Saturday, stopping off here while returning from their big gathering in New York City. Several of them remained to fraternize with members of the 21st Battalion Association and to fom new international friendships.

Sunday morning the annual religious service of the 21st Battalion Association was observed in St. John's Anglican Church, the sermon being preached by Rev. Major W. E. Kidd, M.C., of Kingston, who was padre of the battalion overseas. He was assisted at the service by Rev. K. E. Taylor, rector of the church, who is a 21st Battalion man.

The re-union was the first that Brig.-Gen. Hughes has been able to attend in the last four years on account of ill health.

PARIS, Sept. 28—(AP). — The Duchess of Windsor began early today a tour of Paris shops to buy a winter wardrobe.

The Duke escorted her to the Atelier of Mainbocher and then withdrew to the quiet of their hotel.

The Duchess spent a half-hour viewing the new models of Mainbocher, who designed most of the dresses in her June wedding trousseau.

A large crowd gathered quietly outside the establishment and pressed against a special detail of police to get a view of the Duchess when she left.

BRITISH OFFICIAL SLAIN, JERUSALEM

JERUSALEM, Sept. 28—(AP). — Police dogs scoured the narrow streets of Nazareth to-day for the assassins of Lelis Andrews, British commissioner of Galilee, and his bodyguard, Constable Peter McEwan.

They were killed yesterday by rifle fire from terrorists who ambushed them as they emerged from church services. Pirie Gordon, assistant commissioner, escaped.

Witnesses said two men in European clothing and one in peasant dress, fired at close range.

Extremists, angered by Andrews' strict rule in the long strife between the Hold Land's Arabs and Jews, frequently had threatened his life.

The Arab Higher Committee issued a statement expressing "horror and condemnation of this painful incident."

It was the first assassination of a senior British official in the history of Palestine.

31 CO-OPERATIVE VENTURES GROW

MONTREAL, Sept. 28.—(CP). — Progress of business conditions among member organizations of the Co-operative Union of Canada today was termed "satisfactory again" in the annual report of the United Board of the Union's Congress, in session here. The report was submitted by W. C. Good, president, and George Keen, secretary, both of Brantford, Ont.

Forty-one retail societies operating stores and warehouses and six "buying clubs" contributed statistics. Aggregate sales of 1936 for the 41 retail societies were $4,445,338. Retail societies reporting increases numbered 31, compared with 24 last year. Net increase in sales for all retail societies was $329,996.

Total volume of sales fo all distributive societies amounted to $5,-471,219.60, a step up of nearly $700,-000.

Total distributive turnover, wholesale and retail, was $5,803,539. Total volume with the inclusion of the dairy societies, the distributive busines of Canadian Livestock Co-operatives (Maritimes) and garage and bus services and sales of the Transportation Society was $7,081,-860.

157,425 Members.

Total individual membership of the reporting affiliated societies was 157,425, including 13,696 in the retail societies. Marketing organization memberships numbered 140,244. Figures were exclusive of two farmers' educational bodies affiliated with the Union which did not submit reports.

"It is very unlikely that the private trade interests of Canada as a whole operated last year as successfully as did the co-operative societies comprised in the membership of the Co-operative Union of Canada," said the report. "It is improbable, too, that business enterprises in competition with co-operatives can show the net surplus made in proportion to capital investment above indicated."

Government textile mills are being opened in Turkey.

Mrs. E. Hahn Honored

A most interesting post nuptial event took place on Wednesday evening when over 25 friends from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. Reta Johnston in honor of Mrs. Earl Hahn (nee Beryl Hill).

The rooms were beautifully decorated in a color scheme of pink and white. As the bride entered the doorway made attractive with the same colors, she was presented with a miscellaneous shower which included 20 pieces of Orient pattern English China, enamelware and linens.

Although taken very much by surprise, Mrs. Hahn made a very fitting reply, expressing her sincere thanks and appreciation. All joined heartily in singing "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow" and 'Bee Her Smiling" after which Miss Jessie Whitred, gave a humorous reading, 'Lavinsky At the Wedding."

Games were greatly enjoyed and a delightful lunch served, the bride cutting the beautifully decorated wedding cake, made and given by Mrs. Johnston and her mother, Mrs. H. Dodd.

The members of the Woman's Association of Trinity United church met at the home of Mrs. J. H. Hess for their regular meeting. Miss Mae Huycke presided and opened the meeting with the singing of the hymn "The Great Physician, Now Is Here" followed by the Worship Period in charge of Mrs. F. W. Newell.

Anniversary services will be held on Sunday October 31. Rev. G. S. Easton of Trinity Church, Peterborough will be the special speaker in the morning and the Rev. F. W. Newell will preach in the evening when the Trent River choir will assist with the music.

On the Wednesday(November 3) following the anniversary services the annual fowl dinner will be held in the church basement where a good supper and program will be provided. The meeting closed with the hymn, "Wonderful Words of Life".

A quilting and mystery tea were held in the basement of St. Andrews church on Thursday afternoon under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid. Twenty-two members attended the quilting and completed two lovely quilts, after which a number of men arrived and all enjoyed the repast, each lady providing a part of the meal. Mrs. C. Dodd and Mrs. Wm. McEachnie made capable waitresses for the mystery tea.

On the same afternoon Miss D. Plant entertained the W.A. of St. George's Church at a quilting held at her home. Nine ladies enjoyed the quilting and during the afternoon the Rev. William Stocks read an interesting clipping taken from the Examiner in regards to the mission work done by the Rev. Horace Ashmore of Paddockwood, Sask. As the ladies are making preparations for a bale to be sent direct to Rev. Ashmore they were greatly interested in the clipping. The secretary announced the annual Deanery meeting to be held in Christ Church Campbellford on October 14. Miss Plant served lunch before the close of the afternoon's work

RECIPES TO END CONSTIPATION

Every woman can protect her family from common constipation by careful menu planning. Often the cause of illness from constipation is lack of "bulk" in the diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies this "bulk" in generous quantity.

You can use ALL-BRAN in so many delightful ways. As a ready-to-eat cereal with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. Or make delicious bran muffins and breads—put it into griddle cakes, salads or soups, or over other cereals.

Just be sure each member of your family gets two tablespoonfuls every day—and forget the illness caused by constipation. Serve three times daily, in severe cases.

You can also forget pills and drugs that nobody likes to take—and that so often fail unless the dose is constantly increased.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B to help tone the intestines, and iron for the blood. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in London.

There's quality!

241 SEEK OFFICE UNDER 15 BANNERS IN POLITICAL RACE

TORONTO, Sept. 28 (CP).—Unofficial lists today bore the names of 241 candidates who will seek election in each of 90 Ontario ridings at the Oct. 6 elections. With nomination day set for Wednesday, Liberals have placed 86 standard bearers in the field and Conservatives 88.

In 37 constituencies the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation has entered the fray and additional candidates are expected before official nominations are over. In the 1934 general elections 38 C.C.F. followers bid for seats with only one, Sam Lawrence in Hamilton East, victorious.

Liberals who sent 86 into the last House to govern the province have completed their choices unless unforeseen developments bring additions before Sept. 29. Conservatives who had 17 supporters in the last legislature have yet to name a candidate in Kent West where A. S. Gordon, member in the last House, is the Liberal selection.

Others In Field

Other candidates include: Independent-Liberals six; Independent-Conservatives three; Farmer-Labor four; Independents four; Socialist-Labor three; Liberal-Progressives two; Labor two; Independent-Labor one; Communist two; Labor-Progressive one; Liberal-Labor one; United Farmers of Ontario one.

In Brantford M. M. MacBride who carries an Independent banner, has the endorsation of the Liberal fathers. Mr. MacBride, member in the last legislature, is opposed by a Conservative and a C.C.F. candidate.

In Grey North the Liberal cause has been left to Roland Patterson, Liberal-Progressive, member in the last legislature. Farquhar Oliver, lone U.F.O. entry, is supported by Liberal adherents in Grey South. He represented the riding in the last House. D. M. Campbell, Liberal-Progressive member in the late assembly, will fight it out against a Conservative, J. Duff Brien, in Kent East.

Lieut. Colonel George A. Drew, who broke with Conservative Leader Earl Rowe on the labor question, is running as an Independent-Conservative in Wellington South. No straight Conservative candidate has been nominated and Col. Drew will face Liberal, C.C.F. and Communist opponents.

DENTIST KILLS ROBBER FLEEING WITH BANK LOOT

Two Others Captured; 3 Citizens Wounded

MIDLAND, Mich., Sept. 29 (AP)—A Midland dentist shot and killed one of four gunmen attempting to hold up the Chemical State Savings Bank, across the street from his office today. Two other robbers were captured, one wounded in the arm. A fourth escaped.

Paul B. Bywater, cashier of the bank, was shot in the hip; Clarence H. Macomber, bank president, was wounded in the chest, and a Bay City truck driver, passing the institution, was shot and wounded by the robbers who used a submachine gun.

Dr. F. L. Hardy fired with a shotgun from his office window as the quartet of gunmen fled from the bank. The charge struck one of them in the head and killed him.

BLACK REFUSES KLAN STATEMENT

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 29 (AP).—Justice Hugo L. Black said upon his return from Europe today that when he has "any statement" to make regarding the Ku Klux Klan issue raised over his appointment to the U.S. Supreme Court, he will "make it in a way that cannot be misquoted."

The Justice, met by a host of newspapermen and photographers, who boarded his ship, the City of Norfolk, said that he appreciated "very much this great reception."

Throughout a month of travelling in Europe, during which the Klan dispute reached its height, he had consistently refused to discuss the matter.

A reporter asked what he called "a specific question" as to whether Black was a member of 'the invisible empire.'

The newspaperman identified himself and Black said he had "made the only statement" today he was going to make.

GERMANY, RUSSIA UNDER POPE'S FIRE

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 29 (AP)—Pope Pius XI today issued a dramatic encyclical which was construed as a double-edged attack on Communist Russia and Nazi Germany.

The document, "an encyclical letter on the rosary of the blessed Virgin Mary," urged faithful to pray against the evils of Communism and the tendency of some state leaders who war against Communism to "exhume pagan errors and morals."

The encyclical was published as the Italian press carried the texts of addresses in Berlin last night by Italian Premier Mussolini and German Chancellor Hitler. Both heads of state had inveighed against the threat of "Bolshevism" in Europe.

The summary quoted the pontiff's letter as saying:

"The dangers which threaten are no less grave than in the past: the world is observed by us to be in a moral and spiritual crisis due to the forgetfulness of God; deep dissensions rend the classes of society; on one hand Communism rears itself in denial even of all right to private property; on the other, the cult of state and desire to restore order and public authority against the intrigues of Communism leads men to forget the wisdom of the gospels and to exhume pagan errors and morals.

"A wave of atheism sweeps over the world and threatens destruction of all civilization."

The holy father did not mention Germany by name but prelates interpreted his remarks on paganism and atheism as directed at Germany just as the remarks on Communism were believed to be aimed at Russia, Republican Spain and Mexico.

SERVICE INTERRUPTED

WALLACEBURG, Ont., Sept. 29.—(CP)—While Rev. A. E. Wright of Knox Presbyterian Church was leading in prayer Sunday night a peculiar noise was heard which disturbed the congregation. Investigation showed a bullet from a powerful air gun or rifle damaged one of the stained glass windows.

Belligerency Rights Hinted To Italy For Troop Recall

Britain Said In Favor Of France Opening Her Border to Arms If Mussolini Refuses

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(CP-Havas)—Conditional granting of belligerency rights to combatants in the Spanish civil war may be proposed to Italy as a return for withdrawal of foreign volunteers now fighting in Spain, it was reported here today.

After being approved at a cabinet meeting this morning, it was said the British draft of a proposed joint Anglo-French communication to the Italian government was forwarded to Paris this noon for camparison with a draft worked out by the French foreign office.

The cabinet adjourned for lunch after a session lasting about 2½ hours, and was to meet again in the afternoon.

The British draft was understood to make the following points:

1. Acknowledgment of Italian assurances that Rome does not now plan to send new contingents of volunteers to Spain, and has no designs on the Balearic Islands.

2. An expression of the determination of France and Great Britain to bring an end to foreign intervention in the civil war and to secure the speedy withdrawal of foreign volunteers.

3. An intimation to the Italian government that the British and French governments would be willing, under certain conditions, and in case volunteers are effectively withdrawn to recognize belligerency rights of the Spanish combatants.

Earlier unconfirmed reports said Rome would be informed the Franco-Spanish frontier would be opened to the passage of volunteers, with the approval of the British government, if Italy did not agree to withdraw volunteers now in Spain.

60 Mill Workers Strike Collapses

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Sept. 29 (CP)—The week-old strike of 60 employees of the Maple Leaf Milling Company here ended today with the strikers returning to work for the second half of the day shift.

The men went back without union recognition and without re-employment of Thomas Williams, president of the local union, which was the chief bone of contention at yesterday's conference between company officials and strikers' representatives. The company promised to investigate charges of favoritism in the alloting of part-time work.

FIRST MISS IN 20 YEARS

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 29 (CP)—Richard Jarman of Hamilton missed his first city council meeting in more than 20 years last night. Faithful attendant at every committee as well as council meeting, Mr. Jarman's absence was noted. City Clerk James Berry told inquiring friends Mr. Jarman's son had died.

6 DAYS IN WILDS OUTPOST DOCTOR MAKING RECOVERY

NEWCASTLE WATERS, North Australia, Sept. 29 (CP). — Physicians today treated Dr. Clyde Fenton to overcome effects of six days' loneliness and privation in the Northern Australian wilderness.

Dr. Fenton was discovered yesterday by Flight Lieutenant Hely of the Royal Australian Air Force, who dropped his plane down beside Dr. Fenton's plane, undamaged, but short of petrol.

Hely said Dr. Fenton displayed "amazing endurance and outstanding initiative under trying conditions" during the time he was missing. Making one of his visits to the outposts of his vast practice, the "flying physician" was blown off his course and forced to land 30 miles southeast of Tarnumbrini Station, his destination.

The Royal Air Force officers, flying the Rapide plane in which Sir Herbert Gepp, consultant on development to the Government of Australia, was lost near Granites last May, picked up Dr. Fenton and brought him here for treatment.

Second Rescue.

It was Hely who flew a Gannet plane to rescue Sir Herbert, while the Rapide plane that figured in both incidents was lost for 16 days in April, 1936, west of Dalgwater, and also was one of the fleet of aircraft that last February searched for, and finally found, an airliner that was missing for several days with seven persons aboard. Only two of the seven escaped with their lives.

Dr. Fenton was gaunt and weak, with an eight-day beard, when discovered wandering dazedly in circles around his plane. When Hely dropped a note asking if it was safe for him to land, the physician pulled himself together and marked out a message with surgical lint: "O.K. You land."

During the days that he was waiting and hope for a plane to reach him, he cleared obstructions around his own plane and flagged the area so that a rescue pilot could drop down without difficulty.

He tried to shoot a duck with a Very Light pistol, but the pistol's kick injured his nose. Finally, when his stock of food became low, he discovered a cow bogged in mud. He stunned it with a log and cut its throat with a pocket knife, but he was unable to cut off much meat as the animal was practically submerged.

Labadie Brought Gun Home 2 a.m., Grandfather Reveals

Arrived About 2 a.m., Hungry, Day After Murder—Said Nothing Happened

SARNIA, Ont., Sept. 29 (C.P.)—William Labadie, 17, on trial on a murder charge, went to his grandfather's place carrying a gun at 2 a.m. the morning after John Luckins, seven, was killed, an Assize Court jury was told to-day by James L. Campbell, Labadie's grandfather. The Luckins boy was found fatally beaten on March 12, in his father's barn.

Mr. Campbell testified Provincial Police officers visited him at 7 p.m. and 11 p.m. on March 12. About 2 o'clock in the morning his grandson came to his place, near Brigden, carrying a gun which he placed in a corner of the kitchen.

The boy complined he was hungry and, after eating, went to bed, Mr. Campbell said.

Next morning when they arose, Mr. Campbell said he told the boy he "knew all about what had happened."

The boy replied nothing had happened, he testified, and said he was going to stay till Sunday. But next day police came again and arrested him.

"Confession" Admitted.

A purported confession by Labadie, he struck the blow which killed seven-year-old John Luckins last March 12, was admitted as evidence. Mr. Justice Keller Mackay indicated the document would be read to the jury later to-day.

The alleged confession was claimed to have been obtained by police

500 Students Listen In On Broadcast Of Noises In Miner's Head

Philadelphia, Sept. 29 (AP)

GEORGE Yocum, 44-year-old Luzerne County miner, today shared with sympathetic listeners noises in his head that have bothered him for two years.

With his head "wired" for sound, Yocum sat in the Temple university medical school auditorium while 500 students and a score of medical teachers listened. From a loud-speaker came a rhythmic roaring and whistling noise.

Doctors said it was the first successful amplification of the sounds caused by a cranial aneyrism (a ruptured of a blood vessel in the brain).

In February, 1935, Yocum suffered a fracture of the skull when a pile of loose rock fell on him.

Japanese Troops Mop Up Chinese Village

Nippon's infantrymen follow the high explosives hurled into Chinese cities from air, land and sea, by mopping up the remains of Chinese defence, and smoking out snipers. Here they are pictured smashing the door of a house in search of snipers—probably the most dangerous of all tasks facing infantrymen in modern warfare.

Death Ends 5-Year Sleep Of Patricia Maguire

Two Blood Transfusions Fail To Save Girl With Baffling Affliction

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP)—The enigma of pretty Patricia Maguire's strange 5½ year sleep was sealed today in death.

The 32-year-old suburban Oak Park stenographer died at a hospital last night without bridging the abyss of unconsciousness created by her baffling ailment, lethargic encephalitis.

A common affliction—pneumonia—was the immediate cause of death. It developed last Sunday when Miss Maguire was taken to the hospital for the removal of an abdominal tumor. Two blood transfusions failed to check the disease or shake her from the comatose condition.

With her when she died was six members of her family, including her mother, Mrs. Peter Miley, who had cared for her day and night since she was stricken Feb. 15, 1932.

Scores of telephone calls, one from a London newspaper during the past two days attested to the interest and curiosity which her five years and seven months sleep excited among laymen.

Medical Men Mystified

Many eminent physicians studied the case but none of their ministrations proved successful. In October, 1933, she showed signs of a potential reawakening when she endeavored to smile. She appeared to recognize her mother and at the latter's commands would wink, raise an arm, or wiggle her toes. Despite a liquid diet she continued to gain weight until six weeks ago when an abdominal tumor was discovered.

Miss Maguire's sleep was among the longest recorded in medical annals. One case was that of a 10-year-old Russian girl, Evdokiya Lichagina who fell asleep after an attack of typhoid fever and awakened seven years and two months later.

2 Oppose Hepburn Elgin Nominations

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Sept. 29.—(CP)—More than two hours before closing of nominations for Ontario's Oct. 6 General Election, Premier Hepburn and two opponents were nominated to-day in Elgin. Nominations close at two p.m.

Unless further nominations are received before the deadline by Deputy Returning Officer Palmer Well, the Premier's opponents will be Norman R. Martin, Conservative, and John Tough, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation candidate.

Mr. Hepburn came to St. Thomas for nomination day and will address a meeting arranged by his Liberal followers. Mr. Tough announced he also would address the meeting, to be called following close of nominations.

$750 Month Alimony To Ex-Dancer

Chicago, Sept. 29 (AP)

MAJOR Frederic McLaughlin agreed today to pay $750 a month temporary alimony to his estranged wife, Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, socially prominent former dancer, who is suing for divorce.

The agreement was reached at a conference in the Chambers of Superior Court Judge John J. Lupe, where the owner of the Chicago Black Hawks' hockey team and his wife appeared in the first skirmish of their suit.

$49,412 OFFERED FOR ARAB KILLERS

JERUSALEM, Sept. 29 (CP-Havas)—Announcement most of the Arab suspects arrested after the killing of Lewis Yelland Andrews, British district commissioner for Galilee, at Nazareth, would be imprisoned for three months today drew protests from Arab quarters.

A number of Arab delegations protested the measures to British officials, charging it was unjust to detain persons who probably were innocent while a search for the real perpetrators of the crime was underway.

Andrews was assassinated by three Arabs as he left the Anglican Church at Nazareth on Sunday. His bodyguard, Peter Robertson MacEwan, was also fatally shot and died an hour after the attack.

British authorities yesterday posted a reward of £10,000 ($49,412) for information leading to the arrest of the assassins.

STUDIES BIBLE IN JAIL

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Robert Henry, 26, is studying the Bible in jail.

Anxious to learn the Ten Commandments, he told police, he went so far as to steal a Bible from a minister.

Municipal Judge Cohn said he would defer sentence until Henry memorized and repeated the commandments to him.

Two hours later Henry was back in court. He flunked.

Wood introduced the first bill passed by a Nebraska Legislature which provided all drivers must be examined before licenses are issued them.

400 SHOE MAKERS GO OUT ON STRIKE AT PORT COLBORNE

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Sept. 29.—(CP)—More than 400 employees of the Humberstone Shoe Company who went on strike to-day appointed a committee of 14 members to draw up their demands and meet the company with Walter Brown, Union organizer, who was in charge of the mass meeting.

The strikers, said Brown, would meet H. H. Knoll, president and general manager of the company, to-day and demand a 25 per cent. increase in the basic wage scale; time and one-half for overtime; the re-employment of two men discharged allegedly for Union activity; no work on Saturday afternoons, Sundays or holidays; the discontinuance of charges against employees for spoiled work or damaged goods and the installation of new wash bowls and drinking fountains in the plant.

The committee is expected to meet the company president this afternoon. At the workers' meeting approximately 95 per cent. of the employees signed membership cards in the Canadian Shoe Workers' Union and Allied Crafts, an Ontario union with no affiliation with the C.I.O. or A.F. of L.

See Terminal Market Solution Fruit, Vegetable Surplus

Many Ontario Farmers Suffering Same Plight As Those In Holland Marsh

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—The plight of the Holland Marsh farmers who finds themselves possessed of bountiful crops and no markets, is typical of many farming sections of Ontario, J. B. Fairbairn, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, declared yesterday.

A practical farmer, Mr. Fairbairn expressed the opinion, based on many years as a fruit and vegetable grower, that the solution as far as the Toronto area is concerned is a terminal market to which all produce would come. This would permit control of supply and demand, and yield better prices to the producers as well as bring substantial advantages to the consumers and retailers.

Not Unique Situation

"People in the cities have only the vaguest idea of the unfortunate condition in which many fruit and vegetable producers find themselves in at this time of the year," said Mr. Fairbairn. "Why, farmers can't get as much for their produce, in many instances, as they have to pay for

Thirty Planes Bomb Shanghai Continuously; Mine Attempt Fails To Sink Jap Flagship

SHANGHAI, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Chinese declared today the long-awaited Japanese "big push" on the Shanghai front had begun and the Chinese troops manning the 25-mile northwestern defence line had turned back attacking infantry.

The closely-woven net of machine gun nests from Shanghai's North Station to Lotien, 25 miles to the northwest, mowed down attacking Japanese as fast as they could reform their lines and come within range, the Chinese said.

They admitted they were holding their positions only at the cost of heavy casualties from incessant Japanese artillery and war-lane bombardment but declared at mid-day they had not yielded a foot.

Japanese said a tank attack along the Liuhong-Lotient motor road had driven the Chinese back 800 yards and the northern half of the village of Liuhong had been occupied. Several small villages were occupied, the Japanese claimed, in a 300 yard advance in the Lotien sector where the fighting was extremely bitter. Six times the Japanese attacked, the Chinese said, but six times they were driven back with serious losses.

Continuous Bombing.

Shanghai was rocked by explosions as a fleet of 30 warplane bombed North Station and Chapei sectors in virtually uninterrupted relays. The Japanese appeared determined to drive the Chinese out of this sector which they have held against all Japanese assaults since the battle of Shanghai began August 13.

Flying from a base only five miles away, the Japanese planes dropped their loads of 250-pound and 500-pound demolition bombs, wheeled about to the airdrome, reloaded and returned to the attack.

Artillery joined in the shelling and the railway administration station was struck four times while 80 bombs were dropped in one area of 1,000 square yards between the North Station and the commercial press building.

The British battalion of Welch Fusiliers was ordered to abandon its barricades on the international settlement border and take shelter in bombproofs after one shell burst within 20 feet of their lines.

HITLER AND DUCE WIND UP PARLEY AT TRAIN WINDOW

BERLIN, Sept. 29 (AP)—Premier Mussolini of Italy, for five days the guest of Chancellor Hitler, today departed for home.

Hitler walked alone with Mussolini to the train, and they had a last conversation of four minutes, with Mussolini leaning out the train window.

Thus the two dictators put finishing touches on talks that brought forth joint declarations re-affirming their close co-operation in European affairs and an appeal for peace.

The visiting premier departed after honoring Germany's great war dead and reviewing a military display.

Side-by-side on a reviewing stand at Charlottenburg Polytechnical School, the Italian and his host, Chancellor Hitler, watched 25 units of the German army on parade.

Fifteen thousand officers and men and 1,000 motorized units passed before them in a two-hour display. Mussolini went to the review after placing a six-foot wreath at the foot of Germany's monument to her war dead.

Throngs packed the way from the Wilhelmstrasse through Tiergarten to the Polytechnical School's parade ground. Among them were countless numbers of those who last night braved a driving rain to hear Hitler and Mussolini make a joint overture for a European security that would exclude "Bolshevism."

Fake Doctor Robs Old Man Of $10

CHATHAM, Ont., Sept. 29 (CP)—A "fake" doctor robbed 87-year-old James Hawkins of $10 last night while the aged man lay helpless in bed at his Ridgetown home here he lives alone. Two $1,000 bonds were overlooked by the thief.

The thief told Hawkins he was sent to examine him by Hawkins' doctor. After a brief examination he asked for $2 fees. When Hawkins took the money from a small box underneath his pillow, the "doctor" looked at his eyes and decided there was too much light in the room.

As the thief doused the only light in the room he grabbed at the box, took the remaining $8 cash but left the bonds at the bottom. Charles Lovell, a neighbor who looks after Hawkins, took the bonds for safekeeping to a bank today.

Extra Bedding, Buns Taboo In Madrid

Madrid, Sept. 29 (AP)

BUNS and bedding by Government edict today became luxuries in wartorn Spain.

The use of soft rolls and soft white bread was forbidden and the Government decreed each civilian hereafter may have but one mattress and one or two blankets, depending on climate, for his own use. Excess bedding must be delivered by citizens for army use.

EXAMINE QUEBEC FILMS

QUEBEC, Sept. 29 (CP). — Establishment of a Provincial Catholic body to examine moving-pictures in Quebec and take steps to provide films complying with strict moral standards, is proposed by Cardinal Villeneuve.

WANTS REDFERN DECLARED DEAD

DETROIT, Sept. 29 (AP). — Mrs. Paul Redfern, whose husband disappeared 10 years ago on an airplane flight to South America, disclosed today she was preparing to ask that he be declared legally dead.

Erie legends have grown up about the ill-fated aviator since he last was sighted flying 150 miles off the coast of South America on August 26, 1927.

Several expeditions, one of them financed by the Smithsonian Institution, have failed to verify recurrent rumors he was captured by South American savages; that he was a captive "god" in some jungle temple, and that he was killed in the crash of his airplane. Offers of rewards failed to bring positive information of his fate.

Mrs. Redfern has been seeking work in Detroit, where she has relatives.

"I feel that my position would be more secure—at least more logical—if I know whether I was, legally, a wife or a widow," she explained.

Three Nominated For Peterborough

As the official deadline was reached for the closing of nominations at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Vincent Eastwood, electoral officer, duly declared Alexander Leslie Elliott, Liberal; William Stanley Johnson, C.C.F.; and Thomas Percy Lancaster, Conservative, as being duly qualified candidates to stand for election in Peterborough constituency.

Before declaring the three candidates duly nominated, Mr. Eastwood read the Writ of Election as required by the Ontario Election Act. The official proceedings took place at the Legion Hall. There were only three persons present besides the electoral officer.

Windsorite Arrives Home Just In Time As Busy Thief Strips House

Windsor, Sept. 29 (CP)

POLICE today sought a thief who would probably have run away with the home of Mervin F. Dow had not the owner returned home. As it was, Dow was in time to save his household furnishings.

He was mystified as he approached the home to see a car parked nearby and a man engaged in packing articles into it. He thought he recognized his washing machine lashed to the front bumper. At the same time, the man ran away.

Police helped Dow move his chattels back to the house and the only article missing was a small bank containing $3. The car used by the thief was stolen from a used car lot.

Ship Route Control Bait Induces Italy Into Patrol

France, Britain Reported Ready to Let Duce Guard Bottle-neck Between Sicily, Africa

PARIS, Sept. 29. —(AP)— French, British and Italian naval experts agreed today on a plan to bring Italy into full cooperation with the Nyon patrol to stamp out piracy in the Mediterranean.

The plan will be signed by the technical delegates tonight and sent to the three governments for final approval. The conference has been working since Monday on a plan to grant Italian demands for "complete parity" with Great Britain and France.

Details of the plan were not disclosed but the last suggestion the delegates were known to have been working on was to give Italy control of the narrow bottle-neck between Sicily and the African mainland through which the eastwest shipping routes pass.

Formal announcement of the agreement was made by the French naval ministry.

The announcement said the conferees had reached an accord on an arrangement to submit to their governments to assure protection of neutral sea traffic against acts of piracy in the Mediterranean.

Last Snag Lifted.

The terse announcement was considered to mean, however, that the last hurdle to Italian participation in the Nyon accord had been surmounted.

Italy previously had agreed, in principle, to join the patrol if a plan could be worked out that would acknowledge her parity with Great Britain and French as a Mediterranean power.

Charged by Russia with being the pirate nation that was attacking merchant shipping in the Mediterranean, Italy boycotted the conference of nine powers at Nyon, Switzerland. The Nyon accord assigned Great Britain and France control of the main sea lanes and limited Italy to patrol of her coasts in the Tyrhennian and Adriatic seas.

SHIPPING STRIKE THREAT VANISHES

MONTREAL, Sept. 29 (C.P.). — Great Lakes shipping was free today from the grip of a labor dispute that had threatened to strangle the eastward movement of Prairie grain at its seasonal peak.

Operators of the inland fleet saw the prospect of a crippling seamen's strike vanish last night as more than a score of navigation companies agreed to recognize the Canadian Seamen's Union and grant their approximately 6,000 sailors—union and non-union—higher pay scales.

The capitulation to the union's double demand came, for most of the operators, at the eleventh hour. The union had promised the strike for midnight last night unless its terms were met. Five hours before that, the settlement with 22 companies was announced by union secretary-treasurer J. A. Sullivan.

The operators' group, operating more than 300 ships, comprised all but about five owners with one vessel apiece around the Upper Lakes and Georgian Bay. Union officials said to-day they expected these to fall in line.

The new contracts which the operators agreed verbally to sign, Sullivan said, provided wage increases running from 15 to 25 per cent. Company spokesmen said, on the other hand, they would range between 10 and 15 per cent.

The divergence in estimates meant nothing to the seamen's pay envelopes, though, for the new scale was settled on the basis of monthly wages by working classifications; the increases were not based on percentage of present pay.

Because of new registration requirements, several American companies are leaving Mexico.

MODERNIZED RULE IN MUNICIPALITIES NEW ROWE PLANK

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Sept. 29 (CP) —Modernization and simplification of municipal government was a new plank today in the platform on which Hon. Earl Rowe, Ontario Conservative leader, seeks endorsement of Ontario electors in the October 6 vote.

Mr. Rowe advocated appointment of a non-political commission to study municipal government and taxation in an address broadcast from here last night. The commission would be asked to make recommendations for:

Simplifying municipal administration; recasting of assessment laws; division of responsibilities among municipal, Provincial and Federal governments; an equitable and scientific division of revenues, aimed at relieving the municipal tax burden on real estate.

Recasting of assessment and taxation laws would have a definite influence in increasing home-building and ownership, said Mr. Rowe. Prosperity would be thus accelerated. Taxation was the greatest retarding factor in building today.

Flood Control Program

A Conservative administration would put into effect a flood control and water conservation program in those sections of Ontario requiring it, Mr. Rowe promised. Both farmer and city dweller would be benefitted.

Money now spent on relief might be diverted to labor for a flood control program, he said. He proposed purchase and control of heights of land and water shed areas; construction of retaining embankments

STRIKE DEADLOCK HOLDS AT MILL

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Sept. 29 (C.P.). — Strike at the Maple Leaf Milling Company here remained deadlocked to-day after a series of conferences failed to bring about settlement of workers' grievances. Strikers, reinforced by wives and brandishing sticks and clubs, prevented the night shift from working last night, but some of the day workers kept the mills going.

Mayor H. H. Knoll met strikers who told him the situation hinged on re-employment of Thomas Williams, former president of the local unit of the National Council of Grain Processors of America, whose recognition the strikers seek along with wage demands. Williams was discharged, precipitating the strike.

The Mayor said he would give company officials some definite action to-day in protecting workers going to work at the plant.

Last night as the night shift faced the strikers, company officials advised the men not to try to enter the plant and to avoid violence.

R. E. Walsh, union representative from Buffalo, N.Y., met company officials yesterday, but the three-hour conference brought no direct results.

To fight rising food prices the Government of Costa Rica has been provided with legislative authority to buy, sell and import rice, corn and beans.

Civilization Makes Another Test

FRUIT IS GIVEN BY CAVAN WOMEN FOR WESTERN AID

CAVAN, Sept. 29.—The September meeting of the Cavan Women's Institute met at Mrs. C. Smith's home on Thursday afternoon, with twenty-nine present.

The roll-call was answered, with few exceptions, by each member naming her favorite vegetable and telling how to cook it or her favorite fruit and how to serve it.

During the business session the Institutes were again requested to make a donation towards buying prizes for the Cavan rural school public-speaking contest. Three dollars was voted for this project.

The treasurer, Mrs. Snider, reported thirty-seven dollars in the treasury.

As is the custom in the Institute, it was voted to present a bank book, with a dollar deposit, to a new baby (Barry John Smith) within the Institute circle.

It was decided to ask the teachers to report the number of starlings and starling eggs credited to their pupils, and the treasurer was authorized to send the money to the teachers for distribution among the boys and girls.

The appointing of a delegate to the annual W.I. convention was left over for the next meeting.

The program committee was requested to meet and arrange the programs for the remainder of the year. They accepted an invitation from Mrs. Keegan to meet at her home on Wednesday evening, September 29th.

It was announced that the October meeting will commence at two p.m. and continue at that hour through the fall and winter.

There was discussion concerning Western relief and it was agreed that each member should contribute two gems of fruit.

A committee was named to pack this fruit at Mrs. Hunter's home.

It was decided to make one quilt for the Western bales and also collect and send material for making quilts. On member donated fifty cents to help buy lining, etc.

The next meeting will be in charge of Mrs. R. A. Button's group. The roll call will be "A Health Habit."

Enjoyable Program.

Mrs. J. W. Perrin was in charge of the program. The topic was "Agriculture." The first item was community singing.

Miss Helen Smith gave a very interesting group of current events.

Mrs. C. Smith contributed a clever paper on "Products from the farmers' field to the consumers' table." She specialized on potatoes and wheat, pointing out the vast difference between the price received by the farmer, and the price paid for the finished product, as for example, wheat sold by the bushel and bought in the form of puffed wheat, etc.

Mrs. R. S. Staples read a couple of poems, "The Hard Working Woman" and 'Spring Arithmetic.' She also gave an informative and interesting address on 'Co-operation.'

Mrs. C. Smith read a poem, "I've at least enough to eat." The group in charge served an appetizing lunch and the usual visiting was enjoyed over the tea-cups.

Elmo White and Billy Boyles, members of the Junior Farmers' Calf Club, exhibited their calves at Orono Fair on Wednesday.

Miss Armstrong, Peterborough, has been the guest, for a few days, of her cousin, Mrs. D. J. Hunter.

Mrs. Crossen, Toronto, recently visited her sister, Mrs. Morton.

Pipe smoking is rapidly increasing in England.

Gift Gives Roosevelt Guards Scare

RUSSIA PROFITS BY SPANISH WAR

SALMANACA, Sept. 29. — Soviet Russia has sold at least 1,219,000,000 pesetas (roughly $73,000,000) worth of war material to the Valencia Government, as far as the Nationalists can check.

The amount may be far larger, but at any rate, figures available show that the original contract for 500 millions in gold pesetas, concluded between Senor Largo Caballero and M. Marcel Rozenberg, the former Soviet Ambassador, has been covered in considerable excess.

Largest single item of shipments, which the Nationalists say are directed through Marseilles to Valencia, has been airplanes. The Valencia authorities paid 300,000,000 pesetas $18,000,000) for fighting and bombing craft. Gasoline figures second at 225,000,000 pesetas ($13,500,000), and wheat and trucks figure for 100,000,000 pesetas (about $6,-pesetas $24,000,000).

Tanks Costly.

The famous Russian tanks cost Valencia 50,000,000 pesetas (about $3,000,000), according to Nationalists while machine guns cost 10,000,000 pesetas, rifles 20,000,000 pesetas, guns 4,000,000 pesetas, while ammunition and miscellaneous material filled the bill by another 400,000,000 pesetas ($24,000000).

The Nationalists claim that not all the goods were of Russian origin, as they purchased some material in Czechoslovakia and other countries.

The best of the Russian material, it is stated here, are the tanks, and machine guns, but the tanks are manufactured under a British patent.

Planes Defective.

The Soviet fighting planes are stated to be bad, because of their excessive power and lack of manoeuvring ability. The American Martin bombers, which the Russians manufacture, under patent, are on the other hand classed as good due to their speed and ease of handling.

The Nationalists say much material from the Soviets is obsolete, and they instance the shipment of a considerable number of rifles which were completely out of date. They were served out to police and Republican National Guards in the rear.

In the opinion of the Nationalists, the experiences of the Spanish War have shown that Russia, after 20 years spent in building up the powerful and much vaunted Red Army, has failed to produce any war weapons of genuine Soviet origin which could be described as extraordinary or sensational.

FROST REPORTED IN WARSAW AREA

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, Sept. 29. — Sunday night was the first time real frost showed everywhere. There had been even ice in some exposed places near Warsaw.

Garden stuff and roots are a wonderful crop. Tomatoes are plentiful and extra good quality. One complaint, they ripened so rapidly green ones had to be secured. Beets and cucumbers were almost too large.

In a few gardens onions especially Spanish did not come up. Generally they are a splendid crop. Wild grapes are plentiful and somewhat larger than usual.

Silo filling is nearly over. Fall wheat is getting a splendid start and more than usual has been sown.

The boundary from Anderson's Corner to Dummer road has been graded, and the part around the hill widened, graded and ditched. The corner at the Dummer road is no longer dangerous. It spreads both ways and on the east it slants well toward the main road. Quite a bit is rounded off Mr. Watts' field. All it needs is the gravel.

Warsaw W.I. for October will be held on October 1 (Friday) in the Institute rooms. All women are cordially invited. The subject is Historical Research and any lady who has a relic of pioneer days is kindly asked to bring it, if possible, and also the story will be appreciated.

Rally Day

The Presbyterian church was prettily decorated with autumn flowers for rally day. Trevor Watts was organist in the absence of Jean Munro.

Douglas Evans and Rodney took the offering.

Milo Payne took the first part of the topic, Jesus as a Peacemaker, and Eva Clifford on Jesus the Prince of Peace. The service was closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

There was no service in United Church. The Baptists and Anglicans each had a service.

Dr. and Mrs. Campbell, Lakefield, who camped for a time on Bruce Douglas' lot, returned to Lakefield on Sunday.

Luther Payne and David Miller are in Peterborough on the grand jury.

Miss Ruth Cullen, who was killed a few steps from her own home on Saturday evening, was well known here as she had many relatives near Warsaw.

Rev. Mr. Miller of Bridgenorth preached anniversary sermons at Zion on Sunday and Rev. J. W. Wilkinson took his work at Bridgenorth.

Girl Held At Border May Be Sent Home

DETROIT, Sept. 29—(CP)—Seven-year-old Margaret Dorothy Frederick from San Diego, Cal., is likely to be sent home.

Travellers' Aid Society officials said here to-day they believed Margaret would not be allowed to enter Canada to visit relatives at Oshawa, Ont. She was stopped here last week by immigration authorities after travelling from San Diego by bus.

The Children's Aid Society in Oshawa wired here it could not recommend the child be allowed into Canada as there was no guarantee again the child becoming a public charge.

Officials have wired the girl's mother asking that fare be sent. If she is unable to comply, the Travellers' Aid Society will see Margaret gets home.

HEPBURN ISSUES WARNING ON RIOTS TO HOMER MARTIN

SIMCOE, Ont., Sept. 29 (C.P.)—Warning to Homer Martin, head of the United Automobile Workers of America, as to what would happen if he "incites to riot" Ontario workers was issued last night by Premier Mitchell Hepburn. The Premier made a campaign address here after spending the day in his Elgin riding where he returned today for official nominations.

In describing his stand on the labor question, the Premier referred to the address made in a Hamilton church on Monday night by Mr. Martin, a prominent worker on behalf of the strikers during the Oshawa General Motors strike. Martin's Automobile Union is affiliated with John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

"Now we have Homer Martin over here," the Premier said. The man who publicly challenged the laws of the United States. In true hypocritical fashion he spoke in a church last night.

"I say to Homer Martin if he incites to riot while in Ontario I will instruct the Attorney-General to take the proper action."

Mr. Hepburn said labor was entitled to increasing wages commensurate with the profits of industry and the Government's machinery was to be used to bring this about in orderly and peaceful fashion.

Do Not Want to Behave

The C.I.O., he charged, believed in sit-down strikes and lawlessness which conflicted with the premier's wish for peace and order and increased wages, he continued.

"I never at any time said I could keep the C.I.O. men out," he said. "I asked Ottawa to keep them out and Ottawa refused. But I could make them behave when they came in and that's why they are not here in greater numbers. They do not want to behave."

Mr. Hepburn charged the Conservatives with attempting to create unwarranted alarm by talking of a power shortage. The premier described the Conservative action as "just silly chatter."

"Hydro had 120,000 horsepower under option from the Gatineau system," he said. "None of it was being taken but it could be all turned on in 10 minutes. And in one year the Hydro could develop the Madawaska river power sites the previous government bought at a cost of $1,850,-000. This would produce another 100,000 horsepower."

By reduction of taxation by the government injected life into the building trade. Activity in this industry at present brought more employment, more business from lumber mills in Northern Ontario and better houses for the people.

Beached Whale Provides Feast And 13 Eskimos Die

Samples Of Flesh Are Brought Back On Nascopie In Attempt To Solve Mystery

HALIFAX, Sept. 29—(CP). — A piece of whale meat was brought by the Nascopie on her arrival here today from her annual tour of the Arctic and will be sent to Government laboratories at Ottawa in the hope the mystery of 13 deaths among Eskimos on Baffin Island last winter will be solved.

Dr. L. D. Livingstone, medical officer on the ship, brought the specimen, obtained by mounted police.

Botulinius poisoning from eating meat of the same whale is believed by Dr. Livingstone to have caused the death. Botulism causes paralysis of the diaphragm, stopping the patient's breathing.

The victims suffered no intense pain and died from one to six days after eating the meat. Scientists at the laboratory may be able to find the botulinus organism in the specimen.

Last December a native brought glad tidings to a settlement at Crook's Inlet on the south shore of Baffin Island, 25 miles west of Lake Harbor, that a whale was washed ashore on Big Island in Hudson Strait. Several natives went over the ice of Big Island to get great quantities of whale meat, a chance not to be lost.

All Ate Heartily.

Body of the sea giant was found in January, encased in frozen sea water and seemed fresh and wholesome. They ate heartily of it raw. Some was cooked and brought back to their settlement. In a day or so after eating the meat one native after another became mildly ill. The first death was on Big Island.

Others of the party reached home. Death followed death and Mounted Police were sent to the scene from Lake Harbor. Nothing much could be done, however, and within six days three men, three women, four boys and three girls, under 12 years, were dead.

One of the mysteries was that natives who ate most heartily of the raw whale meat and also of the cooked meat were not affected. In one case two families occupied the same igloo until one among them died and then they separated. Three in one of the families died and none in the other family was ill although all had eaten the meat raw and cooked.

It was suggested possibly the bacteria was in some parts of the whale and not in others and therefore some parts were wholesome and other parts poisonous. The natives had disregarded an old Eskimo warning that whales with teeth, washed up on shore, should not be eaten.

Word of the disaster did not reach the outside world until the Nascopie arrived at Lake Harbor on her first visit, July 25, an defforts have since been under way to definitely diagnose its cause.

Routs Thugs

When attacked by the stick-up men, McQuay seized one as a shield against his gun-toting partner then attacked with fists. Both would-be robbers fled. McQuay is pictured sporting a court-plaster bandage across head cuts garnered in the fray.

SENATOR LEMIEUX TAKEN BY DEATH

MONTREAL, Sept. 29—(CP). — Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, one-time Federal Cabinet member, Senator and one of French-Canada's favorite sons, is dead here, ending a long political career.

Death of the 71-year-old former Speaker of the House of Commons ended 41 years in the Federal arena marked by his retention of four portfolios in the Liberal ministries of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. A fifth, offered in 1921 by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, was turned down.

During his career in the Commons, he declined, too, the Lieutenant-Governorship of Quebec province. He preferred to handle the gavel in the Lower House. For the same reason, he once refused the Justice portfolio in Quebec.

All through his political life he remained in the Federal field. Gaspe sent him to the Commons first in 1896, and he stayed there in 1930 when he went to the Senate. Gaspe electors defeated him in the 1911 campaign, but he had accepted two nominations, and Rouville sent him back.

In two other elections, he carried two ridings. Nicolet gave him a 342 majority in 1904, and Gaspe an acclamation. Thirteen years later, Gaspe and Maisonneuve both voted him majorities.

Fine Pioneer Postal Work

One of the strong men of the Liberal party in the century's early days, he was credited as postmaster-general under Sir Wilfrid, with much pioneering work in the postal service. And later, as Labor minister, he brought down the industrial disputes investigation act providing for conciliation boards in labor disputes. The measure became known generally by its sponsor's name.

He served also as minister of Marine and fisheries and as solicitor-general, and he was noted as an authority on Canadian and international law.

Prime Minister King expressed deep sorrow at his death. "The record of his life is one of long and distinguished public service," Mr. King said in Ottawa.

COTTESLOE

Mr. W. Howden accompanied by Mr. Murray Lewis and Misses Alberta and Dorothy Lewis of Chedden, Ontario also Miss Wilma Lewis of Peterborough were recent visitors at the home of the latter's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ditcham.

Mrs. William Forsyth is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. E. N. MacDonald.

Miss Rena Toms spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Patterson.

Miss Anna Barr visited on Sunday with Miss Mary Toms.

Everybody, young and old attended the barn dance on the farm of Mr. Percy Bell, three miles west of here, held on Friday evening. Music was supplied by the Leahy Orchestra, and a marvellous time was reported. During the evening, Mr. Alex L. Elliott, introduced himself and was given a real welcome.

Rally Day Service

Church and Sunday School united on Sunday and held the rally day service. The program arranged by the United Church Publishing House was followed very closely. Two Bible readings were given by Izabel Girven and Madeliene Toms. Miss Mary Toms read the story, "Brian Learns to Sing Praises," and a number from the Primary classes sang, "God Sees the Little Sparrow Fall." Mr. Thistlewaite then gave the address "Crown Him Lord of All."

CORNWALL MILL "DEVIL HOLE" JOB BARED AT PROBE

CORNWALL, Sept. 29. — Jack Docherty, a witness before the Ontario Industry and Labor Board here yesterday afternoon, told of working in the "devil hole" of the picking department in Canada Mill of Canadian Cottons, Ltd., for a weekly wage of $15.90. He declared the "devil hole" gets its name from the fact that frequent fires break out created by metallic waste in the cotton, and that the water pails are always kept handy to extinguish them. He had seen as many as four or five fires in one night, although during the past three weeks there had been only three or four fires.

"Is there anything the company could do to prevent the fires?" questioned P. M. Draper, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, who took an active part in the hearing. Docherty replied in the negative.

"I guess the 'devil hole' is well named," Mr. Draper commented. Docherty agreed.

Work Hours Reduced.

He told the board his wage prior to the recent strike had been $19.20 for a sixty-hour week, but after the plants reopened his time was cut to fifty hours, with a consequent reduction of $3.30 in his pay envelope.

E. J. Young, chairman of the board, asked Docherty to explain the reduced time. J. H. Cohen, counsel for the National Textile Council, replied for Docherty. "I presume because the company would have to pay the overtime rate," he said. Docherty added: "Yes, we asked for time and a half for overtime."

Percy Laurin, shipper, said his wage was $20 per week of 50 hours. He gave details of various pay reductions and increases which had been put through in the mills since 1929, beginning with a 10 per cent. cut in April, 1933; restoration of five per cent. in April, 1934, and a further six per cent. increase in December, 1936. He told of a yard helper who has been employed by the company 16 years, and receives $17.50 per week.

Mr. Young asked Laurin if there was much sickness and suffering among employees, due to dust in the picking room.

Witness: "I don't know. It might affect some more than others. I was working there and had to quit, because the dust made my nose sore."

Will Not Inspect Mill.

When the board resumed its sittings Tuesday afternoon, Chairman Young announced the board had decided not to visit the cotton mill unless some phase of the evidence made this necessary. In view of this, decision was withheld in connection with the inclusion of Arthur Laverty and Alex. Welch, president and secretary of the National Textile Council, with the party making the tour. The company had agreed to the presence of Mr. Draper, but had declined to agree to Mr. Laverty and Mr. Welch taking their place with the party.

The local sittings of the board inaugurate the Province-wide investigation of the textile industry promised some time ago by Premier M. F. Hepburn. It has an important local bearing, as the agreement which ended the recent five-week strike in the mills of Canadian Cottons, Ltd., provided that the matter of wages, hours of labor and working conditions should be left in the hands of the Industrial and Labor Board. Any adjustments made as a result of the findings of the board will be retroactive to the date of resumption of work, September 1.

Australia Fights 2 Elections Upon Defence Issue

United Government Party Wants Navy While Labor Calls For Planes

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 29—(CP)—Out of the mist of International unrest the question of national defence has emerged as the paramount issue in the Australian Federal election campaign, rapidly gathering momentum.

Not only is defence the chief topic of debate in the Federal arena, but has been exploited on the hustings in the Victoria State election where electors go to the polls on Oct. 2. The Federal election takes place Oct. 23, first time in Commonwealth history that State and Federal campaigns have clashed.

Battle lines are drawn about the rival policies of Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons and his United Australia party and the Labor forces led by a 52-year-old John Curtin.

Labor advocates an "Australia First" defence policy with no foreign entanglements and creation of a powerful air arm as the first line of defence instead of a strong navy.

Lyons and his government favor collective Empire security. Without neglecting the demands of the air force, they trust in the navy as a main bulwark of defence and are convinced the theatre of any war involving Australia would lie along her sea communications.

$44,000,000 For Defence.

In presenting estimates of more than £11,000,000 ($44,000,000) for his department, Sir Archdale Parkhill, Minister of Defence, declared Australia's contribution to the naval defence of the Empire would include strengthening anti-aircraft defence on the coast, with complementary local seaward defences, while the air force and navy would be greatly strengthened.

The Government, he said, also planned to undertake important new measures for manufacture of munitions relieving Britain of the necessity of meeting certain emergency demands. It would establish in the Commonwealth a potential source of Empire supply.

Developments of industrial resources for the manufacture of munitions would be encouraged with a view to industrial mobilization during war.

"Inordinate naval expenditure to the detriment of other means of defence cannot be justified," Curtin retorted.

Even if Australia could sustain a sea-going navy sufficient to her needs she would have no power to retain it in an emergency.

"Therefore," he declared, "Australia's expenditure on defences, which are within her ability to sustain, should be on those forms over which she can exercise full control—defences which it be reasonably assumed will be Australia's when Australia needs them.

5 Times the Air Force.

Labor, he added, stood for a five-fold increase in the aerial fleet, with refueling and repair airdromes in all parts of the country.

The Labor leader declared Australia had no hope of even inadequate defence unless it abandons its old policy of exhaustion in foreign wars and constructed a new policy of exclusive home defence against invasion.

Such a policy was not merely a defence of Australian interests. "It is a defence of 3,000,000 square miles of British territory and British interests inside that territory. There, it cannot be assailed as being anti-British," Curtin said.

JAPS DENY SUBS SHELLED JUNKS

TOKYO, Sept. 29—(AP). — The Naval Ministry issued a categorical denial to-day of reports from Hongkong a Japanese submarine sank a fleet of Chinese fishing vessels and charged the story was an example of "fabricated propaganda."

Ten Chinese were brought to Hongkong yesterday by the German liner Scharnhorst which had rescued them from the fishing junk they said was the only one of 12 to survive an attack by a Japanese submarine. They said 300 lives were lost.

"The Japanese navy has given stern warning to its warships not to assault fishing vessels or junks entertaining no enmity," the navy spokesman asserted.

"There has been no instance in which a Japanese warships including submarines, has attacked innocent Chinese fishing vessels. This is nothing but fabricated propaganda such as the groundless talk of Japanese air raids on Canton killing thousands of non-combatants."

POWER PROJECT AHEAD OF ARMS SAYS ROOSEVELT

BONNEVILLE DAM, Ore., Sept. 29—(AP). — President Roosevelt hailed this power-navigation project to-day and asserted its cost would be returned many times over in improved navigation, cheaper electricity, and distribution of power to "hundreds of small communities within a great radius."

In the first formal address of his trip to the Western United States he visited this $51,000,000 Columbia Basin undertaking with his program for regional and national planning. He said, too, that instead of spending half its income on armaments as some nations do, the United States was wiser in building such projects to give "more wealth, better living and greater happiness for our children."

Seaway Progress.

He forecast "ultimate development" of the St. Lawrence waterway for power and navigation improvement. A treaty with Canada on this project was rejected by the Senate several years ago.

The President also:

Predicted through broader use of electric power a "wider geographical distribution of population" through the building up of smaller communities.

Promised "definitely balanced" budget by the next fiscal year—July 1, 1938.

Favored a policy of the "widest use" of power at Bonneville, Grand Coulee and other Federal dams.

Greeting Our Visitors

Prince Chichibu and Princess Chichibu of Japan, after making a long tour of Europe, arrived at Quebec on their way back to Japan. Canadian government officials, headed by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, welcomed the royal couple at an informal reception on board their vessel.

As a rule such things are done and of course they should be done, but welcoming a representative of Japan in Canada at the moment is not an easy matter. The reason is that the people of Canada cannot approve, condone or sanction the things which Japan is doing today in China.

Canada is on terms of supposed friendship with Japan, but Canada is not on terms of supposed friendship with what Japan is doing. We do not approve of it, and the plain truth is the Canadian people detest what Japan is doing today in China.

That being the case it is not an easy matter for Canadian officials to extend the sort of greetings we desire to give to friendly nations. We have no desire to enlarge a quarrel, neither do we care to act the part of hypocrits.

Things Have Changed

It is only a few days since the folk in Peterborough were standing out in the open one fine afternoon watching the Cambria as it flew over this city. It spent quite a few moments here and came down so low that we all had a good view of it. Felt too that we had somehow got acquainted with it.

After that it went elsewhere, and before long it was reported the Cambria was at Botwood, Nfld., getting ready to return across the ocean. After which came the last report that it flew from Newfoundland to Foynes in the Irish Free State in 10 hours and 33 minutes. And there are plenty of farmers who will put in that many hours in a day's work, and plenty of people in stores who will do the same thing on a Saturday.

It gives us a little more intimate idea of what is going on in the world, and a better understanding of how time and space are being put to one side. We saw the Cambria over Peterborough only a few days ago, and now the great craft is in Ireland, and probably ready for a return trip. And many of the pioneers who settled in this district took from six to seven weeks in crossing the ocean.

We Must Do Something

Mr. Justice McFarland, presiding at the fall session of the Supreme Court at Hamilton, commented on the appaling number of automobile fatalities. In part he said:

"This slaughter on our highways is becoming appalling. One wonders what is to be done about it. . . . Something must be done to induce motorists to drive more carefully."

But in this case the learned judge said something which has been said so often that it is losing its meaning—"Something must be done about it."

Every person seems to say that. Probably at some time or other it has appeared in these columns. And there we stop. At least we have so far.

We have cracked down harder on the man who drives when drunk. And that is as it should be. But we have also told drivers it is quite all right to drive at 50 miles an hour, with the result that many of them are going at 60.

We have asked them to be courteous but many of them are not so minded nor will they ever be. There is no courtesy in them so they cannot exercise what they do not possess.

We have of late been appealing on the ground of the fearful consequences following a wreck. But the wrecks continue.

It may be that the "something" about which so many people speak is to be accomplished by a resort to fear of consequences. Also by the certain knowledge that each infraction of the law is something which will bring punishment regardless of whom the offender may be.

We are right now at the point where we will have to start taking licenses away from people who do not drive carefully. And when we say taking away licenses we mean impounding the car and removing the markers. Of course that would punish all the members of the family for the guilt of one member, but such punishment may provide a cure where lesser punishment has failed. No doubt we must "do something," and we are convinced that if we are going to lessen the slaughter on the highways the "something" will have to be drastic.

Reunion At A Funeral

Report from Wallaceburg tells of a funeral service held there at which three sisters and two brothers were together for the first time in 52 years. Strange as it may seem these brothers and sisters have not been separated by long distances. It was the first time the three sisters had seen one of the brothers in 41 years, and he lives in Toronto, which is no great distance from Wallaceburg.

And yet for over half a century these brothers and sisters had not been united at any time. Possibly they had started homes of their own, and had other family interests which engaged their attention and monopolized such time as they might have had for going here or there, but all that fails to take the chill off the fact that the family reunion finally took place when one of the members had died.

When Does War End?

Sergeant Arthur Wraith, 45, is dead at Stratford. He was in the Worcester Regiment of one of the first British regiments to cross the Channel after the declaration of war. For some years he has been living what might be termed "the life of a disabled soldier."

It would be over 23 years ago when Arthur Wraith first went to war, but the word from Stratford says "Death was attributed to complications which set in as a result of war wounds."

The war in which Arthur Wraith early took part was officially ended on the 11th of November, 1918, and yet it did not end for Arthur Wraith until the 25th of September in the year 1937.

That is also one of the reasons why countries which engage in wars find that the costs run on far longer than the days of the war. The signing of a paper saying the war is over does not mean that the expenditure is over. It merely marks the time when men broken and hurt by war must return to their homes and that provision must be made for them. There are thousands of people in the Dominion for whom the war will never be over until they come to the end of the road. And it is also an unlovely fact that generations yet unborn will be asked to undertake the task of paying for the same war in which Arthur Wraith fought.

Things Look Brighter

We have cheaper car licenses in Ontario, and Mr. Hepburn has intimated there may be a reduction in the tax on gas.

Speaking at Thorold Mr. Hepburn said his government would give serious thought to supplying free text books to Ontario school children.

Mr. Rowe in an address at Ottawa said if he came into power he would remove the service charge on Hydro electric service in rural municipalities.

If this campaign were to keep up for another month or so the people in this province might really be getting some place.

We know of a number of folk who would like a new pair of pants for Sunday wear, and a number of farmers would probably be pleased to hear they could have their barns shingled with the government paying the bill.

A Trifle Perplexing

Ho hum! Now here is something which looks confused and dangerous and it might even cause some politician to rise and say "I view with alarm."

For this reason: Homer Martin, chief lieutenant of John L. Lewis penetrated the province of Ontario to the point of reaching Hamilton. And Mr. Martin is an ambassador from the headquarters of the C. I. O. What's more he gave an address in Zion Tabernacle United Church under auspices of the Fellowship for a Christian Social Order.

Twice during his address Mr. Martin mentioned the name of Premier Hepburn, although there was no direct reference to the present political situation.

Just what we can do about it we do not know at the moment. Hamilton is a good 135 miles from here and by the time we reached there Mr. Martin would probably have departed. If Mr. Hepburn is going to keep the C. I. O. out of Ontario he should have some helpers while he is busy elsewhere in the province conducting an election campaign. But even if he had it would be difficult and a bit out of order to go to a meeting in a church and tell the C. I. O. man to scram. Perplexing.

Not Likely To Succeed

Classifying unemployed persons in Canada according to their aptitude for certain kinds of work is something shortly to be undertaken. We read in a despatch from Ottawa that "eventually it is hoped to have every relief recipient categorized according to his aptitude for some form of employment and a special classification will be made for those who probably never will be employed."

Dominion and Provincial officials are in conference now to discuss that matter. It is a big order, so big we doubt if it will ever be accomplished. The reason? Because school authorities have been trying for years to fit scholars into proper vocational grooves, and they have so far met with only partial success.

The average student doing even advanced collegiate work does not know what he wants to do. He will go out after quitting his course in school and look for employment, and he is likely to take it just where he can find it. He may have a preference but that preference is not going to stand in his way very long. It is quite possible he may begin working at something about which he had never previously thought.

So we have people with a natural bent toward mechanics who never see the inside of a machine shop; we have men in business who would like to paint pictures; we have men in offices and factories who have a longing for the day when they will do something which will take them out doors.

An unemployed person cannot afford to have many likes or dislikes regarding the nature of the work he will do. We expect him to try his hand at anything which comes along, and if he did express a preference we would likely say he was getting too particular and should be forced to work at the first thing which came along. Our Provincial and Dominion authorities may try out their scheme, but they should not be disappointed if it does not produce results. We do not anticipate it will.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Mussolini was greeted with cheers in Berlin. The populace probably did it by numbers on orders from headquarters.

A new census has been ordered in Russia. Possibly this is intended as a check-up after the current "purge."

Mussolini says that peace is his aim. In that case he does not rate first class ranking for his marksmanship.

A cinder getting lodged in a glass eye is our idea of something which is wasting its time.

It may be an oversight, but so far we have noticed no reference in the election campaign to the full dinner pail.

You may favor peace. Most people do. But did you ever see a man escape a cyclone by merely being in favor of fine weather?

Premier Aberhart hints there may be an election in Alberta within 40 days. After all however the province has had to endure worse things than elections.

The Six Nation Indians predict there will be a cold winter because the nut crop is plentiful. Well their guess is as good as any one else's.

It won't be long now. The sport pages have been carrying an announcement of the fact that Seibert of the Chicago Black Hawks is the first N.H.L. holdout of the season.

A Montreal brokerage firm has been charged in court with issuing false information. The man who predicts tomorrow's weather had better watch his step. He may be next.

Now we have a lowered gasoline tax hinted at. Possibly this election should be dragged out a little. It is hard to say what we might get if there was more time for promises.

Ottawa is tackling a classification of the unemployed to discover forms of work for which they are best suited. In a few cases that is putting quite a problem up to the officials.

Jacob B. Oswald, Kitchener's oldest man will celebrate his 100th birthday this week and it is said that he has only been sick three days in his life. The medical association has probably written him off long since as a total loss.

A woman in Los Angeles secured a divorce because her husband slapped her, refused to pay the household bills and threatened her with a gun. It does look as though the time were coming when a husband would have no rights left.

Pupils of the Wallaceburg entrance class have agreed to attend classes on Saturday to make up for the time lost while the school was closed because of the epidemic. That phrase about "agreeing to attend" is a trifle hard to interpret.

A correspondent writing to the Examiner regarding the condition of one of the roads he uses turns to the beauty parlor of today to find the descriptive phrase he wants. One of those ribbed roads, or washboard roads, but our correspondent's expression is that this particular road has had a permament wave.

THRIFTY

¶ Joe Spinack always thought it fine, if he could plan to save a dime, it pleased him quite a lot; each dime he saved and put away, just helped him farther on the way, to own a house and lot.

¶ Joe Spinack read of some affair, designed for cutting people's hair, he had four boys at home; Joe figured he'd experiment, and when he learned just how it went, why then he'd cut his own.

¶ Joe got the book of rules all right, and read it through three times one night, he'd try his youngest son; it told him how to do it quick, and never miss and leave a nick, it was quite easy done.

¶ The little lad sat on a chair, and Joe attacked his golden hair, he'd start then saving cash; if he got skilful like and deft, why he'd have dimes and nickels left, to buy him hocks and hash.

¶ The little lad shed quite a tear, when Joe nipped sections from his ear, of course that bothered Joe; he cut according to the book, but all the folk said it would look, as though he'd used a hoe.

¶ When Joe looked for the other three, why one had climbed a hickory tree, that grew upon the farm; another lad to save his head, had gone and perched upon the shed—the third was 'neath the barn.

SECOND growth timber today grows in the ghost villages of northern Vancouver Island, reclaiming for the forest clearings made by eager settlers 30 years ago. Travelling by automobile across the continent from New York recently Miss Violet Ohlson found 100 miles of wilderness lay between the highway's end and her childhood home at San Josef, British Columbia. When she completed the journey by launch, fishing-boat and on foot she found her father the sole survivor of 100 settlers who lived there when she left the district in 1916. Miss Ohlson who came there in 1904, aged one, said other settlements near San Josef had also dwindled, leaving only one settler at Cape Scott and another at Cache Creek.

The detector was tried out in an airplane and picked up the Caterham hills at 2,000 feet when five miles away and through thick mist it later pointed out St. Catherine's Light which is 23 miles distant.

Letters To The Editor

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics.

LIQUOR IN POLITICS

Editor Examiner:

Sir: When the question of the liquor business and politics comes up, it would be well for the public to understand that when the sale of beer through warehouses was first put into effect, the brewers appointed men as managers of those places who had had previous experience and who were selected irrespective of their political affiliations. These men were and still are paid by the brewers and not by the government.

When Mr. Hepburn came into power he forced the breweries to make changes in the management of a number of warehouses and in every case where such a change was made the manager who was let go had a political outlook that was other than Liberal. These men were let go, regardless of their experience and ability, and to the annoyance of the brewers, and replaced by Liberals. In some cases the management has been very disappointing, due to lack of knowledge and experience.

Now Mr. Hepburn claims he is taking liquor out of politics. Why did he put it in and have it controlled by party politicians as in these cases?

NETTING ON BASKETS

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Now that we are through another season of buying fruit in baskets, I want to ask why the use of colored netting is allowed as a covering for baskets? I consider it deceptive. When the peaches first start to arrive there is that red netting used and it makes the fruit look as though it were ripe and ready for use. Truth is much of it is green and hard and has to be kept at home for days before it is fit for use and by that time a good deal of it has begun to go spotty. I am told it has to be picked and shipped that way. If that is the case then why put on the red netting to make it appear that the peaches are ripe?

HOUSEWIFE.

Peterborough, Sept 28.

WHICH DOES HE MEAN?

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Please allow me space to comment on Mr. Lancaster's remarks at the Legion Hall Saturday night. When he stated that the C. C. F. candidate William Johnson is a fine young man, Mr. Lancaster was quite right, but when he said that the C.C.F. had not a ghost of a chance of winning, Mr. Lancaster was on far less solid ground. He quoted the statement of the C. C. F. leader, John Mitchell, condemning Mr. Hepburn, and then said that the probable effect of Mr. Johnson's entry into the Peterborough contest would be to help Mr. Hepburn back into power.

Mr. Lancaster must therefore think that the Conservatives are either more intelligent or less intelligent than the Liberals, to be thus more easily turned away from their old party allegiance by the C. C. F. appeal. Which is it? More likely the fact is that the C. C. F. will draw about equally from the old parties, with both of which the electors are becoming more wearied every day.

A. C. SJOBERG.

THE C. I. O. MENACE

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Admitting that Labor has just cause for complaining as to work and wages; and that as long as Labor has reason to believe that it does not get a fair share of the wealth produced, it will agitate and organize until it does, it is a fact that while benefiting its members, Unions have made the condition of unorganized labor worse than ever. If Labor had directed its efforts to the removal of primary causes, labor conditions would have been improved for all.

The C. I. O., using Labor as a stalking-horse, is a subversive political organization, determined to bring the whole industrial life of the nation under the absolute control of a small committee of irresponsible men belonging to a class the least fitted by education training or association to be entrusted with any degree of authority whatsoever.

The success of the C. I. O., a policy imported from Continental Europe, means the loss of personal freedom, anarchy and the destruction of civilization or the reign of dictators. Conditions in Italy, Germany, Russia and to a considerable degree in France also, are examples of what the C.I.O. would produce in Canada.

We have our social problems and are quite capable of solving them without interference from a group of alien, lawless, irresponsible racketeers, whose activities, if unchecked, threaten the industrial life of the United States. In the coming election, it is the paramount duty of every citizen, irrespective of party affiliations, to support those candidates who, realizing the evil of it, are opposed to any attempts to introduce the menace of the C. I. O. into Canada.

RE THE TEMPERANCE ISSUE

Editor Examiner;

Sir: One of the four questions which is to be presented by the Temperance Federation to the candidates in the forthcoming provincial election for their approval, reads in part "The removal of the temperance issue from party politics"

Mr. G. A. Brethern, chairman of the Peterborough County and City Temperance Federation seeks to point out that this is one of the major questions of interest to the temperance voter. I would like to suggest to Mr. Brethen that much more could be accomplished for the cause of temperance, if the members of the Temperance Federation of Peterborough County and City would take the "Politics out of the Temperance Federation."

As a member of the said Temperance Federation which held a meeting in this City recently I was more than amazed to hear a number of the prominent members of the Federation express themselves as Liberals and not forgetting the representative from Toronto who said he was born and bred a Liberal. The meeting appeared more like a Liberal caucus than a meeting of the temperance forces.

Why is it that we cannot forget our politics when a moral issue is at stake? Unless we are willing to do so we should not be so unreasonable to ask a candidate of either party to declare himself to comply with our demands.

MR. BRETHEN AND BEER

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Once again the anti-liquor people have come forward in the person of Mr. Brethen to tell us how much better the world would be if God had not permitted the making of alcohol or had put a ban upon its consumption. It ought to be plain enough that the responsibility for all sins is left by the Almighty upon the individual and not upon the things complained of. It is this futile mistake of trying to cure an evil by treating the disease, and not the patient that has made such a farce of "Temperance" and has spread broadcast the idea that "Temperance" people do not believe either in God's ways or in God. Until such time as men are born again we may hope for very little and arguments about the wickedness of this or that form of sale and consumption are as futile as they are silly. I am just as Mr. Brethen is free to express an unbiased opinion and if Mr. Brethen will meet me on the platform before election day to debate this question in its entirety, I will go anywhere at any time he may mention.

WHO BENEFITS?

(Ottawa Journal)

A RADIO broadcaster has been telling a craft association that newspaper writers would be benefited by three years' experience in writing news for radio broadcasting. The result, he thought, would be a "much more fluid flowing, more readable style in hundreds of our newspapers." Our idea is that some news broadcasters would be benefited by six months under a newspaper city editor who yelled blue murder every time his writers used unnecessary verbiage. A too "fluid" reporter soon floods himself out of a job. Some broadcasters too, would be more careful in their comments if they were compelled to read them in print one week later, or even the next day.

RUBBER BOOTS.

FOLLOWING the success that has attended the rubber sheep boot for the curing of foot rot, Messrs. Dunlop have made a seamless rubber boot for cows. This cow boot, which is designed for use in such diseases as founder, laminitis, foul canker and cleft ill, enables dressings and poultices to be kept in place and to provide continuous treatment.

Like the sheep boot, it is an effective preventive as well as facilitating the swift cure of diseases which have cost farmers thousands of pounds. Tests carried out over long periods show that the cow boot causes no trouble to the animal.

NO NEED TO WORRY.

(Northern News)

MR. BOAKE CARTER, since his renunciation of British citizenship, is probably a somewhat embarrassing son to Uncle Sam. Somewhat after the manner of a certain type of domestic servant, he seems anxious to give his new master "an earful about the old one," and is rather insistent on doing so. As a former Englishman, Carter doesn't give a very good picture of his former country, and as a new American he isn't doing the best for the country of his adoption. But Mr. Carter counts, amongst his other possessions, a yacht, and a five-year radio contract. So he probably doesn't worry very much.

THE HARVEST PAST.

Alone I stood at the close of day
While the shades of night encircled me,
The fading light in the western sky
Like a sachtly life seemed loath to die.

The song bird's voice was hushed to rest,
As it dreamed with its mate in a hidden nest,
Anon and again from a wooded hill
Come the lonely call of a whip-poor-will.

O'er the eastern hills the moon arose,
Nor disturbed the calm of the nights repose,
With solemn grandeur and steady flight
Pursued her way through the orbs of night.

O'er mountain, vale, and tall church spire
She heard the notes of the cricket's choir,
Upward borne as on zephyr's wings
More sweetly tuned than Apollo's strings.

From her lofty throne she scanned the fields,
Bereft of their bounteous golden yields,
Their glistening stubble a story told
Of a harvest garnered from winter's cold.

I thought as I viewed that solemn scene
Of the priceless harvest of souls of men
Passing on toward the final bourne
The end of summer, The Judgment throne.

O soul of man in the fields of sin,
The harvest is now being garnered in
Sheaf by sheaf to the Heavenly store
Safely sheltered forevermore,

Soon will the harvest days be past,
Each sheaf removed from winter's blast,
Then when fearful judgments reign
God grant you rest with the golden grain.

Where Italian Troops Are Reported Massacred

Reports filtering into London and Paris via the French Somaliland port of Djibouti, assert that Ethiopian tribesmen in a fierce revolt against Italian rule have massacred every white soldier in Makale, Adowa and Aksum, all cities which fell before the advance of Il Duce's legions during the invasion of Ethiopia. This scene in Makale was taken shortly after the invaders had captured the town in November, 1935, and shows Italian warriors staging a wild celebration of their victory. Every white resident, civilian as well as soldier, was slain in the ferocious revolt in this city according to the reports. At the same time international commentators see in Il Duce's recent friendly gestures to Britain and France a bid for recognition of his Ethiopian empire as a means of combatting revolts among the tribesmen.

PRAIRIE NEVER BE DESERT

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 29 (CP).—The immediate outlook in some sections of the Canadian West is depressing but the prairies are not becoming a desert, Rt. Rev. W. T. Hallam, Bishop of Saskatoon, said here. There is evidence the Saskatchewan prairies have been subject to cycles of drought from the earliest times, always followed by periods of prosperity.

ALBERTA DITCHES NEW BANK SCHEME

EDMONTON, Sept. 29 (C.P.). — The Alberta Legislature turns to Government business to-day after spending yesterday on motions from private members except for brief consideration of Bills previously introduced.

Debate on a motion by Charles Cockroft, former Provincial Treasurer, and an amendment affecting signatures required on petitions to recall sitting members of the Legislature was adjourned.

The Legislature defeated 42 to 13 a motion to raise $500,000 for a deposit in obtaining a charter for a provincial bank and by the same margin rejected a motion to make payments on matured bonds held by necessitous persons.

By a vote of 41-13 a motion to call G. F. Powell, Government advisor, before the Agriculture Committee to report on progress in establishing Social Credit was defeated. A motion by J. J. Bowlen, Liberal House Leader, asking for copies of letters and cables exchanged between the Government, Major C. H. Douglas, founder of Social Credit, and his two advisors to the Alberta Government, L. D. Byrne and Mr. Powell, was beaten 45 to 8.

10 Per Cent. for Recall Action.

Mr. Cockroft proposed the number of signatures on a recall petition be reduced from 66 2-3 per cent. of the electorate in a constituency to 10 per cent. An amendment by Fred Anderson (S.C., Calgary) proposed the signatures necessary be 66 2-3 per cent. of those who voted in the previous election.

When Gerald O'Connor (Lib., Edmonton) asked if the amendment would apply to circulation of a petition in Okotoks-High River, represented by Premier Aberhart, Mr. Anderson said he was not aware whether it would apply.

Bills to amend and consolidate the licensing of Trades and Business Act and increasing taxation on banks were put over for second reading. Bills to amend the Debt Adjustment Act, the Coal Mines Regulation Act, and the Male Minimum Wage Act were given second reading.

LABADIE BROUGHT GUN HOME 2 A.M.

from young Labadie shortly after he was arrested March 13 and brought from Brigden to the provincial police office in Sarnia. The confession was allegedly made before Constables R. J. Whiting and A. F. Grant after another story of Labadie's actions at the Luckins farm the previous afternoon had failed to stand up.

Constable Whiting testified the boy said he and John had been playing cowboys and Indians in the barn during the afternoon but he could not remember what happened.

Tells of Buying Liquor.

The two officers left him to himself in their office for a time while they talked of other things. Finally, Whiting testified, Labadie asked, "How's John?"

The officers told him John was in a critical condition at the hospital. Constable Grant wrote down the first statement and read it to the youth. Labadie then admitted with tears in his eyes the story was "all bunk."

Labadie told them then he had bought a bottle of liquor in Port Huron the previous night. On his way home he drank about half of it and hid the rest at the base of a large tree on the line fence of the Luckins farm.

Next afternoon, while he was alone at the farm, he drank the rest of the liquor. He told police, Whiting said, he got so drunk he couldn't work and put his horses in the stable. He then went into the cow stable.

There John found him when he came home from school, and said, "Bill, you're drunk, and I am going to tell dad."

"That made me mad," Whiting quoted Labadie as telling them. "I picked up the hammer and hit him over the head with it."

Fraserville Church Observes Its Eightieth Anniversary

History Of Methodism In These Parts Goes Back To 1824

FRASERVILLE, Sept. 29. — The eighteenth anniversary of the organizing of the congregation and the sixtieth anniversary of the dedication of the present church were commemorated by Fraserville United Church on Sunday, Sept. 26. Special sermons were preached by Rev. H. B. Neal of Campbellford. A special jubilee commemoration will be observed on Thanksgiving Sunday, Oct. 10, when old friends will be invited back for a reunion and Revs. H. W. Foley, B.A., B.D., and M. W. Leigh, B.A., B.D., old pastors, will assist in services at 10.30 a.m. and 7 p.m.

The history of Methodism in these parts goes back to 1824 when the Rev. Anson Green was appointed as assistant minister to the Smith's Creek Circuit, now Port Hope. This was a circuit that extended from Yonge Street, Toronto, to the Carrying-Place near Trenton. The Rev. Anson Green made his way by horseback from Cobourg to Smith Township and to a settlement that is now Peterborough. He preached in Hope Township and was invited to South Monaghan by a Mrs. Thompson who had walked fifteen miles to hear the sermon. Direct descendants of Mrs. Thompson are still living in Monaghan. The first sermon was preached in Monaghan in Mrs. Thompson's house in 1826. The next year Rice Lake Circuit was organized with 110 members. In 1827 this was changed to Cavan Circuit with Rev. James Harrison as minister. In 1829 this was divided into Cavan and Rice Lake Circuits. In 1835 al ithis territory was included in the Peterborough Circuit but before long was again divided into Peterborough on the north and Rice Lake on the south.

The Long Swamp

What is now Fraserville was, until the building of the railway from Peterborough to Port Hope, in the fifties, the Long Swamp. A railway stop was located where the railway crossed the corduroy road, the present highway. People then began to locate near the 'station.' A fire, started by a spark from an engine, destroyed the long swamp, which fire, old settlers say, burned for two years.

The settlers in this new settlement and the neighbouring farmers were gathered together for worship in Smith's schoolhouse in 1867 so that the history ... congregation goes back eigh... In a Methodist Union ... Fraserville became a par... with Monaghan Circuit with the... William Buchanan as the first minister.

Church Built In 1876

The present church was built in the Fall of 1876, initiated and carried through by what was then known as the Methodist Class at Smythe's. The dedication services were held in February 1877, presided over by the Rev. N. R. Willoughby, chairman of the Peterborough district. Shortly after this, Might's Church, on the Fifth Concession of Cavan, was closed and the members united with those at Fraserville.

The ministers who have served throughout these years are: Revs. Wm. Buchanan, Henry McDowell, Thos. Manning, Francis Johnson, Benj. Greatrix, D. N. McCamus, Jos. Kilgour, Thos. McKee, F. P. Steele, N. D. Drew, J. E. Robeson, W. J. Weatherill, F. W. White, W. T. Wickett, M. W. Leigh, R. M. Patterson, H. W. Foley, E. F. Swayne, E. M. Cook.

Tug Tows Steamer 15,000 Miles

South Shields, Eng., Sept. 29. THE world's longest tow has ended here. The tug Ganges towed the disabled steamer Kingswood 15,000 miles from Port Pirie, Australia. The Kingswood was badly damaged near Port Pirie by a boiler exposion. Towing days totalled 127, but, in addition the two ships spent twenty-one days in various ports. The Kingswood will undergo repairs in the Tyne.

The present membership just about the same in number as when the church was built. The conditions of sixty years ago were such that the church was built only through great loyalty, faith and sacrifice. It has not been in vain. It is the rural church's lot to see most of her sons and daughters leave her for other fields of service but most of them do her credit. Eight from here have gone into the ministry of the church, one of whom will be here to take part in this jubilee. The spirit that originated this church and has maintained it through the years will also insure its future.

The present elders are R. J. Delahaye, Ray Finlay and Fred Lewers. The superintendent of the Sunday School is Mr. R. Finlay. The president of the W's. A. is Mrs. W. A. Wood and the president of the Y.P. A. is Miss Mary Atchison.

CO-OPERATIVE RISE GREAT IN 30 YEARS

MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—(CP). — Growth of co-operative enterprise in the Maritimes and an outline of the basic principles underlying the movement were described to delegates yesterday at the Co-operative Union of Canada's three-day Congress in addresses by George Keen, Brantford, Ont., and A. S. McIntyre, Glace Bay, N.S.

Mr. Keene, secretary of the Union, told the gathering of initial efforts at forming co-operative societies in Canada more than 30 years ago and of the progress made in the interval. Behind the progress were principles that must be observed.

"The co-operative movement is a philosophy of life and the economic part of it is only one aspect," he said. "Co-operation is not the association of the selfish but of the unselfish. The important thing is that it considers the welfare of all and in so doing helps the individual. This attitude is a way of life that affects more than our economic existence."

W. C. Good of Brantford, a former Member of Parliament, was re-elected president. George Keen, Brantford, was chosen secretary-treasurer, and Agnes Macphail, M.P., Ceylon, was elected a vice-president.

Branching into the realm of insurance was suggested with adoption of a resolution inviting the British Co-operative Insurance Society to extend its operations into Canada.

O'Brien-Parker.

The following will be of local interest, Miss Verna Parker having been born in Peterborough, and lived in this city till about twelve years ago.

"At St. Mark's Anglican Church, Toronto, on Saturday, September 25, the wedding took place of Miss Verna M. Parker, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Parker of Diamond Lake, to William R. O'Brien, son of Mrs. O'Brien and the late John O'Brien of Toronto. Following a short honeymoon, the couple will reside at 1535 Marlyan Aparments, Bathurst street, Toronto.

Orr-Grass.

HASTINGS, Sept. 29. — A quiet wedding took place at Gunter on September 15th, at 1 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grass, when their youngest daughter, Eva Pearl (Peggy) became the bride of Wallace Orr, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Orr of Hastings.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. W. Harding of Springbrook, Ont., in the presence of relatives and friends, and the wedding march was played by Miss Marjorie Wood of St. Ola.

The bride was attired in Coronation blue crepe, with touches of maize, and was given in marriage by her father. She wore the gift of the groom, a gold wrist watch, and carried a lovely bouquet of gladioli and fern.

The young couple were attended by Mrs. Earl Wilson, sister of the bride, and by Mr. George Ward, friend of the groom.

The home was decorated with beautiful potted plants, autumn leaves and cut flowers.

Following the ceremony, lunch was served, with friends of the bride assisting.

The table was very attractive with vases of white asters and fern, and centred with the wedding cake.

The bride's travelling suit was navy blue, flecked, and she wore white shoes, hat and gloves to match.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a compact; to the best man, cuff links, and to the organist, a manicure set.

The happy couple left later amid showers of confetti, for Peterborough and other Western points. On their return they will reside in Percy Township, where the groom is a prosperous young farmer.

GO break to the needy sweet charity's bread,
For giving is living, the angel said.
And must I be giving again and again?
My peevish and pitiless answer ran.
Oh, no, said the angel, piercing me through,
Just give till the Master stops giving to you.

Just Between Us Women.

Dear Friends:

Back again on a different angle of giving. Sometimes we get angry at a rope or piece of string because it will not "give," no matter how we pull at it, but if we know enough we wet either one and then it will "give" so that we can use it.

If an actor or actress do not "give" themselves to their audience, their work is stilted and poor. If you act the same way, just putting in the hours, just thinking of the pay check, or the time for checking out, your work will be poor also.

If someone is telling you their troubles and you do not "give" yourself to listening sympathetically, you are no good at all to them. Sometimes we call this lack of giving stubbornness, or pride, or independence.

Some have so little "give" to them that they go through life stiff as a ramrod, experiencing neither the height of joy, nor the depths of sorrow. And what would you think this "giving" really is? It is an intangile something of yourself and your personality.

Haven't you ever been talking to someone and came away cheered and warm and sort of full? And with some others haven't you come away feeling empty and tasteless and lacking? The one gave, and the other not only didn't give, but took from you.

You have to have a certain amount of elasticity as you go through life, so that you can give and take. We are all inclined at times to think whenever any little annoyance comes along, that life is treating us very unfairly, that no one has to put up with all the irritating things which come our way.

But when we "give," when we think, "Oh, well, everybody gets their share," and make the best of it, we adjust ourselves more rapidly and do not take life so seriously, getting more happiness all round. And that is what this kind of "giving" does to you. It helps you over many rough spots by showing you how to adjust yourself.

What do you think automobiles have springs for? To help them to "give" to the different contours of the road, otherwise we would bump and bounce no matter how good a car we get. And having some "give" in your own nature saves you many a bump and jar.

And when you are adjusting yourself to others, don't forget they are having to do the same to you. There isn't one of us that don't have angles and corners to our nature that people must get around, for none of us are so perfect nor so good-natured, nor so even-tempered but that others must humor us in some way.

Of course, if you "give" too much, you are like rubber that has gone dead. Oh, yes, there is live and dead rubber) or like elastic with all the stretch out of it. Keep the stretch in yourself so that you can snap back after "giving," neither being too rigid or too slack.

Some are so upright that they bend over backwards. There are only two colors in the spectrum for them, black and white. No creamy, nor reds nor blues nor purples. You are either all good or all bad. Hard people to live with, no "give" to them, no real understanding, no fun as a friend. Hoping you "get" what I try to "give,"—

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

C.D.S. Fall Fashion Revue

Highlights from Dame Fashion's wardrobe, smart knitted suits and wool dresses, draped and shirred afternoon frocks with corselette waistlines and brilliant trimmings in sequins and metals, lovely daytime velvets, glamorous cocktail frocks and martinized velvet evening gowns in rich glowing colors, with black playing an important part throughout, were displayed with grace and charm by mannequins at the Capitol Theatre on Tuesday evening when the Canadian Department Store staged its Fall Fashion Revue to music supplied by Mose Yokum and his orchestra.

The lovely clothes were modelled by Mrs. Brown and the Misses Dorothy Marshall, Mabel Brown, Vi Davidson, Betty Wolfe and Helen Dawson. Three charming kiddies, Marilyn Hollingsworth, Joan LeBarr and Donald Allan, dressed in smart youngsters' apparel, won the hearts of their audience with pretty bits of acting and gay little hand wavings as they left the stage. Miss Jerry Campbell, dressed for the first part of the program in a smart satin back crepe with front panel drape, and a small black hat with cone-shaped crown and entrancing little nose veil, was the very chic page.

First came the "Sportswear for Fall." There were silk bucle spits, one in canyon red, ribbed, to give the uplift front, was worn with a matching turban and black accessories; another in "hockey" green was carried out in charming hand-knit effect. It was worn with a green velour turban. A nubby faille in rust had the new wing collar and odd patent leather leaves on the breast pockets, and the collar and pockets of a brown wool were hand-embroidered in red and white wools. For the more mature figure a three-piece knitted suit in Spanish violet, the inner white pullover having a lacey jabot front, was worn with a matching violet velour hat. There was also a scarlet jacket worn with a Balmoral plaid in grey, red and black, with sporty scarlet hat.

In the 'Tailored Afternoon Frocks,' an outstanding black crepe with new draped to one side neckline had brilliant touches in blue, mauve, and green sequins on shoulder and sash. A black crepe back satin with shirred corselette waistline had the low V-neckline held with brilliant clips. A Bellefair black was fashioned with crossed-over draped front, the laced corselette girdle finished with brilliant eyelets matching a feather brilliant at the neck. And for the stouter figure there was a satin back crepe in Porto wine, trimly and smartly made, with a pattern of roses in the material. A brown velour hat with high front and brown accessories were worn. The new graceful panel draped skirt was featured in a black ticatina with large rhinestone buckle at the waist.

"Fashionable Fur Trim Coats" came next. A charming costume composed of matching turban worn with a fitted wine wool coat with luxurious grey Bombay lamb collar, and an almost boxy sleeve, was followed by a fitted green coat with a wolf collar. A nubby English wool was exceedingly smart in appearance with notched collar of silver fox. For the short stouter figure a semi-fitted brown was trimmed with a smallish petal collar of mink marmot. A trim travel tweed was in red, wine and beige, with cosy natural wolf collar. One of the smartest was a very fitted black wool, with small Persian lamb collar and two cone-shaped pockets of the fur.

Among the 'Fur Coats' a fitted grey broadtail, its small pointed collar of grey Persian lamb and with belt of grey suede, made a charmingly smart costume worn with wine turban and accessories.

A luxurious silver fox collar topped a fitted brown broadtail, and a Russian seal was trimmed with a broad band of sable around the bottom, and a sable collar.

"Fashion Firsts, Afternoon Velveta" were headed by perhaps their loveliest, which is saying a good deal. Copper rust in color, of crush resistant velvet, it fastened with a zipper from the Peter Pan collar to the hem. Shirring from the shoulders puffed the sleeves, and bands of fine tucking accompanied the zipper down the front. Indispensable to this fall's smart wardrobe these lovely frocks were shown in black, brown and tuxedo blue, with collars and cuffs of satin fagotting or lace.

Next came the "Glamorous Cocktail Frocks", announced by the page, who was herself glamorous in a black taffeta, with accordian tucking around the heart-shaped neckline, puffed sleeves and full skirt. The enormous skirt of another showed a cerise lining at the shorter in front hem; the heart shaped neckline of a tuxedo blue taffeta gleamed with brilliants, and a cerise satin displayed with accentuated effect the draped and shirred sleeves and bodice.

"Lovely Velvet Evening Wraps" paraded with fitted waistlines and full skirts, trimmed with puffed and shirred collars or white bunny.

"For Formal Smartness, Silk Velveta" wound up the list of lovely clothes. Worn with corsages of real flowers—the courtesy of Turnbull's Flower Shop—they were shown in black and rich glowing colors. A golden rust velvet with shirred bodice and sleeves was made with draped front panel, and a gorgeous cerise had the split back and graceful draped skirt. Among them a black velvet with collarless metallic bolero made a charming contrast, and there was a graceful matron's gown with cut velvet sleeves and draped bodice.

The kiddies appeared in jolly red and green snowsuits, and smart three piece wool suits with Donny's featuring the raglan sleeve. Little wool crepe frocks with dainty cross stitching trim were worn by the little girls, and a dear little green velvet made on princess lines. A figured chaills had round smocked yoke and short puffed sleeve, and for the little boy a party suit had brown velvet trousers and sand silk broadcloth top.

OLD AGE PENSIONS ALLEGED GRANTED RETURN FOR VOTES

Charges that Old Age Pensions and Mothers' Allowances are being granted in Peterborough County in return for votes and that mail carriers and recipients of Old Age Pensions and Mothers' Allowances are being threatened with loss of their contracts and their pensions if they fail to vote for the Hepburn Government, were levelled by T. P. Lancaster, M.L.A., Conservative candidate, in an address to a rally in the Keene town hall last night.

"Right here in your township a political racket is being worked," Mr. Lancaster declared. "I am referring to Old Age Pensions and Mothers' Allowances. Such are the abuses going on that an indignation meeting could be called in one section of this township. People who are not entitled to apply for Old Age Pensions and Mothers' Allowances have been solicited to apply and have received their pensions. Mail carriers have been approached and some of those receiving Old Age Pensions have been approached and told that if they don't vote Liberal they will lose their jobs and their pensions," he asserted.

"That is not hearsay," he continued. "That is a fact. I want to go on record as disapproving this despicable political thugery."

A small gathering of 25 persons heard the charge. Speakers blamed the small attendance on the fact that the Keene school fair had just disbanded before the meeting, claiming many who otherwise would have attended were home for their chores. In addition to the candidate, Eward Pinder, of Aurora, president of the Young Canada Conservative Club of Ontario, and E. A. Peck ex-M.P., also spoke.

Road Work.

"Even in opposition I think you will admit I have secured more for this county, particularly in the matter of roads, than any of the Liberal members from adjoining counties," Mr. Lancaster declared. "I have managed to get concessions for Peterborough county only through hard work."

Mr. Lancaster said the Conservative manner of giving out work on highways was to give the orders to heads of municipalities, the men in the best position to place men impartially. With the arrival of the Hepburn administration, all this was changed, the patronage system was substituted, he said, charging serious abuses have prevailed.

"I do believe the abuses have been the work of Liberal heelers and party hangers-on through the country," he said. "The administration has probably not even heard of it."

Dictatorship.

Mr. Peck declared Ontario has been controlled, not by the Liberal party, but by a one-man administration. Gradually the Premier has proceeded with a policy of ignoring his cabinet and forcing his own view, he said.

"One man, no matter how bright he is, should not have full control of the administration," he said. "It smacks of dictatorship, of Hitlerism."

He claimed Hepburn put the Separate School Act through an "irresponsible cabinet" by threats and intimidation. Cabinet members had been told to back the bill or get out. The bill was passed, stirring up religious animosities which will not die for years, only to be repealed a year later when the harm had been done.

"He handed the Separate school supporters a measure and then took it away again," he said, charging that the whole effort was a bait for the Catholic vote.

Privy Council.

"It does seem to me Mr. Hepburn is afraid of the judgment of the Privy Council," Mr. Peck said, claiming the imminence of a decision on the Hydro contracts may have forced the early election. "If the Privy Council finds the government must live up to its contracts it will be an awful slap in the face for Hepburn. He has made no provision for payment of the sums which will be involved if he is forced to live up to the contracts."

Mr. Pinder declared: "Mr. Hepburn has left more broken promises than any other Premier of Ontario. Reviewing his promises you can tell just what districts they were made in by their tenor."

He said Hepburn had promised cold storage warehouses for the fruit men of the Niagara district but had built none. He had promised agricultural marketing help but one of his first acts was to close the "show window" of Ontario in England, the Ontario House through which millions in agricultural products had been marketed indirectly. He had promised not to forget the man on the back concession and proceeded to put the promise into effect by cutting agricultural grants.

Fewer Seizures.

"If the farm loan policy had been continued to to-day you would not have had so many seizures," he declared.

The speaker said Hepburn promised faithfully to put every cent collected in automobile taxes into roads, but has detoured many millions. His four-lane highways are now being constructed where only small roads are needed and scores of really necessary road projects are being neglected in districts where Liberal votes can not be won.

Mr. Pinder told of a "mushroom" beverage room hotel in Toronto "within a stone's throw of the City Hall," as he condemned the Liquor Control Administration. He stated he and a couple of companions were allowed into the beverage room supposed to have been reserved for women with escorts and that they had not been seated long before they were approached amourously by three women. A glance at the hotel's register later revealed five and six registrations for one room in an evening, he said.

Clean Up.

"I have no quarrel with standard hotels, but I do not think dives like that should be tolerated for our young people to stumble into. I have offered to reveal the name of this hotel to Mr. Hepburn if he would call me personally but I have heard no request. He is making no effort to clean up these dives."

The Result of Nervous Tension

Since the nerves control all bodily functions,
Any weakness of the nervous system

Stomach ulcers and ulcerative colitis to the same cause.
The worry and anxiety of recent years
Have enormously increased nervous disorders,
As well as constipation, stomach ulcers and colitis.
Why not learn to relax
And thereby live more happily as well as longer.
By restoring vigor to the nervous system,
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food can be of great benefit to you.
It is generally acknowledged by thousands of people
To be a most effective means of relieving and dams on upper water courses; planting of forests under provincial ownership and supervision; co-operation with farmers to preserve and increase privately-owned forest areas.

Mr. Rowe pledged co-operation with the Federal government and other provincial governments to provide unemployment insurance, health insurance, hours of labor laws, minimum wage laws and "other plans calculated to insure social and economic security. The Hepburn administration had fought social legislation by the Bennett government on "the narrow and petty grounds of provincial rights."

Money was being collected from hotelkeepers for political purposes, charged Mr. Rowe. His party would accept none of it. "And I want to tell hotelkeepers that any money you have paid — and I know you have paid plenty—has gone straight into Liberal campaign funds."

BARTHOLOMEWS IN ANOTHER FIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29 (AP)—Life is just trouble, trouble, trouble and worry, worry, worry for young Freddie Bartholomew.

Right in the middle of his court fight for more money from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer come Mama and Papa Bartholomew, wanting to take him away from his aunt Myllicent.

Attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Llewellyn Bartholomew, Freddie's parents, filed notice in Superior Court yesterday they would petition to have his adoption by his aunt last April 3 set aside on grounds of fraud. Hearing was set for Friday.

Attorney Avery Blount explained the parents believed a signed statement in which the aunt promised to return their son at their request was binding despite the adoption, to which they consented.

To top off all Freddie's cares while lawyers fiddle and Freddie's career burns, another lad with an Oxford accent is taking his place on the screen.

Ronald Sinclair, 14, of Dunedin, New Zealand, owes his job and his name to the Bartholomew case.

Heenan Opens Trans-Canada Highway Link

Formal opening of the new trans-Canada highway bridge across the Nipigon River, near Schreiber, Ont., makes possible motor travel over 60 miles of new highway along the north shore of Lake Superior. An imposing motorcade which moved along the new route and across the recently finished bridge, marked the ceremonies. At lower LEFT, Hon. Peter Heenan, Ontario minister of lands and forests, is pictured as he read the opening address and prepared to sever the ribbon stretched across the bridge. The long line of motor-cars which travelled the route are shown as they crossed the new bridge.

MACHINE GUN NET STOPS 6 ATTACKS

an effort to destroy the cruiser Idzumo, flagship of the Japanese fleet, anchored in the Whangpoo River off the Japanese Consulate.

Mine Explodes Short.

A Japanese spokesman said a mine had exploded several hundred yards to starboard of the Idzumo. It was thought to have been floated down strem and then fired from ashore by an electric connection.

The explosion seemed to have been the signal for one of the most intense artillery duels this city of 3,500,00 Chinese and foreigners had yet seen. Civilians were thrown into panic, rushing into the streets in their night clothes.

Two Japanese destroyers took up positions alongside the Idzumo and the entire Japanese fleet, stationed in the river for 12 miles down stream to Woosung, began a heavy cannonading.

Chinese artillery replied from the Pootung industrial area across the river from Shanghai proper. The firing continued for almost an hour against the Eastern Chinese positions.

The Japanese turned their assault on the main Chinese defence positions, laying down heavy preparatory barrage on the North Station and Chapei areas. As the barrage rolled forward, Japanese marines went over the top in the Yangtzepoo area, and what Chinese described as the "big push" was on.

Chinese estimated that 140,000 Japanese soldiers and 11,000 marines and sailors were taking part in the drive along the entire 25-mile Shanghai front.

ROYAL GARDENER 40 YEARS, RETIRES

LONDON, Sept. 29—(CP)—A royal gardener for more than 40 years, Arthur John Hubbard has retired on a pension at Windsor.

Entering the royal service in the reign of Queen Victoria, he went to Sandringham and was transferred to Windsor Castle in 1904.

He designed the most garden of the round tower, Windsor Castle, considered one of the finest gardens of its kind in the world. During the work he found traces of old paths three feet below the surface, and when constructing lily ponds near Norman Tower came upon a cavity five feet below the surface.

Experts thought it was an old dungeon in which state prisoners had been lodged. The paths were traced to a dungeon leading directly to the prisoners' walk, where those in captivity at the Castle took their daily exercise.

Hubbard was responsible for the preparation of the east terrace gardens. In one Ascot week of King Edward VII.'s reign, 17,000 scarlet geraniums alone were used in the garden.

feed for livestock. Take peaches for example. Fruit growers can't find a market anywhere to-day and you know how long this type of fruit can be left standing before starting to rot.

"A terminal market in Toronto would do a great deal toward rectifying these sorry conditions, but it appears as though certain interests will not permit the erection of such a market," continued Mr. Fairbairn. "The situation in which the vegetable growers in the Holland Marsh find themselves is not new. It is duplicated in many parts of Ontario.

Find No Buyers

"When there is talk of a minimum wage for men of $18 or $20 a week, a cry is raised in many quarters that this is insufficient to keep a man and his family. If the average farmer could have $20 or $25 a month, not a week, clear, he would be well satisfied. When Governments attempt to legislate to overcome the farmers' problems, the criticism is voiced that it is autocracy and interference with private enterprise.

"Crops are rotting on farms because of poor markets," said the Deputy Minister. "Go out to Islington and around that district and you will see beets and cabbages and other vegetables, ready for sale, and no buyers. Fruit and vegetable growers don't sell half of the crops they raise."

ONE MAN KILLED ANOTHER INJURED IN TRAFFIC CRASH

TWEED, Sept. 29.—Sandy Thompson, 23, of Arden, was killed instantly and William Hinchey, 36, widower, with three children, was injured critically in a terrific motor smash on Highway No. 41, two miles south of Northbrook at 3 p.m. Monday night. The car in which they were riding was a complete wreck.

It appears the men were returning from Cloyne and according to eye-witnesses, their car was proceeding rapidly. Coming over a steep incline, they were confronted by a highway truck operated by Cecil Deline, of Arden, almost crosswise of the road, dumping gravel. Thompson, who was driving, swerved in a vain attempt to avoid striking the machine, but the back of the rack caught the front of the auto which was hurled into the ditch, turning over three times.

Thompson died instantly in the wreck. Hinchley was rushed to Belleville General Hospital where hopes for his recovery are doubtful, according to Dr. Dales, who is in charge of the case.

The truck was one of a fleet engaged in highway construction and the crews are working in 24-hour shifts. It is understood danger signals had been placed at frequent intervals along this stretch of road to warn motorists after dark. The construction work commenced three weeks ago.

Constable Clair Hayes of Tweed, who was following in the wake of the ill-fated car, investigated and called Coroner Dr. Wilson of Napanee, who ordered an inquest be held at Flinton.

Sandy Thompson is a son of Clarence Thompson and is well known in the neighborhood. Hinchey's wife died some years ago.

Motorists have complained recently that trucks operating in construction work on this stretch after dark, have made this particular highway a hazardous one.

$10,000 Action Is Dismissed On Motion For Non-Suit

Herschel Corn Unsuccessful In Claim Arising From Double Fatality

An action by Herschel H. Corn, [illegible]-year-old Erie, Pennsylvania salesman who sought to recover $10,000 damages from James C. Campbell of South Monaghan was on Tuesday afternoon dismissed without costs on a motion for non-suit made by G. N. Phelan, K.C., counsel for the defence.

In taking the case out of the hands of the jury, after the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K. C., counsel for plaintiff had closed his case, Mr. Justice Kingstone, presiding judge at the autumn assizes of Supreme Court, upheld Mr. Phelan's contention that there was no evidence of negligence on the part of the defendant Campbell in respect to the automobile-truck collision on Watering Trough Hill in August of last year, which resulted in the deaths of Mrs. Mary Ellen Corn and Miss Eva Ruska.

The jury was excluded while His Lordship heard counsel speak to the motion for non-suit. Addressing the jurors on their return to the courtroom, and following a brief recess while he gave the matter consideration in his chambers the judge told them.

"A motion has been made for non-suit on the grounds there is no evidence of negligence to go to the jury. I have given the matter every consideration and have come to the conclusion the motion must succeed. The situation is that the plaintiff was motoring east on Highway 28 in the direction of Peterborough. He was coming down the hill and according to his own testimony had a clear view of the highway on coming over the crest of the hill for a distance of eight to nine hundred feet. It was in the middle of the day. And the day was bright and clear. There was no traffic, with the exception of a truck which the defendant had parked on the south shoulder of the highway. There was evidence that a portion of the rear of the truck extended over the travelled portion of the highway for about eight inches. The travelled portion of the road was twenty feet wide leaving ample room for other traffic to pass."

"Plaintiff in evidence said he was travelling at a speed of 35 to 40 miles an hour on the south side of the road and he suggested that at some distance before he came to the truck a blow-out may have occurred. He was not quite sure what happened. But there was other evidence that the right front tire had a blow-out."

"Mr. Gordon argues," His Lordship proceeded, "that plaintiff's car, through no fault of his own, was out of control, and that he had a right to expect the highway to be clear and that disregard on the part of Campbell of Section 35 (A) 1 of the Highway Traffic Act constituted negligence on the part of the defendant.

"My ruling there was no evidence of negligence on the part of the defendant that could be submitted to the jury, His Lordship observed. Any person driving a motor vehicle on the highway must have regard to the fact that there is always the possibility of a blow-out and consequent loss of control." He found that the accident was entirely due to the emergency created by the plaintiff himself. "The plaintiff must accept the responsibility. In view of the rate of speed he was going he could not exercise control in an emergency created by a blow-out. There is no evidence of negligence on the part of the driver of the truck and my only course is to grant a non-suit and dismiss the action at costs in the cause," His Lordship concluded. He granted a 15-days' stay of action.

BALLYDUFF CHURCH HAS ANNIVERSARY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BALLYDUFF, Sept. 28.—On Sunday Sept. 26th at 3 o'clock and 7.30 o'clock special anniversary services were enjoyed at Ballyduff Presbyterian church with Rev. Mr. Lindsay of Whitby retired Presbyterian minister who is temporary in charge of the work at Cannington, delivering powerful messages to large congregations at both services.

The interior of Ballyduff church has been newly re-decorated, the ceiling and walls looking very attractive in their renovated condition. For this reason the anniversary this season was particularly notable owing to the fact that it was a church opening occasion as well.

A very lovely and varied profusion of autumn flowers including asters, dahlias, phlox, marigolds, gladiolli, etc. as well as an array of house plants including begonias and foliages in variety bedecked the pulpit and choir loft as well as window ledges on each side.

The local choir who have been practicing special numbers for some weeks excelled themselves in five appropriate selections and special features. Among the most appealing antemns were "Jerusalem—name ever dear to me," and "Come unto me." At the afternoon service Mr. Percy Preston sang "Have Thine Own Way" with Mr. J. C. Clarke Jr. at the organ for this number as well as the anthems and several familiar hymns chosen for the day.

A liberal Thank Offering was received at each service. In the introductory remarks made by the guest speaker he explained sincere gratitude for the high privilege of being present for this dual special occasion which was doubly pleasurable when following in the foot steps of such an admiral character as the pastor of Ballyduff church Rev. V. Walker who recently has not enjoyed good health but expects to resume his duties at Ballyduff next Sabbath for the Rally Day Service the theme for which is very appropriate "The Prince of Peace."

The speaker reminded his hearers that an anniversary occasion afforded the opportunity for selecting one of the great texts from God's word and at this time his mind brought him Paul—the great messenger who carried the faith to those who would receive it. For this reason he chose as his text from the 8th chapter of St. Paul's; 2nd epistle to Corinthians verse 9 "For ye know the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich, yet for your sake He became poor that ye through his poverty might be rich."

The Special Sunday services were followed by a goose supper served in the large church shed in close proximity to the church on Monday evening, when all had been liberally served the crowd were comfortably seated for a fine miscellaneous program presented by local talent assisted by talented friends from neighboring centres including Janetville, Bethany and the Eighth Line of Manvers.

The financial receipts for the entire occasion were most gratifying and will very materially assist with the extention of church work among the ambitious workers at Ballyduff Presbyterian church.

FORMER MEMBER PRAISES HEPBURN

Reeve E. N. McDonald of Dummer, former member of the Ontario Legislature, stated at Alex Elliott's meeting at Indian River Tuesday night that no other administration in his time had done so much as the Hepburn government to relieve the people of taxes. The government's record, he said, was so constructive and helpful to both farmers and city people that they should return Premier Hepburn to power to enable him to carry on the work he has begun so well.

J. J. Duffus and Dr. E. M. Crough were the other speakers at the meeting which was attended by seventy-five men and women. Referring to Senator Failis' criticism that Premier Hepburn had lowered the dignity of the Legislature, Dr. Crough agreed that when Mr. Hepburn sold the ninety-six automobiles, some of which had been used by Hon. George S. Henry and his cabinet members, requiring a flock of chauffeurs, there had been an elimination of "dignity" that every farmer in the province would endorse.

Police Are Called To Stop Gang War

Police had to be called out Tuesday night to stop a gang war on a vacant lot off Patterson street, where two rival squads of boys engaged in a stone-throwing battle over which was to have possession of the place as a playground.

One twelve-year-old lad was hit on the head by one of the flying missles but not seriously hurt and that was about the extent the casualties. The battlers will probably have to explain their case for the benefit of Chief Newhall and possibly of the magistrate as well.

HAD A QUIET WEEK.

The Fire Department has had a quiet week, with no blaze of any account to handle since the run to Norwood last Friday. Fitted with a new block, the motor pumper, which was out of commission during the weekend when a piston went through the top of a cylinder, has been run in and is ready for service when needed.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

Suspended sentence was decided upon by Magistrate Langley as the proper treatment for a 20-year-old youth who pleaded guilty to theft at police court this morning. W. B. Gordon, who appeared for the accused, said that it was a case of a boy getting into bad company and stealing while intoxicated. It was the lad's first offence and Magistrate Langley decided to give him a chance on the understanding that he keep away from the evil companions with whom he had been associated. E. W. Burbridge for the Crown agreed with that disposition of the case.

FOXES ON HIGHWAY.

Numerous foxes have been seen on the Apsley highway north of Burleigh falls and it is reported that on two different nights last week a fox was killed by trucks.

A number of Toronto cottagers who extended their stays at Stoney Lake to spare their children the dangers of the infantile paralysis epidemic, returned to their city homes this week. Most of the Stoney Lake supply centres are now closed.

Failing to see the step of concrete rising from the unfinished dirt excavation, one driver smashed his front wheel as he turned from the Wallace Point road toward the bridge Tuesday night.

CANDIDATE GIVES GENERAL OUTLINE C.C.F. PLATFORM

BUCKHORN, Sept. 29.— William Johnson, C.C.F. candidate, addressed an audience here last night. He was assisted on the platform by Dr. Lorna Cotton-Thomas, Provincial vice-president of the C.C.F.

Mr. Johnson pointed out at the present time ninety per cent. of the wealth was in the hands of ten per cent. of the people. Yet, he said, taxes were being paid by ninety per cent. of the people, who had only ten per cent. of the wealth.

The C.C.F. platform on taxation, the candidate explained, proposed to take the burden of taxation from those who were unable to pay and place it on the shoulders of the wealthy.

He said the C.C.F. platform contained three proposals in respect to taxation. The first was to increase succession duties on inherited estates to the level of the English standard which would result in increasing the revenue from this source from fifteen million to thirty-five million dollars; to increase the property tax on corporations from the present one per cent. to eight per cent. per annum; and third, to increase the income tax in all cases of income of over $30,000 per year.

The last proposal, Mr. Johnson said, would mean boosting the income tax rate to the level of that pertaining in Great Britain. With the additional revenue that would be obtained from increased taxation for those best able to pay it, the candidate declared, taxes could then be decreased to the farmer and small land owner.

Working Man's Heritage.

He outlined the Labor plank, stating the C.C.F. believed in the democratic right of every man joining whatever trade union he chose. He believed that was the working man's heritage.

Discussing the educational plank of the C.C.F. Party, Mr. Johnson believed the great tragedy of modern life was that children did not have an equal opportunity to develop intellectually. He asserted the C.C.F. believed in equal opportunity for all and thought every child should have the chance of going through university.

He further stated the C.C.F. favored a program of state medicine, and said the C.C.F. opposition group in British Columbia had forced in that province free health and hospitalization services.

On the temperance question, Mr. Johnson drew the attention of his audience to the fact that the C.C.F. was the only party that had a referendum plank in its program. The C.C.F. believed, he said, that all questions of temperance or morality should be taken out of politics entirely and decided on by the people themselves by referendum.

Killed Foreign Markets.

Dr. Lorna Cotton-Thomas discussed the difference between the C.C.F. and what was termed "the old line parties." She contended the present capitalistic system could not function because it was a system that was built up on surplus products and which killed foreign markets.

She referred to experiments in Sweden and New Zealand, which had brought those two countries to the happy position where they had the highest standard of living in the world; the lowest unemployment and a greatly decreased national debt. The speaker drew a parallel between the Farmer-Labor governments in power in the countries referred to and the C.C.F. Party in Canada. She said a vote for the C.C.F. was a vote for the individual and not for the big interests.

TOO MANY DRUNKS IN POLICE COURT

"Cases of intoxication are getting all too common here," declared Magistrate Langley in police court today. "Every day there are two or three or five, and they have got to stop."

The court was dealing with the case of Ernest Lamonte, a transient, who pleaded guilty to being drunk in a public place.

"If you give me a chance, Your Worship, I'll get out of town right away," Lamonte remarked.

"They have been asking me for a chance for years," returned the Magistrate. "There is no chance under the law but that of paying your fine. Otherwise you will have to go to jail for ten days."

A number of traffic cases were dealt with. James Hilton and J. J. Russell were each fined $5 and $3 costs for exceeding the speed limit, while two brothers, A. E. Moore and R. W. Moore, of Warsaw, were fined $20 and costs for transporting goods by truck without having a license.

RED CROSS PLAN LINDSAY BRANCH

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Sept. 29.—Dr. W. S. Caldwell, assistant director of the Ontario Division of the Red Cross Society, visited Lindsay on Monday and addressed a gathering of citizens on the work of this great organization. At the conclusion of his address a committee was formed to organize a branch in Lindsay.

The directors of the Lindsay Central Fair, it is unofficially announced, expect to be down about $4,000 on last year's receipts following this year's Fair. The annual exhibition ran into four days of bad weather, and while the attendance was not up to last year's record, the entries in the different department reached a new peak.

A big refrigerated freight car is on the C.P.R. siding here laden with vegetables, etc., collected in this district for the victims of the drought stricken area in the West. The car will go forward this week.

A pioneer resident of Sunderland, in the person of James Brethour, has passed away in that village in his ninety-second year. The deceased was an ardent bowler for some years and for sixty years was a director of the Brock Agricultural Society. He was also a staunch Conservative and a member of the United Church. Two sons, two daughters and two brothers survive him.

A wedding of interest to many in this district was solemnized at St. Paul's church Tuesday, when Pearl Margaret James, secretary-treasurer of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. James, of Lindsay, was united in marriage to Jared Kimble Ford, also of Lindsay. Miss Lillian James, of Toronto, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, while Mr. Harry Trowsdale, of Toronto, was groomsman. Rev. A. J. Golding, rector of St. Paul's Church, performed the ceremony. The young couple left by motor for a honeymoon trip to Louisville, Kentucky.

SEEK TO KNOW HIGHWAY STAND BEFORE OCTOBER 6

Peterborough was represented by Alderman Dutton, Fred J. Overend and E. A. Outram at a largely attended meeting at Blackstock on Tuesday at which a resolution was passed urging the Ontario government to assume as a provincial highway the east-west road from Port Perry to Manchester. Reeve C. Devitt, of Cartwright township was chairman of the meeting that filled the town hall.

Announcement that the government had taken over as a provincial highway the road from Newcastle to Lindsay was regarded as an indication that Willam Newman, M.L.A., had been putting pressure on the Department. At the same time it was recalled that Lindsay people had agreed to support the east and west Central Ontario highway, although they are only interested in the road south to Newcastle. Some of the speakers asserted that Lindsay was not keeping faith with the Association formed more than a year ago to get the road from Peterborough to Port Perry improved to provincial highway standard.

The two Durham candidates, Reeve Cecil G. Mercer of Hope, and Milton J. Elliott of Bowmanville, promised to lend their support to the appeal for construction of the link between Peterborough and Port Perry. It was stated that a demand would be made on the government for the immediate adoption of the section from Port Perry to the Newcastle-Lindsay highway, demanding a reply before the elections next Wednesday.

Jury Actions Are Disposed Of

With completion of the Corn vs Campbell damage action which was dismissed without costs on Tuesday afternoon, both the jury civil actions listed for hearing at the present sitting of the autumn assizes of Supreme Court have been dealt with. The other jury case, which was a claim of $6,000 damages for alleged assult by Cyril Rice, formerly of this city, now of Orillia, against Herbert Mason, local grocer, was laid over to the Spring assizes. Among the remaining non-jury actions on the list that of Logan vs. Township of Asphodel being a claim for $10,000 damages was set over for hearing to the December sittings of the General Sessions on application of F. D. Kerr, K.C., counsel for plaintiff. Mr. Kerr made the application on the grounds that a medical witness was sick. The Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., for the defendants agreed to adjournment of the hearing.

Other cases also set over for hearing at the December sittings were Squire vs. Munro, and Taylor vs. Ketcheson.

The latter action, which is a claim for damages by A. E. Taylor, Toronto contractor, against D. V. Ketcheson, local manager of the North American Life Insurance Company, relates to the contract for construction of a dwelling house, which was described in court as being one of the most expensive houses in the city, which cost $18,000.

Regina On Hard Luck Trail, May Be Out Of Rugby Playoffs

Roughriders Will Receive 12½ Per Cent. Of Game Whether In There Or Not

REGINA, Sept. 29.—Colorful title-hunters for 25 years, Regina Rough Riders Football Club seems to be on the hard luck trail this year and, for the first time in that quarter-century, threaten to be on the outside looking in when the playdowns in the Western Canada Rugby Football conference roll around, late in November.

And it's no fault of the Rider machine. It is just as great, if not greater, than it ever was. The galloping men from "drought town" just see mto have all the breaks just seem to have all the breaks against them this year. Out of the first four starts this season, they have lost every one, and by flukes On paper the Calgary Bronks are the favored boys this year, but hard-boiled sports writers just whistle a dreary tune which has words about "The Rough Riders'll Get You If You Don't Watch Out."

Right on their own home grounds Regina was downed in her opening game with the Cronin-coached Bronks from Calgary, 4-1. The Bronks were on their way home from trouncing Winnipeg Blue Bombers 18-6, in the conference opener. Ed. Rorvig, who had been tearing big holes in the Winnipeg line, couldn't gain an inch at Regina, and then he turned around and booted a perfect field goal to win the game as Regina settled for another line play. Next week-end Regina went to Calgary and lost by one point, 7-8, when Paul Kirk dropped a punt and a Calgary man fell on it across the line. Back home the following Monday night the Rough Riders were apparently on the way to trouncing Winnipeg when Fritz Hanson, fleet Winnipegger, wildly threw a ball away when being chased back behind his own line of scrimmage, and it landed right n Captain Bob Fritz's hands and he romped over the line to make the score 6-4 for the Blue Bombers.

Still Have a Chance.

That was the situation up to the time of writing. Winnipeg knows Regina can still land up in the finals. The team is essentially the game as that which won the Western Canada title last year and which Eastern Canada declined to play unless imports were eliminated. Regina has U.S. grid stars, plenty of them, on the Rough Rider lineup. Each time in the Western Football conference is allowed nine and everybody has the limit. But Regina's squad have had at least a year of Canadian football now, so if the Ruffies win this year—Eastern Canada, look out.

So far the Rough Riders have shown their well-known (in late years) almost impregnable defence but little on the attack. This is bound to improve, according to Coach Dean Griffing, tenth in the line of famed coaches, who hailed from Kansas two years ago. Captain Rolph Pierce, from North Dakota, is said to be having his best year since he came to the Riders three years ago.

But, inside the play-off circle or out, Rough Riders this year are going to collect. When the conference officials met, Regina was just a green oasis in a desert of dried-up wheatlands, so Winnipeg and Calgary officials took a look, sighed, and agreed to give the Regina squad 12½ per cent. of the play-off gates. Regina, you see, had financial troubles, and apparently not much of a football team.

But Reginans know they have a football team—only the Goddess of Luck doesn't seem to know about it.

That 12½ per cent. looks nicer every day.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP). — If the Giants don't cut him in for at least a half share of the world series dough, Jupiter Pluvius ought to holler his head off...That double washout yesterday just about sewed up the bunting for the Terrymen... But it hurt the front office's heart... The Giants needed only 8,903 paid admissions to hit the 1,000,000 mark in home attendance...Since there are no more scheduled games at the Polo Grounds, young Horace Stoneham, et al, must wait until next year.

Pitt's 1938 football foes are smiling ...Doc Sutherland loses 15 seniors off this year's squad...Penn State is manoeuvring to get on the Army and Ohio State schedules...Eddie Flynn, who topped off a boxing career at Loyola (New Orleans) by going to the Olympics, has hung out his physician's shingle in Tampa...Vincent Lopez, the rassler, was baptized Daniel Vincente Lopez de Vinaspre, but graduated from Iowa in spite of it...In Newark they are betting the Bears take the little world series in no more than five games...We're not biting today.

Zowie!...Did General Manager Warren C. Giles of 'Zinzinnati' start something when he blandly remarked he'd like to get Dick Bartell of the Giants to manage the Reds!... Horace Stoneham hit the ceiling and the blast he let out was heard plumb around the National League... "Tampering," he shouted and added he aimed to tell President Ford Frick about it...Bartell remained strictly neutral...Interviewed, his comment was original: "All I know is what I see in the papers"...(Atta boy, Dick) ...P.S.: Bartell will not manage the Reds next season...Who will?

HASTINGS CLUB SOUND POSITION

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 29.—The financial report of the Hastings Softball Club, just released by F. S. Crate, secretary-treasurer, shows a splendid balance in the bank of $1304.77 at the close of the softball season here. The street dance in August shows a net profit of $254.42, being their best source of income for the season.

Mr. Crate stated that the annual softball dance will be held as soon as possible, the date not set as yet, at which time the "Uncle David" Trophy will be presented to the Elgin team. They have engaged "Fairman's High-Hatters" orchestra for the dance, to be held on Thanksgiving evening, after the sports day to be held here that day. This is a Belleville orchestra, and come highly recommended.

The financial statement: Balance in bank from 1936, $28.41. Gross receipts: Scheduled games, $107.18; street dance, $483.56; girls' tournament, $47.50; prize money, men's tournament, $5—total, $643.24.

Expenditures: Work on park, $81.52; softball equipment, $48; girls' tournament, $7.30; stamps, 52c; street dance, $229.14.

Balance in bank, 1937, $304.77.

All four teams of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union were hard hit one year ago today when the Big Four executive, after a secret session, announced 10 United States "imports" ineligible to play. Residence rule violations lopped off three players each from Montreal and Hamilton and two each from Toronto Argonauts and Ottawa rosters.

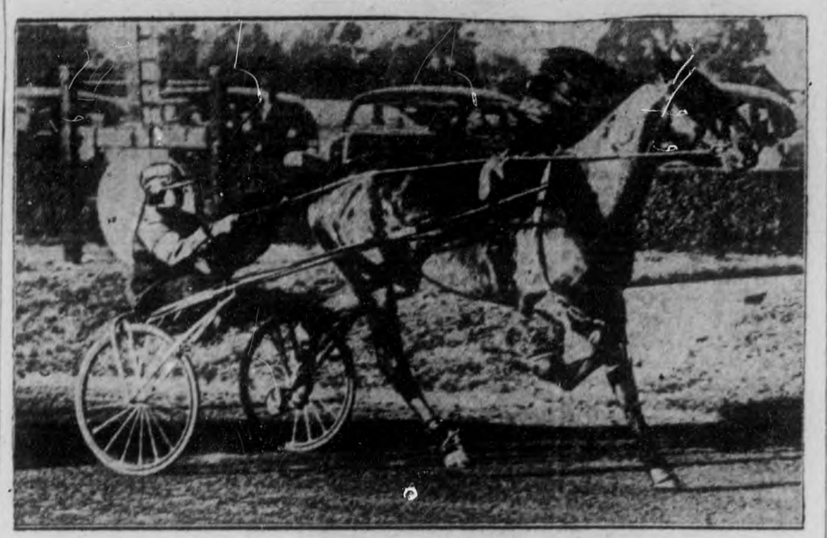
11-Year-Old Girl Drives Trotter To World's Mark



Alma Sheppard, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence B. Sheppard, of Hanover, Pa., is pictured as she drove Dean Hanover, bred at her father's Hanover shoe farms, to a new world's record for three-year-olds, in a race at Lexington, Ky. The pair covered the mile in 1.58½ minutes. The 90-pound miss, by her speedy feat, drove the fastest mile ever chalked up by a lady driver of either a trotter or pacer, and established a new all-time mark for amateur drivers of all classes and either sex.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

THIS ISN'T Thanksgiving Day yet but we wish to say thanks—if we said it over on the ad section it would cost us dough!—to the senior ball club officers for a gift just received. The club had a good year, despite a jittery midseason, and finished with a dash. So everyone was happy. Players, manager and officers deserve credit. They say we do, too, hence the gift. As a matter of fact, we do not look for any gifts—all we hope is they don't toss a few boots our way and forget to remove their feet. Our job is to write up sports on these two pages, and to do some commenting on 'em in this pillar. Which we do and all of the commenting is not of the flowery variety. Sometimes there is a lemony flavor. But it is all meant in good part, and we are naturally tickled to a frazzle when a club takes its raps with the boosts and winds up by giving us a slap on the back.

DOWN AT Duffus' last night a big gang of gees who feel that lacrosse is the reason the world was built held a huddle. Two huddles in fact, one an executive meeting and then a general gabfest. The first one dealt with bills, business and more bills of the past year. And the second session slanted toward the coming year. Let us deal for a moment with the executive gathering. The boys checked and double-checked the figures and found they had some money left. A most enjoyable feeling—we have been informed, but wouldn't know personally.

* * * * * *

THEY STARTED out in the Spring with nothing but some wild dreams. They couldn't find a place to play lacrosse, so they upped and built themselves an arena—and a pip of a one, too. They put over $1400 into it, much of the labor being donated by officers and players. And they won their group but lost out in Provincial semi-finals. After putting the game over with a biff-bing-bang for the customers. They now have a fine arena, a good club and a big public. And they had enough dough left in the sock to purchase excellent white-and-red windbreakers for 18 players plus the trainer and the manager. A swelegant season and a grand effort.

* * * * * *

AT THE general meeting, these 1938 officers were elected: Prexy, H. S. Leybourne; vice-president, Harry Tudhope; secretary, Jim Lehane; treasurer, Doug Miller; grounds committee, Pete King, Jim Lehane and Doug Miller; with an executive to be appointed. All first-rate gents who were in there last year and rate oodles of orchids for their work. Other executive guys of the past season were Fred Nelson, Bob Townsley, Hubert Legros, Harold Bannon, George Mein and Frank Buckland, with Alex. Fitzgerald the timekeeper. Charlie Carson also did a lot of fine work in their initial season, as did the retiring manager, Frank Randall. As an ex-manager, we are far too modest to say anything!

A FEW nights ago the Brinton Carpet Co. shop bowling league was organized for the winter. Officers elected were: Honorary President, Vern Dawson; prexy, Leo Mariyn; recording secretary, Art Holden; financial secretary, Clarence Corbett; treasurer, Mrs. D. Fuller. They have 10 teams and will bowl each Friday p.m. at 8.15 in Duffus', starting the schedule a week from this Friday, and the employees of this firm will be making the pin boys hop all winter long. While there have been Brinton teams bowling before, this is the first time for a shop loop in the maple-toppling game at this plant. It ought to be okay.

THE O.A.L.A. has ordered the first game of the intermediate final playoffs between Cheltenham-Inglewood and Hamilton to be replayed at Brampton on Friday. This game had been won by Hamilton —with the Petes' conquerors later evening up the serial. They protested the first fray on the grounds an ineligible player was used, and it was upheld. If a third tilt is necessary, it'll be staged in Fergus next Monday. The Quinte scribe says some of the gridders are kidding local lacrossers, who play for Orfuns, because they were rubbed out of the O.A.L.A. picture by a village squad. 'Twas sad all right, but since Auburns just laughted their way through Belleville with one-sided wins and then lost to Cheltenham, we sort of wonder what the latter outfit would have done to the Greater Belleville bunch. It is indeed a thought.

* * * * * *

EASTSIDES OF Toronto open the O.R.F.U. season here Saturday afternoon at three bells in Riverside when they tackle ol Orfuns. The latter nudged out a nod, 7 to 6, in their opener in Cobourg last week while Toronto were taking a 5-0 licking in Lindsay. The Eastsides are plenty powerful and may knock off the locals in this tilt. It should be a dandy battle anyway between two good outfits. In the short grid schedule, with no playoffs, every tussle is highly important and one loss during the season may kill any chance of copping the group title. Orfuns are drilling hard this week in preparation for a gruelling game. It ought to draw a big crowd.

* * * * * *

SAYS THE Oshawa word-juggler: "We have a correction for our Peterborough friend. Oshawa didn't have six imports in action on Saturday. Biddle, Bennett and Foley, yes. Jubenville is also an import but that was three years ago. Doug May is a former Oshawa boy and returned home two years ago, long before the baseball season. Lefty Wallace came to Oshawa as a student in the G.M.C. school something like seven years ago and, as he wasn't brought in to play ball, he is certainly not in the import class. Nor is Moose Mathews who came here nearly 10 years ago to work ,and it wasn't a baseball job either. We admit four imports and Mister what imports! Also turner and Mitchell." Maybe there weren't six in action—just five, counting May (ask the O.B.A.A. about him)—but the club has more than half a dozen on the roster. And we don't blame 'em, either, so long as they're good ones.

PICKING 'EM off the grapevine: Elsewhere in yesterday's paper was an item saying Ted Clark had an ankle broken playing with the P.C.I. gridders—this was incorrect as he hadn't been out with the team this fall . . . Hastings' intermediate men softballers, playing independent, started the season with $38.41 and closed with $304.77, no less! . . . O.H.A. import deadline mes amis, is October 15th . . . Polish White Eagles, who rubbed out our Westclox men this summer, took a 9-0 nod over Toronto Renfrews in an exhibition tilt yestiddy—with Cy Collison twirling for the losers . . . A junior lacrosse practise will be held Sat'day at three in the arena and all junior players are invited; a team will be chosen for Hastings on Thanksgiving Day . . . Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts have a haunting chore in Lindsay-on-the-Scugog come Sat'day after lunch . . . A week from Saturday sees the P.C.I. teams swing into action . . . City 5-Pin Bowling League got organized at Duffus' last gloaming . . . These financial sports meetings get us down; our favorite figures vanished when the bathing beaches were folded up for the year!

ATHLETIC VICAR RETIRES

LINDFIELD, England—(CP). — (CP).—Rev. Sidney Swann, vicar of this Sussex village, is retiring at 75. He got his blue at Cambridge, became an all-round track and field [illegible] fame by odd feats requiring great physical strength.

WINDFALL FOR SOUTHAMPTON

SOUTHAMPTON, England—(CP) —Southampton Supporters' Club has presented the second division English football team with nearly $5,000. The Saints will need it, as they have not had much success this year.

INJURIES PLAY HAVOC IN TIGER TRAINING CAMP

TORONTO, Sept. 29 (CP)—The football fates could be kinder to Mike Rodden. After 10 years in retirement, Hamilton Tigers' coach is going to have his comeback spoiled if some of his injury victims aren't back on their feet soon.

Nearly every other club on the eastern front has managed to get by the pre-schedule grinding with a comparatively small hospital list. But if the injury toll in the Hamilton camp mounts much higher Rodden isn't going to have a full team some Saturday.

The veteran mentor counted his invalids last night and hoped the training staff could do a high class job of patching before the Interprovincial opener with Toronto Argonauts in Hamilton Oct. 9. Among the tape-bound absentees were Tommy Daley, former Ottawa Rough Rider; Butch Allison, who starred at the University of Toronto and with Toronto Argnauts; Tommy Harrison, Norton Freeman and Duck Mallard.

Maybe Out For Season

In Mallard's case, his knee is in such bad shape he may not dress the rest of the season. Mike is crossing his fingers on behalf of the rest.

Ottawa's injury picture looked brighter as the Riders worked out. Only fleet Andy Tommy, suffering from a bruised leg, is expected to stay on the sidelines in Saturday's clash with Queen's University. Coach Ross Trimble is back at the helm after a siege of cold and other erstwhile sick men were able to drill with the Ottawans last night.

They drained a pint of fluid from Oke Olson's knee and the former North Dakota and Regina backfielder is expected back in Montreal's Indians' lineup next week. His quick recovery would bring Indians up to full strength in preparation for the opener with Ottawa Oct. 9.

Most Important Element In Tackling, Timing Must Be Acquired By Practice

By LEW HAYMAN
Coach, Toronto Argonauts Football Club

What blocking is to a football offensive, tackling is to a defence. These are the two most important fundamentals in football. The team with the best blockers and tacklers will win a good percentage of their games.

Tackling can be divided into two groups:

1. Head-on tackle.
2. Angle tackle.

All tackling is primarily based on timing, hence should be practiced, practiced and practiced until the feel, and confidence is gained.

Head-on Tackle

As can be seen in the picture, contact is established a bit below the waist—the legs are spread for the power and drive, the head is to one side so as to be able to apply the shoulder. The eyes and head are well up to give you sight of the object. The arms should be well around the legs of the runner.

Head-on tackles are most commonly made by the men backing up the line—the secondary. As they fill in the holes they meet the runner straight on, and apply the above-mentioned tackle so as to have the runner lose in yardage, the length of his body instead of gaining the same.

Occasionally a charging lineman may break through and make the same sort of a tackle on a play before it has had much chance to get into motion. But usually a bal carrier will n ever allow a tackler to meet him head on if he can help it.

In making head-on tackles remember:

1. Keep your head and eyes up.
2. Drive yith your shoulder.
3. Carry your legs apart, keeping contzol of your body.
4. Get as much o your arms about his legs as possible.
5. As you drive with your shoulder, pull with your arms.
6. Keep driving until the tackle is completed.
7. Hit the man suddenly and sharply.
8. Use the side of your neck and head for guidance.

Most head-on tackles are made in close formations, hence the tackler must move swiftly so as to make the contact before the runner really gets under way.

Be a determined, crashing tackler.

Tomorrow: The Angle Tackle.

YEAR ROUND JOB IS BETTER THAN BERTH IN STATES

SUDBURY, Sept. 29.—"You make good money down there in the winter but you can't get anything to do in the summer, and if you stay you just 'shoot the works'," said Lloyd Grant, a Pittsburg Yellow Jacket in the Eastern Amateur League in U.S. last year, as he waited for the buddy with whom he was going out to Frood to work and play hockey this winter.

Grant, an Ottawa boy, was just a little sorry in a way that he didn't go back because the Pittsburgh franchise is this year being transferred to The Bronx in Manhattan and "it would be nice to spend a winter in New York.

However, the glamor of being in the world's biggest city would hardly balance up for the lack of work in summer. If you play hockey in Pittsburgh in winter you cannot expect to find work in Ottawa in the summer, he inferred, which is rather better than staying all year round in Ottawa with no work to be found.

It's good to be some place where your job is there the year round, the capital city puck product said.

Pros "Robbing Cradle."

The Eastern Amateur League, he said, was purely a hockey league. Its schedule was plenty heavy but you got around.

Pro. scouts peered closely at important games, he said, but it seems to be getting that they're robbing the cradle in Grant's opinion.

"They'd ask you 'how old are you?'" he said of the hunters for hockey ivory. "When you said '23 years' they'd tell you 'too old. We want them around 18'."

It was a swell league to play in while you had it but he got the other side when he stayed after the hockey season finished in the Smoky City to convalesce from an operation which he underwent at the end of the season to correct the condition which prevented him from staying at Copper Cliff last year.

Orillia Terriers Win First Of Eastern Lacrosse Finals

Mann Cup-Holders Secure Big Edge In Best-of-Three-Series For Title

MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—(CP). — Those critics who said Orillia Terriers were washed up in mid-season are flocking back to the Dominion lacrosse champions' band wagon today, eating their words as they climb aboard. The big Orillia team carried on with a 10-7 victory over Montreal Canadiens in the first of the best-of-three Eastern finals last night. They can finish the series at home to-morrow, earning the right to go to British Columbia for Canadian finals with New Westminster or Trail.

It was smooth sailing for the Orillians at the season's start, when they began a quest for their fourth straight National title. They lost but one game in the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association until mid-July.

Then the team hit the skids, not too hard, but hard enough. It finished in a first-place tie with Mimico.

Orillia came roaring through the six-team playoffs and went against Cornwall Indians. Again the talkers talked when Terriers dropped the first game, but back came the champions to take two straight and earn the right to meet Montreal.

Bill Cheevers was top goal-scorer last night with three, but the Terrier game was one of smart passing and in-fighting that brought the ball to the Montreal goal mouth. Canadiens attacked from the flanks, while Orillia's best bursts were right down the centre.

New Champion Enthusiastic

Harry Jeffra, who defeated Sixto Escobar for the lightweight championship of the world, is pictured waving an enthusiastic greeting from his dressing room after the bout. Their bout was the last event of four in the carnival of champions held in New York. Jeffra, a Baltimore boy, who beat Escobar twice before in over-weight non-title bouts, copped the decision from the Puerto Rican after fifteen rounds of furious fighting.

Ol' Man Weather Helps Giants In Dash For National Flag

Champions Need Only Two More Victories To Clinch The Bunting

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(CP).—Just about the only things left standing to-day between the Giants and Yankees and their five-cent world series were seven games in the National Baseball League and as many in the American.

For the Bronx bombers, "in" since way back when, those seven games really couldn't be called an obstacle. Exercise, perhaps, with the chance of winning one of to-day's tests from the Athletics and thus hanging up their 100th scalp of the year.

The seven games the Giants have left to play are a bit more of a hurdle. But not much more. And for that the Terrymen, campaigning without their flu-stricken boss, can thank the weather.

Rain Helps Giants.

It rained in New York yesterday—rained a double-header with the Bees right off the Giants' and the National League's program.

Thus, despite the fact that the Cubs cut their margin to four games by blanking the Reds 2-0, the 1936 champions were left needing only two more victories before wrapping up the marbles in the old prayer rug and becoming 1937 champions as well.

Should they win only two of their final seven, and the Cubs win all of their remaining five, the final statistics would show:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Giants	93	59	.612
Cubs	94	60	.610

Instead of stacking up against Bees and their poisonous pitching, the Giants to-day were in Philadelphia's band box, Baker Bowl, with a pitching staff rested by the extra day off and a wrecking crew with its sights trained on the Phillies' short, beckoning fences.

While the Giants had a chance to achieve their major milestone this afternoon, the Yanks had an opportunity to attain a minor one of their own. Baked by Joe Krakauskas, freshman Washington southpaw, from Hamilton, Ont., in the second game of a double-header yesterday, they were aiming at their 100th victory and stood a good chance of bettering last year's mark of 102 games won for the year.

That Washington bargain bill was the occasion for a good many events. Charley Ruffing, pitching a two-hit, 9-0 shutout in the opener, got back on form to win his 19th after two failures. Bill Dickey returned to action after a brief rest to hit his 28th homer, and Joe DiMaggio hit his 46th as well as a triple and double, then added a single in the nightcap.

For Giant fans on the other hand, there was satisfaction in seeing Krakauskas spike the Ruppert Rifles 2-1 in the second game. Since Krakauskas is a left-hander, his triumph was the 16th by a southpaw in the 46 games the Yanks have lost, and the Giants boast two fine southpaws in Carl Hubbell and Cliff Melton, they took it as an omen of things to come.

Bryant Outstanding

In yesterday's rain-curtailed program, the outstanding one-man job was delivered by Clay Bryant of the Cubs. Clay pitched two-hit ball, drove in the winning run with a triple and scored the other himself.

The only other National League game saw the Pirates take third place from the Cards by whipping them 6-2. In the American League, the Tigers beat the last-place Browns 6-1 and Julius Solters' 10th-inning homer, plus Bob Feller's relief pitching, gave the Indians a 7-6 win over the White Sox. The Sox were leading 10-4 when the second game was called after 5¼ innings because of darkness.

Yesterday's Stars

(By the Associated Press).

Clay Bryant, Cubs—Pitched two-hit, 2-0 shutout against Reds, batted home winning run with triple and scored other himself.

Julius Solters, Indians — His 10th-inning homer gave Cleveland 7-6 verdict over White Sox.

Joe DiMaggio and Charley Ruffing, Yankees, and Joe Krakauskas, Senators — DiMaggio blasted homer, triple and double as Ruffing pitched two-hit ball and Yanks won opener 9-0; Krakauskas hurled seven-hit ball and fanned nine to give Nats night-cap 2-1.

George Gill, Tigers — Tamed Browns with five hits as mates won 6-1.

Paul Waner, Pirates—One of his three singles, with bases loaded, drove in deciding run in 6-2 victory over Cardinals.

CHING JOHNSON GIVEN RELEASE BY LES PATRICK

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (CP)—Ivan (Ching) Johnson, battered 40-year-old veteran of 11 National Hockey League campaigns, has asked for and been given his outright release, Lester Patrick, manager of New York Rangers, announced Tuesday.

Johnson declined an offer to coach Rangers' amateur team, Rovers of the United States Eastern League at the salary he received last season. From his California fruit farm Johnson wired he believed he was good enough to play another season and would prefer trying to land a playing berth. He is dickering with New York Americans.

Rangers also announced they had overcome a league ruling that a player stay out of active competition for one year after retiring and that this would enable them to place Murray Murdoch with Philadelphia of the International-American circuit.

Murdoch announced his retirement to enter business but declining markets forced him out of his Wall Street job. He asked Rangers to reconsider his retirement and his case was placed before the league governors, who decided the "Iron Man" could not return to major league competition but could join a minor league outfit.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR LACROSSE CLUB

H. S. Leybourne was elected president last night of the Auburns Lacrosse Club for 1938, the annual meeting being held in Duffus' following an executive session. There was a big turnout of players and followers of the game. H. Tudhope was returned as vice-president, with James Lehane being named secretary and Doug Miller treasurer. A grounds committee of J. Lehane, D. Miller and P. King was appointed. The officers will appoint an executive.

The financial statement showed a fair balance after a big season—during which the new boxla arena on George St. was constructed and paid for—and it was agreed that good windbreakers be given to 18 players, the trainer and the manager Doug Miller was named in charge of the equipment, and this equipment must be turned in before the windbreakers are given the players.

Retiring President Jim Lehane thanked officers and players for their co-operation, as he briefly outlined the successful season for lacrosse which has just concluded. He predicted a better year in 1938. It was decided that a junior squad, in charge of Coach Chute, would play an exhibition game in Hastings on Thanksgiving Day. Following some general discussion, the meeting adjourned.

WESTENDERS FALL IN SECOND BATTLE

Queen Mary lost its second game in the Public School Soccer League yesterday (Tuesday) afternoon, to Queen Alexandra, by the score of 1 to nil. Lewis got the winning counter. Ridyard, Rhodes and Jones were the best for the losers.

First Half

In the early stages the forwards were cautious in their actions in mid-field, Queen Alex. forwards became dangerous repeatedly to get a succession of flag-kicks. Gaskill and Wellwood combination clicked to perfection to get a succession of flag-kicks that Lewis planted in front of goal which caused the Queen Mary defence a source of anxiety. Ridyard headed out in below the cross-bar, then Ackford headed the next one, to be followed up by the goalie turning the ball around the goal-post for another flag-kick. Time and again the West-enders would penetrate the North-enders' goal to finish poorly in front of goal. Two minutes before the interval, Queen Alex. full-back, Woodgate, robbed Morley nicely by sending Gaskill away on the wing, who worked another corner off the full back. Lewis placed the ball in goal. Ridyard headed clear, but Lewis met the ball again with the deciding goal that rolled inside the goal post. Half time.—Queen Alex. 1, Queen Mary 0.

Second Half

On resuming, both front lines moved quickly from end to end with the full backs repulsing the combination plays inside the goal area. Mid-field play continued even for a while with Queen Mary halves dominating the situation to confine the activity in the North-enders' territory. On one occasion Jones broke through to lack the force to tally, which left the custodian an easy clearance. Play was even for the remainder of the period. Queen Alex. 1, Queen Mary 0.

Queen Alexandra.—L. Leyman, goal; A. Woodgate and H. Saunton, full backs; B. Cocks, W. Lewis and J. Simmons, halves; J. Gaskill, J. Stevenson, P. Wellwood, J. Wise and E. Richardson, forwards. Subs.—J. Seal and R. Watson.

Queen Mary.—R. Taylor, goal; J. Ridyard and R. Ackford, full backs; R. Blondin, R. Rugby and A. Rhodes, halves; W. Jones, W. Smith, J. Morley, Fred Mortimer, and Gordon Matthews, forwards.

Referee—D. Buchan.

ODD ITEMS FROM A SPORT SCRAP BOOK

JOE LOUIS

It was our pleasure to interview Joe Louis some months ago, and perhaps the answers to some of the questions we put to him will be of interest.

A tough youngster, Adolph Wiater, gave Joe the hardest fight he ever had, when Louis was an amateur. To quote the champion: "Boy, he sure pushed me around."

"Primo Carnera gave me as much trouble as anybody I ever fought, but I had to hit Max Baer the hardest to knock him out."

Paulino Uzcudin, of all people, had the Bomber worried quite a bit before their fight, but not because of the fact that he might beat Louis, but because there was a danger of Louis breaking his hands on the granite skull of the Basque.

IN MEMORIAM

ROSE.—In loving memory of Mr. A. C. Rose, who passed away September 29, 1936.
You're not forgotten, father, dear,
Nor ever shall you be;
As long as life and memory last
I shall remember thee.

McCULLOCH.—In loving memory of Hugh McCulloch, who passed away September 29, 1932.
One by one they go before us,
They are fading like the dew,
But we know they're watching o'er us,
They the good, the fair, the true.
They are waiting for us only,
Where no pain can ever mar,
Dear ones who left us lonely,
Watch us through the gates ajar;
There a father, there a mother,
Gone within those gates ajar.
—Ever remembered by Sons and Daughters.

ROSE. — In loving memory of Mr. Alfred Charles Rose, who passed away September 29, one year ago.
Days of sadness still come o'er us
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us
Though you died one year ago.

GRAHAM. — In loving memory of our Father, James Graham of Otonabee, who departed this life, September 30, 1932.
Peacefully resting, your toils are over;
God grant we may rest as calmly
When our work, like his, is done.
Till then we would yield with gladness
Our treasures to Him to keep,
And rejoice in the sweet assurance
He giveth His loved ones sleep.
—Sadly missed by his Daughter, Mrs. J. A. McAdam.

RUSTLE OF SILKS

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 46

MARI paused beside the table. Her eyes were fixed on the calla lilies, white calla lilies against dark red silk damask. She saw gold plate, silver and crystal. Her brows drew together.

Perhaps No. 345—that was the silver brocade with the peacock pattern—was too revolutionary. She must remember to have that shown at an earlier time than the one planned—

Her English butler, at her elbow, coughed worriedly.

"Is anything wrong, Madame?"

"No, oh no, it's all quite all right. May I see the seating arrangement please?"

She took the card from him, too tired to walk around the table, wishing that she were dining alone until the strain of the next two days was over. How could she be expected to care if Claire Todd sat next to the Viscount Verlaine? But she had to care. She was only a small part of the mosaic that was her career. Claire Todd was an important part. And every concern was Mari's. The people who wore her clothes had to be considered last.

In between there were bankers, manufacturers, buyers from America, fashion directors and fashion dictators, representatives from the press, the "right" people—those from the social and theatrical worlds, the people who built up the legend of Maribarat. She belonged to them now. She was absorbed by them. Their help had grown bigger than the proportions of her first need of them. Maribarat was owned by the world she had made for herself.

It would never do to put Carla Mentone next to the Marquis. There were rumors that his Prince was interested in the actress, and it was best not to encourage any international complications. This dinner, at which as hostess she would be expected to sparkle as becomes a new star, must be exactly right, smooth and pleasant.

Mari slipped the card with Carla's name on her seating plan, substituted the name of Madame Rothchild in its place. There, Carla was neatly placed between Mark and Carl Fronde.

She handed the plan back to her butler as her maid appeared at the door of the dining room, a question in her eyes.

"The black chiffon," Mari answered it.

Letitia Higgins came in the outer door as Mari was about to ascend the stairs. Letitia was breathless. "Oh, Madame...I'm sorry I had to come now after you've been working so hard all day but..."

Mari held out her hand for the papers her secretary proffered. "It's all right, Miss Higgins. Did I forget to sign them?"

Of course it was all right, she thought, signing her name. Didn't she belong to the pattern? What difference if a handful more of people intruded on her?

Lying back in the warm relaxation of her perfumed bath, she drank in the comfort, and thought—with reviving humor—that she was in one place where no one could get to her.

She stretched her legs in the warm water, let her arms float on the buoyancy of it.

She thought with surprise: But I'm not physically tired. I have as much vitality as I had when I was 16. I'm healthy but—

She flung off her rubber cap, ran her fingers through her hair. It was a gesture to relieve the weariness of her mind, the cluttered room of thought housing a thousand details.

She tried to think of herself as another woman; a woman who was to receive tribute, in whose honor there was a world of acclaim. That acclaim would begin this night as they toasted her at her own dinner table. She remembered how Cecily, and Alma, and Ted Grant had toasted her years before. She remembered it clearly and felt hungry for the soup in the big kettle, the salad and cheese that had made up their simple supper. She had told them that she never wanted anything else other than the life they lived, that she wanted to be simple.

Below her, her cooks were busy with caviar and terrapin. A butler made the arrangement of her dining table his life's work. The lilies that decorated her dining room would have bought a feast for her old friends.

She hadn't seen them in over a year. She had sent boxes of flowers and a confection of lace and chiffon to Alma when her baby was born. But she hadn't had time to go to the hospital herself. She tried to remember why she hadn't gone. It had been something important that detained her...

She felt sorry then, had a half impulse to go to the telephone and summon them to her dinner party. Then she thought of the expression on her butler's face if she were to announce that she was asking three or four extra guests.

It was her house, her food, her money which provided for both, but she knew that she couldn't do it.

She couldn't ever do what she wanted to—even if she had wanted to do something—because now she had chains that bound her to Big Business.

Her maid enfolded her in a warm robe as she stepped from the bath.

She sat down in a deep upholstered chair and leaned her head against the back while her maid soothed and caressed her face with an expert facial. Refreshed, she applied her slight make-up carefully and slipped her arms into a house gown. There were two hours yet before she'd dress for dinner. And meanwhile there was Ellin waiting to talk to her.

Ellin, stretched on a chaise lounge, said, "Mari, the couture's gain is some good man's loss."

Mari raised her eyebrows inquiringly.

"You're a home-maker at heart. I adore your house."

"It's just a house."

"It isn't. It's a dream. How'd you do it?"

"It was easy. And it was fun then."

"What do you mean 'then'?"

"I mean it was fund to poke around in shops and find things. It's easy when you know how. I found one shop where they sold nothing but crystal chandeliers. I picked up tea tables and inlaid cabinets in some little shops on the rue du Bac. And, my dear, if you're interested in antiques, you must go to the country-side. At Arles, Rouen, Honfleur, they've some marvelous..."

"I'm not," Ellin said interrupting her, "but I am interested in something else. Why, for instance, you had so much fun getting this place together and then saying it is just a house."

"Maybe I'm just being modest," Mari answered lightly.

"Nonsense. That kind of modesty is stupid. I think I know the answer. Far be it from me to quote axioms and the like, but there is some truth in the saying that it takes two to make a home."

Mari, who was not much amused, laughed. "Not you, too, Ellin."

"Well, all right. But, now that you've got everything you want or can get in your career, you might consider that your next move is matrimony. An old maid is an old maid by whatever name you call her, Mari. And if they don't think of you that way, they'll give you a reputation for something else. When you're young, beautiful and successful, you don't mind, but none of us stays young. There are lots of men in your life. How about Mark?"

"M—Mark? You mean why don't I marry Mark?"

"Precisely. I'd like to have you in the family, and, I suspect, so would Mark."

Mari laughed again. I'll leave you to your romantic dreams, Ellin. It's time we dressed."

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND FRISKY'S TAIL

"Ting-a-ling! Ting-a-ling!

That was the telephone ringing in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Shall I answer for you, Mr. Longears?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"If you please, Janie," Uncle Wiggily answered. "And if it is any of the Bad Chaps, tell them I am not at home. For I am going to hop out adventuring right away," went on the rabbit gentleman, "and I don't want them to bother me."

"If it is the same Fox or the Bob Cat, who hid in your carrot piles last night at your harvest moon party, what shall I say?" asked Nurse Jane on her way to the telephone, which was tinging and linging and ringing away merrily.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I don't believe it will be either of those Bad Chaps."

Not Villains.

"Not after Mr. Stubtail and Mr. Whitewash tossed them into the Duck Pond!" laughed Nurse Jane, also as merry as a grig. "Hello, hello!" she called into the telephone. "Yes, yes. This is Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow," she answered. "Who? Oh, Mrs. Bow Wow.

Yes. Wait a moment, please. Mrs. Bow Wow wants to speak to you," said Nurse Jane to Uncle Wiggily handing him the telephone.

"Hum!" murmured the rabbit gentleman to himself. "I wonder if the lady dog wants to go adventuring with me? Well, that will be all right.

Then Nurse Jane heard him say:

"Ah, that's too bad. Of course. Yes. I'll hope right over."

"Is anything the matter?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy as Uncle Wiggily started to hop away.

"It's about Frisky's tail," Mr. Longears replied, not stopping to talk but speaking politely over his left shoulder.

"Don't tell me he has lost it!" squeaked Nurse Jane. "Poor, little puppy dog, with no tail! Oh! Oh!"

Nurse Jane knew Frisky was the name of the latest of Mrs. Bow Wow's little puppy dogs. But Uncle Wiggily did not stop to tell her whether or not Frisky had lost his tail.

It wasn't quite as sad as that, however, as Uncle Wiggily learned when he reached the dog kennel. He found Mr. Bow Wow at the entrance giving Frisky a piece of puppy cake.

"What's the matter with your little boy, Mrs. Bow Wow?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

Something Wrong.

Without answering Uncle Wiggily, Mrs. Bow Wow turned to little Frisky and said: "Run around the kennel and play, Frisky."

"Don't want to," whined Frisky in anything but a pleasant voice.

"But you must!" his mother said firmly. Dragging his paws and holding his tail between his legs, Frisky slunk away impolitely.

"There! Do you see?" whispered the lady dog to Uncle Wiggily.

"What?" he asked, also in a whisper.

"Frisky's tail," went on Mrs. Bow Wow. "He won't wag it!"

"Won't wag his tail!" gasped Uncle Wiggily. "You don't mean to tell me a cute little puppy like Frisky won't wag his tail?"

"Yes," sadly barked the lady dog, "that is the trouble. That is why I sent for you. Perhaps you can make him do it."

"I'll try," said Uncle Wiggily bravely. "Oh, dear me!"

But cheer up! Everything is going to be fine and dandy. And if the lobster doesn't pinch all the crab apples off the tree thinking they are his cousins, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily changing Frisky.

BISHOP FLEMING TELLS OF LABORS IN ARCTIC CIRCLE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 29. — Speaking for the needs of a diocese equal in area to one-third of that of the whole Dominion, and situated at its most northerly limits, Right Rev. A. L. Fleming, Bishop of the Arctic, delivered a soul-stirring message in his sermon on Sunday evening at St. Thomas' church.

Rev. G. H. Holden, of Bethany, was in charge of the service, in the absence of the rector. Venerable Archdeacon William Simpson, who was taking the special harvest home service at Trinity church (the Marsh) that evening. Members of the choir of St. John's church, Ida, augmented the choir of St. Thomas' church for the occasion.

The sermon was based on Luke 7: 13-14, Christ's word of comfort to the widow of Nain, "Weep not," which is still the message the gospel brings to bereaved hearts"; and the command to her dead son, "Young man, I say unto thee, Arise; and he sat up"—"and by the power of the Strong Son of God souls that are dead in trespasses and sin are being quickened into newness of life though contact with the world's Saviour. This is the objective of all missions for Christ alone meets every man's need."

Vivid Word Picture

With an impressiveness of detail, and vivid word pictures, Bishop Fleming told of personal contact, in his vast Arctic field, with members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Eskimos, and Indians, and the few scattered white settlers, and of how he had seen lives changed, and faces brightened, as they were led to receive "the good news of the Great Evangel set forth in the love of God."

Special mention was made of the new hospital at Aklavik, on the rim of the Arctic Circle, which in larger and better-equipped modern form, has risen from the ashes of the one destoryed by fire some two years ago; and of the bravery of the four nurses (one of whom was the late Ruth Hamilton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hamilton, of Bethany), who forgot themselves in their heroic rescue of their patients, found their own quarters with all their contents burned, leaving them with nothing at all in the way of personal possessions except what they were wearing—their night attire in which they had escaped from the burning building. "No more heroic story is written on the pages of Anglican church history in Canada."

Rally Day Service

The annual Rally Day service in connection with the Sunday School of St. Andrew's church was held on Sunday at 10.30 a.m., the superintendent, Mr. W. F. Fallis, being in charge, and the congregation meeting with the school for the occasion. The Old Testament lesson was read in unison by the teen age girls of Miss Della Mae Sisco's class, and the New Testament lesson in similar manner by the young men of Mr. W. A. O'Brian's class.

A reading by Bea McDowell, "How Bryan learned to sing praises," preceded the sermon, which was preached by Rev. J. R. Trumpour, of Cavan, whose theme was "The Child in the Midst", emphasis being laid upon the importance, to a child, of a good father and mother. "It is only through the right training of these children that the world will advance in this generation."

The special offering goes to the extension of Sunday School work in the province. In the evening Mr. O'Brian's class of young men took the service, the president, Ernest Powell, being in charge and Rev. Mr. Brown, of Springville, preaching the sermon, the outstanding advantages and claims of Christianity on the individual life being stressed.

Silver Tea

The "silver tea" held at the home of Mrs. T. A. Campbell on Friday from 4 to 6 o'clock, under the auspices of the W.A. of St. Thomas' church, was a pleasant social event, netting over $25 to the Auxiliary funds.

Mrs. L. J. Morton answered the door, and Mrs. H. A. Attwooll poured tea, the table being covered with ecru lace cloth, centred with silver basket of African marigolds, gold candles in crystal holders completing the color scheme. The rooms were lovely with fall blossoms, the hostess, together with Mrs. L. H. Winsow and Miss Rose Macnamara, having charge of the home baking sale which was compeltely sold out.

Others assisting with the service of the tea were Mrs. J. E. Allen, convenor, Mrs. L. Bristow, Miss Bella McCorry, Mrs. J. W. Hilton, Mrs. G. F. Harrington, Mrs. H. J. Russell, Mrs. J. Dawson, and Miss Henrietta Needler.

DOCTORS CHECK KIDNEYS FIRST

Because they know that healthy Kidneys remove from the blood the waste matter—the excess acids and poisons, formed by the ever-changing human body as it decays and rebuilds itself. But if the Kidneys fail, illness surely follows. Backache, Rheumatism, Impure Blood, Lack of Energy, Too Frequent Urination, Sleeplessness, Headaches—all may result from faulty kidneys. As a health safeguard—as a wise precaution—regulate your kidneys frequently with Doan's Kidney Pills—for over fifty years the favorite Kidney remedy—non-habit forming—safe. 105

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

On Bridal Path

Smiling happily, David Philip Williams is shown wheeling his bride to the reception that followed their marriage at Lufton, Eng. The bride formerly Miss Kathleen Mary Walker, daughter of the late Major R. Walker, of the Royal Engineers, is paralyzed from the waist down. The groom is a son of Colonel Sir Robert Williams, 26 years member of parliament for West Dorset.

JAPAN'S ATTACK WELDING CHINA

TORONTO, Sept. 29—(CP).—Japan's hammer blows are welding a unified China, Rt. Rev. H. J. Hamilton, one-time Anglican Bishop of mid-Japan, said in an address here last night. From a collection of warring powers, each with its own war lord, China was emerging as a united nation under Japanese aggression.

The other side of Japan's invasion of China was the island empire's urgent, tragic need for expansion. More than 70,000,000 Japanese were crowded into a country half the size of Ontario, living on the edge of famine, unable to produce enough to feed its people.

Other countries cut off Japanese imports as cheaply-produced, they competed with their own goods. Immigration barriers kept the Japanese from practically all other countries. In the face of these conditions, two Japanese babies are born every minute.

Fostering of war-like spirit among the Japanese Bishop Hamilton blamed on western civilization's march, the sending of rifles and tanks and machine guns and the introduction into Japan of armament manufacture. Japan had quickly learned the art of modern warfare.

Bottom Drops From Kansas Farm

The bottom drops out of a farm, literally, as it looks like in the process. The upper picture was taken at night on the farm of Charles R. Joseph near Potwin, Kas., a few hours after the ground gave way. The hole "grew" to 250 feet long and 200 feet wide and tons of earth still fell away. Below the surface, at about 30 feet, is deep green water. A general view of the crater is shown below. A farm hand, drilling wheat with a tractor narrowly escaped death in the deep hole. This phenomenon, the second like this to occur recently, is more than a thousand miles from the first occurrence—in Idaho.

NASCOPIE MEETS LEAST ARCTIC ICE 20 YEARS' VOYAGES

HALIFAX, Sept. 29 — (CP). — Bringing the icebreaker Nascopie, owned and operated by the Hudson's Bay Company, into the wharf here after another successful annual tour of the Eastern Arctic, the commander, Captain T. F. Smellie, said his ship had encountered less ice and had more fair weather than on any previous voyage into the Far North.

"We had plenty of ice in 1934," the veteran Arctic navigator said. "Since then the amount of ice had been less each year. The weather this year was exceptionally warm."

For 20 years, with the exception of four years in which he was superintendent of transport on the Mackenzie River, Captain Smellie has been in command of the Nascopie. He sailed in the Russian Arctic during the War, and since in the Eastern and Western Canadian Arctic.

The Canadian Arctic ice conditions are more difficult than in the White Sea," he said. "Most of the ice we have to go through in the Canadian Arctic is blue salt water ice, but in the White Sea it is mostly frozen fresh water.

Established New Post.

"We extended our voyage this season to establish Fort Ross on the south-east corner of Somerset Island. We went through some ice fields in Prince Regent Inlet on our way there and anchored 15 miles off Possession Point on the north end of Brentford Bay on September 1.

"Early explorers in these parts had left no charts or record of soundings, so we had to proceed carefully. We took our own soundings from a surf boat and then moved to five miles off the point. On September 2, by use of lead lines from our ship's boat, we buoyed a course into the harbor on which the Fort Ross Post was erected.

"The location of Fort Ross is in Brentford Bay on the east coast of Bellot Strait. The site was selected because the east and west currents through the strait and the prevailing north-east winds in that district will keep the harbor free of ice for future visits, whereas a site on the south end of Brentford Bay would often be piled with ice."

TIP BY BELLBOY ONLY KIDNAP CLUE

CHICAGO, Sept. 29—(AP). — A hotel bellboy's meagre description of a mysterious man in a gray cap offered the only promising clue today to the kidnappers of wealthy Charles S. Ross.

The man talked to Ross in a Sycamore, Ill., hotel a few hours before the 72-year-old retired greeting card manufactured was abducted on a highway a few miles west of Chicago Saturday.

No demand for ransom had been received by the victim's wife. The kidnappers' silence engendered a belief Ross might have died from shock. He had suffered from heart disease.

The conversation between Ross and the man wearing a gray cap occurred at the hotel where the former had dined with his one-time secretary, Miss Florence Freihage, 44.

Cecil Vandemere, 19-year-old bellboy, said the man approached him in the lobby and pointing at Ross, asked:

"Do you know who that is? He looks like a man I used to know."

Vandemere replied he did not know the elderly man. Later he told police he was unable to tell whether Ross and the stranger were acquainted.

Her Finger Joints Began To Swell

Perfectly Straight at 63 — Thanks to Kruschen

Nearly twenty years ago, this woman was attacked by severe rheumatism. Now 63, she tells how Kruschen restored her to health, and has kept her free from rheumatism all these years.

'In 1918, an attack of 'flu' left me with severe rheumatism, and I was in bed three months. When I got up I could only hobble around with difficulty and pain. My finger joints were begining to swell, and were very painful. I was told that nothing could be done for the swelling. A friend recommended me to try Kruschen Salts, which I did with very satisfactory results. To-day, at 63, my fingers are perfectly straight. I am free from rheumatism, and can do all my own housework."—(Mrs.) M.W.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen have the power of dissolving the needle-pointed crystals of uric acid which settle in your joints, causing them to swell, ache and inflame. Other ingredients of Kruschen assist Nature to flush out these dissolved crystals through the natural channels.—(Advt.)

MANY SPEAKERS AT TORY MEETING

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BONARLAW, Sept. 29.—Speaking to a crowded house at Springbrook Orange Hall on Saturday evening last Mayor R. D. Arnott, of Belleville, Conservative candidate for West Hastings, set forth the issues of the coming election. Speaking of the Hydro he said, "We believe there is a shortage of power right now." He also stated that under the new contracts for power Mr. Hepburn is paying more than was to be paid under the contracts he repudiated.

Mr. Arnott gave an explanation of exactly what happened at Oshawa during the General Motors strike and to the question, "Is Mr. Hepburn a friend of Labor?" he said the answer is the same. "Agriculture," said he, "is the foundation of Ontario and Canada. Under Mr. Rowe you will get good responsible government and this is what we want."

Mr. Arnott was preceded by Mr. W. E. Tummon who gave a splendid address on the various issue. He pointed out that although Mr. Hepburn's School Assessment Act has been repealed the later legislation does not take effect until 1938 and that right now the provisions of the odious act are being carried out.

Other speakers were Mr. Geo. Kingston of Toronto and Mr. Geo. Stokes and ex-Mayor Geo. Reid of Belleville. Mr. Kingston mentioned what he called many of the broken promises of Mr. Hepburn. Mr. Reid spoke briefly but energetically. He deplored the fact that school books are so much higher in price than under the Conservative government.

Mr. W. Humphries contributed several readings and Mr. J. F. Baker a song. The meeting was presided over by Reeve Geo. E. Thompson.

LABADIE MURDER CASE GOES INTO JURY'S HANDS

LATEST BRITISH WAR PLANES GO TO AID CHINESE

Permit Given Before Present Jap Invasion

LONDON, Sept. 30 (A.P.). — The Air Ministry disclosed to-day the Government had sanctioned officially the sale of aircraft to the Chinese Government.

The Gloster Aircraft Company already has delivered an unspecified number of military planes, and holds permits to export additional craft. The permission to sell the planes was given before the outbreak of fighting with Japan, an Air Ministry official said, but there was no indication the permit would be cancelled.

The disclosure created surprise since all British aircraft companies are working overtime to fill the needs of the Government air organization program. Imperial Airways recently placed orders for planes abroad.

An Air Ministry official said, however, the Gloster Company was the only concern at present holding a permit to export planes to China.

The planes were understood to be single-seater fighters capable of a speed of 250 miles per hour and armed with four machine guns.

The London Evening News said: "Certain independent British pilots may go with them to fly them as mercenaries."

MORE ARMS CASH ASKED OF FRANCE

PARIS, Sept. 30.—(AP)— Finance Minister George Bonnet proposed to-day a sharp increase in French armament expenditures in presenting the 1938 ordinary budget bill to Parliament.

The budget draft submitted to the Chamber of Deputies Finance committee, showed total national defence expenditures for 1938, in both ordinary and extraordinary budgets, would be 22,087,000,000 francs (about $736,233,333), compared with the 1937 total military expenses of 19,030,000,000 francs (about $634,-333,333).

The 1938 ordinary budget (for normal expenditures in government and normal defence) anticipates a surplus of 1,602,000,000 francs ($53,400,-000). Receipts were estimated at 53,781,000,000 francs ($1,792,700,-000) and expenses at 52,179,000,000 ($1,739,300,000).

This compared with the 1937 ordinary budget expenses of 48,146,-000,000 francs ($1,604,866,666) and receipts of 40,000,000 ($1,333,333,333).

The 1938 extraordinary budget (for special armaments and defence) which was fixed in a cabinet decree at 17,000,000,000 francs ($566,-666,666) is to be covered by borrowing.

Two Nurses Are Victims Of Polio

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Sept. 30 (C.P.)—Two nurses at the General Hospital here are suffering from infantile paralysis, it was learned today. No visitors are permitted at the institution, and nurses are not allowed to leave it or the nurses' home.

Miss Grace Patterson, Brockville, took ill on Tuesday and Miss Winifred Lake, also of Brockville, developed it to-day.

Miss Patterson is at her home and Miss Lake is confined to the hospital.

The Board of Health is watching the situation closely, with a possible restoration of the ban on public gatherings, lifted two weeks ago when only one case of the disease developed in the town.

At St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, notices have been posted barring visitors unless they bear written permission from a physician.

Barnyard Epithet Brings To End Political Rally

William Fraser, M.P., Howled Down at Warkworth After Calling Speaker "Political Manure Spreader"

(By a Staff Reporter)

WARKWORTH, Sept. 30.—The pungent and inelegant phrase "the political manure spreader who preceded me" uttered by W. A. Fraser, M.P., in reference to Ross Sheppard, K.C., Toronto, broke up the joint debate following the official nominations of Harold N. Carr, Liberal, Campbellford, and A. Roy Willmott, Conservative, Cobourg, for the riding of Northumberland County here Wednesday afternoon.

The meeting in the main building on the fair grounds, considerably bigger than the Brock St. rink in Peterborough, brought together several thousand men and women from all parts of the county. Thomas Hall, K.C., of Cobourg, returning officer, was chairman, and the two speakers for each party were allowed a total of forty-five minutes.

Mr. Sheppard spoke in support of Mr. Willmott, and Mr. Fraser took on the assignment of advocating the cause of Mr. Carr and the Hepburn government. The famous "Bill" Fraser, federal Liberal member of parliament for the county, was greeted with the loudest and the most prolonged applause and cheers as he took his place on the platform and later when he began the concluding speech of the afternoon. It may be that he underestimated the Tory strength in the big sheet metal barn as he unlimbered his redoubtable vocal guns and began to spray the Conservative lieutenants with heavy sarcasm. But when he hit Mr. Sheppard with the barnyard epithet the Tories spiked his guns with a clamor of boos and yelling and cries of "Take it back," "apologize," "sit down."

With a gesture of interceding Mr. Willmott stepped to the front of the platform, and in the momentary lull Mr. Fraser shouted "I don't require the Tory candidate to take my part."

Grits yelled "Sit down Willmott," and the young Cobourg lawyer retired to the rear of the platform. Mr. Fraser pulled up his chair beside Mr. Hall's table. When the uproar partly subsided he called out "If you don't want to hear me it's all right with me."

The bedlam was renewed by that defiance and finally Mr. Hall silenced the crowd and asked them to sing the National Anthem. In that chorus the divided political ranks were united as citizens, and the session ended with exemplary orderliness. Many of the men stood around for twenty minutes along the street in front of the fair grounds discussing the incident that will be long remembered in the political history of this riding where partisan lines are as tensely and sharply drawn as probably any other constituency in Ontario.

Noisy From The Start

The volume of noise from the outset seemed to be predominantly Liberal, frequently interrupting Mr. Willmott and Mr. Sheppard. On the other hand Mr. Carr fared better partly because his voice carried above the heckling. Even Mr. Fraser's introduction received a clear

CONSTABLE BEATS BURGLAR TO DRAW SHOOTS HIM IN HIP

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 30.—(CP)—Joseph Lapine, 40, former member of the Windsor police force, was wounded early today by Constable Andrew Johnston, who said he beat Lapine to the draw and shot him in the hip. Johnston said he caught Lapine and a companion crouched behind an office safe they had attempted to open. Lapine was taken to hospital and Walter Prestyko, 23, Windsor, his companion, was held in custody. Lapine was charged with breaking and entering and carrying a loaded revolver. Prestyko was charged with breaking and entering.

Constable Johnston's courage and presence of mind were lauded by Chief Constable Claude Renaud. He said the officer had no way of knowing what he faced when he walked into the dark office and did not know until after he had shot Lapine and handcuffed him that the former constable carried a loaded revolver in his pocket.

Johnston was locked in the room with them because the office door had slammed behind him and the lock had snapped on. He walked towards the two figures and yelled at them to raise their hands.

Prestyko obeyed, but Lapine moved toward the constable. Johnston fired a warning shot and when Lapine still did not raise his hands, but made a move towards his hip the officer fired twice. One bullet registered and Lapine went down. Other police rushed in from the street where they were keeping guard.

Carrying Gun and Files

On searching Lapine they found he had the revolver in his hip pocket and he also had a number of files. Prestyko, too, was carry files, and one of them had brought along a heavy hammer to batter the combination and hinges of the safe. The safe contained no money, however, only books of the company. Lapine had been dismissed from the police force for insubordination over a year ago.

Lapine and Prestyko were remanded eight days on appearance in police court. Lapine, shot in the hip before captured, showed no difficulty in walking into the courtroom.

Lapine was charged with breaking and entering and having a gun while committing an offence. Prestyko was charged with breaking and entering. The wounded man was brought from hospital to face the charges.

Fruits Of A Glorious Victory In Spain

Stark, charred walls are all that remain of the once-flourishing town of Potes, Spain, last Loyalist stronghold to be captured by Gen. Franco's rebel forces in their drive on Santander. Not only did the rebel bombardment contribute to the havoc, but the Loyalist troops burned the buildings that survived the shelling before they evacuated the town.

Nominate Only 2 Women In List Totalling 266

Tories Lead With 89, Liberals 86, New Socialist Labor Group Puts Up 11

TORONTO, Sept. 30 (CP)—Ontario's 20th general election campaign, getting up steam over a period of weeks, roared into the stretch today with 266 candidates of 16 political persuasions ready to try their luck at the polls Oct. 6. More than 1,500,000 voters are expected to cast ballots in 90 constituencies that day.

When nominations closed yesterday, Premier Mitchell Hepburn's Liberal election strength was reckoned at 86, compared to 89 for the Conservative forces of Hon. Earl Rowe. But candidates regarded as friendly to the government ran in four constituencies uncontested by the Liberals.

In all but one riding Conservative candidates were nominated and in that single exception — Wellington South — ran Col. George A. Drew, former Conservative organizer who broke with Mr. Rowe and sided with Premier Hepburn on the Committee for Industrial Organization issue. Col. Drew ran as an Independent Conservative.

New Group Names 11

Only the old parties nominated enough candidates to win a majority of seats in the next legislature, but the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation named 37, including the provincial leader, John Mitchell, and an entirely new group under

SLEEPING MALADY TAKES 2ND VICTIM

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 30—(CP)—Strange sleeping malady which recently ended in death of the five-year mystery slumber of Patricia Maguire, Chicago's 32-year-old "Sleeping Beauty," had claimed another victim to-day.

Miss Verona P. Nichols, 36-year-old Portland woman who died here last night after a 15-year-siege of the mysterious disease, was pronounced by Dr. A. F. Stuart, her physician, a victim of encephalitis lethargica, the technical term for sleeping sickness.

Dr. Stuart said Miss Nichols had suffered periodic attacks of the malady, but never had lapsed into a prolonged coma.

STUDENTS PLAY MACHINES

SIMCOE, Ont., Sept. 30— (CP)—Police have padlocked two slot machines in a local restaurant because boys were playing them with money they received from parents to buy school supplies. Further offence by proprietors allowing anyone under 16 to play the machines would mean a summons to court, Chief of Police Ashby said.

OTTAWA EXTENDS TRADE AGREEMENT WITH NEW ZEALAND

OTTAWA, Sept. 30—(CP)—Extension of the New Zealand Trade Agreement for one year and some revisions of the existing trade agreement with Australia will be covered in a statement to be made public late to-day by Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

The New Zealand agreement, which became effective May 24, 1932, is subject to yearly extensions, while the Australian agreement completed August 3, 1931, run indefinitely, subject to revisions by mutual consent.

Details of the changes could not be obtained here pending release of the minister's statement the time for which was fixed by arrangement with the New Zealand and Australian governments.

Both antipodean Dominions have sought to obtain concessions that might tend to bring their exports closer to the volume of commodities they buy from Canada. For years the surplus of Canadian sales to the Antipodes over Canadian imports from those countries has been wide.

During the last fiscal year Canada sold around $13,000,000 worth of goods to New Zealand and imported goods worth about half that much. Since 1931 exports to Australia increased about six times to $28,000,000 in the last fiscal year.

Final Defence Plea For Farm Hand Lasts Over Hour

Brands Lad Mental Cripple, Mentality of 10, Under The Effects of Half Bottle of Liquor

SARNIA, Ont., Sept. 30.—(CP)—Case of William Labadie, 17, charged with the murder of John Luckins, seven, Sarnia township, went to the jury today. A verdict was expected late today. Fate of the young farm hand was turned over to the jury after a brief charge by Justice Keiller MacKay, presiding at the assizes. Earlier W. S. Haney, defence counsel, had delivered an address of more than an hour's duration. W. B. Common, special prosecutor, outlined the crown's case.

Defence Counsel W. S. Haney asked the jury to bring in a verdict "other than guilty".

"On the whole there can be a verdict which will not necessarily mean the rope must go around this boy's neck," Mr. Haney said in a 65-minute speech as the trial of the 17-year-old farm hand drew to a close. We are taught "not to pick on a cripple and if you are satisfied you have a mental cripple before you I suggest you have reasons, based on facts that will warrant you bringing in a verdict other than one of guilt."

He pleaded for acquittal of Labadie, 17, on three points: The mental deficiency of the 17 year old youth, the effect of the consumption of half a bottle of liquor on the 17-year-old accused with the intelligence of a 10 year old child and the absence of any motive for the commission of the crime.

Mr. Haney reviewed the case. Counsel said that during the trial much evidence was given by the two psychiatrists, who had examined Labadie on separate occasions.

Mentality of 10.

One psychiatrist said Labadie had a mental age of 10 years and two months and the other concluded the youth's mentality was that of a person aged 10 years and eight months. Mr. Haney explained it was also disclosed that once a person past the age of 6 years and the mental age of that has been established at between 10 and 11 years there is no further improvement in intelligence. It was also said there was no change in the youth's mental condition since the time of the crime.

"He is the same now as he was the day prior to March 12 and the doctors claim he will stay that way," defence counsel said.

"The psychiatrists have indicated that a person of a mental age of 10 or 11 years and a physical age of of 17 years would have natural impulses of a 17 years old person but with only a mentality of a 10 year old child to guide them. The doctors have established that the accused is 'mentally deficient' and I know of no stronger expression than that.

"While I stress this point of mental deficiency let me say that insofar as evidence produced by the Crown is concerned, there is no dispute of the psychiatrists' testimony.

Mr. Haney directed the jury's attention to the evidence of the father and brother of the deceased lad. Mr. Haney quoted their evidence to the effect that for 11 months Labadie was employed as a farmhand and living as a member of the family he was on terms of

MARTIN GREETS U.A.W. BESIEGERS WITH REVOLVER

DETROIT, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers besieged in his hotel by rank and file members of the union, poked a revolver out of the door of his suite today when five of the group pounded and kicked against the door. He put the gun away when he saw the U.A.W. caps and shop stewards' badges displayed by his visitors.

He explained that "I didn't know who was at the door," and added that the group had interrupted a conference he was having with Ford Motor Company representatives.

The "rank and file" workers set up a watch at entrances to the hotel this morning, apparently to lodge a protest against recent dismissals by Martin of union organizers active in last winter's strikes.

After the revolver episode Martin told them, "I'll see you at the first opportunity but I can't see you now," and closed the door on them.

Martin said of the incident, "I have been threatened before and when somebody knocked on the door I thought it might be some one trying to get me."

Iron Lung Is Made From Garbage Can

JUNEAU, Alaska, Sept. 30 (AP)— An iron lung made from a garbage can was held ready for use today in the event of further outbreaks of infantile paralysis.

The apparatus, put together by Dr. Robert M. Coffey with the aid of a machinist, Kenyon McLean, transformed the garbage can into a respirating device which causes the subject to inhale an exhale at a rate of 26 times a minute.

Territorial health officials, who three days ago prohibited Juneau children from travelling anywhere in Alaska as a precaution against the disease, said the Coffey device would be used on Jackie McClure, three, if his condition took a turn for the worse.

Juneau schools were closed until October 11, with possibility they would be shut down longer if new cases developed here. Several suspected cases proved to be intestinal influenza.

Workers in ice plants in Johannesburg, South Africa, now wear gas masks.

Tweedsmuir Is Grand Master The Order Of Good Time

Scotian Ceremony in America's Oldest Fraternal Society Rolls Time Back 3 Centuries

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, N.S., Sept. 30.—(CP)— Lord Tweedsmuir was installed as Grand Master of the Order of Good Time to-day in a ceremony that rolled time back three centuries, to the years when Champlain, De Monts and Poutrincourt acted in that office at Port Royal, first settlement north of Florida in America.

After flying here from Charlottetown, the Governor-General of the Dominion was presented with the robe and chain of office as Grand Master in America's oldest fraternal society by Lieutenant-Governor George Irwin of Nova Scotia, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Past and present were linked in the same installation ceremony. French founders of the society were honored by presence of Acadian inhabitants of Nova Scotia; Indian Chiefs of the once great Micmac tribe were present and smoked the pipe of peace with Lord Tweedsmuir.

Surroundings were filled with memories of the old French regime in Acadia. Close at hand were the mounds and buildings of France's historic fort at Port Royal, centre of the great fight between France and Britain for possession of North America.

Average Weekly Family Budget Skips Up Almost $1 Above Last Year

OTTAWA, Sept. 30 (CP).—The cost of living mounts. Figures issued yesterday by the Labor Department show the weekly budget of the average Canadian family for food and shelter rose to $17.48 in August, from $17.34 in July and $16.72 in August, 1936.

The index has been rising steadily from 1934. In August of that year it was $15.32. In the boom year of 1929 it was up to $21.90 which was still below the post-war peak of $26.60 in 1920.

The food budget has climbed to $8.90 from $8.17 in the past year, and the weekly rent average for a modern city house of six rooms has increased to $5.87 from $5.71. Fuel and light costs receded, however, to $2.77 from $2.80.

Among foods sirloin steak advanced to 29.3 cents a pound in August from 27.3 a year ago and leg pork to 23.7 from 22.4. Eggs were 29.8 cents a dozen compared with 30.8 and creamery butter was 30.8 cents a pound against 28. Bread cost 7.1 cents a pound compared with 6.3 and sugar 6.6 cents compared with 6.1.

Food is cheaper in Quebec than in any other province according to the list of average weekly costs, as follows: Prince Edward Island $8.51, Nova Scotia $8.71, New Brunswick $8.80, Quebec $8.01, Ontario $8.82, Manitoba $8.32, Saskatchewan $8.59, Alberta $8.81, and British Columbia $8.86.

Rents are also lowest in Quebec. Following is the average monthly rental by provinces: Prince Edward Island $25, Nova Scotia $21.42, New Brunswick $22.87, Quebec $20.77, Ontario $25.12, Manitoba $24.25, Saskatchewan $24.75, Alberta $23.70, and British Columbia $23.37.

School Mates At 10, Couple Separate, Fall In Love At 70 And Marry

Syracuse, N.Y., Sept. 30 (AP)

LOVE, a pair of 1877 school mates decided today, can begin at 70.

Sixty years ago pigtailed Helen Woods and barefooted Willie Jones studied together in Pulaski's one-room schoolhouse. Ten years later, Willie Jones went away. Until last spring, the couple had never again met. Then William Woods Jones, 72, ex-California newspaper reporter and retired railroad engineer, returned to Pulaski to study the genealogy of his family.

A great - great grandfather, Coffield Woods, he found, had another descendant living in his childhood home town. She was Mrs. Helen Woods DeMott.

So Jones called on her. They talked genealogy and of their childhood. The friendship, reborn after 50 years, grew into courtship, carried on by letters after Jones returned to California.

Today, William Woods Jones returned again. This time he met Mrs. DeMott, took her to Syracuse where they were to be married.

Twins 86, Meet First Time In 52 Years, Credit Longevity To Birth In Canada

Ottawa, Sept. 30 (CP)

THE 86-year-old Bond twins, Robert of Ottawa and Richard of Walla Walla, Wash., met today for the first time in 52 years and recognized each other.

The brothers strolled towards each other with extended hands shouting: "Hello, there." after Richard's train pulled in. After talking together with animation and submitting to interviews the brothers, believed the oldest living twins in North America, left for Robert's home.

Both were asked to what they attributed their longevity and good health. Said Richard: "I was born in Canada. (the brothers are natives of Carleton Place, Ont., 35 miles west of Ottawa), which gave me a head start."

Robert didn't know what made him live so long. "I can't really say," he answered. "All I know is that where I come from they live to such an age they had to kill a man to start a graveyard."

24 Hours After Nipponese Start Big Push Finds Chinese Lines Still Holding Fast

SHANGHAI, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Japanese sources said today they had information indicating Marshal Vassily Galenta-Bluecher, commander-in-chief of the Russian army in the Far East, was actively directing the Chinese military strategy against Japan.

The Japanese "big push" against the Chinese defence lines northwest of Shanghai was halted. Japanese used every weapon they could muster against the strongly-fortified Chinese positions but were unable to smash through.

At midday, after more than 24 hours of fighting, a Japanese spokesman admitted only minor gains were made, although he claimed a slight advance at all points except in the Kiangwan sector had made possible another general offensive.

The Domei (Japanese) News Agency reported from Nanking that Marshal Galents-Bluecher was directing the Chinese resistance by telephone from his Siberian headquarters.

Twice daily, the Domei dispatch said, the Russian marshal was in communication with E. D. Leipin, military attache of the Soviet embassy in Nanking, receiving the fullest reports and advising on troop operations.

The dispatch said the road across the western province of Sinkiang was choked with trucks bringing munitions and other military supplies into China from Soviet Siberia.

Across Singkiang, the Soviet ambassador, Dmitri Bogomoloff, journeyed by special plane to Moscow for a conference that observers said would have a vital bearing on Russia's future course in Sino-Japanese affairs. Bogomoloff was expected to arrive in Moscow today.

At Nanchang, Kiangsi province, 200,000 scattered Communist Chinese troops were ordered by their commander, Gen. Hong Ying, to move into North China and join their comrades who recently made peace with the Central government and were organized into the Eighth Route army fighting the Japanese in Shansi province.

Japanese reported their advance in North China had carried them through eastern Hopeh province to within 15 miles of the border of Shantung province.

NORTH HIGHWAY TO BE SPEEDED UP HEPBURN PLEDGES

TORONTO Sept. 30 (C.P.). — Assurance the Liberal Government if re-elected on October 6 would speed up construction of the Trans-Canada Highway was left to-day with Sault Ste. Marie voters by Premier Mitchell Hepburn as he headed east in his election campaign tour. The Premier speaks to-day at Picton at the same time as Conservative Leader Earl Rowe. The meetings, however, are separate.

The Ontario Government routed the Trans-Canada Highway through Sault Ste. Marie despite objections from Hon. Wesley Gordon, then in the Conservative Cabinet of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, said the Premier. He spoke to Sault Ste. Marie from Toronto, his address going by telegraph to the northern city to be broadcast.

James Lyons, Conservative candidate in Sault Ste. Marie, the Premier continued, was attempting to make political capital out of the highway. But for the present Liberal Government the highway would not have touched the Sault, said Mr. Hepburn.

Work on the road was suspended when the great need for mining arteries arose, but it was completed from Winnipeg to Port Arthur. "In another year we hope to continue construction down through Michipicoten and into Sault Ste. Marie," said Mr. Hepburn.

Sees Party Split on Rowe.

The Premier's first address yesterday was at St. Thomas where he appeared before the nomination meeting. He told the St. Thomas electors many Conservatives were so disgusted with Hon. Earl Rowe's leadership they will welcome his defeat at the polls.

The Premier charged his Conservative opponent, Norman R Martin, with conducting a campaign of personalities and falsehoods. Conservatives were going back 20 years to obtain ammunition in their fight against him.

He was accused by Mr. Martin of throwing an apple at Sir Adam Beck, father of Hydro, when Sir Adam visited St. Thomas. Mr. Hepburn denied he threw the apple which knocked off Sir Adam's hat, but he added: "I left school because I refused to tell the name of the boy who did throw it."

Denial of a story claiming he was in favor of licensing trade unions was made by the Premier who said he was the first head of the Government-owned Temiskaming and

DRIVER BADLY CUT WHEN CAR UPSETS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Sept. 30.—A serious motor accident occurred near Sunderland on Tuesday when R. Redshaw, of Uxbridge received deep cuts and bruises, having been thrown completely through the window of his car. It required twenty-seven stitches to close the wounds in his throat. An automobile which had been ahead of them on the highway suddenly turned, forcing Redshaw into the ditch. The driver of the other car told the injured man to wait until he turned his car around, but he drove away hurriedly.

SEAMEN'S UNION SIGNS CONTRACT

MONTREAL, Sept. 30 (CP). — Withdrawal of the threat of a general seamen's strike on Great Lakes ships was followed last night by the signing of a contract between the Canadian Seamen's Union and the Quebec and Ontario Transportation Company, which operates a fleet of pulp and paper carriers.

The agreement will run through to the end of the 1938 shipping season. It provides recognition of the union, higher pay and a clause obligating both parties to refer further disputes to arbitrate. More than 20 other companies have agreed to sign with the union, which had promised to tie up 300 lake ships with its 3,900 membership unless its wage and recognition demands were met.

The Quebec and Ontario Transportation Company, a subsidiary of the Ontario Paper Company, operates its ships along the north shore of the St. Lawrence River and carried pulpwood to the company's mill at Thorold, Ont., as well as newsprint from Thorold to Chicago.

NOT A "TOLL GATE" BUT "TOLL FENCE" IS ROWE'S CHARGE

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Sept. 30.—(CP)— Conservative Leader Earl Rowe and Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario to-day were scheduled to address meetings in the same town. Both will make appeals at nearby Picton for election in the Oct. 6 voting. It is the first time in the campaign their paths have crossed.

The Conservative leader journeyed to the Prince Edward peninsula town after telling Belleville electors here last night to ask Premier Hepburn, when he speaks in Belleville to-night where he stands on the school question. Mr. Rowe also said hotel keepers were called on for contributions during the campaign and they did not know where their money was going.

"I could produce 50 photostat copies of cheques where hotel keepers have had the gun pointed to their heads in these past few weeks and they didn't know where it was going to," he said. "Some have had to pay $175, some $100, according to gallonage. Toll gate—why, ladies and gentlemen it's a toll fence we have in the province."

Mr. Rowe said the Premier was afraid to discuss the school question "because he knows he has fooled one group and betrayed the other and cannot be trusted by either."

MADOC

A well-attended Liberal rally was held in the Armouries, Madoc, on Saturday evening, when Eric Cross, K.C., of Simcoe, was the chief speaker on behalf of F. E. Brown, who has been chosen by his party as standard-bearer for the Liberals of East Hastings in the coming election.

St. John's Anglican Church held its annual harvest home thanksgiving service on Sunday, September 26. The church was lavishly decorated with autumn flowers, fruits, vegetables, and grains. Tall stalks of corn were used for the corners, and every window bore mute testimony of the glorious harvest. Rev. W. G. Hope Swayne, rector, was celebrant, and Miss Eleanor Aylesworth, organist.

The Sunday School of St. John's Church opened for the fall on September 19 and 26. A full staff of teachers and the superintendent reported. Promotions were made, and arrangements completed for supplies, etc.

CHURCHES TAKING LEAD BOYCOTTING JAPANESE GOODS

LONDON, Sept. 30 (CP).—A widespread movement was growing in Great Britain today to boycott Japanese goods as a protest against Japanese attacks on civilian areas in China.

One of London's leading newspapers sponsored a protest meeting to be held at Albert Hall Oct. 5. The Archbishop of Canterbury promised to preside.

Church leaders were discussing plans for a "protest Sunday."

The executive committee of the Labor party was called into session at Bournemouth to draft a resolution condemning Japan's "outrageous conduct" in bombing civilian populations. The resolution will be presented at the annual conference of the party which opens Monday.

The Albert Hall meeting was described as being called to give the public opportunity "to express horror at the indiscriminate warfare on civilians in China and urge the British government to call upon the civilized world to take concerted measures to prevent its continuance."

A Japanese boycott committee was formed to sell badges bearing the words "I will not buy Japanese goods." The profits from the sale will be used to purchase provisions and medical supplies for the Chinese.

Preparing Posters

Posters showing falling aerial bombs on which are written the pledge "We sell no Japanese goods" are being prepared for distribution over the country to merchants willing to display them.

J. M. Keynes, noted economist, suggested the League of Nations 23-power far eastern advisory committee take immediate steps to impose financial and economic sanctions against Tokyo.

"Is it not the duty of the United States, the British Empire and all the 23 nations to warn Japan that they will sever all trade relations with her unless she mends her ways, with an undertaking of mutual assistance against any reprisals?" Keynes asked.

The News Chronicle said many clergy already have begun anti-Japanese petitions which their congregations are signing. A petition sent by Rev. J. Newton Turner of the Portslade and Aldrington Congregational Church, Portslade, Sussex, to the News Chronicle was accompanied by a letter saying the minister "could think of no better way we can help than by sending your signatures."

Rev. Leslie Keeble of Kensal Rise Methodist Church announced resolutions had been adopted at two different services protesting "against the foul murder of innocent and non-combatants."

CAMPBELLFORD

Church Officials Honored By Members

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 30. — A presentation was made at a social evening held in the basement of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Tuesday evening to two of the members of the church who have rendered service in the Sunday School during the past year. To Mrs. H. L. Turner, a silver casserole, and to J. R. Anderson, a fountain pen, in recognition of their work in the Sunday School, the former having been a teacher and the latter acting superintendent for the past few months. A gift is also being sent to Miss Muriel Milne, who is a nurse-in-training at Kingston, and was also a former teacher in the Sunday School. The presentations were made by the Rev. B. Simpson Black and with remarks appropriate to the occasion he wished Mr. Anderson, who will study medicine at the University of Toronto, all the success that was due to him.

Following this, the staff and officers of the Sunday School who were present made preliminary arrangements for the annual rally, to be held on October 3, and also made plans for reorganization of the Sunday School. Following the business portion of the meeting, refreshments were served and the evening brought to a close.

Janetville, Sept. 30 (CP)

MADISON Hall of Orono, accompanied by his son-in-law, Frank Adron, Toronto, saw a large black bear eating elderberries on the side of the road near the Lindsay district town of Janetville yesterday.

The men said they believed the bear was about a year old. Elderberries are said to be a delicacy with bears, and resident of the district are planning a nightly tree-top vigil in the swamp area in the hopes of bagging the bear.

A Rose "Chapeau"

A rose by any other name—even "chapeau" — is still a beautiful thing to look at. It is made of robin's egg blue crepe, draped to resemble a rose perched on top of her head.

Forest Fire Loss Almost Negligible

CALGARY, Sept. 30 —(CP)— A "red letter" year has been forecast for 1937 by forestry department officials here—unless September is different than usual and turns out to be very dry.

Forestry officials said losses from fires in Southern Alberta this year would be negligible, a contrast to last year when the heaviest destruction in 25 years was encountered. If September fires spoil the record, one official said, "it will be different from ordinary years."

They Want Peace, But—

Church conferences have sufficient trouble when they seek to regulate the affairs of the world by the passing of resolutions. The New Jersey Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is meeting at Asbury Park and members have rejected a proposal for federal prohibition of the sale of munitions to individuals and nations, and with that change proceeded to pass a peace resolution to which all the delegates were willing to subscribe.

The immediate cause of the attitude of the delegates was the situation between Japan and China. It was argued that a blanket resolution saying that no sale should be made to any nation would be placing China under a tremendous handicap. It was stated such a resolution would be the same as giving all the advantage to Japan. The argument went this way—Japan is an industrial nation with facilities for making munitions and great stores have been made there. China is not an industrial nation and must depend on such munitions which can be purchased from other nations when she is attacked by Japan. To deny to China the right to buy would be to leave that country entirely at the mercy of Japan.

So it is quite easy to understand that peace-loving delegates might attend such a conference, prepared to pass peace resolutions and nothing else, but when brought face to face with a definite case such as Japan's invasion of China, the practical and hardfisted force of grim reality has to receive preference or at least acknowledgement.

Is Russia Interested?

Word that Russia is about to go into action on behalf of China may be the truth. And again it may be only a rumor. It can be accepted as a fact that Russia does not approve of the prospect of having a strongly entrenched and increasingly powerful and expanding Japan to the south of her immense Siberian tract. Imperial Russia would never have approved of that and soviet Russia will not take any different view.

It is reported that Russian ambassadors have been in touch with Chinese officials at Nanking, and the spokesman left by plane for Moscow. It is reported that the trip will take four days to complete.

And the fact that it takes four days by air from Nanking to the capital of Russia is significant. It gives a fair idea of how far the heart of Russia is removed from the present scene of trouble.

On the other hand it is worth recalling that a Russian airbase at Vladivostock is in a position to strike directly at the heart of Japan while much of that country's strength has been drawn to the conflict in China. It is also possible that China has made very definite and generous overtures to Russia to come to her aid. If Russia decides to act it is likely she would attack Japan proper rather than bother with sending troops to fight the Japanese forces now in China.

Hens Are Like That

Men digging a water trench near St. Thomas have been working within three feet of the place where a guinea hen is sitting (or setting) on a nest of eggs, and she refuses to quit.

If a guinea hen is any way related to a speckled hen or a white hen or a brown hen she is merely carrying into effect a trait which has long existed.

Hens on the Tenth Concession were like that. Particularly the speckled hen, although she never did her hatching this time of year. The maternal instinct used to stir about the time spring was getting ready to come. Of course such things are not regulated the same on any two farms, but on Lot Four on the Tenth about the time there was a little place for dusting inside the drive shed where the sun came in strong through a window one could expect that speckled hen would start showing symptoms of clucking.

And when she did there would be just as much determination as that St. Thomas guinea hen is showing. When the speckled hen started to cluck she meant business; she was out for a greater chicken population and was dead set against such nonsense as birth control. Often enough she'd take to a nest and just stay there. If she had a china egg under her or a door knob it was all the same, and either or both seemed to suit her all right. As a rule we would let her practise on the door knob or the china nest egg for a couple of days just to make sure she meant business. And she generally did. Then she'd be supplied with 15 eggs and she'd start on her 21-day session in earnest. So there's really nothing new in the persistence which that St. Thomas guinea hen is showing. When a hen gets right down to the serious business of setting and clucking it takes an awful lot to disturb her.

Always A Gentleman

Senator Rodolphe Lemieux is dead at his home in Montreal, and his passing means the departure of a gentleman above all, a faithful representative and probably the most outstanding presiding officer the House of Commons ever had. As Speaker in the House for three successive parliaments Mr. Lemieux lived through stormy sessions, but never was he outwardly perturbed. We are certain every member of the Commons from front benches back knew instinctively that a Lemieux ruling was fair and correct and accepted it as such. The reason was Mr. Lemieux's profound knowledge and respect for law, of which he was a master before he entered public life.

Rodolphe Lemieux entered public life in the victory of Sir Wilfrid in 1896 and he remained in the House until 1930. Before being made Speaker he was Solicitor General, Postmaster-General, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. He was slated to become Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, but he refused. It was Rodolphe Lemieux who conducted and successfully concluded most of the negotiations which gave to Canada the 250-acre plateau of Vimy Ridge in France. A busy and an eventful life was his, but through it all Rodolphe Lemieux was always the gentleman.

Cheering at the Right Time

Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., M.P., who sits for Parry Sound at Ottawa, has been having a fling at the Ontario election campaign, and part of his offering is a description of the manner in which he claims Denton Massey participated in a meeting in Parry Sound. The meeting was in the interests of the Conservative candidate, and Mr. Massey had arranged with a number of boys and a few leaders to see that the cheering came at the right time and had sufficient vigor in it. The Parry Sound Star explains that Mr. Massey explained to the cheer-leaders they were to start going when he said "You can trust Rowe," and they were to cheer even harder when he said "Rowe will be premier of Ontario after October 6."

The cheering was to be done vigorously and as directed so it would sound to the radio audience that the speech was going over with a bang, and Mr. Slaght said such a thing should never have been done, as it was deceptive.

But there is something to be said for Mr. Massey's methodical way of doing business. We can conceive of nothing worse than a speaker getting into action and then receiving little or no response from his audience. And then there is always the danger that some person will start a bit of applause at the wrong time. The enthusiastic one who is bent on whooping may mistake a comma in the speaker's delivery for a full-grown period and break in suddenly and uninvited before the speaker has delivered the final punch calculated to drive milling crowds of voters in the right direction.

If some careful hand could always tell the folk just when they are expected to cheer, and also bring the volume to a well-rounded climax then much would be done for the encouragement and development of political speaking. We are not as perturbed as Mr. Slaght appears to be. Mr. Massey must have a bit of genius to have worked out some such system.

So Easy To Forget

There was a picture in several papers the other day showing Crown Prince Umberto of Italy "enjoying a few moments with his two children." A princess is sitting on his knee and a little lad referred to as his son and heir is standing beside him.

Being the crown prince of Italy means the young man is in line for succession to the throne and also the little lad in the picture will in time succeed his father.

It may be regarded as a token of ignorance but the fact that there was and is a throne in Italy is something which often seems to have escaped attention.

Benito Mussolini has so thoroughly covered the scene there that it is difficult for a king or a crown prince to do anything which will keep him prominently and well before his own people or the world at large.

So perhaps that is why it is arranged now and then for them to have their pictures taken and printed in papers the world over. It is one way of serving notice that they desire to be numbered among those present.

When Neighbors Fight

It was the culmination of a five-year dispute over a line fence.

His wife had taken vigorous disapproval to the removal of a post on the dividing line of the properties.

Both husbands took part in separating their wives, who were staging a face- slapping and hair-pulling episode.

She declared her neighbor's husband struck her in the face and broke her glasses.

We took those few sentences from a report of a court case heard in Wallaceburg, where the participants finally aired their trouble in the open and where the public could have a good view and a perfect hearing of the squabble between two families.

And all because a post was removed and they were not certain where a line fence should have been located. And that row had been going on for five years. And at any time the services of a surveyor or an examination of the deeds of the property would have given the right answer.

The world is a large place and a wonderful place, but we do strange things and come to odd conclusions when we start putting up boundaries and bits of fences here and there. In Wallaceburg two families living side by side had been having a simmering row for a full five years, and that indeed is a long time to keep on hating the people next door and having nothing to do with them. There would not be any borrowing going on back and forth there; there would not be a bit of conversation or gossip when the women were putting out or taking in the Monday wash. Nothing of that sort. Just a long spell of saying and thinking miserable things about each other, and perhaps anticipating the day when they would get even.

It was a great price to pay because a bit of a post or a few sticks of fence timber were run this way or that way. And it looks as though these hair-pulling wives and their interfering husbands had paid the price in full, and the sad part is they have nothing to show for it. Fighting with the neighbors has never yet been listed as one of the investments which pays a dividend.

NOTE AND COMMENT

If a decent man does something you think wrong, it is probably what you would do if caught in the same situation.

We doubt whether Nature was very smart. She developed the one perfect equipment for the present-day pedestrian and then handed it to the kangaroo.

Reform is difficult. Deciding to reform makes a man feel so righteous that he no longer feels the need of doing anything more about it.

The election is not at its peak yet. The Toronto morning paper has room on its editorial page for a letter on the ragweed menace.

Fifty-two nations have condemned Japanese air raids on Chinese cities. Meanwhile Japanese flyers continue to load up their machines for fresh attacks.

Better than a boycott of Japanese goods is a tarriff against them high enough to keep the things out of the country.

Now that Premier Mackenzie King has announced his intention of voting Liberal a lot of the suspense has gone out of the Ontario election. Can't we hear from Mr. Bennett now?

Sarnia council has started a movement to secure a share of motor license and gasoline tax revenue for the municipalities. It is a good trick—even if they find it impossible to accomplish.

Slot machines have been interjected as an issue in the campaign in Windsor—Sandwich. They will have to wait until October 6 to see who gets the jack pot in the way of a majority.

Australians have been appealed to by a British professor not to create a civilization based on the motor car as has been done in the United States and England. Wonder what the professor has against the trailer?

Mr. Justice McFarland says the slaughter on the highways is becoming appalling. With a 50-mile speed limit and markers that cannot be read it is to be feared that the worst has not yet been seen.

Eastern churches and communities are again shipping carloads of food and clothing to the stricken areas of the West. It is a development that gives the lie to the accusation that the east cares nothing for the problems and difficulties of the prairies.

Once in a while a coroners jury in a motor killing shows that it has some conception of the responsibility thrusted upon it. For instance a jury at Wheatley has found that a fatal accident was caused by the reckless driving of the motorist involved.

FLIES

(By A. R. K.)

¶ I'm always glad when flies will cease, I'll milk my brindle cow in peace, and well nigh fill a pail; nor will she be inclined to kick, nor will I have to duck and quick, because she swings her tail.

¶ I can't blame cows that swing their tails, nor put their feet inside of pails, when flies are biting them; for that's just what their tails are for, to keep from getting bitten more, of tails she should have ten.

¶ I got a spraying outfit too, to see just what the stuff would do, I squirted here and there; I'd shoot straight at each fly I'd see, and I was sure as one could be, he'd move about with care.

¶ But when I got the squirting done, and when the milking had begun, there come flies by the peck; the brindle's tail would start to swing, and when it hit me it would sting, and wrap around my neck.

¶ I've often thought I'd get a nail, and put a weight on brindle's tail, and anchor both her feet; then with a pail between my knees, I'd sit and do the job with ease, upon my humble seat.

¶ I'm tired of squirting at the flies, I've had them every shape and size, some skinny as a rail; so I don't blame my brindle much, when she throws in her swinging clutch—and starts to wag her tail.

It is an interesting fact that about seventy per cent. of the world's supply of cork is obtained from the cork oak, an evergreen tree which grows abundantly in Spain and Portugal. Tunis and Algeria are next in importance in production followed by Southern France, and Corsica, Italy Sardinia and Sicily, practially in the order named. An effort was once made to introduce this tree into Southern California and Mississippi but American soil failed to produce a product of satisfactory quality. The tree reaches a height of anywhere between twenty to sixty feet and measures sometimes as much as four feet in diameter.

The First Pen.

IN THE YEAR 225 B.C. the hair pen was invented in China. This was followed by the use of silk rolls as a writing material in place of bamboo and wood. Some three hundred years later came the invention of paper made of tree-bark, hemp, old rags and fish nets. It was about 400 A.D. that the use of ink was first developed in China from lampblack, similar to modern Chinese ink.

Two attacks in three days by sharks on vessels in the Firth of Clyde have caused fishermen to demand action on the part of the British government to exterminate the monsters which they claim constitute a grave menace to the safety of the coast. The shelling of the sharks by a destroyer or harpooning by experienced whalers are the methods suggested as the sharks are impervious to rifle bullets and tear to pieces any nets in which they are caught.

Carvings that sculptor Jacob Epstein did in his youth for the British Medical Association have been causing some trouble in London. The Medical Association recently moved to new quarters, leaving the statues behind, and the old building became the headquarters of the Southern Rhodesian government. A short time ago the head of one of the statues dropped off and fell into the street narrowly missing a woman and the London authorities and the Rhodesian High Commissioner ordered the total removal of the Epstein statues. The sculptor was furious, charged that his work had been neglected and succeeded in getting a stay of execution. However fresh sentence has been pronounced and the cutting off of certain projecting arms and legs has been ordered much to the dismay of the sculptor.

The Life Story of Benito Mussolini

As a Youth He Was Generally in Trouble; First Opposed War and Then Favored It

THE LIFE story of Benito Mussolini can be briefly told. There is nothing placid about it. Always one of struggle and touched with discontent, always ready to take a big chance, never fearful of results, it runs like this:

Benito Amilcare Andrea Mussolini was born July 29, 1883, in his father's combination inn, blacksmith shop, home, and schoolhouse in the village of Dovio di Predappio.

He was a troublesome boy. He used to crawl under the benches in his mother's schoolroom above the forge and pinch the legs of the pupils. Later he chased the girls and pulled their hair. He often came home bloody from fights. He led bands of young marauders who anarled fishermen's nets, raided apple trees, and stole the catch from bird trappers.

From Vecchia Giovanna (Old Joan), the village crone, he learned how to interpret dreams and tell fortunes with cards; she also explained to him why the forepaws of a hare are short, why an ox will allow a woman to lead it, and other "magic lore."

Perhaps because his mother was a teacher he shirked his regular schooling—until "in my fifteenth year I began to learp how to read." Afterward he studied at home and with the Silesian Friars at Faenza and Forlimpopoli; he read Nietzsche and Machiavelli, both powerful influences in his later life.

As a big boy he blew the bellows in his father's smithy, but not always satisfactorily, for the old man cuffed him often and occasionally beat him with a strap.

In 1902 he was 19. Compulsory military service, which many Italians dislked, lay just ahead. Benito wanted to come to America—but his mother could lend him only $9, so he ran away to Switzerland instead. Six months later he was arrested at Lausanne as a destitute vagrant.

IN JUNE 1903 he began an eleven-year career as a radical. He organized a stoneworkers' strike in Bern, and the Swiss city sent him packing. Meanwhile Italy called him for army service. When he ignored the call, he was listed as "Renitente di Leva" (deserter). In April 1904 Swiss authorities discovered a falsification in his passport, and he was kicked out of Geneva.

Nobody but the Italian army wanted him—and the army would punish him for desertion if it got him. He wrote a tract, "Dieu n'existe pas" (There is no God).

But there was a King who had a birthday in December. An amnesty was declared, enabling the wanderer to go home and do his service in the jaunty, quick-stepping Tenth Bersaglieri. Apparently calmed by the discipline, he went from the army into a three-year period of elementary-school teaching.

Though he now enjoyed a meager security, the hardships of others troubled him. He led a mob against the Mayor of Forli, demanding a reduction in the price of milk. The price came down, but the riot leader was sentenced to eight months for "armed revolt." Before the sentence expired, he was fined 100 lire for "revolutionary expression."

Afterward he became the salaried secretary of the Forli Socialist party. Radicalism was now his occupation, and he published "La Lotta di Classe" (The Class Struggle), upholding the Marxism which he later fought so bitterly.

That was the year before Italy won Libya from Turkey. Mussolini the Socialist opposed war violently and was jailed for sabotage. The war went on, as wars do, Mussolini continued to resist it with all his might and was imprisoned for five months, convicted of inciting riots, stopping work in war factories, halting streetcars, damaging the tracks, seizing a locomotive, blocking tracks with telegraph poles, and hampering recruiting.

In July 1912 he made himself director of the Socialist party of all Italy; in December won the editorship of its most powerful daily, the Avanti (Forward). Two years later he was "patron saint" of the June 1914 Red Week revolution and led a mob to Cathedral Square, Milan, in an unsuccessful attempt to seize the municipal buildings.

EUROPE went to war in 1914, though Italy for a time was neutral. Mussolini's party was neutral too; but Mussolini shaded his own neutrality by denouncing sentimentality for invaded Belgium and approving the German cause. In October he reversed himself (paid by the French Foreign Office, his enemies said) and came out for Italy's intervention on the side of the Allies.

When the Socialist party repudiated him, he founded his own paper, the Popolo d'Italia—which is still his mouth-piece. Five years earlier he had gone to jail for opposing war; in April 1915 he went to jail for insisting on it.

Italy finally entered the war, and Mussolini joined the army. Laid up for a time with stomach trouble (ten years later he underwent an operation for stomach ulcers), he got back in uniform and wrote "Life in the Trenches" for his paper.

In February 1917 an exploding trench mortar left steel splinters in his body. King Victor Emmanuel III walked through the hospital ward and Mussolini so impressed him that he said: "That man will go far in life."

Two years later—with Col. Emilio de Bono, now Marshal; Italo Balbo, now Governor of Libya; and other Rightist zealots—Mussolini founded the "Fasci di Combattimento," his private army. By the Autumn of 1919 it was so strong that Premier Francesco Nitti, fearing a coup d'etat, jailed its leader. This was Mussolini's last arrest—in 24 hours he was free again. A year later he had wrested from Premier Giolitti authorization to arm his Fascist squadristi.

Newspaper Field Now Much Crowded

Many Young People Feel the Urge to Write; Papers Closing Down Tends to Flood Market

(By J. V. McAREE in Globe and Mail)

LAST WEEK we had two letters from young people who wished to enter the newspaper game, and asked our advice and encouragement. In the past five or six years we have had probably hundreds of such appeals. We had to tell them all that this was a particularly hard time in which to break into print. Magazine and newspaper publishers were cutting expenses wherever they could. Those that had formerly paid for original contributions fell back on syndicate stuff which was a good deal cheaper and perhaps not much feebler. Others were living on inventory, which means, we think, that instead of buying new material they were publishing material accepted and paid for but not published because more interesting matter came to hand. But magazines are again in the market, and while they may not be paying the fabulous rates of a decade ago they are all on the lookout for new talent and prepared to reward it suitably when it appears. The general prospect is, therefore, better than it has been for several years.

In the Toronto newspaper field there are more men and women with newspaper experience than there are positions for them. The purchase of The Mail and Empire by The Globe resulted in several reporters and editors being without employment, although we are glad to say most of them have been since absorbed. Nevertheless the fact remains that there are more experienced reporters than there are positions. This is partly due to the large turnover on the Toronto Star which operates on a curious budgeting system under which a lot of reporters are discharged one month and another new lot employed next month. This means that there is a more or less permanent reservoir from which editors can draw if the occasion arises. Naturally, when an editor wants a reporter he prefers one with experience. He thus avoids the time and trouble of training a green man.

What happened as the depression came on was that as people lost their jobs many of them remembered that at high school their English composition had received favorable comment; and that perhaps among their friends they had acquired some reputation for vivid narrative or perhaps humorous descriptive powers. It seemed to them a simple and natural thing to apply to a newspaper for a job. They would never think of applying without experience or training for any other kind of position, as, for instance, playing in an orchestra. But it struck them that all one needed was a natural gift to be a success as a newspaper writer. Therefore we have seen hundreds of them apply hopefully only to be turned away, for newspaper proprietors, like all other proprietors, were reducing expenses. Nevertheless we do not doubt that in the past few years reporters have got their first jobs and that in twenty years or so from now they will have become distinguished columnists or managing editors or in some other way have made their mark in newspaper work.

WHIFFLETREES?

(New York Times)

THE TIMES recorded the sale at the postoffice auction of a horse collar and three whiffletrees for 63 This little item elated us, leading us to think we had settled forever the great whiffletree controversy and definitely put Mr. Webster, who spells the word "whippletree," in his place. But we reckoned without Uncle Sam. With the government horning in on all sorts of private enterprise nowadays, we should not have been surprised to find it poking its nose into this particular controversy and in a particularly nasty way. It is now revealed that the current year-book of the Department of Agriculture brazenly supports "whippletree," despite the Oxford Dictionary, but weakly evades its legal responsibility by merely quoting a passage from Agnes Chase's "First Book of Grasses" pleading for the use of technical terms in farming. "Spikelet, glume and lemma," says Miss Chase, 'are words no more difficult to learn than are hames, crupper or whippletree, carburetor, clutch or magneto."

All right, Miss Chase—but drop in on any farmer and ask him how his whippletrees are doing. He may not correct you. But he will certainly dipper with you.

WESTERN FAITH

(Brantford Expositor)

THERE is apparently no limit to optimism of the people of Western Canada. They do not appear to be discouraged after eight seasons of drouth that have afflicted areas in the Prairie Provinces comprising about 12,000,000 acres. In recent speech before the Canadian Chamber of Commerce luncheon at Regina, the Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Federal Minister of Agriculture, said: "There is no better next-year country in the word than Western Canada." In that brief sentence the Minister of Agriculture epitomized the opinion of Western Canada. One wonders sometimes whether there is something in the big open spaces of the Prairie Provinces that develops this spirit. It is questionable if the citizens of Eastern Canada would stand up as well under repeated discouragements as their Western compatriots have.

BARNEY'S BLARNEY.

(Buffalo Courier-Express)

WHEN Bernard M. Baruch landed in New York from Europe, the other day, reporters asked him how he felt about the metropolitan mayoralty contest. Here is Mr. Baruch's answer:

"Mayor La Guardia is probably the best mayor we have had in the 56 years I have lived in New York. Mr. Mahoney is a first-class man and so is Dr. Copeland. I do not know yet whom I will support, but no matter which of the three is elected I think we will have a good mayor."

We don't suppose that the Nobel peace prize jury would accept this as qualifying Mr. Baruch. But there ought to be some kind of award for diplomacy in domestic politics as well as in international affairs. Perhaps his friend will call him Blarney Baruch hereafter.

WHEN BEDS WERE BEDS

(Monett Times, Mo.)

Today it is easy to make up a neat bed, but in the old days of plump featherbeds, bed-making was an art. It took experience and skill to put the feathers where they belonged and to make it smooth with square corners. Then there were the pillow-shams, stiffly starched, that must be placed just so, without a wrinkle.

Chinese Refugees Flee Across Improvised Bridge

Fleeing Chinese, in a mad scramble to escape the screaming shells and sudden death from the air, are shown crossing an improvised bridge of planks laid across sampans into the safety of the international settlement at Shanghai. Periodic shelling and bombing of the native quarter has taken the lives of more than a thousand non-combatants. Latest reports from China indicate the Japanese war machine has been halted on three fronts by heroic resistance on the part of Chinese soldiers.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

October and November wheat led a price slump in wheat futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day after prices moved 1½ cents higher in early trading. At the final bell values were 2¼ to ⅝ cent lower, October $1.32¼, November 1.31¾; December $1.26⅝ to ¾, and May $1.26¼.

Heavier offerings from Western Canada farmers, profit-taking and back-spreading operations sent prices more than three cents down from opening high-points.

May and December wheats were firm, partially due to brokers selling October and November and purchasing the former futures.

Canadian wheat bought for export was estimated at less than 250,000 bushels.

INDIANS FIGHTING W.P.A. JOB OUSTER

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Sept. 30 (A.P.). — Western New York Indians pleaded to-day with the United States Government to prevent the Works Progress Administration from dismissing an American Indian because he is an "alien."

Rochester Indians sent resolutions to the United States Bureau of Indian Affairs, Representative George B. Kelly and State WPA Administrator Lester M. Herzog asking that Frank C. Maracle, great-great-grandson of famous Mohawk chief of Revolutionary War days, Capt. Joseph Brant, be retained on the WPA rolls.

Herzog gave orders last week for Maracle's dismissal as foreman of a Rochester paving project because he said a WPA investigator made the mistake of admitting him to employment "just because he was an Indian."

Maracle's difficulty arose because he was born in Brantford, Ont. The WPA ruled he was "foreign born."

Adding to the difficulty is a 15-year-old Dominion of Canada ruling bestowing citizenship on American Indians in Canada.

Maracle, however, had crossed the border some time before the Enfranchisement Act, and authorities are now seeking to determine whether it affects him.

For the last 25 years, Maracle has lived in Rochester with his family. For a number of years he has voted regularly and his registration or vote never has been questioned.

Until the depression wrecked his gasoline station business, Maracle had prospered. Now he supports his wife and four children through the WPA job.

According to Indian authorities, the action of the Canadian Government makes it necessary for the United States to recognize the Indians as Canadian citizens, although they are permitted to cross the border and establish residence at will.

South Africa exported more than $10,900,000 in gold in a recent week.

FINAL DEFENCE FOR FARM HAND

friendliness with the members.

No Quarreling.

"At no time was there any unpleasantness or quarrelling, and there is no suggestion that the accused bore malice, and this information comes from those whose hearts are torn with anguish.

"How strange and unaccountable were the events of the crime and what explanation there is would be the question," Mr. Haney continued. "Certainly there was no excuse for what happened and no justification insofar as the seven-year-old John Luckins was concerned.

"The medical experts are only able to go part way in determining what was the cause. If they had doubts it is reasonable to suggest that you would be justified in hesitating to say the actions of the accused were those of a sane youth of 17 years who knew what he was doing without regard of the consequences.

"Surely you are impressed with the fact that if the mind functioned at all it was not the mind of a rational person. I suggest it wasn't the mind of a sensible 10 year old and on that point I mention the aspect of alcohol."

At this point Mr. Haney digressed and mentioned it was the duty of the Crown to present all the evidence. He said the Crown introduced the statement made by the accused to the provincial constables and added the Crown had no right to withhold that document and having put it before the jury it is evidence that is uncontradicted. The document which defence counsel referred to was the confession which Labadie is alleged to have signed after arrest.

Bought Bottle of Liquor.

"One fact in this document is that the accused had been in Port Huron the night before March 12, and had returned bringing with him a bottle of liquor, part of which he consumed. When he was left alone on the farm the next day he consumed the rest and that is a fact which has not been denied," he said.

"I ask the jurors to have regard for your general knowledge of the effect of liquor and particularly the effect of liquor on a 17-year-old boy with a mentality of a 10-year-old child," Mr. Haney continued.

"You will recall that I questioned two Sarnia physicians, Dr. W. G. Gray and Dr. Gordon Scarrow, and they indicated they did not know of a test that could be given a person to determine what effect a half-bottle of liquor could have on a 17-year-old boy in a two-hour period.

"Psychiatrists were questioned and they replied they did not know of any method. This developed into the question of what the psychiatrist's opinion would be of the effect of liquor on a youth. The experts volunteered the information that the reaction on a mentally deficient individual would be such as to break down mental barriers that would ordinarily have been in the mind of a normal individual."

Talks to the People – J. H. Burnham

Mr. Rowe spoke at length upon the R. C. Separate School question and said: "I've stated before and repeat again, I'll not only maintain Public schools but I'll respect and maintain Separate schools." Notwithstanding the intense disappointment of those opposed to Separate schools, Mr. Rowe has repeatedly declared that all stories that he is unfriendly to Separate schools are "not only untrue but ridiculous."

That kills the Separate school question for this election. I must confess that I am astonished at his bold and definite stand. But there it is and what are "they" going to do about it. It is the blow that just about killed father. "Is it for this that we walked in the rain on the 12th?" What does he mean when he says I'll maintain Separate schools?" It's awful, boys. It looks like "we're totally ruined."

Senior Golds Lead On Strong Market

TORONTO, Sept. 30 (CP)—With senior golds in the van Toronto stocks pushed ahead in more active trading today. Oil shares took more attention than usual and sizeable advances were common. Base Metal listings and steels were in demand while junior golds showed a mixed trend.

Dome improved 1⅛ to 43¼ and McIntyre was up more than a point. Sizeable improvements came out for Macassa, Pickle Crow, Siscoe, Wright-Hargreaves and Sylvanite.

ROOSEVELT PAYS VICTORIA VISIT

SEATTLE, Sept. 30 (AP)—After two nights and a day of rest from his cross-country speech-making and inspection swing, President Roosevelt charted a "hands-across-the-sound" visit to British Columbia today.

Shortly after breakfast he was to leave United States territory for the first time since his inter-American peace conference visit to Buenos Aires last November-December.

It also was his second good-will trip to Canada in 14 months. July a year ago he went to Quebec after a sailing cruise around Nova Scotia, and held up his western hemisphere "good neighbor" policy as an example for the rest of the world. Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, returned the President's 1936 visit early this year. Steps taken under the Roosevelt administration to improve Canadian relations included a reciprocal trade agreement and amendments to Customs and Tax laws.

The President's goal today on his three-hour journey across wind-flecked Puget Sound aboard the destroyer Phelps was Victoria, B.C.

The destroyer Porter was enlisted as an escort.

A royal salute from guards of honor was to signalize the President's arrival at Victoria.

It was believed President Roosevelt may discuss plans for a United States-Alaska highway with British Columbia Provincial Government heads at Victoria.

Such a highway necessarily would run through British Columbia. In Seattle yesterday, Representative Warren G. Magnuson of Washington State quoted the President as saying he would discuss the proposal with Provincial leaders "if possible."

Italy Welcomes Il Duce Home

ROME, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini returned triumphantly to Italy to-day from Germany. Despite the early hour of his arrival at Bolzano, about 50 miles south of Italy's Austrian frontier, thousands crowded the station and stood along the tracks, shouting "Duce! Duce!" while Mussolini waved from a train window.

Gabriele D'Annunzio added to the demonstration for the Premier at Verona, embracing him ardently on the station platform while the train made a brief stop.

LORD TWEEDSMUIR IS GRAND MASTER

asked His Excellency at the start of the installation proper.

"I do so believe," the governor-general responded.

"Will you, as grand master, lend your support to our effort to keep alive the spirit of fellowship among the members of the order?"

"I will endeavor so to do."

"At the founding of this order, the grand master, on appointment was with solemn and benefitting ceremonial duly invested with the official cloak of office," said lieutenant Governor Irwin as an attendant placed the official cloak about the shoulders of Lord Tweedsmuir.

"In token of your consent to assume the office of grand master of The Order of Good Time, I hereby invest you with the official collar of office."

With that, a great chain bearing gold medallions and ovals representing the history of the order and the arms of the province of Nova Scotia was placed about the governor general's shoulders.

"Harvest Tea" W.A. of Knox Church.

Masses of late flowers in glowing colors, red leaves and wild grapes, pumpkins and rosy-cheeked apples, gleaming silver and snowy cloths, with yellow, orange and green decorations, gave the lecture hall of Knox United Church a charmingly festive appearance when the Women's Association held a most successful "harvest tea" on Wednesday afternoon.

The guests were received by Mrs. V. Zufelt and Mrs. J. Allen, president of the association. The general convenor for the tea room was Mrs. A. Juby. The social convenor was Mrs. George Davis, with two ladies in charge of each table. Mrs. J. Donaldson, Mrs. H. Clegg and Mrs. J. Lancashire had charge of the decorations. Mrs. Lewis looked after the musical program, and Mrs. R. Laing was treasurer.

A profusion of [illegible] flowers, pumpkins, corn and other vegetables decorated the platform, where a lovely appliqued quilt, the work of the Centre Sewing Circle, was on display.

A long central table was beautifully arranged with a white cloth, a huge bouquet of gorgeous flowers in a silver bowl as a centrepiece, orange candles in silver holders and pumpkins filled with red apples, all decoratively surrounded with red leaves and wild grapes. Silver vases of marigolds were placed on crepe paper doilies in harmonizing yellow, orange and green, with matching streamers, to decorate the fifteen smaller tables. Leaves and wild grapes surrounded the doilies and on each table strutted a clever little "turkey" made of pine cones and pipe cleaners.

During the afternoon a musical program was enjoyed by the large crowd of guests, and consisted of: A vocal solo by the Rev. Mr. Zufelt; two solos, Mrs. E. Rowe, a solo, Mrs. C. Weldon. W. R. Potter, organist of Knox Church, accompanied at the piano. The Misses Gertrude and Marjorie Lewis entertained with a pianoforte duet.

English-Garvey.

St. Paul's Church, Norwood, was the scene of a very lovely autumn wedding at nine o'clock on Wednesday morning, when Catherine Eleanor, daughter of Mrs. Garvey and the late David Garvey, was united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony to Gordon Patrick English, son of Mrs. English and the late John English of Hastings. The Rev. Father J. J. McCarthy performed the ceremony and said the Nuptial Mass.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother to the strains of the wedding processional. She was wearing a frock of French Osprey in Talisman shade, simply and smartly designed; a matching swagger coat with natural lynx collar, a small French hat, and black suede accessories. Her corsage was of rosebuds and she carried a prayer book bound with the same material as her ensemble.

Miss Isabel Garvey, who attended her sister as bridesmaid, was becomingly attired in a brown wool dress, matching hat and accessories, and a green coat. She wore a corsage of roses.

Thomas Hickson, cousin of the groom, was the best man.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's mother, the guests including only the immediate members of both families. Mrs. Garvey, receiving the guests with the bridal party, was gowned in black brocaded crepe. Mrs. English, mother of the groom, wore a gown of black lace.

The happy couple left later for a motor trip, and when they return will reside in Hastings.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome chest of silver; to the bridesmaid a gold compact, and to the best man a cigarette case. The bride's gift to the organist was a pair of black suede gloves.

Sheehan-Lonergan.

DOURO, Sept. 30. — A lovely autumn wedding took place on Tuesday morning at nine o'clock at St. Joseph's Church, Douro, when Ada Lonergan, only daughter of John Lonergan and the late Mrs. Lonergan, was united in marriage to Michael Sheehan, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Sheehan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father E. Walsh, who also celebrated the Nuptial Mass.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, wore a lovely gown of royal blue velvet, ankle length, her close-fitting hat was of the same shade, and she wore a shoulder-length veil, a mink fur and silver slippers. She wore the groom's gift, a matched set of earrings and necklace, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Evelyn O'Brien, was gowned in peach taffeta, with small brown hat and veil and accessories also in brown. She also carried pink roses. The groom was assisted by his brother, John Sheehan. The wedding march was played by the organist, Mrs. V. Kennedy. During the Mass Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. P. Perdue of Downeyville rendered solos. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was an amethyst rosary and to the groomsman a tie set and a ring. After the ceremony a reception was held and wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan left for Toronto and Niagara Falls, here the honeymoon will be spent. For travelling the bride wore a tailored suit of grey tweed with tango shade blouse, blue felt hat, and other accessories in blue. Many splendid gifts were received by the young couple. Air Hostess Has Many Adventures On The "Great Lakes to Gulf Route"

Irene Martinez

By Lillian Campbell

Irene Martinez, air hostess, hasn't had her job very long, but she is one of those persons to whom things happen.

Irene speaks Spanish, as is required of the hostess of her line who run on what is known as its "Great Lakes to Gulf route," out of Brownsville, Tex. Thus when a dashing Mexican captain was a passenger and knew so little English that he could only order ham and eggs—which he detested—Irene was able to help him out and teach him enough of the language so that he could vary his menu. On his return to his native Mexico, the captain sent orchids to Irene.

By her tact and knowledge of a foreign tongue, Miss Martinez was also able to avert an international misunderstanding when prominent visitors from a foreign land failed to understand the itinerary planned for them and were highly incensed thereby. Taking command of a tense situation Miss Martinez was able to restore peace and tranquility, to the relief and gratitude of the consul from the visitors' land.

So far, Miss Irene has received three proposals of marriage, two from plain businessmen, and another from a New York newspaperman who "left his heart in Texas." She is still on the job, however.

Fur Sports Coat Fine For College

There is no fur that is smarter or more youthful for sports wear than baronduki. Dorothy Moore, young movie picture player, wears a coat of this fur in a model that would be an excellent choice for the college girl. It is made with a little stand-up collar and notched lapels, and is belted across the back achieving a yoke effect which is very good style for this year. Miss Moore is wearing beneath her fur coat a navy wool sports dress, the top pencil-striped in silver.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Good Sandwich

Grated American cheese mixed with chopped parsley and salad dressing, makes a good sandwich, according to June Travis, motion picture player.

Prints are still popular, but not the large splashy designs. Now the small, neat pattern is being used, particularly for the travel or early fall dress.

Fashion Service

3290

Plain wine wool combines smartly with wine and grey plaid wool in this youthful suit-like costume. The dart-fitted full shoulder sleeves are emphasized to "nip in" the waistline of the jacket. Plain go round and round the skirt. It will be nice to wear with sweaters and wool or cotton shirt blouse for smart changes. Again this model is lovely in black rough crepe or sheer wool in dark green.

Style No. 3290 is designed for girls 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 30, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42-inches bust. Size 36 requires 1½ yards of 54-inch material with 1¼ yards of 39-inch lining for jacket; and 2¼ yards of 54-inch material for skirt.

Tweed Coats Popular for Sports

TWEED topcoats for the big game are "tops". Colleges this year are planning to start the season with big games, too, which makes the market for the tweed two and three-piece suits and separate coats bullish.

Herringbone tweed is used for this sports coat, worn by Marion Marsh, moving picture actress. It is double-breasted, with a comfortable wide shawl collar, which can be pulled up close about the neck when the cool breezes are inclined to blow about the stadium.

Large patch pockets are another practical feature — very comfy for the thrusting in of hands when they become chilled. A black leather belt completes the picture. This is an excellent all-around campus model.

Colors Preferred

Customers buying coats and suits are showing a decided preference for colors, say salesmen and women. Grape and green are the favorites, but wine and blue also are well liked. Plaids are preferred in subdued or monotone effects. Checks are liked, especially when combined with solid color.

Nubby types of woolen fabrics are chosen this season in preference to the smoother types. The three-piece costume in tweed, with suit and top-coat, the costume suit with dress and seven-eights or full-length coat are the favorites for college and sports wear.

The straighter, pencil silhouette sports coat is a winner over the flared models, according to one saleswoman.

Roman stripe effects in satin are something new. They are used for vests in dark tailored suits, for crush sashes and for separate blouse wear.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

THERE are souls in the world who have the gift of finding joy everywhere and leaving it behind them when they go. Their influence is a gladdening of the heart. They give light without meaning to shine. Their bright hearts have a great work to do for God.

—Phillips Brooks.

Dear Friends:

This quotation was sent me by one of my readers as being her idea of myself and the articles I write you every day. Such a nice letter came with it, and it makes me glad and thankful that anyone would think of me like that. Thank you. Mrs. E.P.

Did you ever consciously set forth looking for joy? It's a lovely pastime. You can get joy in the way someone speaks, the lovely tones of their voice. You can get it in seeing a well-dressed person, or in the way someone else's hair is dressed. (And by the way, how I dislike the hair hanging to the shoulders. It's messy looking.)

You can get joy out of your daily work, you can take it with you when you go out and leave a little with everyone you meet. It's a much nicer companion than gloom or melancholy or worry. It brings out the smiles on every face, lifts people's spirits so that they think this isn't such a bad world after all.

For such a powerful thing it is not hard to carry. Our Lord told us about it when He said: "Ask and ye shall receive, that your JOY may be full." He wanted us to have joy and to carry it with us.

You can take it to a hospital when all else is forbidden. You can give it to those who grieve, you can share it with your neighbors, or those who work beside you. And the curious thing is, the more you give away the more you have for yourself.

You can share it with a smile, or a word or a little deed. It can be spread by just listening. You would be amazed how many people have said to me in my work as a psychologist, "Roberta, if you knew how GLAD I am I came to you." They got joy from me as well as the reading, and some cases look to me in the knowing of it.

The Wise Men rejoiced with exceeding joy when they saw the star which led them to the manger where the Saviour was born. All the knowledge they had accumulated was proven true so their joy was full. Just look and see how many times joy is mentioned in the Bible.

And it is the enemy of fear. Fear hates and avoids a joyful person, for he cannot get in his dirty work where joy abides. He cannot make a person worry, nor hate, nor lie down on the job, for joy closes all the doors where fear might enter.

Ever read the dictionary? Mine is almost falling to pieces I use it so much, and here is what it says about joyousness! "Glad; causing happiness; full of delight."

And you cannot be full of delight without some of it spilling over into someone else's life. Try it and see. Make up your mind that for just this one day you are going to take joy with you, you are going to share it, and once you do that you will want it with you always.

Even in death one can find joy sometimes, that the one who has gone before did not suffer too much, that they did not go suddenly, or if they did go that way, they had not to suffer too long. Or maybe that they were relieved after a long siege of lying in bed, and they may have been joyful in their release.

Sorrow is with us so much. We feel defeated by it. It gives no pleasure to us at all, but as the Bible tells us again, "Sorrow endureth for a night, but joy cometh in the morning." And so to the lady who thinks I bring joy to many, thank you, and I hope you continue to get more of it from,—

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

WEDDINGS

.nnis-Foster.

NORWOOD, Sept. 30.— On September 22nd the marriage of Dorothy Irene Foster of Lakefield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Foster of Windsor, formerly of Frankford, and John Keith Innis, of Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Innis of Norwood, was quietly solemnized at the Presbyterian manse in Hastings by Rev. D. K. Perrie.

The bride was becomingly attired in a navy crepe gown appliqued in white and wearing matching accessories.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Godfery of Peterborough, who wore a blue sheer gown with matching accessories. Mr. Fred Innis, a brother of the groom, acted as his attendant.

Following the ceremony the happy couple left immediately for a motor trip through western Ontario. On their return from the wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Innis will take up residence at 210 London street, Peterborough.

One railway in England will have 22 mile-a-minute trains this winter.

Facts and Fancies

DON'T HOARD SILVER.

Don't hoard your silverware if you want to keep it shining. Silver is not only unharmed by frequent use, but it seems actually to improve.

This is especially true of flatware. If you wash it in hot soapsuds and scald it after each meal, it will be a long time before tarnish appears.

Alternate the pieces in use so that all may be used in turn. When silverware tarnishes—which is inevitable sooner or later—clean with a mild silver polish such as jewellers use, and wash in hot soapsuds, rinse and dry on a soft cloth. A final polishing may be given with a soft piece of chamois.

Evening No Time For Short Skirt

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—(CP).—When someone started the rumor that short skirts for evening wear were coming back into fashion Miss Virginia Bruce, stage and screen star, lost no time in organizing a "Committee to Protest Against Short Evening Skirts."

Miss Bruce spoke in prospective committee capacity and here are some of the comments.

Mark Sullivan, the Broadway show movie producer who said to put hopefuls to bathing suits, said: "If a woman has charm, she should not disguise her legs, except in evening costume. There is a gentle suggestion in watching a beautiful woman enter a room in a long evening dress."

Charles B. DeMille, movie director, said: "In the evening a woman should be all graceful. A long skirt does so much more to help a woman's figure. Short skirts are for the daytime, for sports, for the street, for shopping, for golf, for tennis and for the beach, but not for evening. Bless you all if we have short evening skirts."

Mrs. William Rhinelander Stewart, of society fame, is among those who prefer long evening skirts. A strong advocate of the long skirt for evening wear, she has been seen at many of the smart night clubs in the metropolitan area and at the Broadway openings and said: "The French designers have done a great service to the American women and I hope the American women will decide for themselves."

In Warm Coat With Velvet Collar

When the girls greet their friends at the Royal Ballet, they'll be ready to return in warm comfort in this model. The coat is of tan wool, with a velvet collar, and a matching velvet hat. The coat is double-breasted and warmly lined with tan lining. Note the high pockets and the buttons and buttonholes used for trimming.

WELL-DRESSED WOMAN WEARS TIMEPIECE IN HARMONY WITH APPAREL

Left, when Virginia Judd goes riding she wears a wrist watch with strap bracelet; right as a sportster at sports she wears a rounded-rectangular watch with diamond rim.

By LIGHETH

The well dressed woman of 1937 not only must look to her lingerie, outer garments, accessories and jewelery, but she must see that her watch harmonizes with the rest of her costume and the occasion on which it is worn.

If you can't afford to own several watches, better choose a model that will fit in with most of your seasons, hose, and don't wear a watch when it doesn't harmonize.

Two types of sports watches are shown here. When riding, or at least, waiting for her escort, Virginia Judd of New York, wears a wrist watch with a spring bracelet. For sportster sports, such as watching the races, the same young lady sports a dainty rounded-rectangular wrist watch with a tiny rim of diamonds outlining the elongated ends.

Yellow Gold Leads

Yellow gold still leads the field for daytime watches, although white gold is beginning to come back. Men, as a usual thing, don't care much for yellow gold watches with wedding rings and diamonds and, as usual in this man-made world, they are getting their way.

For the hour after the sport watch has been laid aside, and before the appearance of full evening apparel, yellow gold watches with just a sprinkling of diamonds are being shown. The rich color of the metal sets off the sparkle of the stones to fine advantage, and makes a smart in-between watch.

Business and sports call for the sleek golden simplicity of the new styles and polish shades are primarily designed for this particular type of hand.

Small, Short Hands

The small, short hand that is well-tapered, can be treated somewhat similarly. For this dainty type, the nails should be shaped to a point and an oval. If left too long, the nails will look artificial and will be shunned by fashionables. Those pale tints worn with a medium or slightly dark shade of polish, although extremely dark polish will tend to make the fingers appear shorter than they really are.

A girl's daily occupation and activities are important and must be considered in determining nail styles. For the average business girl or housewife, or any woman who is constantly using her fingers, conservatively shaped nails are best. Oval nails of a medium length and appropriate style not only harmonize well with the complexion of most women, but also present a neat and well-groomed appearance.

curves, with its infallible curved movement and four times the curve in the latest models that was shown by its revolutionary predecessor.

Watches for late afternoon and evening are bright with diamonds. When a diamond bracelet is added for particularly festive occasions, the watch becomes a handsome piece of jewelry, with its very useful dial hardly noticeable.

Variety Necessary

The time has come, according to watch makers, when women must vary their watches with their other accessories, and the 1937 variety of models are such as to whet their imaginations to the utmost. The out-of-door girl and the party woman have been equally remembered by watch stylists this season. Even nurses have been given a break at last by the introduction of as dainty a watch as you can imagine, with a sweep second hand for measuring the split second.

Nails Should Be Shaped With Care

By GLADYS DEAR

In these dear, dark days now departed, when women went in tight sheaths, pulled their hair over their ears and never admitted that they had legs, fingernails were considered perfectly groomed if they were merely kept short and clean. But nowadays, women do not consider their grooming complete unless their nails are perfect in every detail of manicuring.

And manicuring today means a great deal more than merely shortening and cleaning the nails! Women today realize that no two pairs of hands are identical in shape, size or condition, and manicuring, therefore, becomes an individual problem.

There are, in general, four different types of hands and each type naturally demands different treatment. For the short, broad hand with stubby fingers, the nails should be oval shaped, of medium length, extending just to the tips of the fingers. It is obvious that long, pointed nails would give an unbalanced appearance in this type of hand. Only very subdued shades of nail polish should be used on such nails. For the long, broad hand, the nails should be filed closely at the corners and tapered to slightly rounded points. This style is to be worn with the length and width of the fingers. A light, creamy shade of polish is preferable for this type of hand. A darker, more complimented polish shade would make the hand seem even larger than it naturally is.

The proper treatment for the long slender, well-tapered hand is the classic manicure. This is the type of hand to which exaggerated long nails and extreme shades of polish look well. The hands are so perfectly shaped as this type, that very character is, and it is well to keep that the many extreme nail styles and polish shades are primarily designed for this particular type of hand.

Small, Short Hands

The small, short hand that is well-tapered, can be treated somewhat similarly. For this dainty type, the nails should be shaped to a point and an oval. If left too long, the nails will look artificial and will be shunned by fashionables. Those pale tints worn with a medium or slightly dark shade of polish, although extremely dark polish will tend to make the fingers appear shorter than they really are.

Blue Satin Wrap

AN EVENING dress which will fit any evening guest or occasion is always in demand by society girls. Such a one is this type of dress pictured here. Made from blue satin, it covers arm-holes of the same color, and has short sleeves, gathering length to waist, short sleeves, and wide skirt. Other similar styles, but with long sleeves, are also shown.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta.

"Night brings out stars as sorrow shows us truth:
Though many, yet they help not, bright, they light not.
They are too late to serve us, and sad things
Are eye too true. We never see the stars
Till we can see naught but them.
So with truth.
And yet if one would look down a deep well,
Even at noon, we might see those same stars." Phillip J. Bailey.

Dear Friends:

The other day a few of us were talking about some truths which did nothing towards our happiness, in fact some of them annoyed us intensely. And it just goes to show you that truth has its place and its time.

One woman said: "How I love for someone to tell me I have a cold-sore, when the thing feels as big as the side of a house on my face. What do they think I am, deluding myself, or blind. Don't they think I know it? No, they must stop and say my, you've got a cold sore."

And another said "what I like best is for someone to come along on the street and tell me my slip is hanging down, just when I can do nothing about it. It's the truth alright, but darn those kind of truth-tellers.

The next one said, "just like last week when my nail caught a thread in my stocking making a small run. I hadn't time to change them, so thought it might not be noticed much. But one woman said so sweetly and in a whisper, oh Mrs.—you have a run in your stocking, and from then on I felt as if I had gone out barelegged."

Another one chimed in with, "One day I was shopping, and a button came off my coat, so I put it in my pocket until I got home to sew it on again. But I got so mad when every now and then someone told me, there's a button off your coat. Finally I got a pin and held it together that way."

It's alright to tell a person a thing if they can fix it, but if they are where they can do nothing about it, why mention it at all? It only makes them uncomfortable, and it does you no good, unless you get pleasure in making others feel like that.

One day I could have crowned a woman with heart's good will. We were talking when all of a sudden she said, "Onah wait a minute, looking intently at the side of my head. Then she looked all round to see if anyone was looking. I kept saying what is it? Tell me so I can fix it. But she said no, wait a minute and I'll fix it for you. Satisfied no one was looking, she leaned forward and pushed a BOBBY PIN back in place. Leaving a person all dithery about a bobby pin slipping.

All these things are truths all right, but at the wrong time, and in the wrong place. They do no good, only annoy others, so why tell them at all? The lady whose slip was showing was uncomfortable the rest of the day, she was in no position to fix it, so what good telling her.

And there are many things that would be better left unsaid, many things one should shut their eyes to. I like truth, I try to be as truthful as I can, but there is a time and place for it. In all essential things truth is best, but why hurt someone with a truth where it can do no good?

"Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise" applies to many things in life. Try telling pleasant truths for a change, shut your eyes and your mouth to some of the others when they are not vital, J. S. Blackie sums it up like this:

"All things to all men only fools will tell,
Truth profits none but those who use it well."

Your Friend, ROBERTA.

Campbellford and Cobourg Weddings

Of much interest in Campbellford, was the marriage of Miss Eileen Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Hall, to Mr. Ronald Hazell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hazell. The young couple, following the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother are shown in (1). Two week-end weddings solemnized in Cobourg were those of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. Glover (2), and Mr. and Mrs. John P. McArthur (3). Before her marriage Mrs. Glover was Miss Gwendolyn Isobel Sowden, of Cobourg. Mrs. McArthur was the former Miss Elizabeth Houstan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Houstan, Cobourg.

Salt Pack Is Aid In Improving Hair

(By Gladys Glad.)

Up in the Arctic Circle, I am told, the young Eskimo belle who wants to make a hit with her favorite boy friend—or who just wants to make a boy friend—uses reindeer marrow as pomatum for her hair. The girls up ther, it seems, have very strong, healthy hair, but when the reindeer marrow is plasterd on, their locks look anything but attractive. From our point of view.

There are a good number of women, however, whose tresses look just about as oily and unattractive as if they were plastered with marrow. And that's because the oil glands in their scalps are abnormal and over-active. They exude oil in excess quantities, and as a result, their hair becomes dull, greasy and lifeless in appearance.

No damsel who wants to appear attractive can afford to let her hair get into an oily condition.

Of course, superficial treatments such as the use of lemon rinses, soda rinses, and the like are beneficial for removing the excess oil from the hair, and for making the hair appear soft and fluffy. But a salt pack not only makes the hair appear free from any excess oil, but also helps to correct the abnormal action of the oil glands themselves. Of course, the results of the treatment will not be immediately apparent, but the procedure is a vigorous stimulation that is beneficial in every way.

Before the salt pack is applied, the hair should be brushed vigorously with a flexible-bristled brush. This brushing should be done with an upward and outward movement, so that the hair is freed from all accumulated dust and grime. Then a saucerful of ordinary table salt should be moistened with a little water, and applied to the scalp. The hair should be parted at close intervals and the sal applied until the entire scalp has been covered. And when the pack has been entirely applied, the salt should be rubbed through the hair and over the scalp with the fingertips. A towel should then be wrapped about the head and the pack permitted to remain on for a few minutes.

After this time has elaped, the hair should again be brushed vigorously and then fine-combed, in order to remove as much as possible of the salt from the hair and scalp. Next, before the hair is moistened, a good liquid shampoo should be generously applied to it, and a rich lather raised. This permits the soap to act directly on the oil and prevents any stickiness that might result if water were used first.

After this primary lathering and scrubbing, the hair should be rinsed with lukewarm water and relathered. As a final step, every bit of soap should be rinsed from the hair with clear water. And then a lemon, soda, or vinegar rinse should be administered. This procedure will not only remove all the excess oil from the hair, but will also help to normalize the functioning of the oil glands.

Is Your Boy Left-Handed?

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH.D.

A father writes of his boy:

"He is showing a decided tendency toward left-handedness. I believe that psychologists agree now that left-handedness is not inherited but is more or less an accident in infancy. That being possible, wouldn't it be possible to make a right-handed child out of him, even though he is eighteen months old?

"It, of course, is not a serious handicap to be left-handed except that he would probably be better adjusted to his environment since the world for the most part is made for right-handed people.

"If it is possible to make him right-handed, what are the methods that you suggest to bring it about?"

I answered him thus: Psychologists are not agreed that left-handedness is not inherited and that it is an accident of infancy. Only some say. It is possible to train a left-handed child to use the right hand habitually, but I doubt whether it is advisable to do so. We do know that a large percentage of those whose handedness has been changed have suffered from nervous disorder, especially speech disorder. Assuming that stuttering is an emotional disorder, as a rule, then it is not hard to understand how the vexation to the child who is forced to change handedness could cause stuttering. Yet such change will not always cause stuttering.

Why Run Risk

I have a notion, however, that if without any irritation to the child she could be induced to shift from left-handedness to right-handedness, no harm might be done. But very few parents or teachers will ever effect the change without vexation to the child. Why run the risk? Why tamper with the child's handedness?

Says Sex Appeal In Woman's Face

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—(CP), — "Sex appeal," says Binnie Barnes, British movie actress en route to England, "is in a woman's face.

"All that stuff about a trim ankle and a ripping figure is a lot of tosh," said the former milkmaid and daughter of a policeman. "It went out with puff-sleeves and rats' nests in the hair. Nobody looks at a woman's ankle nowadays. Men have become immune to ankles. It's all in the face."

BARNYARD EPITHET BREAKS UP RALLY

hearing as he ironically paid his respects to Fred J. McArthur of Cobourg, former member of the Legislature for Northumberland, who has blamed Sam Nesbitt for lining up the Tory convention against him, and in favor of Mr. Willmott. He paid a tribute to Mr. Carr, and then mentioned the presence on the platform of Hon. Thomas Murphy of Ottawa, who was a member of the Bennett cabinet.

Turning to Mr. Willmott as the next target, Mr. Fraser said "When you meet your political doom next Wednesday and are shuffled into the Tory discard you may have the opportunity of standing on this platform, probably against me, if you ever get another nomination." That crack got by, but when Mr. Fraser next singled out Mr. Sheppard as "the political manure spreader who has just taken his seat" that was the premature climax.

Just One Issue

Both Mr. Willmott and Mr. Sheppard repeatedly stressed the schools amendment as the major issue of the elections, and each time they mentioned it they stirred up the turbulence of the Grits.

"Mr. Hepburn says he is seeking a new mandate on three issues, the C.I.O., succession duties and the hydro contracts repudiation," Mr. Willmott began, "but the only issue is that Hepburn needed something to put across sto the electors after the shot in the eye he got in the East Hastings by-election."

In regard to succession duties Mr. Willmott said: "Hepburn insults the intelligence of the people when he tries to make an issue of doing what he is sworn to do, namely collect duties from estates."

"Why didn't Henry do it," a loud voice interrupted.

"He did it to the best of his ability," Mr. Willmott replied.

"He hadn't much ability." (shouting and laughter).

"After that scrap over in France twenty years ago, this is nothing at all; just a picnic," Mr. Willmott commented.

"Rowe is getting bigger audiences than Hepburn all over the province," was another Willmott statement, and some one shouted "I'll tell one now."

Mr. Willmott said there were issues Mr. Carr was either afraid or ashamed to discuss. He read a report showing that Mr. Carr had supported the Hepburn amendment to amend the schools act, and then voted to repeal the amendment.

Mr. Rowe will discuss the school question openly and publicly at all times," Mr. Willmott said.

"And hand out the money under the table," some one in the crowd yelled.

"After the East Hastings jolt Hepburn knew that the longer he put off elections the worse it would be for him, and now he is seeking a snap verdict two years before his time is up," Mr. Willmott concluded.

Harold N. Carr

In his address Mr. Carr faced every question raised by Mr. Willmott, and generally won an attentive hearing even if it was punctuated frequently with heckling.

"Mr. Willmott says he will follow his leader only if he thinks his leader is right, and of course if he is elected," Mr. Carr said. "Naturally that means Mr. Willmott would assume to decide whether his leader was right."

"I have supported Hepburn—"

A voice—"Because you had to."

"I have not always agreed with the premier, and sometimes I have been able to convince him that I was right. You elected me in 1934 to support Mr. Hepburn and his government, and I have done that. Today I tell you that if you elect me again it will be once more to support the Hon. Mitchell Hepburn. (Long applause).

Mr. Carr said the government had really only two years in office because it took the first year "to clean up the mess the Henry government had left on our doorstep." Referring to the C.I.O. he said that the Lewis strike method was first employed in Ontario at Sarnia where factory workers took possession of the plant, did all kinds of damage, and were finally ejected not by the police but by the citizens of Sarnia.

"That fact was proof that the great majority of the people of Ontario are not in sympathy with the John L. Lewis tactics. I am in favor of the rights of workingmen, but when strikers seize a factory and damage it they are going contrary to British and Canadian law, and that kind of practice will not be tolerated by a Hepburn government.

Mr. Willmott pretends that there is nothing to the C.I.O. and that is what the Hon. Earl Rowe is saying, but you have simply to look at the Sarnia incident to realize what this province has been saved from by the Hepburn government. We have laws that give workingmen the right to strike, and the Hepburn government has passed new laws giving workers a right to have factory conditions thoroughly investigated. If you want seizure of factories, sit down strikes, all you have to do is vote for Mr. Rowe and Mr. Willmott, but if you want the protection of property, and also the orderly investigation of labor conditions you know that is what this province will get from Premier Hepburn."

Favors Local Option.

Mr. Carr said he was in favor of the local option plan of letting communities decide what they wanted in the way of temperance measures, and he recalled that the Tories were strangely silent three years ago when the Henry government brought in beverage rooms after Howard Ferguson had wrecked the prohibition law by setting up liquor stores and brewery warehouses.

In regard to the school act, Mr. Carr said: "We introduced that amendment to bring this whole question out into the open after George Henry had been passing out increased grants to Separate schools under the table. We considered that it was absolutely fair that our Catholic citizens were entitled to the taxes on their property and also on the company stock they owned for the support of the Separate schools. But, as you know, prejudice was stirred up and the Hepburn government did not want to be a party to religious strife in Ontario. That is why we accepted the repeal of the amendment."

$400,000 to Counties.

Saving of public funds by the Hepburn government ha damounted to $400,000 for the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, Mr. Carr said. This sum included the new five year contract to purchase Campbellford power which the Hydro-Electric Commission had refused to buy, with the result that for six years Campbellford had $10,000 worth of power the town couldn't sell.

Ross Sheppard, K.C.

"Roy Willmott will wear no man's dog collar" was an early assertion by Ross Sheppard, Toronto lawyer. It was met with loud protest from some sections of the audience, and one man called out, "Is this an Orange walk?"

Referring to Mr. Carr's statement that he had obtained aid for united counties in the rebuilding of the House of Refuge, Mr. Sheppard said: "If you leave the Hepburn government in ten years you'll all be in the House of Refuge."

The crowd booed for nearly a minute, and for a time it seemed that he was going to get the closure, but the Grits let him go on.

"Hepburn has promised you a $5 reduction on your auto licenses. . . ."

"We've got it already," a voice interjected.

"I don't see why Hepburn didn't hold the elections at Christmas time," Mr. Sheppard went on, "then we'd all have been getting Christmas boxes."

"All the hotels would be closed up if I had my way,' he declared after stating that the liquor act was "just a gag."

He referred to Senator O'Connor as the head of the Knights of Columbus, and spoke of him as the personal friend of Premier Hepburn, and the financial backer of the 1934 campaign.

"Have you heard about the timber stealing that's been going on at Queen's Park?" Mr. Sheppard enquired, and some one responded: "Tell us about what they stole when Ferguson was in."

the heading of Socialist-Labor had 11 candidates.

In addition were eight Independents, eight Independent-Liberals, six Farmer-Laborites, five Laborites, five Independent - Conservatives, three Liberal-Progressives, two C.C.F.-Labor men, one Labor-Progressive, one Independent-Laborite, one Social Credit, one United Farmer and one Communist.

The 41-year-old premier, leading the Liberals for the second time in an election, faced two-sided opposition in Elgin from Norman R. Martin, Conservative, and John Tough, C.C.F. Mr. Hepburn won Elgin in 1934 and 65 of his followers also won, giving Ontario its first Liberal government in 32 years.

Rowe Gives Up Federal Seat.

Like the Premier, Mr. Rowe gave up a seat in Parliament to lead a Provincial party and he will contest Simcoe Centre in one of the duels of the election. His opponent is Hon. L. J. Simpson, Minister of Education in the Hepburn Government.

Mr. Mitchell was nominated in Waterloo South, where his opponents are Hon. N. O. Hipel, Liberal, Speaker in the last Legislature, and F. Stewart Scott, Conservative.

The other political groups have not announced if they have recognized leaders.

Solidly behind him, the Premier has his entire Cabinet in the field—Provincial Secretary Harry Nixon in Brant, Highways Minister T. B. McQuesten in Hamilton - Wentworth, Health Minister J. A. Faulkner in Hastings West, Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Northern Development, in Kenora; Hon. Paul Leduc, Minister of Mines, in Ottawa East; Agriculture Minister Duncan Marshall in Peel, and Hon. C. W. Cox, Minister without portfolio, in Port Arthur.

Roebuck, Croll Both Out.

Disapproving of Mr. Hepburn's fight against the C.I.O. during the Oshawa strike of automobile workers in April, Attorney General Arthur Roebuck and Labor-Welfare Minister David A. Croll resigned at the Premier's request. But both are Liberal candidates—Mr. Roebuck in Toronto Bellwoods and Mr. Croll in Windsor-Walkerville.

Each of the big sides has a star from the sports world. Lionel Conacher, famous "Big Train' of National League hockey, is a Liberal candidate in Toronto Bracondale. Leslie Blackwell, former coach of the University of Toronto football team, is Conservative nominee in Toronto Eglinton.

Like his opponent, Conservative Leader Rowe has lined up experienced cabinet men for the battle. George S. Henry, Conservative Premier from 1930 to 1934 has entered in York East. Brig.-Gen. T. L. Kennedy, former Minister of Agriculture, is contesting Peel with the present minister, Mr. Marshall.

In Algoma-Manitoulin runs Dr. J. M. Robb, former Minister of Health. George H. Challies, ex-Provincial Secretary, is a candidate in Grenville-Dundas and William Finlayson, former Minister of Lands and Forests, in Simcoe East.

The last general election had 263 candidates—three less than this time—but it had more women aspirants. All C.C.F. and all unsuccessful, six contested seats in 1934. Yesterday only two were nominated—Mrs. Jean Laing, Labor, in Toronto St. George and Mrs. E. A. Miler, C.C.F., in Fort William.

Mr. Rowe also challenged the Premier to deny it was not the "private power interests of Boston that prompted him to break contracts for 40 years and make new ones for 10 years." BARBERS AGREE ON CODE TO GOVERN INDUSTRY

Industry And Labor Board Accomplishes In 60 Minutes What Trade Failed To Do

Scale of Prices And Wages Is Set

Paying a flying visit to the city yesterday, the Industry and Labor Board as represented in the person of Louis Fine, chief Department of Labor conciliator accomplished what local barbers have failed to do in more than ten years of argumentative effort by obtaining general agreement on a code to govern the barbering industry in Peterborough. The sitting, in the City Council Chamber, occupied exactly sixty minutes.

Men's haircut prices will be raised from the prevailing 35-cent level here to 40 cents as a result of the code which awaits merely the formality of Government approval and an Order-in-Council. Wages of barbers' employees will be regulated by a fixed schedule and the trade will be required to adhere to closing regulations which provide Wednesday half-holidays in all weeks of the year not containing regular statutory holidays.

All barbers in Peterborough city and within a radius of one mile of the city limits will be required to adhere to the code agreed upon. The code parallels closely codes in effect in other Ontario zones, enforced by the Industry and Labor Board on the authority given by the Industrial Standards Act of 1935. Mr. Fine accepted largely the schedule of trade prices suggested by the local barbers during the sitting.

In the nature of minimum charges permissible for operations, the price schedule in the code is as follows: Haircut or trim, adults, 40 cents; haircut, children, 25 cents; shave, 20 cents; singe, 20 cents; hair tonics, 15 cents; shampoos, plain, 35 cents; facial massage, plain, 35 cents; razor honing, 35 cents; ladies' neck clip, 25 cents; men's neck shave, 10 cents.

Aside from setting a Wednesday half-holiday, the code leaves hours unchanged from those adhered to at the present time, requiring barbers to adhere to the local city by-law already in force for some time in the matter. The code requires barber employees paid on a straight salary basis to be paid $25 a week, those on commission or salary and commission to be paid $15 a week plus 50 per cent. of proceeds over $22 a week from his chair with an additional 10 per cent. of proceeds above $30. Remuneration of part-time employees is to be regulated on a similar scale.

The minimum fine for violation of the code will be $25 for the first offence and $50 for a second offence, Mr. Fine said.

Including all but eleven of the city's master barbers and employees, the sitting was attended by 35 master barbers and 12 journeymen. One master barber present declined to put his signature to the code.

Mr. Fine estimated three to four weeks will be required to obtain approval of the code and put it into effect by announcement in the Ontario Gazette.

Following the sitting, several of the barbers indicated they did not plan to follow the low level of the minimum schedule in all categories.

Nominations for representatives of both master barbers and journeymen to compose an advisory committee here were taken by Mr. Fine.

W.C.T.U. STARTS ITS FALL WORK

The first fall meting of the local W.C.T.U. was held yesterday afternoon in the Rose Room at the Y.W.C.A., with a good attendance.

Mrs. H. Rehill, first vice-president, presided over the meeting, which opened with the usual devotional service.

The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Bert Manning, and included the names of department superintendents appointed at the last executive meeting. Two vacant offices on the executive were left open until after the provincial convention, which was announced to be held in St. Andrew's United Church, Oshawa, Oct. 5-8. Two delegates from the local Union of the W.C.T.U. were appointed, Mrs. G. H. Rowe and Mrs. Harold Rehill being the unanimous choice of the meeting.

Inspiration was brought to the various superintendents of departments as they enter upon their Fall work, by Mrs. E. Wand, who substituted for Mrs. Throop as speaker. Mrs. Wand prefaced her talk with a spirited temperance reading, entitled "The Beverage Room."

In outlining the work of the departments, Mrs. Wand urged that the report forms be studied early in the year in order that all phases might be covered. She also gave a brief report of the world convention of the W.C.T.U. recently held in Washington, D.C., at which there were over 3,000 delegates, with 4,000 in attendance at the International banquet.

The centenary celebration of this great woman's organization was announced for the year 1939 with special efforts to be put forth by each local union from now on.

A very pleasing piano solo was contributed by Miss Eleanor Glover, after which the meeting was concluded with a hymn and the benediction.

JUDGE GRANTED DIVORCE PETITION

After hearing an undefended action in which Ethel Aileen Martin applied for dissolution of her marriage to Michael Martin of this city, Mr. Justice Kingstone, presiding judge at the autumn assizes of Supreme Court on Wednesday granted the plaintiff a decree nisi. She was represented by the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.

Orville A. Moore, bailiff, gave evidence of having served documents relative to the action on the defendant Michael Martin and the co-defendant Annie Crebar. At the time he served them on August 21, 1937 witness testified, they were occupying an apartment over a grocery at the north east corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets.

Plaintiff who was formerly Ethel Aileen Munro said she was married to the defendant in Oshawa on October 13, 1933. She was 18 years old at the time. Five weeks after the marriage, she said, her husband left her and had since been living with a woman she knew as Annie Crebar.

William John Linckle in evidence stated he had occupied a room adjoining an apartment at the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, where the defendant and co-defendant had been living together as man and wife. He said they moved from that address about three weeks ago.

Dorothy Woodcock who declared she had known Michael Martin and Annie Crebar for a period of six years, said she had seen them together in a car with a baby.

S.S. NO. 1, ASPHODEL WINS MOST POINTS WESTWOOD FAIR

Eight Asphodel and Otonabee rural schools participated in the rural school fair Wednesday. Keen competition in all classes with good entries made the day one of the most successful of the Fall fair series.

Premier honors of the fair went to S. S. 1, Asphodel for the high point average. To Pauline Humphries, S.S. 5, Asphodel, went the first Eaton prize, and Evelyn Moore of the same school took second prize. Third was won by Doreen Graham of S. S. 1, Asphodel.

All schools took part in the parade at the conclusion of the program. The girls' judging championship was won by S. S. 1, Asphodel represented by Dorothy Cardwell and Jesse Wilson. A team composed of Billy Hayes and Allan Borland of S. S. Otonabee, won the boys' judging competition.

Winners of the classes were:

DR. W. F. McELROY DIES SUDDENLY

Illness of less than a week resulted today in the death of Dr. W. F. McElroy, veterinary surgeon, 633 Charlotte street, at Nicholls Hospital. He had practiced his profession up to last Saturday.

Dr. McElroy was born at Garden Hill, in Durham County, and obtained his degree from the veterinary college of the University of Toronto, an honor graduate in the class of 1897. He came to Peterborough from Orono in 1925 and had built up an extensive practice in this district. Dr. McElroy was especially interested in horses in which he was an experienced breeder and kept a small but select racing stable of trotters with which he had won many prizes.

He is survived by his widow and two children, Margaret and Keith, two sisters, Mrs. S. R. Caldwell of Port Hope and Mrs. P. Smith of San Francisco, and one brother, Walter. The funeral will take place Saturday at 3 p.m. from Dr. McElroy's late residence, Charlotte street west to Orono cemetery. The service will be conducted by Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr of which Dr. McElroy was a member.

Mare And Six Offspring By Same Sire

George Lancaster and Son of Asphodel township have a brood mare and six of her progeny, four mares and two geldings, by the same sire 'Comet" owned by John Robertson of Keene. The oldest was six years on July 1. The mother is now 21 years, bred by the late Henry Elmhirst. She was sired by "Jim Shell" owned by Dick Walsh of Hastings, and her mother was a daughter of Black Mack. She is standard bred. Mr. Lancaster doubts whether any other farm in the county can produce seven horses all of the same blood. They are Percherons on the 'Comet" side. Three of them do the work on the farm, and Mr. Lancaster says they are as capable as heavier horses. At the same time they have the light lines of the roadster class. Mr. Lancaster and his son Joseph are shown with their equine brood. The Lancaster home is on the Keene-Hastings road about a mile west of Birdsall's.

BOARD OF HEALTH ASKS MANAGER TO CANCEL GAME

Because of the infantile paralysis scare, Peterborough Orfuns' opening grid game with Toronto Eastsiders, scheduled here for Saturday, has been called off.

Officials of the local club were trying to arrange an exhibition game here with Belleville to fill the gap in the schedule, after having failed to get the Lindsay gridders here.

Cancellation of the Peterborough-Toronto game followed on intervention by Dr. G. Murray Fraser, medical oficer of health. He told a reporter all the members of the Board of Health were in accord with his view that because of the wide extent of the infantile paralysis epidemic in Toronto there might be real danger of spreading infection if the Queen City players came to Peterborough as planned.

He said the disease was spread by healthy carriers and pointed out there was a strong possibility some of the Toronto footballers could be placed in that classification.

Dr. Fraser said he the Board of Health requested Lou Brooks, president of Peterborough Orfuns Rugby Club to call off the game, and he declared: "Mr. Brooks was very reasonable and promised to do so."

Mr. Brooks told The Examiner while it was true local officials had agreed to cancel the opening game with Toronto he did not wish it to be thought they were calling off the game merely at the request of the health authorities. Dr. Fraser made it quite plain that not only the local Board of Health but also the Provincial Department of Health were both definitely opposed to a game with Toronto here on account of the infatnile paralysis scare," he said.

You seem to have gone amok completely to such an extent that it might be termed heedless." His Worship noted that all the offences as charged were committed since August 1 last. He was taken into custody over a week ago from Cobourg police by Provincial Constable David Silvester.

AIRPLANES SHOW FIGHTING MERIT

LONDON, Sept. 30—(CP)—Royal Air Force airplanes have proved in the ardors of the Waziristan campaign that aerial support and cooperation are essential to the success of warfare among the trackless heights and forbidding mountain valleys of the Indian northwest frontier.

Incidentally, for the first time Indian pilots, trained at the Cranwell College in England and attached to No. 1 Squadron, Indian Air Force took part in the frontier struggle.

CREW SEEKING LIGHTEN BOAT FOR LIFT LOCKS

Boat Is Found to Draw Over 7 Feet of Water

In a race to beat arrival of the hour when the Peterborough Lift Lock will close for the season at midnight tonight, the crew of the 96-ton "Wauketa," riding at anchor in the canal approach south of the Lift Lock, strove this afternoon to lighten the craft sufficiently to meet Lift Lock regulations and proceed north to Stoney Lake. Found to draw 7 feet 8 inches of water, the boat was refused passage over the lock yesterday.

The "Wauketa" was purchased this summer by the Nephaline Company with the intention of putting it into service towing scow-loads of Nephaline ores from the head of Stoney Lake to Lakefield. Formerly a government supply boat operated in the Kingston district, the craft is being piloted to Stoney Lake by its former owner, J. Ferguson of Kingston.

The boat arrived in Peterborough Tuesday with a scow in tow. Presenting itself for passage over the Lift Lock yesterday, canal officials demanded a measure of the boat's draught before allowing it into the Lift Lock pontoon. Lift Lock regulations forbid handling of a boat with more than a draught of six feet.

The pilot insisted to canal workers that the boat must be allowed through but A. L. Killaly, Trent Canal superintendent, arrived on the scene and forbade admission of the craft when a measure of the draught revealed it to be 7 feet 8 inches.

The steamer "Talinda" was sent down from Lakefield by officials of the Johnston Brothers, contractors, to take the "Wauketa's" scow in tow yesterday afternoon as the scow bore a load of road building equipment for the construction company. A return to Stoney Lake was made shortly afterwards.

Down To 6 Feet 7 Inches

At 3 o'clock this afternoon, the crew of the Wauketa had succeeded in lightening the boat to the extent its draught had been reduced to 6 feet 7 inches. Much loose equipment had been put ashore and water had been drained from the boilers. Many inches were gained by shifting ballast from the low stern end to the bow, levelling the boat in the water.

Late this afternoon the process of lightening the boat by putting everything movable ashore was continuing in the hope the draught can be raised the remaining seven inches. The Wauketa measures 85 feet in length and has an 18-foot beam.

One member of its crew, Harvey Windover, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital last night when he fell down a companionway into the hold. It is believed he sustained fractures of the bones in one hand.

LANCASTER TELLS LAKEFIELD RALLY WIN MEANS PAVING

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 30. — "The price you are paying for the Hepburn government is the honour of your sons and the virtue of your daughter," quoted T. P. Lancaster, M.L.A., Conservative candidate for Peterborough riding in the coming provincial election when he addressed a Conservative audience in the Memorial Hall here on Wednesday night.

Mr. Lancaster was deploring the terrible abuses he said were being suffered by the province with regard to the administration of the Liquor Control Act, when he quoted these words from James McQuibban's address to his North Wellington constituents, on Sept. 23. "With regard to my stand on the liquor question," Mr. Lancaster continued. "I am determined, if re-elected, to institute some action to remedy the terrible abuses we are suffering at present. There are things that I've seen in the Royal York Hotel and in the King Edward, in Toronto, that I would hesitate to relate, to an audience where a lady was present. I would do all in my power to put through measures to keep women out of the beverage rooms, for I believe it would be a Godsend for our girls if they were kept out of these places."

J. W. Ridpath acted as chairman for the meeting and introduced the speakers in the absence through illness of Dr. J. R. Fraser.

Senator Failis

Senator Iva Failis was the first speaker, and asked the question, "Why is an election being called now?" "There is no great issue at stake. It will be two years before the expiration of the term of office of the present government. I suppose I would be accused of being unduly partisan if I were to say that the reason for the election is that Premier Hepburn knows that the going is getting worse and worse every day he is in power."

"One of the reasons Mr. Hepburn gave for calling an election was that the country had to be protected from the C.I.O. Mr. Hepburn made the statement that he would keep the C.I.O. organizers out of Ontario. But no premier has the right or authority to say who will or will not enter Ontario. This is under federal jurisdiction. Does it occur to you in listening to Mr. Hepburn's remarks, that he will have them thrown into jail; that is not Mr. Hepburn's place to throw anyone into jail. The law of the land looks after such things and now Mr. Hepburn himself admits that he has no authority to throw out the organizers, but only to make them keep the law."

"Another of Mr. Hepburn's reasons was that he wanted a mandate from the people of the province in order to collect succession duties due the province. If due, can they not be collected through the courts of Ontario? Mr. Hepburn didn't ask for a mandate from the people when he blemirched the good name of Ontario by repudiating the power contracts, or in connection with the Separate School question."

"After repudiation of the Hydro contracts, the courts of the province decided against Mr. Hepburn, whereupon he passed legislation to nullify their verdict. The question before the people is: "Will they give any man or any politician the right to overrid; the courts of the province.

Mr. Hepburn has trailed the system of British justice in the mud."

"I'm not here to criticize what the government has done; they may have done many things if one could but find them."

Senator Failis then mentioned cuts in grants made to the Blind, to Education, to Home for Incurables. "Any surplus built up at the expense of the health and welfare of the province is false economy."

Should Put Control Back

"Mr. Hepburn refuses to admit that the system of liquor control needs to be changed," Mrs. Failis continued.

"Everyone else in Ontario admits that it is time that the word "control" was put back into the Liquor Control Act. And that is what Mr. Rowe promises to do. And that, Ladies and Gentlemen, is why I am participating in this campaign.

"It was not until Mr. Rowe, at a meeting at Owen Sound on September 21, announced his policy with regard to liquor control, that I consented to come out in support of the candidate in this election. When your candidate, Mr. Lancaster, was questioned regarding his policy, he said, 'I'm with Earl Rowe; he can go as far as he likes to clean up this 'Out of Control' policy,'" Senator Failis concluded.

Tupper Bigelow.

Mr. Ridpath then introduced Tupper Bigelow, who said that Mr. Lancaster's record in the Legislature was a fine one—"he has served you faithfully and well."

Continuing, he said, "If the C.I.O. ever was an issue, it is no issue now. We all agree the worker has a right to organize if he does so in an orderly manner."

"Mr. Hepburn said he would keep Lewis out of Ontario. This statement is not unlike that of Big Bill Thompson of Chicago, who said if the King of England ever came to his city he would 'bust him on the snout.' Such statements are typical of Hepburn and Thompson.

"The Conservative Party holds no brief for the C.I.O. or Lewis, etc., but when the C.I.O. enters Canada (if the Conservatives are in power), they will obey the laws the same as you or I or anyone else must." Mr. Tupper Bigelow quoted Earl Rowe as saying.

"The real reason for an election is that Hydro users are facing a power shortage which will show how foolish Mr. Hepburn was when he repudiated the power contracts.

Mr. Hepburn is the most un-British Premier we have ever had since Confederation. He has exactly two portfolios less than Mussolini in Italy."

Candidate Speaks.

In introducing T. P. Lancaster, M.L.A., Mr. Ridpath spoke highly of him, remarking that even Premier Hepburn, in a recent speech in Peterborough, spoke well of Mr. Lancaster.

In opening his speech, Mr. Lancaster remarked on the fact that in Peterborough Riding, things are very quiet. "You can't get an argument out of the staunchest Grit there. There is no opposition. It was the same way in 1934 among the Conservatives—they had no arguments, and out the Conservative Government under Mr. Henry went. The Conservative Party is going back into power this time in a big way."

"Mr. Hepburn promised to reduce the Provincial debt. Has he done so? Mr. Brown (Warden of Peterborough County) says so. Mr. Alex. Elliott says so. But has he? The debt is $669,568,513, which, when $25,000,000 is added for the cost of works now being carried on, will be increased to over $700,000,000.

"You people in Lakefield have your highways, but you have no pavement in Lakefield. If I'm re-elected, as I am going to be, you are going to get your pavement, whether Hepburn or Rowe is Premier.

"One road taken over by the Provincial highways that doesn't meet with approval is the Oregon Trail. If the Buckhorn road continued through Buckhorn from Kaladeconna to Gooderham—look at the benefit to the people of Lakefield and Peterborough."

Mr. Lancaster criticized the dismissal of Justice of the Peace by the Liberal Party, stating that in the old system the only remuneration was a 25c fee. "Now you pay through the nose," he said.

In conclusion, Mr. Lancaster stated: "The antagonism as I find it is not directed against the Liberal Party. The party has some fine traditions—but against Mr. Hepburn—the I-man of Ontario." "Mr. Hepburn must go."

Passengers On British Steamer Watch Japs Sink Junks

Vessel Picks Up Sole 2 Survivors At Scene 10 Miles Off Hong Kong

HONG KONG, Sept. 30—(AP). — British and German passengers arriving to-day aboard the British liner Kaying said they saw a Japanese destroyer riddle two Chinese junks with machine gun fire 10 miles off this South China port.

The Europeans said the attack occurred on September 27. The Kaying later picked up the two Chinese survivors, and, as the British ship came alongside, the passengers said, the Japanese warship turned its searchlights on her.

Previously the Kaying had rescued several Chinese from two rafts about 30 miles from the scene of the machine gun attack.

The Chinese said they had been forced to take to the rafts on September 22 when a Japanese submarine sank the junks in their fishing fleet. They said they had been clinging to the rafts for five days.

The Japanese Naval Ministry yesterday issued a categorical denial of previous stories from Chinese survivors that their fleet of fishing junks had been destroyed by the methodical attack of a Japanese submarine which made no attempt to pick up any of some 300 victims.

NOW TOTAL 78 POLIO DEATHS

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—Toll claimed by infantile paralysis in Canada since the outbreak early this summer mounted to 78 when a Lucknow, Ont., youth died yesterday. More than 2,000 persons have been treated for the disease.

Clifford Blake, 19, was the 78th victim. He died in London, Ont., hospital, where he was placed in an iron lung in a vain attempt to save his life. His 17-year-old sister is receiving iron lung treatments in the same hospital.

Twelve new cases were added yesterday to the Toronto list, which has recorded 677 since June 10. Barrie reported two cases yesterday to increase the Ontario figures to 2,043.

BOMBING RAIDS HELD NECESSARY

TOKYO, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Japanese government today countered a United States protest against the "unwarranted" bombardment of Nanking with the declaration air raids to destroy the base of resistance at the Chinese capital were strategically necessary.

The short Japanese reply to the United States note of Sept. 22 was presented to Ambassador Joseph Grew and forwarded to the state department in Washington. The foreign office said that identical copies were handed to the British and French representatives in Tokyo. Both nations entered similar representations.

The formal American protest, made after verbal representations against Japan's announced intention to subject the Chinese capital to a mass aerial bombardment, charged the attacks were "unwarranted and contrary to principles of law and humanity."

The Japanese reply told Ambassador Grew that "as your government knows full well," Nanking is the base of China's military operations and reiterated the declaration of Japan's purpose to bomb military establishments both "in and out of the city."

Japan asserted she did not intend to cause damage to non-combatants and had already avowed it was her policy to respect the lives and property of citizens of other nations.

SALT FROM SEAS ONE ENTERPRISE ON INAGUA ISLE

MATHEW TOWN, Inagua, Bahamas, Sept. 30—(CP)—"Salt from Turks Island" has long been the Amenburger's answer to the question of off-season sailing business. Today the salt-loggers are also carrying the great preservative north from this most south-easterly of the Bahamas Islands group, which lies roughly 150 miles west of Turks.

A couple of horsemen from Swampscott, Mass., are responsible for revival of the long-dormant salt industry on Inagua. Josiah and Arioch Erickson came here two years ago and got a grant of salt-pan acreage on condition they spend $50,000 in development in five years. Their warehouses are filled with salt raked in the course of experiments the brothers have carried out, reputedly in the search for a new chemical.

The fisherman who fills the belly of a gutted herring with salt is preserving his fish with a product of sea, wind and sun. Here on Inagua the process of salt-making does not differ in any material particular from the evaporation process known in all the salt-producing islands.

On Inagua there is a main pond about two miles from the sea, connected with it by a channel, and surrounded by shallow oblong excavations — salt pans. Water is let into the main pond, evaporated into pickle, and released to the pans, where two weeks of sun and air evaporate the remaining moisture until only shining salt salt crystals are left.

The Ericksons are big six-footers and do a lot of their own work, laboring stripped to the waist. They are uncommunicative however and have said no word about the mysterious chemical for which they are supposed to be searching. In the meantime they rake salt while the sun shines.

Jibe By Wife Of Judge Crater Stirs Action 7-Year Mystery

Charge Of Police Inefficiency Sends New York Sleuths On Trail Again

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—(AP). — Seven years old, still as baffling as the day it happened, and fast becoming an almost legendary mystery of New York police annals, the disappearance of Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater was a live problem again to-day.

Amidst an outburst of theories the Justice disappeared voluntarily, was slain by robbers, was murdered by politicians, and committed suicide, New York police reopened their investigation of what happened to him after he got into a taxicab in Times Square on August 6, 1930.

The inquiry was launched by John A. Lyons, Assistant Chief Inspector in Charge of Detectives, on orders from Acting Police Commissioner Harold Fowler after a New York newspaper published an interview with the missing jurist's wife, Mrs. Stella M. Crater, quoting her as charging her husband was "murdered" in connection with "his political career" and that New York police were "inefficient" in their original investigation.

Mrs. Crater, located at her summer home near Belgrade Lakes, Maine, denied last night she had "mentioned murder" and that she had criticized the police, but the new investigation was on.

SEEK OVERHAULING N.Y. MARRIAGE LAW

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—(AP)—Citing a "very urgent need" for a complete overhauling of New York state's marriage and divorce laws, the National Divorce Reform league today presented a series of recommendations based on a six-month survey.

The report, issued by Theodore Apstein, chairman of the league's legal committee, urged eight additional grounds for divorce be provided, and recommended a tightening up of marriage laws as a means of decreasing the number of divorces.

In addition to adultery, now the sole ground, the league suggested divorces begranted for any of the following reasons:

Two years legal separation; living apart for five years; desertion for three years; abandonment and failure to provide for three years; cruel treatment; habitual drunkenness; incurable insanity; conviction and sentence for commission of a felony.

Among the marriage restrictions recommended were: A two-week lapse between the application for a license and its issuance; publication of the application; physical and mental examinations; and the photographing of both parties for offical records.

UNIQUE GRANDSTAND

Absence of pillars and the unusual shape of the roof makes the grandstand of the famous San Isidro race track near Buenos Aires, Argentina, resemble a huge shell partly opened.

TALKS GUIDANCE NOT DISCIPLINE

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (CP). — In the modern parent's vocabulary "guidance" has become the proper term for the business of training children and "discipline" is outmoded, says Miss Jessie Stanton, head of the nursery division of the Harriet Johnson experimental school.

Sounding less severe, the word "guidance" properly defines the relationship of parent and child, says Miss Stanton, who finds child training fascinating. She explains the difference.

In Victorian days, children regarded their parents as ogres, who did nothing but command, forbid and prevent.

Nowadays the wise parent tries to make his child forget the difference in years, says Miss Stanton. He's firm with the youngster, but tries to understand what's going on in his mind. The parents is a guide, not a disciplinarian.

"Of course children need guidance," she continued. "They should have complete freedom only when they are on their own. That means freedom in play. But they have to be told when to eat and when to go to bed.

"Give them plenty of time to prepare themselves for the change. Here in the nursery school we give the children five minutes warning before meal time, before they take their naps and before they go outdoors to play."

"A child's mind works very slowly. You say, 'Come to dinner right away,' and he bursts into tears. Give him time to adjust himself. Say instead, 'The carrots are boiling, and you must get ready to eat them.' Then he'll have time to pick up his playthings in anticipation of the coming meal."

Don't expect the same kind of obedience from a child when he is tired, warns Miss Stanton. At the end of the day he reacts even more slowly than normally.

NOBODY knew how delicious rice could be, until Kellogg introduced Rice Krispies. Tasty bubbles of toasted rice, so crisp they crackle out loud in milk or cream.

Rice Krispies are a ready-to-serve cereal. Delicious and different. Light, wholesome and easily digested. Especially good with fruit or honey added.

Your grocer sells Rice Krispies. A Singing Lady Mother Goose story printed on each package. Served by restaurants and hotels everywhere. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

China's Amateur Soldiers Halt Drive

The failure of Japan's plans for the immediate subjugation of Shanghai is due in no small measure to thousands of Chinese soldiers like this man. Until the outbreak of the unofficial war he was a businessman with nothing but peace in his heart. He and many more like him became soldiers for duration of the war. The "amateur" soldiers are well equipped, are of high moral calibre and are fiercely determined to resist to the death Japan's attempt to gobble their "good earth."

TEXTILE INQUIRY QUITS CORNWALL FOR PETERBORO'

CORNWALL, Sept. 30.—With a great mass of statistics and general information already in the records, the Ontario Industry and Labor Board completed the initial sittings of its Province-wide investigation of the textile industry here, yesterday afternoon. The board will shift to Peterborough for a sitting Thursday.

E. J. Young, chairman, said that while a great deal of data had been assembled in connection with hours of labor, wages and working conditions in the Cornwall mills of Canadian Cottons Limited, the board intended to inquire into other textile industries of the Province before returning to this city to complete the local inquiry. The board desired to view the local situation on a comparative basis.

J. L. Cohen, Toronto, counsel for the National Textile Council, commented during the afternoon's hearing: "It appears that the $15 wage for a fifty-hour week predominates in the Cornwall mills of Canadian Cottons. Workers should not be expected to maintain themselves on such wages.

Chairman Young complimented Canadian Cottons' employees on their straightforward testimony. He said that while the board could not deal with the major question of wages, hours of labor and general working conditions at this time, there were several things referred to in evidence that could be remedied before the board returns to complete its inquiry. Among these he mentioned workers who claim to be working nine-hour shifts without time out for lunch, improper ventilation in the dye house, and the necessity of better fire-fighting facilities in the "devil hole" of the picking room.

Suggests Improvements

He believed improvements could be made with little difficulty and hoped they would be completed before the board returns.

Co-operation of workers and company officials was asked by the board in simplifying the classifications of labor, in order that a minimum wage for each group might be determined. Assistant General Manager of the company, W. V. Boyd, told the board the situation in the cotton industry here is probably much different from that in other centres, because of the great variety of products and processes in the local plants.

R. L. Kellock, K.C., counsel for the company, reminded the board that technical changes in machines increased their efficiency and production, yet decreased the actual labor of the operators. He quoted the average hourly rate paid workers in the local mills in 1936 as 33.2 cents, and said there had been an increase since last year.

"We would all like to have 'increased pay,'" Mr. Kellock said. "That is but human. But we must remember, too, that increased wages mean increased production costs, with consequent decreased consumption and resultant reduction in employment."

Mr. Cohen declared wage standards in the mills was inadequate ten years ago. He submitted Canadian Cottons are not in competition with other mills, and while the company is protected by tariffs, there is no protection for the wage standards of the workers.

Canada's Outstanding Road Race Captured By Former Olympic Star

Climaxing a decade of racing, Jimmy Bartlett, of Oshawa, Ont., captured Canada's marathon trial for the British Empire Games by winning the 26-mile road race at Toronto, defeating a field of talented distance runners. He has the steadiest five-year long-distance record in the Dominion, and has never been worse than second anywhere on the 26-mile course. The little, sandy-haired Olympian took 2 hours 41 minutes and 30 seconds to complete the distance, finishing more than two minutes ahead of the second place runner, Lloyd Longman, of Toronto. The outstanding surprise of the race was the failure of Walter Young, Verdun, Que., policeman who captured the Boston marathon earlier in the season, to finish better than twelfth. In the ABOVE layout Bartlett is seen LEFT, while the start of the race is also shown.

Hinted McGill May Get First Title For Intercollegiate Rugby In Years

MONTREAL, Sept. 30 (CP) — Doug Kerr would rather you didn't bother about his McGill football team just yet. The Redmen have managed to escape the spotlight so far and Coach Kerr would just as soon have them gather power quietly until the opening of the Senior Intercollegiate season.

But it's very doubtful if he will be able to hide his team's possibilities much longer. Kerr has something this year and, since University of Toronto and Queen's have lost their last year's glamor, McGill may take its first title in a long time.

Probably there were too many people around for Doug's comfort last night when Redmen gave their first show of power. Against Montreal Eastwards of the Quebec Rugby Football Union, McGill won a pretty 23-7 exhibition victory beneath floodlights and before 3,500 fans.

If nothing else, Kerr has lined up a dazzling passing attack. It was the overhead game that put McGill in position for most of last night's scoring, with Cam MacArthur doing most of the heaving.

McGill supporters gained fresh confidence earlier yesterday when Andy Anton and Bob Kenny were declared eligible after supplemental examinations. Herbie Westman, former star with McGill, was also passed but he is not expected to turn out.

Western hopes sagged when it was learned Jack Guthrie, outside wing, was suffering from brain concussion after a practice. He joined Halfback Jimmy Farmer on the injured list.

Ted Reeve also has a problem of developing new talent at Queen's University. He's trying to mould his team around Johnny Munro, kicking star, and Linemen Captain George Sprague and Chuck Peck. Youngsters are trying for several key positions.

ODD ITEMS FROM A SPORT SCRAP BOOK

They have an old saying in sport circles to the effect that if you get the pitching you will get the pennant, but this year the New York Yankees have given that old axiom the lie.

The Yankees have such tremendous power at the plate, that their pitching is only secondary. This is said not to belittle their hurling corps, but a boxman who gets the support afforded by the Yankees does not have the same proportion of skill that is required of a hurler on a tail-end team.

The current edition of the New Yorkers will probably go down in history as the greatest hitting team ever assembled, and it is their power at the plate, not the pitching, that gives them their tremendous advantage over the opposition.

Keen Base Running Becoming Lost Art

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 30.—(AP). —Base-running, say the old-timers, isn't what it used to be when Ty Cobb was ghosting around the paths. But it's still a fine art that can mean the difference between winning and losing a ball game.

Ask the Newark Bears about it and they'll agree both observations are correct.

They learned something about it in the first game of the Little World series yesterday, their lesson contributing heavily to their losing 5-4 to the Columbus Red Birds of the American Association.

Charley Keller, on base three times, was picked off twice—losing one run for sure and removing himself as a scoring threat the second time.

A four-hit, four-run spree in the seventh chased Joe Beggs from the mound and won the game for the Association champions.

WOULD WELCOME SIMPLE DISHES

VANCOUVER, Sept. 30 (C.P.).—Grace Luckhart writes in The Province: "I went to a very smart afternoon party the other day, one where tea was served in a pretty dining-room, and the lees on a high-walled terrace, and I wondered when, if ever, we were coming back to simple things to eat.

"The table looked perfectly beautiful, with its central decoration of flowers, and its lace cloth and silver tea service. But the food. I'd just as soon have walked along somebody's herbaceous border and taken a nip here and there. And I couldn't have felt any worse during the night.

"What that hostess or her caterers did to a simple loaf of bread is nobody's business."

SOCCER MANAGER OUT

NEWPORT—(C.P.).—Differences of opinion concerning team selection have led to the suspension of Louis Page, for the last two years manager of Newport County, third division English Football League club.

France is buying more from the United States than from any other country.

N.Y. GIANTS ON SHORT-END BET TO BEAT YANKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP) — There's been something downright uncanny about the "hard luck" of the Giants this season. If Col. Bill Terry's forces had been afflicted with only a little more of the miseries they might have clinched the National Baseball League flag weeks ago.

Drop them on their heads and they come up wearing a wreath of roses. Deal them a really scurvy hand from the bottom of the deck and they'll take the jack pot. That's what their rivals say, anyway, and it's one of the reasons why the Polo Grounders are a grand short-end bet to lick the slugging Yankees in the play-offs starting next Wednesday.

The failure of Lou Chiozza to fill Travis Jackson's old shoes at third base forced Terry to pull Melvin Ott out of right field and, in desperation, plant him at the warm corner. That was too bad. With Ott in there, the Giants droped 15 out of their next 53 games.

Mancuso Injured

Then, entering the home stretch, Gus Mancuso, the team's great catcher, was injured, and there was mouring among the Giants' supportera. It lasted clear until the next day, when Harry (The Horse) Danning picked the bench splinters out of his pants and took over the backstopping.

The move that "made" the Giants, of course, was the shifting of Ott to third base. His inspired play there, and the way he has fitted in with Dick Bartell at shortstop, Burgess Whitehead at second and the freshman, Jack McCarthy, at first gives the Terrymen an obvious bulge over the Yankee infield. Ott, leading home run hitter of the National League, is rated well above "Red" Rolfe of the Yanks on offense this year. Neither Frankie Crosetti nor old Tony Lazzeri at second is hitting hard enough to dent a tomato. Bartell and Whitehead, both on daily performances and the figures, have it all over them.

GOLF-FACTS NOT THEORIES

By Alex Morrison

Number 10

In playing out of bunker or sand trap near the green a player will sometimes send the ball clear over the putting surface into more trouble. He catches the ball too clean coming out of the sand and the ball flies much as it would when hit with a six or seven iron on the fairway.

Then again he may seem to top the ball and drive it low into the bank of the bunker. These mistakes seem to puzzle the players who make them and they continue to hit such shots with no apparent cure. The solution is quite simple. It is to be found in the way the clubface is held in addressing the ball. Players who have been accustomed to using the old-fashioned niblick for these shots are in the habit of addressing the ball with the clubface laid back away from the ball in what is known as an open position. It was necessary to have the clubface in this open position in striking the ball in order to loft the shot.

Now this same job is done by the new club, the Sand-Wedge, which is generally built to rest on the ground with the clubface slightly turned forward toward the ball or in a closed position.

If you are using this club for shots out of sand be sure to address the ball with the face slightly closed. The wide flange on the bottom of the clubhead will prevent the club from digging too deep.

KING EDWARD TOPS IN SCHOOL LEAGUE

King Edward consolidated their position at the top of the local Public School Soccer League, yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon when they outplayed their rivals, Prince of Wales, by the score of four goals to nil and two goals coming from the penalty spot through the full-back handling the ball inside the goal area. Parnell, in Prince of Wales' goal was brilliant, and Dougherty and Mainsley always dangerous on the wings.

League Standing.

	P	W	L	F	A	Pts
King Edward	3	3	0	14	0	6
Queen Alex	2	2	0	3	1	4
Queen Mary	3	1	2	1	8	2
King George	2	0	2	1	3	0
Central	1	0	1	0	3	0
Prince of Wales	1	0	1	0	4	0

Two points for a win and one for a draw.

First Half.

Langton, King Edward, set the ball arolling to get the Prince of Wales palyers upset before they got acquainted with their positions and when they endeavoured to stop the aggressive attacks of the south-enders it proved costly. Disaster looked positive when the full-back handled the ball inside the penalty area. Reg Leether was trusted with the kick and made no mistake to open the scoring. After five minutes' play Murduff accepted a timely pass from Langton while on the run to register the second counter. Play was confined to mid-field for the remainder of the period. Half-time—King Edward 2, Prince of Wales 0.

Second Half.

The second half had only gone three minutes when a full-back threw his arms up in the air to stop a shot that resulted in Langton sending a penalty low grounder past the goalie, but if the Prince of Wales' goalie had only fell upon the ball it would not have tallied. Occasional break aways by the Prince of Wales' players was of an individual character which terminated when Shea and Dalliday closed in upon the attack. Langton, at centre, kept swinging the ball from wing to wing to bring out the fast moving tactics of Jamieson and Leether on the line as they sent drive after drive over the goal mouth where the defense man again conceded a penalty. Captain Tom Foster selected himself to become a scoring tactician, but he drove hard for the corner of upright to become a blank recorder. A little later, his brother Henry, of younger years, made amends with a timely goal from a scrimmage. On the next visit another penalty was given but the custodian got the measure of Langton's effort to punt clear. King Edward 4, Prince of Wales 0.

Prince of Wales—W. Parnell, goal; J. Gross and W. Defoe, full-backs; C. Stewart, H. Henry and S. French, halves; R. Doughty, R. Burns, R. Lacey, R. Crowe and L. Maudsley, forwards. Subs. W. Dougherty, J. Saunders, W. Dyer.

King Edward—W. Curtis, goal; L. Shea and H. Dalliday, full-backs; A. McMaster, T. Foster and K. Anderson, halves; R. Leether, C. Murduff, J. Weaver, H. Foster and D. Jamieson forwards. Subs. Langton.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

THERE ARE a lot of tough tasks in the world and one of 'em is the gridiron job of holding the line. Your lineman on a football squad is a peculiar chap. He works harder and takes far more bumps than the backfielders, yet it is the ball-carriers and the kickers who get the spotlight. But he doesn't complain. All he asks is to get into the game and stay in there, blocking, ripping open holes in the opposing line and tackling. He aspires only to be a good stumbling block for his rivals. Nor does he mind being chipped up, hammered down, knocked around and stepped on in the process. He is unique in the world of sports—he wants nothing but the tough end of it! But otherwise he is a normal gent and highly valuable to his team. In fact, your galloping backfielders would be pathetic figures indeed were it not for the stalwart forms up front clearing the way.

* * * * * *

WE LIKE this verse about the blocker, written by Grantland Rice: "I'm no hero to the mob—but that won't bother me; someone has to knock 'em down to set the hero free; it seems to be the way of life, no matter what you do; some punk has to clear to road to let the hero through." It is barely possible that the abused lineman has a philosophy similar to that of a guy named Omar Khayyam, who wrote these words back some little time ago—around the 12th century, in fact: "Some for the glories of this world, and some sigh for the Prophet's Paradise to come; ah, take the cash and let the credit go, nor heed the rumble of a distant drum." Maybe meaning the drums of publicity. But enough of poetry.

* * * * * *

LEST PERHAPS the above sounds like a dirty crack at the backfielders, we hasten to say itsnay. On account of it isn't and anyway they are mixed too large for us to enjoy an argument with! The backing boys in the rear of the line are no shrinking violets, either. They really risk life and limb in a herculean effort to move the yard-sticks. They took the pigskin under their arms, lower their heads and dash forward—no matter what may lay ahead. They earn the applause and the headlines, but nevertheless they'd get neither if it weren't for the work of the linemen.

TORONTO EASTSIDES will not be here this Saturday to play the Orfuns. On account of the local Board of Health figured it was too risky to have a team from Toronto—where infantile paralysis is prevalent—play here. The M.O.H. pointed out to Orfuns' officials that the Eastsides' players might be "healthy carriers" of the disease—so it was decided that there was no use taking any risks in this respect.

* * * * * *

SOME OF the Orfuns' officers weren't too well pleased about this postponement—especially as the Eastsides had played last week in Lindsay—but the matter rests there. They made an attempt to get Lindsay Blue Bombers to switch their game this Saturday with Cobourg and come here instead, but it was no go. Arrangements for the Cobourg-Lindsay tussle had already been made and this fray will proceed as scheduled. At time of writing, Orfuns were trying to get Belleville Panthers here for Saturday in an exhibition scrap, there being nothing else they could do. Dunno how they made out—we may hear later in the day. By the way this is the second Saturday grid opener to be postponed here this autumn, the Junior Eastsides being billed to open against P.C.I. last weekend, but the game being called off for the same reason.

LOOKS LIKE all those lefthand hitters on the Oshawa ball club finally met their master. The G. W. Grads of Toronto evened up the senior O.B.A.A. final series at home last eve with a 4-3 win over the GM-men. Irish Rasson's slow southpaw slants held 'em to eight hits while his teddies tingled 10 off Turner and Biddle. The latter forced in the winning run in the ninth when he hit a batter with the bases cluttered up. Next game is Saturday in Oshawa and then Wednesday in Toronto. Oshawa ought to win out, but it just shows that a good portside pitcher can beat 'em. What the Petes couldn't have done with a wrongside flinger this year!

* * * * * *

THERE WAS a free-for-all fight at this playoff scrap in the eighth after "Peg Hurst deliberately charged Dowling after crossing the plate", according to the a.m. paper. They say Dowling recovered the ball and tossed to Rasson at the plate, the Irisher then tagging Bennett, who tried to score, with a left hook! Dowling and Hurst tangled and players of both sides swarmed into action with their dukes flying. Coach Hap Watson of the Grads and a couple others of both teams emerged with scars, but apparently no one was ejected from the fray. It was a good game with nice pitching and fair fielding shown. Hurst and Jutenville had two hits each, with Tom Foley getting one for four.

KINGSTON GARRISONS opened their intermediate O.R.F.U. schedule at home yesterday with a last-minute 7-6 nod over Belleville. It was even less than a last-minute win as the tying touchdown came as the last whistle was blowing. The play was not completed until an attempt to convert it was made and the Kingstons kicked the winning point. A tight tilt all the way between well-matched squads. Since it is the second straight reverse for the Panthers, you can check them out of the running right now. Two defeats in the short schedule in O.R.F.U. intermediate gives the twice-beats gang as much chance of copping group honors as Major Hoople has of winning an argument with the battle-axe. Yeah, the well-known snowball's chance. This applies to teams in our own group, too.

DEBE, DEM and dose: The P.C.I. footballers are drilling hard every day now and will start play a week from Saturday . . . Shoulder Should Be Used In Tackling With Tackler Falling Atop His Victim

(By LEW HAYMAN TORONTO ARGOS COACH)

To-day's pictures show angle tackling: In picture No. 1 note that the tackler throws his body well across the path of the runner; makes contact with his own shoulder, head and neck, at the same time throwing his arms around the thighs of the runner and then continues the rolling motion of his body so as to get clear of the weight of his opponent's body as they hit the ground.

In picture No. 2 you will notice they have hit the ground with the tackler on top of the runner. Both arms are well around the legs of the ball carrier and the head and chin are kept in. Note the protective position of the tackler.

Practically all tackles are angle tackles. Always attempt to get in a position so as to line up the runner, take a mental picture of his position, level yourself and then tackle as if you were running right through him.

In angle tackling one should:

1. Manoeuvre for position. (a) Do not run straight at the ball carrier—line him up at an angle. (b) Try and judge the runner's speed—give him the benefit of any doubt, and then run to a point ahead of him which you can reach as soon as he does.
2. Don't dive at him too soon. (a) Get to within two or three feet of the runner before you make your tackle.
3. Give him plenty of lead for he may turn on an extra burst of speed. (a) The faster the runner the more lead should be given him.
4. Be sure that your head and outside shoulder are directly in his path and in front of him. (a) Tackling with your head behind results in an arm tackle which is easily broken by a pivot. (b) Also chances for injury are greater with the fall—the ball carrier usually lands on the tackler.
5. Tackle in a sudden and snappy style. (a) Keep your head and eyes up. (b) Drive with your legs. (c) Strike with your shoulder and side of neck and head. (d) Get your arms well around the runner and pull him towards you.
6. Never stop driving with your shoulder and legs.
7. One cannot have too much tackling practice. (a) The rhythm, the timing, the power and drive all come with continued practice.

A good hard-tackling team is a mighty powerful defence.

To-morrow: THE PASS

Greyhound Breaks World Track Mark

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 30—(AP)—The 15-year-old mile world's record for trotters was broken yesterday by Greyhound.

In his second assault here on the mark established by Peter Manning on the Lexington track in 1922, the five-year-old grey ghost, under the piloting of his trainer, Sep Palin, stepped the distance in 1.36 flat, three-fourths second under the former time.

The race, against time, highlighted the fifth day of the Grand Circuit meeting.

Just a week ago, Greyhound, owned by E. J. Baker, St. Charles, Ill., equalled the record. The grey gelding had made several other unsuccessful attempts to shatter the mark earlier this season.

KINGSTON WINS IN LAST MINUTE

KINGSTON, Sept. 30.—Scoring a touchdown in the final minute of play, Kingston Garrison staged a story-book finish in the opening Intermediate O.R.F.U. game by defeating Belleville 7 to 6 at the Richardson Stadium yesterday afternoon.

Houston received a beautiful forward pass from Dunn, and crossed the Belleville line to tie the score. Houston converted on the next play to complete the game and put the Garrison one up.

The Garrison opened the scoring early in the first quarter, when Agnew kicked for a point. It was not until the second quarter that Belleville got into a scoring position. McCreary taking the ball over the line on a rebound from the goal-posts which was converted by Johnston.

Kingston Garrison—Snap, Wright; insides, Easton and Huston; middles, Bond and Anderson; outside, Stroud and Sherriff; quarter, Houston; halves, Dunn, Ostrander, Jenkins and Agnew; subs., Lawford, Law, Burtch, McConnell, Palmer, Weir, Chitley, Vivian, Pollen, Cole, Clement and Vallee.

Belleville — Snap, Faulkner; insides, Perkins and Fox; middles, Rigby and Laughlin; outsides, Burns, Haffey; quarter, Storey; halves, Johnson, Scridder and Yanover; subs., McCreary, Kelly, Baker, Bradford, Ireland, Odell, Wightman, MacDonald and Renoff.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. —(AP)— Note to Van Lingle Mungo, Pageland, S.C.: Start doing the "Big Apple," kid . . . You definitely will be traded this winter . . . Giants, Cards and Cubs have bids ready . . . Terry wants Joe Stripp . . . (Mel Ott has been doing fine work at third base, but he isn't the hottest guy on earth at fielding bunts) . . . Frisch could use Stripp, too . . . If the Cards will part with Dizzy Dean and a promising youngster or so, they can get you and Stripp . . . Can't find out what Charlie Grimm will offer, but he's in the market, you can bet.

Cards will be completely rebuilt . . . Only Joe Medwick and Johnny Mize are sureof their jobs . . . Branch Rickey may swing a dozen deals at the winter meetings . . . AS FAR AS WE KNOW there will be no special games at the club tonight (Thursday). The greens have had a rough passage since May 24th and it was thought advisable to give them a rest...Tomorrow night (Friday) we will have our usual men's tournament. Draw from the board with a 25 cents fee...We may get beaned for this one, but exactly three months from tonight is New Year's Eve...And don't forget the men's annual on Monday evening next, 8 p.m. at the clubhouse.

OVER AT UXBRIDGE on Wednesday, our club was represented by a trio skipped by Geo. Gimblett, assisted by Dr. Lawrence and H. Martin. They reached the inner circle for first prize with high two wins, each received a pair of blankets.

Toronto Seniors Tie Series With 4-3 Win Over Oshawa

Biddle Hits Batter To Force Winning Run Home In Ninth —Free-For-All Occurs

TORONTO, Sept. 30. — O. & W., Toronto's senior baseball champions, evened the score with Oshawa in the O.B.A.A. final series by scoring a 4 to 3 win at Maple Leaf Stadium yesterday. Jake Biddle, Oshawa's ace hurler, hit pinch-hitter Norm. Moffatt to force in the winning run in the ninth frame of a game that had everything from smart hurling, fine hitting, excellent fielding, and even a free-for-all.

Irish Rasson turned in one of his best games of the season, mixing a beautiful curve with a slow ball to hold the provincial champs, the same that handed Distillers a 13 to 0 shellacking on Saturday, to eight hits. Along with Jim Dowling he also featured in the free-for-all that broke out in the eighth, after Peg Hurst deliberately charged Dowling after crossing the plate on Rowden's single.

Dowling, after recovering Giroux's throw which had been knocked out of his hands on the play, tossed to Rasson, who covered the plate when Bennett tried to score on the same play. Rasson tagged Bennett with a left hook; Dowling tore into Hurst, and nearly every member of both teams mixed in a short but sweet battle near the Oshawa dugout. O. & W. coach "Hap" Watson and George Stuart came away with scars and a couple of the O-men fared along the same lines before the game resumed.

Forces In Winning Run.

Johnny Turner held the Distillers in good style 'till the last when a fumble and a hit put two on base with none out. Biddle stepped in at this stage and after Wilson forced Dowling, Stuart sent in the tying run with a single. Then Blaney singled to fill the bases and Moffatt, lifting for Rasson, was hit to force in the winning run.

The third game of the best-three-in-five series for the Ontario senior title goes on Saturday in Oshawa, with the fourth game slated for the Maple Leaf Stadium next Wednesday.

It was the second victory in two days and enabled St. Louis Cardinals to replace the New Yorkers at the top of the National Baseball League and clinch the pennant.

Jurges Takes It Out On Base Ump

A ball pitched to Cubman Jurges, shortstop, in a game with the Giants at Chicago, was officially called a strike. That strike outed Jurges, but he insisted the pitch was a ball and decided to take it out on second base Umpire Pinelli, LEFT, with arms folded, who had nothing to do with the play, Coach Johnson, RIGHT, supports Jurges, No. 5. The Giants won, 8-7, and thereby virtually eliminated the Cubs from the National League pennant race.

PINCH HIT GIVES OSHAWA 4-2 WIN

OSHAWA, Sept. 30 — Oshawa Seconds tied up their third round intermediate "B" series O.B.A.A. playoff round with Oakville at Alexandra Park yesterday afternoon when they eked out a 4-2 win in a thrilling battle. With the score tied in the eighth inning Oshawa banged out four hits off Bridgeford for two runs. Ab Barnes was the hero of the occasion, the smooth-working second sacker singling to left field to score Fair and Normoyle. With a two-run lead, Frank McGarry, former Toronto juvenile star, struck out the last three men to face him to finish off a grand hurling performance. Bridgeford, on the losers' mound, also hurled brilliant ball with the exception of the eighth frame, striking out ten Oshawans. Dolly Dalton, Oshawa's hard luck shortstop, suffered a badly split finger in the sixth frame when hit by the ball while endeavoring to bunt.

TORONTO, Sept. 30 (CP). — Cream of the three and four-year-old fillies foaled in Canada fight it out today at Woodbine Park for the Maple Leaf Stakes. Best of the seven mares and fillies entered will reap a $2,500 reward. Aldwych from the Cowie Stable and Sweepden from the H. C. Hatch establishment were favored to take the winning positions.

Jockey Pat Remillard rode George M. Hendrie's Poona home to a close finish in the 1937 running of the Grey Stakes yesterday, over a mile and 70 yards. Inches back of Poona came Conny Smythe's Bridegalong, while the favorite, Sturdy Duke, from the Parkwood Stables, was a short nose back in third place.

Jockey Lindberg had a double win to put to his credit on Worthing in the second event and Upton in the sixth.

ONE MORE VICTORY CLINCH N. L. FLAG FOR THE GIANTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (CP)—This is the day that the Giants hope about have to cut out their kidding around and clinch the National Baseball League pennant.

There doesn't seem to be any way out of it. The probability is they'll take at least one game of their double-header with the downtrodden Phillies, and thus hang onto the flag. If they don't, there's always the possibility the Cubs will drop one to Cincinnati Reds—and that will do just as well. As matters now stand, any "combination of one" will turn the trick.

The Giants could have done the job yesterday. After winning the opener of a double bill with the Phils 8-5, with Screwsaper Cliff Melton taking his 20th victory, the Terry Terriers needed only the one win to clinch. But the small matter of a homer with the bases loaded in the first inning and some fancy flinging by Lefty Lamaster gave the Phils a 6-5 edge in the nightcap. Meantime the Cubs whipped the Reds 3-0 behind Tex Carleton's seven-hit pitching.

The Yankees, tuning up for the world series, bombarded the Athletics 15-4 with a 16-hit attack in the first game of their bargain bill. But young Edgar Smith, a southpaw with plenty of pitching poison, blanked them 3-0 with one lone hit in the afterpiece, which was called in seven innings.

The Pirates' seventh-inning five-run splurge whipped St. Louis Cardinals 7-5. The Dodgers and Bees were rained out.

Boston's Red Sox, hoping for a first-division out of the world series pot, socked the Senators twice, 3-1 behind Lefty Grove, and 7-4 behind Johnny Marcum's effective relief elbowing. The Browns came from behind to squeeze out a 7-6 decision over Detroit Tigers. Cleveland managed only an even break against the White Sox, taking the opener 5-4 in 10 innings, on Frankie Pytlak's game-wrecking double, and dropping the abbreviated 4½-inning nightcap 1-0.

CHINESE SACRIFICE 20 SUICIDE SQUAD RAIDING FLAGSHIP

SHANGHAI, Sept. 30—(AP).—A daring suicide squad of 20 Chinese soldiers sacrificed their lives today in a desperate attempt that all but succeeded in destroying the Japanese flagship Idzumo.

As a mine they had propelled through the murky waters of the Whanpoo river blasted a 150-foot geyser of water and sprayed the Idzumo with shrapnel, the waterfront and the battle lines northwest of the city echoed the noise of fighting.

During the night the Chinese suicide squad, some swimming and some using sampans, gradually floated the mine from the Pootung shore, across the river from Shanghai, through the line of Japanese patrol boats.

Halted By Steel Net.

Attached to the mine was a cable extending to the British-owned Shanghai new engineering docks on the Pootung shore. After moving stealthily for several hours the soldiers reached the steel net which surrounds the Idzumo to protect the flagship from torpedoes and mines.

They had just started to snip the net and slip the mine through when the first rays of dawn began to light up the mist rising on the river. A Japanese look-out on the Idzumo spotted the suicide squad as they were ready to push the mine through the net.

Comrades on the shore saw they were certain to meet death at the hands of the Japanese bluejackets and touched off the mine, destroying its human propellors and ripping a wide hole in the steel net.

No Profit In Steaks Meat So High

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 — (CP). — Meat prices have increased so much in the last few weeks that many New York restaurants no longer can sell steaks and make a profit, while housewives are paying from nine to fifteen cents a pound more than last year for many cuts, The Herald Tribune said to-day, after a survey.

The Federation of Kosher Butchers, embracing 5,000 shops, threatened to close down indefinitely, starting Saturday night, in protest at current prices.

While wholesale meat-packers attributed the situation to the prolonged droughts of 1935 and 1936 The Herald-Tribune said many restaurateurs and butchers contended packers had cornered all available animals and fixed prices to suit themselves.

RUSTLE OF SILKS

CHAPTER 47

ACROSS the length of the drawing room that separated them, Mari studied Mark Sutherland. One elbow rested on the mantel; his other hand was in his pocket. He was a figure of indolent grace. A pleasing figure. The coat of his formal evening wear sat beautifully on his broad shoulders, accenting the length of him.

It was still a youthful figure, the same that she had first approved seven years before. But if time had left no mark on his athletic body, its passing was written on his face. When he laughed, when his eyes crinkled with amusement that was always quick within him, he seemed scarcely older; but when his face was in repose, there was a new fullness, a new heaviness in it. There was little that character had left there.

Mari thought: Why do I condemn Mark because he doesn't work? He doesn't have to, and he does fill up his life.

Deliberately she assembled her pleasant feelings for him. Ellin had suggested that she marry him; not of course, that she was thinking of it.

She stirred the spoon in her coffee cup, turned to her guest and murmured what she hoped was the proper reply; she hadn't heard a word of what he had said.

There had been much that was truth in what Ellin had said. "An old maid is an old maid by whatever name you call her."

It wasn't the label that worried Mari. It was the stark loneliness, the unfinished thought—a woman's life left incomplete.

She was only 31 and a great many women found their romances in their thirties. But they were women who had always had romances, a series of them.

Mark's voice cut clearly through the other voices in the room. She looked up at him quickly, caught a glance from him.

She thought: It wouldn't be very different, from this. Mark has always been the same. He has always understood me. He knows what my work means to me. I could count on the years continuing as they have.

Even as she thought it, a series of pictures came into her mind — pictures of what marriage to Mark would mean—the same scenes, yet different. A home in America with Mark, perhaps a seaside home; a place of broad, cool spaces.

She wasn't too old to have children. She wanted children. When a girl gave herself time to think of what she wanted, she reflected dryly, she could get herself into a lot of trouble. Until Ellin Verlaine put the thought into her mind that Mark would make a good husband for her, she had never considered it.

And here she was on the eve of her most important day, forgetting it all and actually considering marriage.

There was the point that Mark had never asked her to marry him. It was a minor point according to all that she had heard. Hadn't Carla Mentone said that women were more clever than men? That any woman could marry any man she wanted? And hadn't Mark given her seven years of what passed for devotion?

And surely Ellin wouldn't have said all she had if she hadn't believed that Mark wanted to marry her.

An hour later, Mari had not only considered marrying Mark but she had decided that she would when he asked her so.

Back of them in the great cabaret, in the room draped with cloth of gold and lit by the tapers of thousands of candles, the music was played softly. The song was a popular American tune, THE WAY YOU LOOK TONIGHT.

Here on the balcony the lights of Paris danced beneath their feet. The stars winked overhead. The night was mild. The air soft and warm but Mari held her cape of white foxes close about her black chiffon-clad body.

Mark's voice at her shoulder was soft. He said, "Mari . . . ."

"Yes, Mark."

"Are you happy?"

"Why no." Once she would have asked him not to ask her that question. She played with the diamonds on her wrist, avoiding having to turn and meet his eyes.

"Perhaps I could tell you 'why not.'"

"And if you did, you'd say the same things you've been saying to me all these years. You'd say that my work isn't enough, that I've never lived. Perhaps you are right. I don't know."

He put his hands on her shoulders and gently turned her toward him until she faced him. Then he gathered her close and kissed her hard on the mouth.

She was impassive in his arms, feeling nothing within.

"I'm mad about you darling. For seven years I've wanted to do this. I've always been afraid of you."

She stirred in his arms, resisting him gently. He was speaking again:

"Perhaps you'll grow to feel this way about me."

"Perhaps I will, Mark."

"I've waited a long time to hear you say that. Now, we'll make up for it."

She smiled. In the dim light he could not see her eyes, the eyes that would have shown him how much she was putting away from herself, the eyes of resignation. She turned away and rested her hands on the railing.

His voice had a note of triumph in it. "Mari, I'm not going to your opening. I'm leaving for Nice in an hour. I'll be staying at the Grande hotel, waiting for your telephone call telling me that you're coming when the show is over."

Mari held her breath. Her whole body was immobile waiting for him to go on.

"There'll never be a scandal, darling. No one will ever know."

She said nothing then, feeling her loneliness greater than ever before in her life. Mark had never intended to ask her to marry him.

"You know how to reach me? Telephone, darling."

She nodded and said she had to go back to her guests.

The opening. The crush—buyers, press representatives. . . . The gray and silver salons of the establishment of Marlbarat was crowded to its heavy bronze doors. Detectives moved adroitly among the milling mass watching for spies, for the sketchers who were the thieves of the dressmaking art. Footmen bearing trays of cocktails maneuvered their way skillfully through the crowd of beautifully dressed sharp-voiced women, the greedy calculating eyes of the men. The din subsided when the curtains parted at the far end of the auditorium and the first of the mannequins stepped upon the runway.

There were nearly 200 "numbers" in the Marlbarat opening. Slowly, to the strains of the stringed orchestra, each number made its bow to accompanying applause of gasps of admiring surprise at the daring innovations. Time after time the cry was heard, "What is the number of the red?" . . . The green? . . . .

Time after time the page boys brought the order books back to Marl's office.

The opening was less athan an hour old when Marl Barat knew that she was a sensational success. The mounting orders proved it.

She had reached the top but had she touched the heights she had set for herself?

Somewere in that disordered crowd was Tony Castle.

She hadn't seen him, but his card of admittance with his remembered signature was there in the bosom of her gown, there where an old wound bled.

She waited alone in the small office off the great room, sitting silently, hopefully, Waiting . . .

Bedtime Story

UNCLE WIGGILY CHANGES FRISKY.

Is it very serious, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Mrs. Bow Wow.

"Well, it is a little serious when a puppy dog boy will not wag his tail," said the rabbit gentleman, who had come to the kennel house after Mrs. Bow Wow had telephoned him. "A dog's tail is given him to wag to show he is friendly and happy."

"It's too bad you haven't a tail to wag, Uncle Wiggily," barked the lady dog softly.

"Oh, I have a little tail," said Mr. Longears. "Nothing pretentious, of course, so I can't wag it."

"But I know you are happy when you twinkle your pink nose," said Mrs. Bow Wow, "so I suppose that is the same thing."

"Very nearly," agreed the rabbit uncle. "But tell me more about Frisky so I may know how to cure him of not wagging his tail."

"It began when he was a baby puppy," said Mrs. Bow Wow. "His father and I thought he would grow out of it just as baby boys and girls who are real children, grow out of sucking their thumbs. But Frisky didn't."

Wrong Way.

"Doesn't he wag his tail at all?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Only a little bit, and then he jiggles it up and down instead of from side to side as a tail should be wagged," said Mrs. Bow Wow, wagging her own tail to show what she meant.

"I understand," said Uncle Wiggily. "Well, I think I can cure Frisky. I'll take him for a walk with me. When he comes back he will be a side-wagging-tail puppy."

"Oh, I hope so," murmured Mrs. Bow Wow.

The rabbit gentleman hopped around back of the dog kennel where Frisky had gone to nibble his puppy biscuit.

"Come with me, Frisky, if you please," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Where?" asked Frisky, crossly.

"Never mind where, just come," said Uncle Wiggily firmly, but gently. "Trot along with me."

"No," barked Frisky crossly.

"Frisky," called his mother from an upstairs window, "go with Uncle Wiggily at once or I'll tell your father when he comes home."

"Oh, all right," growled Frisky, and he slouched after the rabbit gentleman who began hopping toward the woods.

A Secret.

"Can't you tell me where you are taking me?" asked Frisky. "I mean please," he added as he saw Mr. Longears look at him.

"I am taking you to be changed, Frisky."

"Oh, you don't mean you are going to change me into a cat, do you?" whined the little puppy. "Please don't do that."

"You shall see," said Uncle Wiggily. "Trot along."

Frisky trotted after the rabbit. Then he began to whine and fret and Uncle Wiggily said:

"You may stop now, Frisky, and lie down. Go to sleep if you wish," and Uncle Wiggily pointed to a soft bed of moss. Frisky lay down upon it and soon he was fast, fast asleep.

Then Uncle Wiggily began to change the puppy dog from a bad one into a good one. The first thing Mr. Longears did was to tie a heavy stone to Frisky's tail with a piece of string.

"When he awakens we shall see what happens," chuckled Mr. Longears. "He will be changed all right. Ha, ha."

And if the lollypop doesn't get lost off its stick when it goes to the party with the gum drop, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Happy Frisky.

Privy Purse Clerk Visits Edward

PARIS, Sept. 30—(AP).—A visit to the Duke of Windsor by T. H. Carter, chief clerk accountant of the Privy Purse Office of the King's Household in London, gave rise to conjecture to-day the Duke's financial affairs were under discussion.

Carter made the trip to Paris especially to see the Duke, whose stay in Paris also was marked yesterday by his first conversation with a British Cabinet Minister since the abdication.

Leslie Hore-Belisha, Secretary for War, attending French army manoeuvres, called at the Duke's hotel.

MARMORA RALLY DRAWS BIG CROWD FOR DICK ARNOTT

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Sept. 30.—Interests of "Dick" Arnott, young Conservative candidate for West Hastings were advanced on Tuesday evening at a well attended meeting held in Marmora Town Hall. R. E. Bonter presided and seats on the platform were occupied by George Reid, W. E. Tummon, Ex-M.P., George White, G. B. Airhart, S. B. Wright, Reeve W. R. Linn, L. E. Neal, W. A. Weaver, W. A. Sanderson, Irwin McCoy, R. E. Neal, G. A. Graham and John Bell.

Following introductory remarks by the chairman, W. E. Tummon gave the initial address. He brought greetings from Dr. Welsh, M.P.P., and East Hastings riding and his remarks were received with applause. He then recalled the East Hastings by-election and touched upon the C.I.O. question which he said was one of Mr. Hepburn's reasons for expediting the election. The speaker outlined the history of succession duties in the province, asserting that legislation concerning them had been on the statute books for at least 40 years. Mr. Hepburn had been collecting these dues and Mr. Rowe would be collecting them after October 6th.

Mr. Tummon also spoke on the costs of No. 7 Highway, the whole cost of which had been borne by the Dominion and Provincial governments until 1935 when the Provincial Government assessed the County of Hastings for 20 per cent of the cost of the said highway. He further spoke on the Separate School question, showing that the East Hastings by-election showed results of the premier's hasty action and caused him later to railroad the amendments to the act.

He concluded by saying that Earl Rowe would restore to the Province of Ontario, if elected, safe, sound and responsible government.

Jack Scott of Belleville then enlivened the gathering with his recital of "O'Reilly's Dream."

Criticizes Faulkner

George White of Madoc next spoke, congratulating the Conservatives of West Hastings on their choice of candidate. He criticized Dr. Faulkner's statement at Belleville, "We have not plunged into any orgy of spending." Referring to a fatal accident near Northbrook the previous evening where men were working day and night on highway construction, he thought the rush to get such work completed could scarcely be reconciled with the Liberal member's remarks.

He also thought he could accept the challenge of the Minister of Health to show one instance where taxation had been increased. He was not familiar with what had happened in the municipality of Marmora. In Madoc village he could say taxes had been increased. Mr. Hepburn had taken away from the municipalities the right to collect income tax. In Madoc income tax amounted to $425. Whereas before all fines went to the village now 40 per cent went to Mr. Hepburn. That meant last year that $175 of fines plus $425 for income went to Mr. Hepburn. The refunding of the 1 per cent meant in Madoc's case $390. Mr. Hepburn took away $600 and $390 back so Madoc was thereby $210 poorer. The school grant which just came through was $201 dollars less than in 1936 and that will mean that the municipality will have to raise the tax rate.

Mr. White then scored W. Fraser, M.P. for his support of Premier Hepburn on his patronage policy. He reminded his hearers that 562 returned soldiers had been dismissed from their positions in the so-called interests of economy but their places had been later filled by Liberal party workers who never saw the army. It was not true as a speaker had recently said on a Liberal platform in the riding that all efficient returned soldiers had been re-engaged.

Mention was also made by the speaker to remarks made by a lady government official who recently visited Marmora in conversation with a returned man of the village that she had no use for returned soldiers and some of them were only scum anyway. In the East Hastings by-election, the returned men voted a hundred per cent against Hepburn and they would do the same thing in West Hastings, he felt.

If his party were returned to power, Earl Rowe would see that all classes would be treated fairly.

Dick Arnott

R. A. Elliott then introduced the candidate whom he referred to as having no past to live down, but a young man with the future to face.

Mr. Arnott occasioned an early round of laughter as he said he could tell in coming to Marmora that night that folk must be expecting an election for as in other parts of the riding, he saw the roads being ripped up. Mitch Hepburn had condemned George Henry and held up his hands in holy horror at road work undertaken then. He, the speaker, wondered if the cost of the present road work being undertaken was figured in Premier Hepburn's sunshine budget. "There is one issue in this election as I see it," said the candidate, "Mitchell F. Hepburn himself. After a record of three years maladministration, he doesn't mention the Separate School question. His three subjects are the C.I.O., Hydro and a mandate to maintain law and order," he continued.

He then reviewed the Conservative leader's record for the past 22 years and spoke of his personal pride in representing a leader of the calibre of Earl Rowe. He thought the main reason for Mr. Hepburn springing the election now was that there were four by-elections on his hands and he feared they would go the same way as East Hastings.

Touching upon Hydro, the speaker declared that a contract didn't mean a thing to Mr. Hepburn. He was going to build a chain of cold storage plants. He refused to give farmers the livestock bonus but gave them instead a $15,000 bull. The fight was certainly between the Ontario public and Mitchell Hepburn.

Mr. Arnott said he was 100 per cent behind Mr. Rowe on his attitude on the Separate School question. He assured the public that if the Conservative party were returned to power, old age pensions and mothers allowances would be maintained the best by the party who had put them on the statute books of the province.

Before concluding his speech, Mr. Arnott said, "The opposition has been speaking about a provincial highway from Marmora to Coe Hill. They have had three years to put this into effect and have done nothing. I am not in the habit of promising things. I make no promise to get votes. I will not promise to get you this highway, but I will promise if anything is possible (and we are returned to power) to get the road completed, I will do my part not for to get votes but because I feel something should be done about it."

W. A. Weaver, barrister of Toronto, Ex-Mayor George Reid of Belleville and Ex-Warden G. B. Airhart also gave addresses after which cheers were given for Earl Rowe and the candidate and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Dancer Can't Live On $750 Month

CHICAGO, Sept. 30—(AP).—Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin today "figured and figured until I'm blue in the face and still I don't see how I can make both ends meet" on her $750 a month temporary alimony.

The society woman and former internationally famous dancer won the alimony award yesterday in her first legal tangle with her estranged husband, Major Frederick McLaughlin, owner of the Chicago Black Hawks, National League hockey team.

Today she sent her eight-year-old son off to the Chicago Latin School and went into a huddle with her secretary. After extensive calculation they found that after major items of expense were paid each month, the $750 will have shrunk to $30.70.

"Our laundry, food, tips, the nurse and Billy's tuition, and a maximum of three phone calls a day amount to $719.30," Mrs. McLaughlin said.

ARCTIC RADIO SETS RAPIDLY CHANGING SILENCE OF NORTH

HALIFAX, Sept. 30—(CP). — Extensive radio developments in the Arctic and sub-Arctic were reported by members of the eastern Arctic patrol and Hudson's Bay Company officials who returned yesterday on the R.M.S. Nascopie after almost three months in the northern waters.

Possibly next year, and assuredly the year after the greater part of the shores of Hudson Bay and the far-flung Arctic Archipelago will be linked with tranamission sets. The silent north no longer will be silent.

To facilitate more complete weather reports from the sub-Arctic the transport department of the Dominion government this summer augmented its broadcasting facilities on Nottingham Island in Northern Hudson Bay and built a new station at Port Harrison on the east shore of the bay. The latter is now on the air forming a tie-up with Nottingham and the older stations at Coppermine in Coronation Gulf, Western Arctic, Chesterfield and Churchill on the western shore of Hudson Bay, Hopes Advance and Resolution Island in Hudson Strait.

The icebreaker N. B. McLean's broadcasting facilities also join the network when she is in the Strait during the summer. The Nascopie had two outlets, the regular radio transmission part of the ship's equipment, and a special set installed by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Both worked with the stations in the North.

Roman Catholic missionaries at Pond Inlet on the north end of Baffin Island were able to talk over the CBC transmitter with missionaries on the missionary schooner Therese at Repulse Bay in Northern Hudson Bay.

Even more significant are the number of smaller transmission sets installed at trading posts and mission headquarters.

This summer such transmission sets were installed at Leaf River in Ungava Bay, Cape Smith in Hudson Bay (which will eventually be moved to Wolstenholm to cover the northwest corner of Ungava and work with Nottingham Island), Dorset, covering the southwest corner on Baffin Island, and Arctic Bay, in the northern portion of the same island, which will also cover Pond Inlet.

SARNIA YOUTH 17 GOES TO GALLOWS FOR MURDER DEC. 13

SARNIA, Ont., Oct. 1.—(CP)— William Labadie, 17-year-old farm hand, was sentenced by Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay to-day to hang Dec. 13 for the murder last March of John Latins, seven-year-old son of his employer.

The death penalty, which automatically follows a conviction for murder, was imposed after an Assize Court jury last night found the youth guilty of murdering the Luckins boy, but accompanied its verdict with a strong recommendation for mercy. The jury took seven hours to reach a decision, and only then after reurning to the court room for frest direction from the Judge on some points.

Trial o the case opened Tuesday and concluded yesterday with address o counsel and His Lordship's chrge to the jury, which extended narly two hours. Later the jury returned for information before returning a verdict and Justice Macay spoke for another 30 minutes.

HONG KONG, Oct. 1 (A.P.).—The British gunboats Robin and Tarantula were imprisoned up the Canton River to-day when the Chinese blocked the approach to Canton below the Bocca Tigris Forts.

The United States gunboat Mindano, the French warship Argus, and more than a dozen liners also were caught by the blockade.

Despite official confirmation there still was some doubt whether the river was physically blocked. Some sources expressed belief navigation had merely been forbidden pending some defence move.

9-Hour Hurricane Kept Crew At Endeavour's Pumps

Gun Episode Sends Martin To Lewis

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—The militant president of the United Automobile Workers of America—who brandished a gun at a union delegation, admitted it with an explanation and subsequently denied it—headed for Washington to-day to confer with his superior John L. Lewis.

Purpose of the meeting between Homer Martin, head of the U.A.W.A., and the leader of the Committee for Industrial Organization, could not be learned.

In Washington an aide to Lewis expressed doubt Martin had been summoned following the episode in which the Union president met a delegation of protesting union members at his hotel room door here with a pistol in his hand yesterday.

Ship Under Water Most Of Time Says Jovial Cook Who Once Gave Up Hope

GOSPORT, Hampshire, Oct. 1. — (AP)—Smiling Joe Uglow, second cook of the Endeavour I, told today how the yacht's crew were imprisoned in the hurricane-tossed steel hull for nine hours but he insisted the most dismaying moment of the amazing 18-day voyage was the discovery their last case of rum was just a tank of lard.

"We were at the mercy of the waves for nine hours," Uglow said after the Endeavour made port today, "while water washed in on us like a Niagara. We were just a ship of steel—under water most of the time—with gigantic waves breaking over us."

The good-natured cook said "It was every man for the pumps" when the trim craft broke her tow line off Nantucket on her return voyage to England after the America's cup races.

"We worked frantically, the sweat rolling off us, during that nine-hour hurricane which none of us will ever forget. During the whole time it was impossible to raise sail or even go on deck.

"It seemed almost as if we were in the depths of the ocean. The wind shrieked and howled and I can tell you the time came when I just gave up hope and wondered if any trace of us would ever be found.

Hoped and Prayed.

"Still, where there is life there is hope, and so we just had to keep working at the pumps, hoping and praying the hurricane would abate.

Jerusalem's Arab Mayor Held In Assassination

Grand Mufti Deprived Of Office, Dozen High Officials Held In British Clean-Up

JERUSALEM, Oct. 1 (A.P.).—Dr. Hussein Khalidi, Arabian Mayor of Jerusalem and a member of the Arab Higher Committee, was arrested to-day with other Arabian leaders as a sequel to the assassination of the British Commissioner of Galilee and his bodyguard.

Fuad Saba, secretary of the Higher Committee, was one of those detained, and it was reported authorities intended to take into custody the entire committee. Telephone communication from Jerusalem was suspended.

Commissioner Lewis Andrews and Constable Peter McEwan were shot down in a Terrorist ambuscade as they left church services last Sunday at Nazareth. Scores of Arabs were arrested at Nazareth, Haifa and Nablus and held for questioning.

The Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, head of the Arab Higher Committee, has been deprived of his office, an official communique announced to-day.

(There was a report in Cairo, Egypt, that the mufti had taken refuge in the Mosque of Omar and defied the police to take him.)

Authorities explained in the communique that terrorism had increased in the past four months and "it has been found necessary to institute action against certain persons whose activities have been prejudicial to the maintenance of public security in Palestine and who must be regarded as morally responsible for these events."

The communique said the Higher Committee and constituent bodies had been declared illegal associations and that warrants had been issued for "a number of leading Arabs" who would be deported from the Holy Land.

BRITISHERS ACT TO AID CHINESE

LONDON, Oct. 1 (CP-Havas)—Moves to send medical and other aid to China gained impetus today under the sponsorship of church dignitaries and other notables.

An appeal for relief funds for China's war sufferers was to be issued by China association in co-operation with the British Red Cross. The association announced the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Westminster,, and the Lord Mayor of London had agreed to sign the document.

Meanwhile business and conservative circles remained cool to the idea of a boycott on all Japanese goods, a plan which has received wide backing by labor and other quarters angered by the Japanese attacks on civilians.

ABERHART'S PRESS BILL IS BRANDED AS DICTATORSHIP

EDMONTON, Oct. 1 (CP).—Legislation before the Alberta Legislature respecting the press was termed an attempt to "impose a dictatorship over the press and deny to the people of Alberta their right to receive uncensored news of their government" in a statement issued today by a meeting of the Alberta division of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association and the six Alberta daily newspapers.

The statement will be presented to the Agricultural Committee of the Legislature today when it considers the bill entitled "An Act to ensure publication of accurate news and information."

The publishers' statement said the bill is contrary to democratic principles and long established practice in democratic countries. The bill is described as "an attempt to take away from the newspapers of Alberta the fundamental rights and privileges of a free press and to place them in such a position of servitude to the government that they cease to be a free press and become more than an instrument of Social Credit propaganda."

COHEN IS ASKED TO GIVE PROOF CHARGES MADE

Labor Industry Board Opens Peterboro Probe

Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Limited were charged by J. L.Cohen, K.C., attorney for the National Textile Council, with coercion and intimidation of witnesses, as the probe into wages and working conditions in the local textile industry opened before the Industry and Labor Board at the Court House here this morning.

Mr. Cohen alleged the company had violated Section 10 of the Minimum Wage Act rendering itself liable to prosecution; that it had failed to "live up to the letter and spirit" of the agreement between management and employees made at the Queen's Park conference; and that the company had instituted and fostered an organization known as The Auburn Employees' Association compose dof "stooges" of the management.

Counsel challenged the presence of Robert Townsley, president of the Auburn Employees' Association and their legal representative J. F. Strickland, K.C., and submitted the management "have been more than coercive to their employees," and had harrassed and impeded the proper functioning of the Board.

Denies Charges.

The company, through Henry Barrett, managing director and R. L. Kellock, K.C., vigorously denied the charges.

Mr. Barrett asserted, "I absolutely deny those charges. He is drawing a red herring across the trail accusing the company of doing something it has never done and has no intention of doing."

Declaring the charges without "a tittle of foundation," Mr. Kellock maintained the Board had no power or jurisdiction in the matter, but must concern itself solely with an investigation of wages and working conditions.

Agreeing with counsel for the company, Mr. Strickland representing the Auburn Employees' Association submitted that Mr. Cohen's argument defeated itself. "He argues that his union shall have the sole right of representation before this Board." He reminded the Board its duty was simply to investigate existing conditions with the assistance of any employees who wished to come forward as witnesses to assist the Board.

The Board is composed of the following: E. ... Young, chairman; Clifford Adams, Fred Bancroft, labor representative; Roy Whitehead, manufacturers' representative, and Miss M. F. Mangan, women's representative.

Submit Proof.

As the chairman adjourned the proceedings at 12.30 p.m., he told Mr. Cohen he would be given am-

FAIL TO LIGHTEN 96-TON VESSEL

Efforts to lighten the 96-ton steamer Wauketa to meet the six-foot maximum draught restriction of the Peterborough Lift Lock proved unsuccessful Thursday afternoon and the ship still rides at anchor in the canal approach south of the Lock. At midnight last night the Lift Lock was officially closed for the season in accordance with public notices which have appeared in the press in recent weeks.

Purchased by the Nephaline Company for use towing scow loads of ore from its mine outlet on the northern extremity of Stoney Lake to Lakefield, the ship was lightened to the extent its draught was reduced from 7 feet 8 inches to 6 feet 7 inches but by midafternoon yesterday the crew concluded further efforts to float the ship higher would be of no avail in the limited time remaining before the midnight closing. It is understood Nephaline Company officials are contemplating making a further attempt to get the Wauketa over the Lift Locks and up to Stoney Lake but no comment could be obtained from officials here today.

In the event a further effort should be made to reduce the draught for passage through the Lift Lock, it would be necessary to arrange through the Department of Railways and Canals at Ottawa a re-opening of the Lock.

SARNIA YOUTH 17 GOES TO GALLOWS FOR MURDER DEC. 13

SARNIA, Ont., Oct. 1.—(CP). — William Labadie, 17-year-old farm hand, was sentenced by Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay to-day to hang Dec. 13 for the murder last March of John Lirins, seven-year-old son of his employer.

The death penalty, which automatically follows a conviction for murder, was imposed after an Assize Court jury last night found the youth guilty of murdering the Luckins boy, but accompanied its verdict with a strong recommendation for mercy. The jury took seven hours to reach a decision, and only then after returning to the court room for fresh direction from the Judge on some points.

Trial of the case opened Tuesday and concluded yesterday with address of counsel and His Lordship's charge to the jury, which extended nearly two hours. Later the jury returned for information before returning a verdict and Justice Macay spoke for another 30 minutes.

Labadie heard the sentence with-

Liners, Warships Trapped, Canton

HONG KONG, Oct. 1 (A.P.). — The British gunboats Robin and Tarantula were imprisoned up the Canton River to-day when the Chinese blocked the approach to Canton below the Bocca Tigris Forts.

The United States gunboat Mindano, the French warship Argus, and more than a dozen liners also were caught by the blockade.

Despite official confirmation there still was some doubt whether the river was physically blocked. Some sources expressed belief navigation had merely been forbidden pending some defence move.

Jerusalem's Arab Mayor Held In Assassination

Grand Mufti Deprived Of Office, Dozen High Officials Held In British Clean-Up

JERUSALEM, Oct. 1 (A.P.).—Dr. Hussein Khalidi, Arabian Mayor of Jerusalem and a member of the Arab Higher Committee, was arrested to-day with other Arabian leaders as a sequel to the assassination of the British Commissioner of Galilee and his bodyguard.

Fuad Saba, secretary of the Higher Committee, was one of those detained, and it was reported authorities intended to take into custody the entire committee. Telephone communication from Jerusalem was suspended.

Commissioner Lewis Andrews and Constable Peter McEwan were shot down in a Terrorist ambuscade as they left church services last Sunday at Nazareth. Scores of Arabs were arrested at Nazareth, Haifa and Nablus and held for questioning.

The Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, head of the Arab Higher Committee, has been deprived of his office, an official communique announced to-day.

(There was a report in Cairo, Egypt, that the mufti had taken refuge in the Mosque of Omar and defied the police to take him.)

Authorities explained in the communique that terrorism had increased in the past four months and "it has been found necessary to institute action against certain persons whose activities have been prejudicial to the maintenance of public security in Palestine and who must be regarded as morally responsible for these events."

The communique said the Higher Committee and constituent bodies had been declared illegal associations and that warrants had been issued for "a number of leading Arabs" who would be deported from the Holy Land.

BRITISHERS ACT TO AID CHINESE

LONDON, Oct. 1 (CP-Havas)—Moves to send medical and other aid to China gained impetus today under the sponsorship of church dignitaries and other notables.

An appeal for relief funds for China's war sufferers was to be issued by China association in co-operation with the British Red Cross. The association announced the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Westminster, and the Lord Mayor of London had agreed to sign the document.

Meanwhile business and conservative circles remained cool to the idea of a boycott on all Japanese goods, a plan which has received wide backing by labor and other quarters angered by the Japanese attacks on civilians.

ABERHART'S PRESS BILL IS BRANDED AS DICTATORSHIP

EDMONTON, Oct. 1 (CP).—Legislation before the Alberta Legislature respecting the press was termed an attempt to "impose a dictatorship over the press and deny to the people of Alberta their right to receive uncensored news of their government" in a statement issued today by a meeting of the Alberta division of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association and the six Alberta daily newspapers.

The statement will be presented to the Agricultural Committee of the Legislature today when it considers the bill entitled "An Act to ensure publication of accurate news and information."

The publishers' statement said the bill is contrary to democratic principles and long established practice in democratic countries. The bill is described as "an attempt to take away from the newspapers of Alberta the fundamental rights and privileges of a free press and to place them in such a position of servitude to the government that they cease to be a free press and become more than an instrument of Social Credit propaganda."

Lady Barber Has Light Razor Hand

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Oct. 1.—(AP).—Woman's place, said pretty 17-year-old Bertha Pace last night, is also in the barber shop—wielding scissors.

In the first place, said Bertha, who runs her own barber shop here, men like "lady barbers." Curiosity brings in many male customers.

'And in the second place," she added, "it's more a lady's work. We have a lighter hand on the razor."

Some men are embarrassed at first and some are surprised, Bertha said.

HITLER'S VISIT OCT. 28?

ROME, Oct. 1.—(CP-Havas). — According to unconfirmed reports here to-day, Chancellor Hitler of Germany will leave for Italy Oct. 28 to return Premier Mussolini's visit to Germany.

Although Hitler's acceptance of Mussolini's invitation to come to Rome has been officially announced at Berlin, qualified observers doubted if the Chancellor would leave as early as the date given in to-day's reports.

COHEN IS ASKED TO GIVE PROOF CHARGES MADE

Labor Industry Board Opens Peterboro Probe

Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Limited were charged by J. L. Cohen, K.C., attorney for the National Textile Council, with coercion and intimidation of witnesses, as the probe into wages and working conditions in the local textile industry opened before the Industry and Labor Board at the Court House here this morning.

Mr. Cohen alleged the company had violated Section 10 of the Minimum Wage Act rendering itself liable to prosecution; that it had failed to "live up to the letter and spirit" of the agreement between management and employees made at the Queen's Park conference; and that the company had instituted and fostered an organization known as The Auburn Employees' Association compose dof "stooges" of the management.

Counsel challenged the presence of Robert Townsley, president of the Auburn Employees' Association and their legal representative J. F. Strickland, K.C., and submitted the management "have been more than coercive to their employees," and had harrassed and impeded the proper functioning of the Board.

Denies Charges.

The company, through Henry Barrett, managing director and R. L. Kellock, K.C., vigorously denied the charges.

Mr. Barrett asserted, "I absolutely deny those charges. He is drawing a red herring across the trail accusing the company of doing something it has never done and has no intention of doing."

Declaring the charges without "a little of foundation," Mr. Kellock maintained the Board had no power or jurisdiction in the matter, but must concern itself solely with an investigation of wages and working conditions.

Agreeing with counsel for the company, Mr. Strickland representing the Auburn Employees' Association submitted that Mr. Cohen's argument defeated itself. "He argues that his union shall have the sole right of representation before this Board." He reminded the Board its duty was simply to investigate existing conditions with the assistance of any employees who wished to come forward as witnesses to assist the Board.

The Board is composed of the following: E. J. Young, chairman; Clifford Adams, Fred Bancroft, labor representative; Roy Whitehead, manufacturers' representative, and Miss M. F. Mangan, women's representative.

Submit Proof.

As the chairman adjourned the proceedings at 12.30 p.m., he told Mr. Cohen he would be given am-

FAIL TO LIGHTEN 96-TON VESSEL

Efforts to lighten the 96-ton steamer Wauketa to meet the six-foot maximum draught restriction of the Peterborough Lift Lock proved unsuccessful Thursday afternoon and the ship still rides at anchor in the canal approach south of the Lock. At midnight last night the Lift Lock was officially closed for the season in accordance with public notices which have appeared in the press in recent weeks.

Purchased by the Nephaline Company for use towing scow loads of ore from its mine outlet on the northern extremity of Stoney Lake to Lakefield, the ship was lightened to the extent its draught was reduced from 7 feet 8 inches to 6 feet 7 inches but by midafternoon yesterday the crew concluded further efforts to float the ship higher would be of no avail in the limited time remaining before the midnight closing. It is understood Nephaline Company officials are contemplating making a further attempt to get the Wauketa over the Lift Locks and up to Stoney Lake but no comment could be obtained from officials here today.

In the event a further effort should be made to reduce the draught for passage through the Lift Lock, it would be necessary to arrange through the Department of Railways and Canals at Ottawa a re-opening of the Lock.

9-Hour Hurricane Kept Crew At Endeavour's Pumps

Ship Under Water Most Of Time Says Jovial Cook Who Once Gave Up Hope

GOSPORT, Hampshire, Oct. 1. — (AP)—Smiling Joe Uglow, second cook of the Endeavour I, told today how the yacht's crew were imprisoned in the hurricane-tossed steel hull for nine hours but he insisted the most dismaying moment of the amazing 14-day voyage was the discovery their last case of rum was just a tank of lard.

"We were at the mercy of the waves for nine hours," Uglow said after the Endeavour made port today, "while water washed in on us like a Niagara. We were just a ship of steel—under water most of the time—with gigantic waves breaking over us."

The good-natured cook said "It was every man for the pumps" when the trim craft broke her tow line off Nantucket on her return voyage to England after the America's cup races.

"We worked frantically, the sweat rolling off us, during that nine-hour hurricane which none of us will ever forget. During the whole time it was impossible to raise sail or even go on deck.

"It seemed almost as if we were in the depths of the ocean. The wind shrieked and howled and I can tell you the time came when I just gave up hope and wondered if any trace of us would ever be found.

Hoped and Prayed.

"Still, where there is life there is hope, and so we just had to keep working at the pumps, hoping and praying the hurricane would abate.

Gun Episode Sends Martin To Lewis

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—The militant president of the United Automobile Workers of America—who brandished a gun at a union delegation, admitted it with an explanation and subsequently denied it—headed for Washington to-day to confer with his superior John L. Lewis.

Purpose of the meeting between Homer Martin, head of the U.A.W.A., and the leader of the Committee for Industrial Organization, could not be learned.

In Washington an aide to Lewis expressed doubt Martin had been summoned following the episode in which the union president met a delegation of protesting union members at his hotel room door here with a pistol in his hand yesterday.

RUSSIAN BASES SET IN SIBERIA FIVE HOURS OFF

New Warning Drafted To Nanking Foreigners

TOKYO, Oct. 1 (AP)—Japanese defence experts today rushed completion a chain of bombproof, subterranean "fortresses" to safeguard the civilian population against threat of attack from Soviet warplanes.

Stimulated by reports Russia secretly was sending planes and aviators to aid China, thousands of civilians in Japan's teeming cities familiarized themselves with the new type of shelters, believed to be the last word in protective science.

Scarcely five hours from the nerve centres of the empire, from its great cities, Japanese observers point out, are the Siberian airbases of a "certain foreign power." This three-word phrase, stripped of its diplomatic caution, frankly means Soviet Russia.

The model shelter was designed by the engineers of the Tokyo Metropolitan Police Board to accommodate 800 persons for at least three hours, and if necessary, much longer. Thousands of the bombproofs are planned for every major city in the country.

Another Warning.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1 (AP).—Japanese were reported today to be considering a further warning to foreign powers to evacuate Nanking or face the danger of even more determined air raids.

The Official Central Chinese News Agency said the warning was based on the grounds Japanese efforts to avoid inflicting damage on the interests of third powers at the Chinese capital had caused Japanese planes to be shot down by anti-aircraft guns.

Air raid warnings screamed out in Nanking again today but the Japanese war planes apparently centred their attention on points down river.

On the northern fringes of Shanghai struggle for the Chinese Chapei section went into its fourth day with the Chinese defenders holding their lines.

Near the boundary of the international settlement opposing troops fought hand-to-hand and with machine guns for a block of foreign houses on Range Road and the Pantheon Theatre.

Raids Upon 3 Towns Net Bandits $9500

Winnipeg, Oct. 1 (CP)

BANDITS swooped down on three Western Manitoba towns yesterday and escaped with $9,500 in cash, cheques and bonds, Royal Canadian Mounted Police reported here.

Operating under cover of sleet-laden skies in their early morning raids, thieves took $8,000 in bonds and cash from the municipal office at Fork River, 180 miles northwest of here.

Then they failed in their attempt to burglarize the Canadian National Railways office at Sifton, ten miles south of Fork River.

The final haul was made at Strathclair, 150 miles west of Winnipeg, where $1,500 in cash and cheques was taken from the municipal office after robbers had awakened citizens by blowing open the office safe.

STORE IN OMEMEE LOOTED OF $200

LINDSAY, Oct. 1.—Thieves broke into T. C. Ivory's general store at Omemee early yesterday and got away with dry-goods and tobacco, valued at $200. It was the second robbery in this district this week, goods valued at $800 having been stolen from a Millbrook store on Tuesday.

Before leaving the Ivory store, the thieves endeavored to cover traces of their crime by setting fire to the rear of the store, but the fire burned itself out with little damage.

The thieves forced the back door with a bar and the break-in was not discovered until Mr. Ivory opened the store yesterday morning.

Rescue 23 After Ship Founders

Her hull punctured twice by hidden rocks, the coastwise lumber schooner Casper is pictured aground in Drake's Bay, 35 miles north of San Francisco's Golden Gate. She struck the rocks during a dense fog and settled to the bottom in 2½ fathoms of water. At LEFT of the ill-starred schooner is the Point Reyes coast guard surf boat towing one of the lifeboats from the Caspar. The crew of 23 was taken off the ship when she began settling. The rocks hold the schooner on the port side and she is listing at an angle of 40 degrees with lines from port boat davits trailing in the water.

Crowe Lake Yields 77 Pounds Of Fighting Fish For Party In One Day

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Oct. 1.—"We certainly haven't finished with Crowe Lake and we are returning next season," said a truly jovial, angling quartet from Cleveland, Ohio, who were overnight guests at the Royal, on Thursday. "We are also bringing along all the folks we can lay hands on, for we are downright tickled with the place."

"And they should be, for they secured the best aggregate catch of large maskinonge that Crowe Lake has yielded at one time for some years.

The four Clevelanders, Joe Miller, George Shaver, John Froelich and A. Z. Williams came to Thompson Lake Fishing Club over a week ago for a two week's stay. It was their first visit to the district. In collaboration with William Leonard, guide at the club, a three days fishing expedition at Crowe Lake was decided upon. Tom McQuigge and Sanford Lawrence, local guides made the party up to seven.

Joe Miller was using a pikey minnow which he had christened "Oswald." At 5 p.m., seven fish totalling seventy-seven pounds in weight and ranging from nine pounds to eighteen had been taken, with "Oswald" receiving the greatest credit.

Then A. Z. Williams persuaded Joe to loan "Oswald" to him and the former had the satisfaction of securing highest honors of the day through landing a maskinonge weighing 23¼ pounds. The one regret was that the light did not permit the taking of a photograph of the big fish as had been done with the earlier catches of the day.

Fish Uses Self As Bait Then Cats Captor

Santiago, Chile, Oct. 1

FOR his study of fish which allows itself to be swallowed in order to eat the bigger fish from the inside, Prof. Ernest Gigoux, curator of the National Museum of Natural History in Chile, has been awarded the Order of Merit by the Chilean Academy of Natural Sciences.

Myxime Dembeyssy is the name of the fish which Prof. Gigoux has been studying in his private aquarium. When it has been swallowed, it hides itself in the organs of the larger fish and then begins to gnaw at them. Before long it has crippled its unwilling host and finishes by devouring it entirely.

FIND GOOD MIXER IN APPLE PACKER

KELOWNA, B.C., Oct. 1—(CP)—Canada's representative in the Imperial Fruit Show apple-packing contest will travel 7,000 miles to wrap and pack against the Empire's best, but actually she will handle the glowing fruit right on her own home grounds.

Judges for the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, seeking a girl with personality and a fast packer chose Isobel Stillingfleet of Kelowna. Then they found she was born in Shirley Heath, suburb of Birmingham where the great show will be held Oct. 18-28.

Mrs. Stillingfleet however is essentially Canadian as 26 of her 28 years have been spent in the Okanagan Valley. For 11 years she has packed apples—wrapping, tucking in the fruit with the top layer lower at end and sides to prevent bruising when the box-lids are placed.

She will face several candidates from the United Kingdom, New Zealand, Australia, and probably South Africa, for a first prize of $125. Second place is worth $75 and third $50. The apple used is the Worcester Pearmain, which resembles in size and shape the Canadian Jonathan. Competitors it is expected will be able to handle them in practice before the competition starts.

WESTERN CATTLE GLUT CUTS PRICE, CALVES, HOGS OFF

TORONTO, Oct. 1.— (CP).— A heavy run of western cattle at the Toronto stockyards and direct to local packers' sidings this week caused the worst market glut of the year, the Dominion Livestock Branch reports. Prices were marked down from 50 cents to as much as $1 cwt. in some cases on Wednesday and Thursday, but more than 2,000 cattle remained at the close.

Calves dropped $1 to $1.50 cwt. as export buying slid off. Hogs closed down 50 to 65 cents for the week. Lambs were down 50 cents on final sales but sheep prices held steady for the week, at $1.50 to $4.50 cwt. according to quality.

The cattle run included 5,800 westerns and there were also about 900 cattle carried over from the previous week. Sales of butcher cattle or weighty steers were few on Monday, while local packers purchased cows, bulls and fed calves at steady prices. For the balance of the week sales on steers and butchers were made chiefly to small butcher buyers with prices down 50 to 75 cents in most cases.

What HEPBURN Has Done For The Farmer

MR. Henry's Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Kennedy, is making the assertion that the Hepburn government has done nothing for the farmers of Ontario—not a solitary thing, we have his word for it, except to "attempt to bring Hydro to rural parts."

Such a charge is, of course, almost too grotesque to require denial and will be laughed out of court by 99.9% of the farmers of the province. And yet it deserves notice because of the fact that even in this enlightened part of the province speakers in support of Mr. Rowe's candidates, and his candidates themselves, have been imposing upon the credulity of rural audiences by making similar charges without any more warrant than Mr. Kennedy possesses.

If there is, indeed, any one branch of provincial economy which has benefited from the policies of the present government it is the farming community. It is good of Mr. Kennedy to acknowledge that the government's policy in regard to rural extension of Hydro is worthy of a word or two of not-too-enthusiastic commendation. But surely he might also have granted it a modicum of praise (without being at all effusive, you know,) for some of the other rural achievements to its credit.

Doesn't Mr. Kennedy think that complete assumption by the government of the costs of provincial highways, old age pensions and mothers' allowances has been of some slight benefit to the rural taxpayers of Ontario? Won't he grant the government just a teeny-weeny bit of credit for giving back to rural taxpayers, along with urban taxpayers, the equivalent of one mill on the rates of their municipal taxation? Isn't he prepared to concede that larger grants towards township roads represent something done, however slight, for those engaged in agriculture?

DID the government do nothing at all for the farmer when he cut $5 from his passenger motor license fee and when it lopped 25 per cent. from his commercial motor license fee? Do the enforcement of the Milk Board regulations and the loans and other aid given to the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association and similar co-operative farmers' organizations mean nothing to the farmer in Mr. Kennedy's estimation? Can he really reconcile his statement with the additional assistance lent drainage projects, with the $400,000 a year that farmers and villagers are saving on township road account, with the $2,700,000 saved by them in only two years on provincial highway account and with all the other reforms and savings inaugurated by the government for the benefit of rural people?

And, finally, is it of no account in Mr. Kennedy's calculations that under the Hepburn government the gross annual agricultural revenue of Ontario rose from $280,600,000 in 1933 to $354,300,000 in 1936? The gain in this revenue to farmers between 1935 and 1936 alone was one of $40,000,000 and between 1932 and 1936 one of not less than $100,000,000. Moreover, Ontario in 1936 led all the provinces of Canada in the increased value of agricultural output.

With memories of their plight under the government of which Mr. Kennedy was a member still fresh, the farmers of Ontario are abundantly justified in resenting with some indignation his contention that the succeeding government has done nothing for them. But perhaps Mr. Kennedy is just a trifle piqued that so much has been done for the farmer and so much progress has been made by him under another government and under another Minister of Agriculture.

...RTIN INVITES ...EPBURN'S HELP BRING SECURITY

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 1.—(CP).—Labor in the United States learned a big lesson from England in industrial unionism, Homer Martin said in an address here last night.

The Canadian Labor movement could be effective only through industrial unions, declared the head of the United Automobile Workers of America.

Mr. Martin, whose organization is affiliated with John L. Lewis' committee for Industrial Organization, invited Premier Hepburn of Ontario to join with the U.A.W.A. to bring "security and happiness" to Canadian workers." The C.I.O. was not another bona fide Labor movement.

"It has the same aims as any legitimate Labor union in the world and has only those aims. It was formed to promote industrial unionism."

He appealed to farmers to join the industrial worker to "establish freedom of rights" and described benefits which would follow if the U.A.W.A. and the American Federation of Labor joined hands to ally craft and industrial organizations.

"We invite Mr. Hepburn to join with us and help bring in security and happiness to workers," he said. "Our crime is that we brought new happiness and raised wages of auto workers more than $250,000,000 per annum. That's not a crime."

"The natural ally of the industrial worker is the farmer," said Martin. "As industrial worker we reach out our hands and say to our brothers on the farm that we must move together to establish freedom of right."

KOSHER BUTCHER SHOP WAR LOOMS

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP). — City officials moved today to pacify owners of 5,000 Kosher butcher shops who are threatening to close their doors in a protest over high wholesale meat prices.

Officers of the Federation of Kosher Butchers agreed to confer with William Fellowes Morgan, commissioner of markets, but insisted the Kosher shops, serving an estimated 2,000,000 Jews in New York and New Jersey, would close indefinitely tomorrow.

Kosher meat—meaning fit or proper meat—is processed by a centuries-old ritual prescribed by orthodox Jewish religious laws.

The "strike" threat brought into the open from restaurant owners and family consumers alike, expressions of dissatisfaction over recent hikes in meat prices, particularly for all grades of beef.

Samuel Jacobi, secretary of the Kosher Butchers Federation, denied contentions by wholesale packers the rises were the result of a meat shortage caused by drought and government reduction programs.

Wholesalers, he said, have driven scores of butchers out of business by artificially pegging prices to the highest level in 18 years. He said the Kosher butchers had called an employers' sit-down in the hope of forcing a federal investigation into meat conditions.

Widespread closing of the Kosher shops would seriously affect the metropolitan meat market. Some 18,000 steers, 35,000 calves, 80,000 lambs and 500,000 chickens are killed weekly for the Kosher trade, representing a $2,000,000 turnover.

Hull To Pay Visit To Tweedsmuir

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—(AP).—State Secretary Hull announced today he has accepted an invitation to visit the Governor General of Canada in Ottawa Oct. 20 to 22.

During that time, the secretary said he will return the visits made early this year to this country of both Lord Tweedsmuir, the Governor General, and Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Hull.

The secretary emphasized that this trip to Canada will be solely one of courtesy and that he does not intend to discuss official matters with the Canadian officials.

He will deliver an address at the University of Toronto.

STAR-WAGON FINDS CRITICS DIVIDED

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 — (CP). — Dissent among New York's theatre critics continued to-day. They would not bring in an unanimous verdict on Maxwell Anderson's "The Star Wagon," offered last night with a brilliant cast.

It was the same with "French Without Tears" and "George and Margaret." Some lauded these recent comedies; others rapped them with biting sarcasm.

Both Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times and Richard Watts, Jr. of the Herald Tribune toasted Lillian Gish, Burgess Meredith and Russel Collins for their attractive performances in "The Star-Wagon." But there agreement ended.

Atkinson voted it "a vigorous and variegated play, written with the tang of good prose."

Watts admitted it was "a charming and touching little dramatic fantasy," but said three-quarters of its effectiveness was destroyed by pompous pseudo-intellectuality.

The play concerns an inventor of a machine that can carry him back and forth in time. Since his wife has been insisting they married the wrong persons he turns back, marries the other girl and his wife gets the man she might have chosen. The results are ghastly. He operates the machine again, restores everything and all hands admit things had been hunky-dory in the first place.

Co-operatives Ask Sales Tax End

MONTREAL, Oct. 1—(CP). — Officers of the Co-operative Union of Canada prepared today to submit resolutions to provincial and Dominion governments urging abolition of the federal sales tax and asking the governments refrain from fixing prices without approval of consumers' representatives.

Concluding its annual three-day congress yesterday, the union also adopted a resolution approving trade unions and the right of collective bargaining. Organization of farmers, fishermen and other primary producers in collective bargaining associations was recommended.

Efforts toward unionization and bargaining "should be encouraged in general public interest rather than opposed or restrained by governments," the resolution said.

PRANK BY BOYS PROVING COSTLY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Oct. 1.—Three youths of this district are minus one bicycle as a result of a practical joke they had planned but that did not materialize as they had expected.

The lads were on their way home one night when they decided to place a rail across the road to obstruct some friends who had to pass that way with a horse and buggy. Fred Lynch of Hastings passed the buggy on the road and ran over the rail causing damages to his car. The boys by this time had fled, leaving a bicycle and some groceries behind.

Mr. Lynch picked up the bicycle and brought them to this village where they are held pending the payment of $5.00 for damages done to the car.

They Won The Real Contest

When the British yacht Endeavour 1 tried to win the America cup a few weeks ago it was found it could not do it. For the most part the breeze was light and it settled down to making the small amount of breeze do the most useful service, and in that the Vanderbilt boat was the better.

Then the Endeavour 1 started for home on the other side of the Atlantic ocean. There was a tender accompanying the yacht, but there was also a break a short time after the trip started. The weather was rough. And it kept on getting rougher. It has been so rough recently that liners have been as much as two days late in reaching port. And in that sort of sea and weather the Endeavour 1 has had to make the best of it.

Latest report is that the yacht has landed just where it intended to. It has been variously given up as lost and reported as not having been seen for days on end.

It may be the British yacht was not of a superior sort where breeze was light and water not much ruffled, but it will have to be admitted that when it came to the more serious business of taking that craft across an angry and much ruffled Atlantic ocean the skipper and the crew knew considerable about their business of handling a vessel.

Living On 750 A Month

Probably few of our readers have ever heard of Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin of Chicago. Word came that she was having a tough time trying to live on $750 per month. And that is $7,800 per year. She gets that amount of money in alimony, but we take it that an alimony dollar has just as much purchasing power as any other dollar.

An eight-year-old son has been sent off to Latin School, and the distressed woman after having a long spell of figuring with her secretary announced she was almost blue in the face trying to find out how she could live on $750 per month.

There is so much going on in the world at the moment we find it hard to go deeply into the problem of this distressed lady in Chicago. She says the best she can do in figures shows that she will have only $30.70 left after she has paid the bills for the month, and she fears that amount may shrink to nothing at all.

Truth is we can think at the moment of several families which are living on about the same amount for a whole year as Mrs. McLaughlin would receive in a couple of months. And it is not alimony money. It is earned and brought home by the route of hard work, and when it gets home the money has to start doing hard work by bringing full value for every dollar spent.

According to past experience it may be this Chicago woman feels sorry for herself, but she can hardly expect others to share her sorrow and get lumps in the throat because she has only $750 per month coming in, which is about $25 per day. The world is too full of people who would look upon that as something pretty close to fabulous wealth.

As Effective As War

During the first eight months of 1937 there have been 24,530 persons killed in motor accidents in United States. Those who attend to the matter of compiling such statistics expect the figure at the end of the year will be at least 38,000.

They have increased the fatality expectancy because the figures for 1937 are running consistently ahead of those for 1936 when 36,500 persons were killed.

Late in the World War United States was prepared to participate and as a result of mobolization there were 4,757,240 men in uniform. Participation in the war caused 322,497 casualties, and 192,399 of these were wounded. That means 130,098 were killed.

If the average killing on the highways of United States amounts to 35,000, then in less than four years there would be a greater slaughter than in their forces participating in the world war.

In times referred to as years of peace it appears to be customary to kill people without going to the expense of putting uniforms on them and handing them weapons.

Mr. Martin's Gun

It was within quite recent days that Homer Martin, leader of the C.I.O. movement was speaking in a Hamilton, Ont., church. When there he described the C. O. as a Christian organization; in fact was rather emphatic on that point. had never heard it put that way be, and it seemed there was nothing to do but take Mr. Martin's word

Are recently it is recorded that Mr. has been busy with his work in . It has been necessary to rid the C. I. O. and its affiliates of a dozen or more organizers because there were too many of them drawing salaries from the head office. If they desire to continue as organizers they will have to seek employment from local unions. This firing process caused a deputation to come to the hotel where Homer Martin stays, and we read that five came and kicked and pounded on his door.

Mr. Martin went to open the door and in his hand he carried a revolver which he poked out into the hall. Then he saw badges of the order and placed the weapon away. We are glad to learn he had done that.

If Mr. Martin goes about armed it is just possible that others do the same thing. And that of course is rather tough for a man who is leading what he so recently and fervently described as a Christian movement.

Sixteen In All

According to history and tradition we have two great political parties in Ontario, Liberals and Conservatives, but according to actual count we have 16 varieties going to the polls on Wednesday of next week.

Like this:

Conservatives	Ind. Conservative
Liberals	Liberal-Progressive
C. C. F.	C. C. F.-Labor
Socialist-Labor	United Farmers
Ind. Liberal	Labor Progressive
Independent	Social Credit
Farmer-Labor	Communist
Labor	Ind.-Labor

So in that way Ontario has exactly 16 classifications in this contest, and it is difficult enough to suppress the idea that a good deal of this splitting is not far removed from being plain nonsense.

When A Man Boasts

The riding of Huron is often enough referred to as dry, but that is by way of tradition and theory and past history rather than by present condition. There are three candidates in the running there: James Ballantyne, Liberal, Dr. R. Hobbs Taylor, Conservative, and Dr. Alexander Moir, Independent Temperance.

Nomination proceedings were stormy. The Liberal candidate recounted he could take a drink and leave it alone. He was for three years in County Council and three years in the Legislature and no one had ever seen him under the influence of liquor. Mr. Ballantyne was not content to stop there. His control of himself urged him on to state the same thing could not be said of his Conservative opponent. Then Conservative Dr. Taylor shouted his record regarding sobriety was a better one than that of Mr. Ballantyne. We say shouted because the meeting was also shouting its disapproval of a personal attack.

The one and only way the chairman found to restore order was to ask for the singing of the National Anthem. Huron seems to be a logical place to test temperance sentiment. It has Liberal, Conservative and Temperance candidates. We shall see on October 6 just what happens.

Seems To Be Wide Open

An excited speaker at an election meeting was referring to the "closed corporation that ruled Ontario." We don't believe that. If it were so there would not be such a wide-open method of electing members of the Legislature. It is not even necessary to put up a deposit of $200 in order to be a candidate.

How wide-open the contest is can be illustrated by what has taken place in London. The day before nomination it was announced a new and unexpected candidate had entered, Harold Rowbottom. No person in London seems to have known him. He lives in Toronto and works in Toronto. He owns no property in London, and has no vote there. He has not as yet addressed a meeting in that city, but he is going to run as a Socialist-Labor candidate, and according to law and regulations that is regarded as quite all right. If he can get enough people to vote for him he will be elected.

Looking at that situation we came to the conclusion that the speaker who was telling about the "closed corporation" which ruled this province must have been talking through his hat.

Value Of A Used Car

During the hearing of a case in court at London, Ont., it was related that $200 was spent on repairing an old car after a smash, and that in turn brought up the question of the value of used cars. Information was asked to show how much an average car would depreciate in value three years after it had been purchased as a used car. The answer was that a few years after the date of the model ceases to be an important factor the price was set mainly by mechanical condition. And it might also have been added the price is determined as well by what the car dealer thinks he can get out if it in trading purposes.

The manner in which cars depreciate in value is subject to some slight variation according to the desire of the dealer to secure business, but in a general way it follows definite lines. Whether car drivers like the idea or not all people who drive are using used cars. You may have had your machine only a week or a month, but it is a used car. The list followed by dealers shows the manner in which depreciation operates. Take a car which sold for $855 in the spring of 1936. If it were turned in during the fall of the same year it would be worth $610; a 1935 model would be worth $500; the 1934 car $415; the car of 1933, $340, and that of 1932 $250. We were informed that cars of earlier date than mentioned in this list come under the method of bargaining according to mechanical condition. In the more expensive types of car resale is not easy when compared with the cheaper and lighter car.

Insurance companies when placing business on a car allow the car to be insured for 85 per cent. of its value the first year, 65 per cent. the second year and 50 per cent. the third year.

It was also learned it is more profitable for the car driver to turn his car in after driving it two seasons. There are some who turn them in every season, but the man who drives two seasons, we were told, gets more value for his money provided he has kept his car in good condition.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There is one Social Credit candidate in Ontario. At least he can claim he leads a united party.

Only one woman candidate has been nominated in the Ontario election. The fair sex cannot hope to hold the balance of power in the new House.

Six inches of snow has fallen in Alberat. It looks as if we soon will have to renew acquaintances with the coal man.

Four hundred shoe-makers have gone on strike at Port Colborne. They say they are going to stick to the last, in spite of the evidence that they haven't.

New York publishers agree that war is front page news but in some of the hostilities the names are long enough to carry over to Page 2.

The British government will pay a grant to the British ambassador to China who was wounded by Japanese aircraft. Not many air raid victims fare that well.

Lionel Conacher is the first professional hockey player to seek political honors. It being his first attempt, he may find himself farmed out for further seasoning.

Premier Hepburn speaks in Oshawa on the last day of the campaign and that seems appropriate in view of the fact that he got what he calls the chief election issue from the Motor City.

When Mussolini and Hitler met to speak on the same platform the rain came down in torrents. Even dictators, it would seem, are powerless to control the elements.

A moose tried to upset the Liberal candidate in Fort William. That kind of heckling will probably be referred to the Fish and Game department with power to act.

Pictures of some of the political aspirants throughout the province serve to convince the observer that candidates are not chosen on the same basis as moving picture leading men.

Eleven Socialist-Labor candidates, most of them last minute entries, are in the provincial list. No one would be more surprised than one of these surprise candidates if he happened to be elected.

Little lad in Hamilton was taken to the hospital because he had swallowed a safety pin, but he will be all right as the pin was closed. That is worth mentioning to the children—if they desire to swallow safety pins be certain they are closed.

At the poultry show at the Royal Winter Fair we learn a number of associations are holding their annual meets, such as American Rose Comb White Leghorn Association, Booster's Club, Leghorn Club of Canada, and so on. When we first read the thing we looked two or three times thinking it should have been the Rooster's Club.

PAINT

(By A. R. K.)

¶ Alfalfa paints herself a lot, much more than what she really ought, nor is she very deft; she bears down heavy here and there, while other patches seem quite bare, right's brighter than the left.

¶ She paints according to her dress, at times she makes an awful mess, not pretty to be seen; it makes me squirm and lose two hairs, especially when Alfalfa wears, some shade that's kind of green.

¶ When she wears brown it's sombre too, she never seems to match that hue, it has no charm or grace; she lays it on with such a swish, it makes me stop and rightly wish, that she would wash her face.

¶ If newer tints are advertised, Alfalfa gladly then surprised, new color in her eye; she dashes wildly through the door, and scampers off toward the store, and buys a good supply.

¶ She must have quite a stock of stuff, and yet she never has enough, her like I never saw; she paints her cheek bones to the top, nor does she know just where to stop, then plasters up her jaw.

¶ She is so generous with her paint, she never looks demure and quaint, being deft is not her trick; a trowel I think is what she'll use, when she lays on her shades and hues—about six times too thick.

IN A RECENT radio talk Henry B. Collins Jr. said that the ancient Eskimos were more remarkable than the Eskimos of today, in fact the latter inherit their way of living from their prehistoric ancestors. From what various archaeologists have discovered by digging up ancient villages of the north there was a Golden Age in the Arctic, long ago, when the Eskimos were at the very height of their culture. They have never been so ingenious or so energetic and artistic since that period.

In the earlier periods of Eskimo history harpoon heads and knife handles and things of that sort were made of fossil walrus ivory and carved with elaborate designs of circles and graceful, flowing lines. Later on the Eskimos became content with much plainer designs on their harpoons and other possessions.

Mr. Collins says that it is only guess work as to how much time has elapsed during each stage of old Eskimo culture. The latest abandoned villages were occupied within historic times; the oldest may be over 2,000 years old, carrying Eskimo prehistory back to the beginning of the Christian era or a little earlier.

The Eskimos are Mongoloids with Asiatic ancestry, just as the Indians were. But the Eskimos are so specialized in their language and culture and so different physically from the Indians of the north that they are regarded as a distinct, though related group.

The History of Forks.

IT MAY NOT be generally known that the fork is an implement of Italian invention and that upon its introduction to England its use was ridiculed and considered highly effeminate.

In Czarist Russia, the peasants before dining observed the ancient practice of placing their knife and fork on the plate in the form of a cross.

According to one writer the use of forks at that time was held in such disrepute that many preachers denounced it as "an insult to Providence not to touch our meat with our fingers". The theory was that God had provided people with hands and it was arrogant and impious for man to substitute for these artificial fingers of steel.

✧ ✧ ✧

Before the introduction of forks genteel diners used a sharp steel pick about four inches long and one-eighth of an inch thick.

Queen Elizabeth did not approve of forks although she consented to try them in her later years and was severely censured for doing so.

✧ ✧ ✧

Before the revolution in Russia, forks were sold in that country at the rate of one for every four table knives. Today the sales are equal.

Many persons when dining are afraid to raise food to the mouth with the fork in the left hand. They prefer the "zig-zag" method-switching the fork from the left to right. However fastidious diners consider the other practice quite correct.

Height Doesn't Matter.

DESEFITE the impression to the contrary the insurance statistics indicate that persons over six feet tall live as long as their shorter friends and suffer the same diseases in the same proportions.

Where Human Life Has No Value At All

The Far East Has a Philosophy All Its Own; Japan Probably Surprised At Our Disgust

(Ottawa Journal)

THE NEW YORK Times quotes from an article in the magazine "Asia" by Pearl S. Buck (author of the novel "The Good Earth" at present a cinema showing in Ottawa,) perhaps foremost interpreter of the East to the West, what she thinks is the explanation of the peculiar degree of ruthlessness that marks the Sino-Japanese war.

Mrs. Buck points out that the Orient has not had in its civilization a humanitarian development. Individual life is worthless, and consequently there have been no social programs for the control of famine and disease. The Oriental's interest, she says, turns towards art and philosophy, and she finds it a curious fact "that these tend to detach a person from life, so that where the highest development in art and philosophy is found there is found also the greatest callousness towards human beings." Thus, she finds, there is no such thing "as fair play in war or distress," and the lives of noncombatants or prisoners are "of no more value than any other, which is to say they have no value at all."

Only the group matters, and groups can be replaced.

Therefore the Chinese and Japanese, with "nothing in them to balance the inhuman power of the weapons the West has sold them," are practising war "logically and therefore with utter ruthlessness." And this explains, the Times believes, "the astonishment and anger of the Japanese at the reaction of Western opinion to the bombing of Chinese cities and the killing of thousands of noncombatants" because "to the Japanese it is unintelligible that a nation at war should be expected to refrain from use of a weapon in the way in which it can contribute most to victory."

"To have the means of death in one's hands with no fear of death in one's heart," Mrs. Buck concludes, "is the ultimate of terror not only for those engaged in such warfare but for everybody else." If this is a fair picture of the Oriental mentality, and Mrs. Buck should know, it becomes easier to understand the factors that are making of the present combat such a dreadful thing—from our point of view.

An Englishman Visits Sheba's Land

Finds Ruins of Once Great Country There; Thinks Irrigation Then Gave Life to Desert

(From Labor, Washington, D.C.)

ABOUT 1,000 years before the Christian era, the Queen of Sheba, a very glamorous lady, achieved immortality by dropping into Jerusalem for a prolonged visit with King Solomon. The wealth of her country was evidenced by the rich gifts she presented to the son of David.

With the passing of the centuries, Sheba disappeared from the map, and historians have speculated at length concerning its fate.

H. St. John Philby, an English explorer, has attempted to clear up the mystery. With a camel train and automobiles which had a most uncomfortable way of breaking down (the automobiles, not the camels,) he penetrated the deserts of southern Arabia, and found ruins of the cities once ruled by Solomon's fair visitor. The population has dwindled to a few small but truculent Arab tribes.

It is Mr. Philby's theory that Sheba's glory was based on irrigation. Great dams created vast reservoirs and the water was conveyed to the immensely fertile plains by substantially the same methods now followed in the western part of our own country.

But something happened to Sheba's irrigation system. Mr. Philby ventures to guess that in the first century the dams were wiped out by earthquake and volcanic eruptions.

Then to desert crept in, and for 20 centuries the outside world knew Sheba only as a country whose lovely queen once had something of an affair with a great Jewish monarch.

Believes Japan As Nation Has Gone Mad

Calls Upon People to Refuse Her Goods; Each Sale Helps Them to Buy Another Bomb

Letter in Brantford Expositor

SIR: I am sure that all Christian people must read with horror about the terrible slaughter that the Japanese are doing to the poor helpless citizens of China. It is terrible to read and not be able to do anything to help them. What is the use of signing agreements with such people as Italy in the first place? And now Japan? Both countries have broken every covenant and agreement they have made. Now they say there is a "Nine Power Agreement" to guard against and protect any aggressor against the Chinese, and Japan is a party to it, but of what use is it as the other eight powers stand by and see the slaughter of non-combatants taking place and do nothing. One of the largest nations, the United States, even tells its consuls to run away at the demand of the Japanese. What a disgrace to that great country! They tell their ships they must not go there for fear they get hurt, and they must not look to the Stars and Stripe for protection. I suppose, as they do in Ethiopia, they depend on England to take care of their nationals. I am certainly glad I live under the good old Union Jack and now I think every church and every nation could cry shame on these Japanese. They send their missionaries to pray and convert the poor Chinese, now let them do something to try and save their bodies from this mutilation and death. Every person can help by refusing to buy any goods made in Japan. I would ask every living Christian person to refuse, at all times to buy their goods, no matter how cheap they are, as every nickle sent in buying Japanese goods goes towards buying another bomb to drop on these defenseless Chinese. So wake up, you Christians, and see they get none of your money to help them with their slaughter.

SAHARA DESERT.

(Montreal Star)

DID YOU know that the Sahara Desert is nearly as large as the continent of Europe? That its population is about 2,000,000 persons? That greater robber bands inhabit the central portions and are a serious menace to peaceful trade? That the desert is a tableland with a mean elevation of about 1,500 feet high? That France owns three-fifths of the desert, and that the remainder belongs to Spain, Italy and Egypt? That there are deep depressions ranging from 600 to 230 feet below sea level? That there are vast salt tracts in the south and west? That the sand dunes piled by the wind are often 400 feet high? That water is carried into the desert by streams from the Atlas Mountains and the highlands of the central Sahara, that this water sinks through the sand to an impermeable strata of clay and forms vast reservoirs underground which breaks through the surface of depressions as springs? That the soil is very fertile and only needs water to produce rich crops?

To the Editor

OPPOSED

Editor Examiner:

Sir: The low standard of statesmanship shown, and of speeches employed in the present Provincial campaign, cannot help but be a disappointment and discouragement to every serious minded citizen of Ontario. "Where there is no vision the people perish." The Hepburn Administration which has elected to come to the Province for a new mandate two years before it was necessary to do so, is claiming support on its record, and on its many and great promises, for it is very evident that as we have not reached the Promised land, we have certainly reached the land of promises.

To my mind there is one question and problem that transcends all others, and that is the liquor traffic problem, and the lack of control shown in the administration of the act, for it has brought this Province (through the way in which beverage room licenses have been issued, and the lack of a sense of responsibility shown by the governments ... results of the increased drinking) to a deplorable state of drunkenness and debauchery. Our Police Court records, with their long list of charges of, and convictions for drunkenness, are evidence against the policy and course followed by this government, while the long list of killed and injured as the result of automobile accidents caused by drunken drivers condemns this government as the most incompetent and careless that this Province has ever had.

Mr. Hepburn boasts of a Sunshine Budget, of a nine million surplus, but this surplus has been pinched from the stomachs, and torn from the backs of the drunkards' wives and children; have been taken from their homes, is the price of their education and future well-being, has been gained at the cost of the debauchery and ruin of our young people, and whatever Mr. Hepburn may have done in other fields, it can never make up for this.

The responsibility of a Government is to watch over, safeguard, and advance the physical, moral, and spiritual interests of the people over whom it rules, and this government has never shown any evidence of a sense of this responsibility. In my opinion, this province will be much better off and happier if the Hepburn government is not returned to power.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Lead Winnipeg Grain... ... .

Wheat futures moved nervously within a three-cent range on both sides of the previous close on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Switching and evening up of wheat holdings at the start of the October delivery month dominated trading with closing prices 1⅝ to ⅛ cent lower, October $1.30⅝, November $1.30¼, December $1.26½ to ⅝, and May $1.25⅝ to ⅝.

Profit-taking and spreading led to an easy trend in early deals with October wheat dropping two cents and the May future only fractionally.

Local commission houses and outside interests operated on both sides of the market in mixed and moderately active trade. Mills and exporters offered spasmodic support. Sales of Canadian wheat for export were established at 300,000 bushels.

SUITABLE DRAINS TO STOP FLOODING NEAR AUBURN MILLS

Board of Works will start at once to provide residents near the Auburn Mills with a suitable drain to relieve that section of a flood condition that results every Spring, when water off the northern end of Armour Road flows west through gardens and lawns toward the river but lays in ponds because of improper drainage facilities.

Mayor Macdonald reported Thursday night Miss Hurley had offered the city a 40-foot right of way, from the west end of Moir street to the river, thus giving the city an easement for their proposed drain. City Engineer Parson has a thorough investigation of the drainage problem in that area and when the work promised last spring is completed, no further distress should be caused the residents.

Numerous inquiries and complaints over the condition of the canal road running from the Norwood Road south to Maria street, has reached the City Council, but Mayor Macdonald told members last night nothing could be done until the Federal Government gave approval and a grant of money so the city Board of Works could undertake repairing of this stretch. He explained to members the road was so bad he had told J. J. Duffus, M.P., that the city was considering tacking up a sign, disclaiming ownership of the section and stating it was a government road.

At present this link is carrying heavy traffic over the detour from Number 7 up to the Norwood Road, and pot holes in it are so deep that many shock absorbers have been smashed on cars during the past week.

RURAL PLAY DELIGHTS AUDIENCE ST. JAMES' SUNDAY SCHOOL HALL

Cheerful Workers' Bible Class Presents Valley Farm To Crowded Auditorium

With the opening of the Fall season, amateur dramatics, as usual, play an important part in the program of church activities.

The initial offering in St. James' United Sunday School Hall, was given last night, under the auspices of the Cheerful Workers Bible Class, who enjoy a first reputation for their previous presentations. Last night's performance of "Valley Farm," a rural drama in four acts, was no exception to their splendid record.

E. R. Frost, the superintendent of St. James' Sunday School, welcomed the large audience and announced the various acts in the play.

With an especially well-chosen cast, the clever amateur players held the attention of every one, from first to last.

Rural Scenes

Rural features held a large place in the setting with the scenes shown in the Rutledge city mansion a direct contrast. Excellent stage properties were used throughout under the direction of Mrs. William Atkinson, class president. The beautiful furnishings used through the urban scenes were provided through the courtesy of A. Comstock and Sons.

The plot centered around the romance of a wealthy young New York son, Harold Rutledge, and a pretty young country girl, Hetty Holcombe. Ernest Davis and Dorothy Drysdale took these stellar roles with easy and fine acting.

The characterization throughout seemed to be a study in contrasts. As a rival to the heroine Isabel Carney the lovely but scheming blonde, made an interesting and attractive side to the triangle as played by Dorothy Williams.

Perry Deane, a sturdy, fine-looking young farmer, was a pleasing foil to the hero. Eric Douglas did some fine acting in this part. These four central characters are assisted by an excellent cast, some of whom provide a real touch of comedy.

Another pair of contrasting characters are seen in Dan Hildreth, a New York lawyer, suit of the charming Isabel, and Gus Holcomb owner of Valley Farm, al also Hetty's father. These tw opposites were depicted by Henry Turner and M. H. Drysdale in the usual fine manner.

Again, the dignified Mr. Rutledge played to perfection by Mrs. Drysdale, took the part of the interfering mother, who played again Alvira Holcomb, the typical oldmaid, who furnished much of the highlights in comedy. This part was admirably done by Mrs. Henry Tiner.

J. Lawson played a dil role, appearing first as Azariel Keep, Alvira's suitor, and also a Jennings, the Rutledge butler. Brook these two extreme characters ith excellent effect. Further humrous situations were introduced i the roles of Lizy Ann Tucker—w borrows but never gossips—and Vbena, the hired girl at the farm. hese difficul parts were made qu realistic by the clever handling Mrs. B. Kennedy and Norma Mc

Lovely Costume

The lovely costuming aled much to the beauty of the scenesthroughout and "Valley Farm's quite worthy of a repeat perfoance tonight.

As director of the play Mr. Henry Turner is to be congratulated upon its success at its first appearance, at which the cast was assisted by W. A. Wood and Roy Moynes athe curtain.

A delightful variation w the between-act program, when an and Elva Gray played and sanin duet, their sweet Hawaiian seleons.

Mrs. W. Swanger was theapable treasurer for the evening, tle several young girls sponsored sale of home-made candy.

Braid and Ribbon Trimming Frocks Revives Fashion of Last Century

(By Cobiral Press)

BRAID AND RIBBON trimming for dresses, sunk into the limbo of almost forgotten things since the gay nineties at least, has been revived. Nothing in the fashion world ever permanently sinks absolutely into oblivion. It is resurrected in some form or other in succeeding generations, just as this form of decoration is being used this season.

Heim, Paris dressmaker, uses velvet ribbon in an interesting design on the bodice of this royal blue net afternoon dress which he created for a young woman. The embroidery-like pattern traced by the ribbon is carried down below the normal waist, accenting or suggesting a lower waistline, although the normal line is marked by a velvet belt.

The broad collar, bracelet length sleeves and the scroll-like ribbon trimming are all favorite style points sponsored by many famous dress designers.

A suggestion for a stunning afternoon dress is to use a gold colored woollen with wide black inserted at the high waist.

The slim black dress with gold or steel embroideries is one of the smartest of the offerings of Paris for formal afternoon wear this season. Or it may be striped with mohair braid. Remembering the elaborate designs done in braid in the past—way back in the eighties, or thereabouts (consult your Godey's Ladies' book), you will see how many old styles are being revived—and this season more periods are being represented than in any in the memory of the "oldest inhabitant."

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

If we desire to judge all things justly, we must first persuade ourselves that none of us is without sin. The upright judge condemns the crime but does not hate the criminal.—Seneca.

Dear Friends:

A sentence from a recent story haunts me, "The man was great, none of his sins were small." How many of us indulge in petty little treacherous sins, thinking they do not matter, and yet they give the key to our whole nature.

You hear people like that, who have a grievance against some friend, belittle them behind their backs, disparage them in different ways, when they do not have the courage to come right out and accuse them. They do not want the name of a fighter, they do not want an argument for fear they might lose, so they use these little disgusting sins to get even.

Friend does it to friend, brother to brother, worker to worker, and show their measure in the doing of it. I have a sort of admiration for a person who does things openly, facing the world, and saying in a manner of speaking, "What's it to you?"

But Oh, how I hate those sneaky, sneaky little sins that are done against me. I don't hate the ones who do them, but am truly sorry for them. The fact they have let themselves get like that.

We cannot all do big things either good or bad, but we can all be big enough not to do little nasty ones. We may be small in stature, our place in the world be small, the work we do be the little things which someone must do, but we can be big inside, big enough not to stoop to pettiness.

A mosquito, or a fly or bee are small compared with humans, but how much annoyance and havoc they can cause. So also do small petty sins against ourselves or against one another cause much trouble.

"The man was great, none of his sins were small." He was too big to lower himself with little sins, and it would be well for many of us if we could lose some of our littleness. Some see the world and their relation to it in a large way, everything they do is on a large scale, even when they are wrong.

Somehow or other we seem to have more sympathy, more understanding with that type. There is something big about them which appeals to us and calls for admiration.

Which recalls to my mind a lady whom everyone said was SO sweet, until they began to notice that whenever she joined a club, or was the member of a party, there was generally a lot of quarrelling later on, because this "sweet" person dropped little bits of poison wherever she went.

It took this form: "Oh, Mrs. ——, I am so glad to meet you. Is that your new dress (or hat, or chair, or some other thing). Why, it is far nicer than Mrs. So-and-So said it was. I can't see why she wouldn't like it." Her idea of looking big to others was to disparage one to another, and in so doing she lost what she set out to gain.

Little things are important to happiness, like courtesy and kindness and friendliness, and the ones who practice them are great inside. And you can be very small according to the way you judge others. God's way is to condemn the sin, but help the sinner, and we would do well to follow suit.

Never forget either, that sometimes the thing you condemn most is evident in yourself. So forgive the sinner though you condemn the sin, and in the doing you will show your greatness. Don't forget what Arthur Haycox says: "The man was great. None of his sins were small."

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Preserving Time

Preserved Citron.

Properly prepared this is one of the nicest of all preserves.

Peel citrons, remove seeds, cut in small even slices, weigh, cover with cold water, and let stand over-night. Drain, cover with fresh water, bring to boiling point, drain again, cover with fresh boiling water and simmer until clear and tender. For each pound of citron allow one pound of sugar and one ounce preserved ginger cut in small pieces. Add to citron, stir until sugar is dissolved, and boil 20 minutes.

An old cookery book of the last century gives most elaborate directions for this delicious preserve. Those who can obtain leaves of the citron vine not yet spoiled with frost might follow one of its directions, which is to line the preserving kettle with the leaves during the first boiling. This imparts a pleasing pale green color to the fruit. Whatever you do, however, avoid using any of the great outer rind for the same season, as it gives a most bitter flavor. Cooked as in the recipe above, and with the color obtained from the vine leaves added, the citron is tender, delicious in flavor and pleasing in appearance.

Decided Improvement In Shoe Business In Past Few Years

Agnew-Surpass Chain Director States Quebec Plant Working At Full Capacity

Here for a short time on Wednesday in connection with the pending removal of the Agnew-Surpass Shoe store branch to a new location on George street, A. C. McLean, the company's sales manager declared prospects in the shoe manufacturing industry were brighter at the present time than at any period in the last eight years.

He stated the firm's Quebec plant was turning out 2,300 pairs of shoes daily and employing approximately one hundred hands which was a record that had not been excelled since the firm was founded by the late Mr. Agnew half a century ago.

Mr. McLean noted not only an improvement in the shoe manufacturing trade, but in business generally. He was glad to note that Peterborough appeared to be sharing fully in the trade revival and said he noted a decided improvement since he was here last.

After eight years in business on the east side of George street, the local branch (one of a chain of 80 all-Canadian stores operating in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes), is being moved across the road to the premises recently vacated by I. Hamlick.

In anticipation of the opening of the new store on Saturday workmen are at present pushing the work of alteration and decoration to completion. The general contract is held by Charles H. Huffman, with sub-contracts as follows: Pilkington Brothers (of Canada) Limited, vitrolite and plate glass; Italian Mosaic and Marble Company, terrazo work; Miller-Powell, electrical fixtures; Coleman Brothers, interior decorating; A. W. Guppy, painting; Richard Hall Ltd, linoleum.

F. Leslie, eastern Ontario supervisor will officiate at Saturday's opening, and the store will remain under the management of W. J. Moorhead who has been in charge of the company's local branch for the past three years, it was announced.

When completed, Mr. McLean claimed, the store would be one of the smartest of stores in the city's business section. The fitting rooms, he said, are to be equipped with new chairs type seats upholstered in leather, while the floors are to be carpeted smartly with carpets to match with the company's colors which are a combination of green and red.

Commenting on the Neon sign which has already been erected outside the firm's new store, Mr. McLean agreed such signs are a great help in brightening-up and adding to the attractiveness of any business section. He expressed the opinion that Peterborough was behind other centres in this regard and declared that throughout Western Ontario the difficulty merchants had was to find room for their illuminated signs in spaces where they could be seen, so popular had they become in the past few years.

Very Rare Disease Is Fatal Infant Boy

TORONTO, October 1—(C.P.).—Lloyd Henry Schlotzhauer died in hospital here yesterday from what Dr. Smirle Lawson, chief coroner, described as lucaemia, a "very rare" disease. The boy was nine months old. Dr. Lawson said the only previous case he came in contact with was a New Brunswick nurse who died in St. Michael's Hospital here.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clifford, Wellington County.

KITCHENER FIRM REFUSES RAISE

KITCHENER, Ont., Oct. 1 (CP).—Settlement of the strike of 600 employees of the Kaufman Rubber Company appeared more remote than ever today when the company served notice on the United Rubber Workers of America, affiliated with the committee for industrial organization, that it will not increase wages.

That part of the reply affecting wages reads as follows: "We will not increase wages. Minor adjustments will be considered after the strike is over, but not before."

Strike leaders had no statement to make pending a general meeting of strikers.

The company said that if the employees return to work on the company's terms, the company will not deal with the union executive until the union has deposited $500 in a trust company or bank subject to an agreement to forfeit that amount to the company in the event of a future strike occurring between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m.

"Such a forfeit will be partial compensation to the company, and may also be the means of inducing more real consideration of a proposed strike than we believe was exercised recently," the reply said.

"We also suggest," the company added, "that in future the union executive consist exclusively of married men over 35 years of age, plus at least one woman over 35 years."

The company said it would not discuss its policy of dismissals "with anyone."

DRUNK DRIVER SENTENCED

CHATHAM, October 1—(CP).—William J. Gillman, 37, Chatham, pleaded guilty in court to-day to a charge of being intoxicated while in control of a car. He was sentenced to one week in jail and pay court costs amounting to $20.30.

Gillman was arrested last night after his car left Highway eight miles west of the city and crashed into a culvert.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police Tired Of Slogan "Always Gets Its Man"

Washington, Oct. 1.

THE Royal Canadian Mounted Police force is tired of the slogan that it "always gets its man."

"We're still looking for the fellow who started it," Colonel S. T. Wood, deputy commissioner of the Mounties, chuckled today. "All we know about him is that he probably was an American."

The slogan, Wood thinks, is pretty silly, especially because it "eclipses completely" the force's real motto to "uphold the right."

Col. Wood, attending a convention of the International Association for Identification said transfer to the Mounties by local police power of six Canadian provinces had worked out "very well."

"I don't see any reason why transfer of state police work to some federal agency here wouldn't work out just as well," he declared, agreement between the U. S. Coast Guard service and the Mounted police for mutual jurisdiction in adjacent water also has produced satisfactory results.

Americans don't have a very clear idea of how the Mounties work, the Colonel added. Actually, only 200 of the 3,000 officers are mounted. The police have a large air force and the marine division has 10 vessels which constantly patrol Canada's coasts.

"Oddly enough," Col. Wood said "outlying posts in the frozen north still appeal to the rank and file of Mounties.

"There are 20 applications for every vacancy, not counting 200 applications received annually from small boys in the United States."

LEAGUE READY FOR MUSSOLINI

GENEVA, October 1 (AP). — A League of Nations sub-committee was understood to-day to have reached a decision to present Italy with the alternative of withdrawing his Italian volunteers from the Spanish Civil War or seeing the French frontier thrown open to arms and men for the Valencia Government.

A delegate who left the session of the committee drafting a resolution on the Spanish civil conflict said this agreement was reached after a heated three-hour argument. He reported the draft resolution does not refer to the "foreign aggression" which Spain had charged against Italy, but rather to "foreign intervention."

The resolution was said to declare if the withdrawal of foreign combatants is not made effective within one month's time the signatories of the non-intervention agreement are "invited to envisage" a return to a policy based on international law.

This was interpreted by committee members to mean complete abandonment of the non-intervention policy, enabling the Spanish Government to obtain war materials wherever it wished.

The French were reported to have given the Spanish delegation assurances that the frontier would be opened in the event volunteers were not withdrawn.

The resolution must be submitted to the League Assembly for adoption before it becomes effective. This step will probably be taken on Saturday.

EISTEDDFOD AT CARDIFF

After 39 years Cardiff, the capital, will have the Royal National Eisteddfod of Wales next August.

Too Cold For Baths At The North Pole

MOSCOW, Oct. 1—(AP).—Monotonous routine of work and relaxation for four unwashed (it's too cold for baths) members of the Soviet Polar party, camping on a drifting ice floe, was described to-day by their radio operator, Ernest Krenkel.

Falling temperatures were adding to inconveniences of their existence. Caviar, cheese and butter froze so hard they had difficulty eating them and ice encased the tiny hut in which they lived.

At breakfast, Krenkel related, they soaked their toast in water so the crunching as they chewed would not awaken the party leader, Ivan D. Papanin, sleeping at that hour.

Krenkel told of conversations at tea-time turning to Spain, China, and Moscow.

FRANCE TAKES UP BOYCOTT ON JAPS

PARIS, Oct. 1.—(CP-Havas).—The campaign for an anti-Japanese boycott underway in the British Isles spread to France to-day.

Angered by repeated Japanese bombardments of civilian centres in China, the French group of the Universal Committee for Peace issued an appeal to all its branches in the country to support moves for a boycott of Japanese goods. It also urged that French business concerns refuse to sell merchandise to the Japanese.

The group will send a delegation to the French Foreign Ministry to request government support for the campaign.

165-YEAR CAREER OF MORNING POST ENDS IN LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 1 (CP Cable). — Fleet Street was in reflective mood today and probably more newspaper men read the Morning Post than for many days past.

Amalgamation of the Morning Post and the Daily Telegraph was announced yesterday. Effective Oct. 1 the combined paper will be published under the name of Daily Telegraph and Morning Post.

The death of any newspaper arouses the most real emotions and the death of the oldest London daily, which since 1772 has independently championed Conservatism and good taste, came as an expected but regretted occasion.

Coleride, Lamb, Soulhey, Wordsworth, Disraeli, George Meredith—these were of the Morning Post cast. But the frock-coated, top-hatted journalism of the 19th century held small strength in the trying days of 1931 when the depression almost collapsed the journal and here from the journal barely survived.

Its circulation recently was reported to be 130,000 which manifestly was insufficient to cope with the mass volume and massive outlays of the popular press of Great Britain today.

But to the last the Morning Post did not relent in dignified defence of its principles. Recently, amid public sentiment leaning to the left, it was harder to maintain the extreme rightist view than to lead the flag up new paths. Yet it was those papers championing the new isms which were lauded as the most courageous.

The Daily Telegraph in an editorial this morning—the Telegraph is purchasing and embracing the Post—caught a picturesque description of the Post. "Its disdain of compromise was magnificent," the editorial said, to which view virtually every British paper today subscribes.

The Times thinks of the Post and of freedom from interference, the right to free comment within the limits of the law of libel, and development of literary style.

It is recalled that Lord Salisbury remarked in parliament when the Morning Post reduced its price from the threepence to a penny: "Can it be maintained that a person of any education can learn anything worth knowing from a penny paper?"—which excessively aristocratic question rings humorously down to this age.

"It Never Feared."

The Daily Express, which paper, with its nearly 3,000,000 circulation, best symbolizes modern journalism, acknowledges the Post's "language was clear and forthright, with the strength of a beautiful blade; its spirit proud and independent...it never feared."

The News-Chronicle deplored the disappearance of a great independent journal although it rarely agreed with its opinions. "But," it added, "the very existence side by side in free England of two such widely different organs was a measure of freedom's value."

The Yorkshire Post, speaking perhaps as for a number of high-class Provincial papers, the make-up and principles of which have not been greatly altered in the passing years, remarks that "the passing of a great organ of public opinion is a matter of national concern, typifying a trend which, unless corrected, must involve a serious subtraction from any complete and coherent conception, by the public of current affairs."

"Why hasn't the Post survived?" asks the Leeds paper. "The answer is simple though not entirely flattering to British esteem. It is to be merged with a contemporary, not because it did not interpret the ideas and feelings of a large and influential section of the community, but because their numbers were insufficiently great to command for the paper an advertisement revenue commensurate with the cost of its production."

Store Manager

W. J. MOORHEAD

Manager of the local branch of Agnew-Surpass needs no introduction to residents of this city, having been connected with the George street store for the past 3 years and previous to that as manager at Sault Ste. Marie, Windsor and Galt branches. Bill has a wide circle of friends in Peterborough and will be particularly glad to welcome them in this fine new store. The same courteous staff are still associated with Mr. Moorhead.

Moves To City

FRED LESLIE

Eastern Ontario supervisor of Agnew-Surpass Shoe Stores Limited has just recently taken up residence in this city although his duties must of necessity take him away from home a considerable amount of time, he will be actively connected with the local store in an advisory capacity. Mr. Leslie has been connected with the firm for a great number of years, more recently as supervisor of the company's branches in the Niagara peninsula. Fred is an active member of the Lions' club and should prove a welcome addition to Peterborough's social and business life.

PARTY ISSUES PRESENT FIGHT OF NO CONCERN

employee class has resulted in low wages since the bargaining power of millions of dollars is greater than the bargaining power of penniless individual workers, the speaker continued. He said it is a natural situation but nonetheless one which can be combatted by the masses at the polls.

Cigarette Prices.

Demonstrating his claim that the worker and the farmer come out on the "small end of the horn," he illustrated with an analysis of the cost of cigarettes. Out of the price of a 25-cent package of cigarettes, 11 cents goes to the government, 7 cents to the manufacturer, 3 cents to the retailer, 2 cents to the distributor and 1 cent to the tobacco grower, he said.

"For what goes into a can of tomatoes the grower receives 1½ cents and 1 1-8 cents goes to labor. The can itself is worth 3 cents, so when you open a can of tomatoes and throw away the tin, you throw away more than you keep."

Co-operatives.

"How are we going to get out of this situation?" demanded Mr. Woodsworth. "We of the C.C.F. believe one step to be taken is to extend the co-operative movement." In New Zealand the government pays a standard price for all dairy produce the year round, and exports it successfully without the benefit of the middleman, he said.

"We believe in the common wealth. We believe legislation can be put on the books, not solely in the interests of a few but in the interests of the masses. We believe the needs of the people should come before so-called property rights and special interests."

He said that the C.C.F. would tax heavily such interests as those which own and control the rich gold mines in the north. "Why shouldn't we tax them? We own the land which they are mining."

Serious Matters.

"What I am pleading is that we build up a large organization financed in a manner that we shall be under obligation to no one and continue our battle unyieldingly until the great body of voters realize that they must elect their own true representatives to gain improved conditions." The issues which concern the labor man and the farm man are not the petty trivialities over which Mr. Rowe and Mr. Hepburn are quarrelling but the serious matters of the security of their pay envelopes, unemployment, security from the hazards of health, the cost of their daily bread and protection from the powerful money monopolies ready to exploit the masses, he declared.

"I hope that your candidate is elected, but if he is not elected you may know that you have registered effective protest against conditions. It is not their own supporters the party in power worries about so much as its critics. And let me tell you that you must not consider your vote wasted because the candidate for whom you voted does not win. You are voting for a principal when you vote C.C.F."

Professor Gordon

Professor Gordon said Peterborough is a district noted in C.C.F. circles for its calibre of organization. He praised Mr. Woodsworth as a distinguished Canadian, a social pioneer.

Unemployment stands as one of the major burdens of our country, yet no mention of unemployment is contained in the platforms of either of the major parties, he said. He claimed the major agricultural problems are likewise ignored.

"Scarcely anything is being done to meet the desperate needs of our citizens living in need of improved housing conditions. Yet neither the government nor the Conservative Party has chosen to make this an issue in the election." He said the major parties ignore such "bread and butter" issues because they are too closely tied up with the big interests concerned in such matters.

Practical Ideas.

"As you study the C.C.F. program you will find it a program based upon ideas that have been found to work in other countries," he continued. "It concerns matters of everyday interest to you—the size of your weekly pay cheques, the conditions of the homes you live in. There is nothing wild-eyed or impractical about the program."

He said the major parties have tried unsuccessfully to ignore the fact that during the past year it has become evident that "labor is on the march."

"That is something which Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Rowe would like to ignore but can't. The C.C.F. welcomes it, for whether improved social conditions have been obtained in the world it has been the result of labor awakening."

He lauded the C.I.O. movement as the logical development of the trade union movement, hailed in progress as need for a new point of departure. He commended also the A. F. of L. as a union system which has taken on new life in the current march of labor.

Thrilling Spectacle.

"It is a thrilling thing to see the workers of Canada come into a realization of the way they have been exploited and realization has begun to stop."

He referred to the recent proposal that monuments of Hepburn and Tom Girdler of Republican Steel be set up side by side on the Ontario border.

"I would approve that. In fact, I would subscribe to it. Standing side by side, the monuments would serve to show just how closely Hepburn is tied to the great monopolistic interests which wish to grind labor under the heel."

"Labor is coming to realize there is a party in this country which is composed of laboring men," the speaker said. He urged that the time has come for labor to send men of labor, not of some other class, to the Legislature to govern them. He declared Peterborough voters are fortunate in having for a candidate a true labor man.

Labor.

"Labor in this city should organize solidly behind Bill Johnson," Prof. Gordon declared. "There should not be one man or woman working in Peterborough's stores or Peterborough's factories not to see in Bill Johnson his personal representative in the Legislature."

Dr. Cotton-Thomas called attention to the absence of Mike English from the platform. "The gallant young leader of Peterborough's strike this summer is our secretary. He would be here tonight if he were not engaged on a night shift. We are proud of him."

She explained the C.C.F. stand that moral issues such as the temperance question have no place in politics, that they should be decided by referendum. "That is why we do not discuss temperance on our platform. We regard it as a moral issue."

Stating he did not wish to take the time of the audience in view of the presence of the two distinguished C.C.F. leaders, Mr. Johnson greeted the gathering briefly. He said he believed the party had made great gains here since the last election, and pointed to the size of the audience before him as proof. Asking for support of workers and farmers, he urged that hard work will be necessary if a victory is to be won next Wednesday.

SLUMP IN STOCKS LAID TO C.I.O. CASE BY TORY CHIEFTAIN

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Oct. 1. — (C. P.)—Hon. Earl Rowe, Ontario Conservative leader, here last night charged "graft and corruption" in the administration of the Ontario Liquor Control Act. He read an affidavit purporting to be from an Ontario hotelkeeper in which the letter said a liquor inspector forced him to write a $50 check to help a Liberal candidate.

Mr. Rowe said Premier Hepburn had disregarded previous allegations of a "Toll gate" in liquor act administration.

"He has gone around this province with his tongue in his cheek hoping the people of Ontario will permit him to ignore one of the most disgraceful episodes in the record of any government."

A Conservative administration would bring an investigation "of our whole timber industry with a view to conserving our own resources for our own people," said Mr. Rowe. Recent contracts had given thousands of acres of timber to United States interests.

In an address at Picton, Mr. Rowe said millionaire friends of the government had knocked down the stock market "by raising the C.I.O. issue which never should have been an issue."

Goes After Slaght.

Mr. Rowe commented on a speech by Arthur Slaght, K.C., M.P. for Parry Sound, in which he said a Conservative victory would cause a one-third drop in the value of Ontario mining stocks as there would be an influx of Communist organizers to the mines.

"Mr. Slaght and his friends already have knocked down the stock market by playing with the C.I.O. (Committee for Industrial Organization) issue which should never have been an issue," he said. Mr. Slaght, Ben Smith, New York stock market operator, C. George McCullagh, publisher of the Globe and Mail, and Premier Hepburn had "fanned the flame of labor difference."

Ten days after the Ontario government accepted a Conservative bill repealing an amendment to the assessment act pertaining to the division of corporation taxes between Public and Separate Schools, the C.I.O. was first heard of as an election issue, said Mr. Rowe.

The government did not want to talk about the school tax issue, liquor or hydro "So when the Oshawa strike was on they seized their opportunity."

Mr. Rowe said Mr. Slaight had collected $40,000 legal fees from the Ontario government since the last election and was still on the payroll for a $4,000 annual retainer.

"Why wouldn't Mr. Slaght go out and save his $40,000 or $50,000 legal fees?" he asked. "He must be a nickel politician or a dollar lawyer when he comes out in the last of the campaign ready to excite panic and business.

Weighty steers closed at $5 to $7.50 cwt. with common to medium butchers from $3.50 to $6.50. Good butcher steers and heifers closed around $6 to $6.50 Butcher cows also closed lower with few above $4 cwt.

Canners Steady.

Canners and cutters held steady at $2.25 to $2.75. Good butcher bulls sold slowly at $3.75 to $4.25, with bolognas from $3 to $3.60. Fed calves were steady to firm for the week at $8 to $11.50, with two at $12.

Store cattle prices were cut about 50 cents cwt. towards the close, but there were still a great number unsold. Picked feeders sold up to $6.50 on Monday, with no sales above $5.50 at the close. Ordinary stockers ranged from $3.25 to $4.50. Milkers and springers were lower and slow at $60 to $95 for tops.

The calf run included 1,100 Westerns. Threat of a kosher boycott against high veal prices in New York City cut down exporting and lower local prices resulted. Closing prices on vealers were down $1.50 for the week at $8 to $9.50 for choice with common downward to $4.50. Heavy Western calves held about steady at $4 to $6.50, and grassers were unchanged at $3.25 to $4.25.

Hog prices closed at $10 off truck for bacons, down 50 to 65 cents for the week. The run was plentiful, but outside buying power was weak. Sows closed at $6 to $7 cwt. There were no Western feeders offered at Toronto this week.

Lambs Down 50 Cents.

Lambs dropped 50 cents cwt. during the week, closing at $8.25 for good ewes and wethers, and at $6.25 to $7.25 for culls and bucks. No Western lambs came on the Toronto market, but a car or two of Western breeding ewes was still unsold on Thursday.

HEPBURN PLEDGES CONTINUED FIGHT AGAINST SEAWAY

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Oct. 1 (CP) —If returned to power at the Ontario elections Wednesday, Premier Mitchell Hepburn will continue his fight against the St. Lawrence deep waterways project. He told a meeting here last night he would not alter his stand although he knew the Canadian and United States government were ready to launch the project.

Mr. Hepburn said Ontario did not need the power which would be developed through the dams incidental to the St. Lawrence development. Neither was an additional avenue of transportation needed when Canadian railways were just getting on their feet.

The waterway plan constituted one of the clear-cut issues in the present campaign, he continued. Conservative Leader Earl Rowe favored the plan, said the premier.

"I know the federal government and the government of the United States are prepared to go ahead," he said. "But we (Ontario Liberal Government) are the stumbling block. We are going to continue to be the stumbling block.

"Move Not Justified"

"I am going to stand in violent opposition to the St. Lawrence development because I do not believe it can be justified on economic grounds."

Renewed opposition to any invasion of Ontario by John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization was voiced by the premier. While he could not keep C.I.O. agents out of the province, he said he was prepared to make them behave if they came in.

Mr. Hepburn levelled a new charge against the "Lewis crowd" when he accused them of stopping Canadians from commuting from Windsor to Detroit for work. The Ontario government was forced to spend $3,500,000 on unemployment relief in Windsor district because of the ban, he said, which was sought by Lewis followers from the United States government.

"It was these same Lewis men who stopped the Canadian workers from commuting from Windsor to work in Detroit," he declared. "That's how much they had the interests of Canadian workers at heart."

Denies Power Shortage

In denying Conservative Leader Earl Rowe's charge that Ontario faced a power shortage, the premier said between 300,000 and 400,000 additional horsepower could be obtained from Ontario waters within three years. The Hydro-Electric Power Commission had 120,000 horsepower under option from the Gatineau Power Company but it was not needed.

Potential power resources mentioned by the premier were: 140,000 horsepower from the Madawaska river sites, owned by the Hydro; 35,000 horsepower from the diversion of Long Lac into Lake Superior; 35,000 more at Niagara by reason of the additional water brought down by the Long Lac diversion; 140,000 horsepower from the diversion of the Ogoki river into Lake Nipigon and the consequent additional flow of water over Niagara Falls.

The premier spoke at Picton in the afternoon a few doors from where Conservative Leader Earl Rowe was conducting a meeting at the same time. Mr. Hepburn today returns to his own constituency of Elgin where he addresses a St. Thomas meeting tonight.

DUE TO HEPBURN TAX BILLS LESS ELLIOTT SAYS

Substantial reductions in this year's taxes on two Otonabee farms, illustrating the direct aid to property owners effected by the Hepburn government, were cited at the Liberal meeting in Lakefield Thursday night by Alex L. Elliott and Lieut.-Colonel John A. Dewart, M.C.

"The 1937 tax bills have been distributed during the last week or ten days," Col. Dewart said. "Otonabee was one of the first townships to get their bills, and some of my friends have expressed themselves as highly pleased with the reduction shown on their tax bills.

"A farmer who owns 100 acres near Keene assessed at $4,200 in 1936 paid $169.19 last year. He showed me his tax bill for 1937 and it amounted to $96.76, a decrease of $39.43, or 28 per cent. Going back to 1931 his taxes that year were $166.90, and he told me he would have to go back to 1919 to find a lower amount of taxes than he will have to pay for the present year."

Mr. Elliott's example referred to a farm on which the taxes in 1936 were $304.60, as compared with $140.95 for this year, a reduction of $64.65.

"Some of that reduction is due to a decline in assessment, but an examination of the tax bill shows the actual saving to the owner of that property as a result of the government's policies amounted to $39," Mr. Elliott said.

Reeve C. S. Tanner was chairman of the meeting, and the speakers were Dr. Donald Munroe of Warsaw, Lieut.-Col. Dewart, Mr. Elliott and Mayor Verne Buchanan of Ingersoll.

Confidence In Elliott

"This is the first time I have appeared on a platform in this campaign," Col. Dewart said. "I could not overlook the opportunity of coming to Lakefield to ask my friends here to support Alex Elliott. I have known him for a long period of years. He is not a candidate by any act of his for it was only at the solicitation of many citizens from all parts of the riding that he consented to have his name go before the Liberal convention.

"Mr. Elliott was born in this county of old and respected family, and has rooted firmly in the soil of Peterborough. He came originally from a farm, and his interest lies deeply in the rural district today. He is at the gateway of the great country which Mr. Elliott knows well, and in the promotion of which to the tourist traffic you have a good friend in Mr. Elliott. I tell you that if you vote for him, as I know you will, and elect him, you will never have any cause for regret that action."

Mr. Dewart said he was actuated by a record of the Hepburn government and the excellence of the Liberal candidate. Legislation was shown by Premier Hepburn resulted in lower taxes on property, especially of those who were able to pay taxes, and translated to those who were best able to pay them. Mr. Hepburn's wise handling of the power situation had reduced the price of power so that more people could afford to install this service on their farms.

Price Of High Taxes

"Every thoughtful citizen knows that taxes on property are an unfair tax to the country. For example, the election of the Hepburn government, property had been a burden. In fact if a man received the title deed to a property he would have hesitated to accept because of the high rate of taxation.

"Under such a system of individual ownership of property becomes all the more important in these times when there is much radicalism among the people. Assist men in acquiring property in the country by owning land. If you have a great building project that sort of thing. A government can encourage people to build by economies that will help them. That is what Mr. Hepburn has endeavored to do, and what he has accomplished in a large measure. On the other hand when government increases direct taxation to the point that it becomes unbearable on land, I don't think it is discharging the elementary duties of government."

Extension of hydro power lines to Keene, Warsaw, Douro and other parts of the district was ample evidence, Col. Dewart said, that the cost of power had been reduced by Premier Hepburn's repudiation of the inequitable contracts with Quebec power companies that had been made by the previous administration of Ontario. The safeguarding of the rights of the ordinary individual was a duty of government which had been well performed by Premier Hepburn, and deserved a renewal of the people's confidence on October 6.

Quebec Power Deals

Mayor Buchanan declared that "behind closed doors" Howard Ferguson and George Henry had committed the people of Ontario to the purchase of 733,000 horse power from "power barons of Quebec at $15 per horse power amounting yearly to $11,000,000 for forty years. Subsequent to those agreements the contingency reserve fund of the Hydro-Electric Commission had dropped from $14,000,000 to $3,000,000. "If those contracts had been continued for another five years Hydro would have been ruined unless the rates charged to the consumers of power in this province were increased two or three times what they are today."

Mayor Buchanan said he had been a vice-president of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association several times, and had closely studied hydro affairs for twenty-five years.

"Never in the history of any province in Canada has there been the equal of the betrayal by public men entrusted with control of a great public utility as what Howard Ferguson, Alf Maguire, Henry, Macaulay, did with Hydro," Mayor Buchanan stated. He spoke of the Abitibi Power Development bonds declining to $19 when the company was bankrupt. The Conservative government had guaranteed these bonds at $90. Hon. George S. Henry had $25,000 of the bonds, and companies in which Hon. Arthur Meighen was interested had also invested in them. If the company had gone into receivership the bonds could have been purchased at half the $90 quotation. Guaranteeing the bonds had involved the province to the extent of $18,000,000, but Mr. Henry's $25,000 did not shrink and the companies in which Mr. Meighen was interested did not suffer.

Mayor Buchanan said that Sir Adam Beck had tried to keep Hydro free from politics, and had succeeded for twenty-five years.

"Hydro was practically free of politics until Howard Ferguson appointed Alf Maguire to the Hydro-Electric Commission. Maguire was just a puppet to do what Ferguson bid."

Two "jokers" in the agreements permitted the power companies to pass on to the Ontario consumers of power any increase in Quebec taxes, and also to cancel the agreements with only one year's notice to Ontario.

Hepburn's Purchase

The new power deals made by Hepburn bought 416,000 horse power at greatly reduced terms, Mayor Buchanan said, $12.50 being paid for the quantity of power Ontario was using, $10 per h.p. for 33,000 h.p. to be called on as an emergency and the rest of the 416,000 h.p. at $1.75 per h.p. The new contracts saved $7,000,000 a year for the people of Ontario.

Mayor Buchanan said there was a present surplus of 334,000 horse power, a statement that was questioned by a man in the audience who said the Hydro report showed less power production at Niagara than Mr. Buchanan quoted.

The result of the cancellation of the former power contracts had meant a reduction from $20 to $24.50 per horse power bought from the Hydro by the town of Ingersoll, Mr. Buchanan said, and similar decreases were reported by municipalities all over the province.

16 COURT MARSHALLED

MOSCOW, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Sixteen persons convicted of damaging a chemical factory and of spying for the German secret police were shot to-day at Leningrad.

The court found they were "acting under orders of the Gestapo," plotted against the lives of government leaders, and caused damage by fires and explosions in which workers were injured.

The factory concerned was the Okhtinsk Chemical Works engaged in "defence" manufacturing.

The exact number of machines to be sent to China by the Aircraft Company has not been revealed. The aeroplanes, a large number of which have been added to the Royal Air Force, are capable of reaching 20,000 feet in 12 minutes and have a speed of more than 200 miles per hour.

A.L.D. W. STOCKER OPPOSES NAMING OF ART METHERAL

Alderman Walter Stocker took a lone stand against the entire council last night at the Finance Committee meeting and opposed the recommendation from the Health and Property Committee that Relief Inspector Arthur Metherel be appointed to the recently vacated position of Sanitary Inspector.

The volley of criticism came when Alderman Malcolm McIntyre explained to the committee which is composed of all council members that the Property and Health Committee of which he is chairman had reduced the 22 applications for the position to four and finally agreed on Mr. Metherel.

"I have the highest regard for Art Metherel," said Alderman Stocker, "but when it comes to sanitary inspector work he is in the kindergarten class. Mr. Metherel is capable of doing the plumbing inspection, but what does he know about the inspection of cows, milk and dairy farms," said the veteran alderman.

Alderman Stocker explained that he favored a young man with a veterinary surgeon's degree, who would add to his knowledge by passing the examination making him a fully qualified sanitary inspector. In this way he said the man would not have to be trained from the start and would give the city many years of service.

Alderman McIntyre explained that all of the 22 applicants had been from this city, and if the committee followed out Alderman Stocker's suggestion a man would have to be brought in from the outside.

Mayor G. A. Macdonald and Alderman James Dutton told the meeting that Art Metherel was a qualified plumbing inspector and able to judge whether buildings or homes were in a sanitary condition, and both were confident that within two years he would secure a sanitary inspector's diploma.

The committee indicated approval of the action which will come up for official confirmation at the regular council meeting on Monday, Walter Stocker still dissenting. In the event of Mr. Metherel being appointed, Alderman Dutton was authorized to arrange for readjustment of jobs at the Relief Office until a permanent appointment can be made and in the meantime Guy R. Quartermaine will take care of the relief inspector's duties at a salary of $25 weekly. It was stated the council would appoint a relief inspector within a month.

A. B. CUNNINGHAM DIES AT HIS HOME HURT MONTH AGO

Exactly one month after he was accidentally struck down by an automobile on George street, Amos B. Cunningham died at his home 291 Reid street at one o'clock this morning from the effects of his severe injuries.

Mr. Cunningham was crossing George street, north of Brock street, in the heavy traffic of noon hour, and in avoiding one car, it was reported at the time, he stepped in the path of another going in the opposite direction suffering multiple and grievous injuries.

Came To Peterborough In 1898

Born in Halton County, of United Empire Loyalist stock on his mother's side, Mr. Cunningham spent his early years at Alliston. He came to Peterborough in 1898, and for years carried on his business as a contractor and builder. Many houses in the city were the result of his confidence in the future growth of Peterborough, and some of them were actually the product of his own handiwork. From some of the citizens who purchased houses from Mr. Cunningham came little stories of the manner of his business relations with them, marked not only by fairness and but also by kindliness. He was a sincere churchman, and the impression his life left among those who knew him best was that he put into his contacts with people the Christian ideals he tried to make his guide. He was a member of Trin-

FIRE FIGHTERS LINE UP PARTIES STOCKER CLAIMS

A warning that fight-fighting organizations throughout the province were lining up party candidates in an effort to secure non-contributory pensions and a three-platoon schedule was voiced by Alderman Stocker at a meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee Thursday night, when he roundly criticized the move and stated local firemen "were living in the lap of luxury."

"The newspapers have carried stories showing that firemen are clamoring for a three platoon schedule in other cities and pensions, said Alderman Stocker. "This is a problem we will have to deal with here in the very near future, and if we endorse the three-platoon system it would mean an additional annual expenditure of $15,000.

At this point Alderman Roland Wilson, chairman of the committee, stated that closer inspection had reduced the number of fires in recent years.

This remark touched off the tinder, and Alderman Stocker launched his barrage of comment on the easy life the firemen lives right now. "Firemen are asking for more concessions in other centres, he stated, but believe me they have nothing to complain about; they are living in the lap of luxury. If the City Council fired the entire department we would require the police force to hold back the army of applicants who would apply for the jobs.'

"I think you are unduly alarmed over this pensions question, answered Alderman Hamilton. The first move in any event would be made by the government, and it will be time enough to deal with it then, he added.

Aldermen Dutton, Hamilton and Mayor Macdonald in discussing the question, were definitely in favor of any contributory pension scheme for civic employees, and all agreed that legislation would probably be passed in the near future providing for this, or at least starting it by the Legislature.

Alderman Wilson told the meeting that good speed had been made in repairing the pumper, damaged at the Norwood fire when a connecting rod broke through the cylinder wall. He said Norwood village had been sent the regular bill for the call from the local department, but that the repairs would be met by the city out of the regular accounts.

Three Candidates Outline Stand On Temperance To Federation's Questions

Four Questions Were Submitted By The County Temperance Executive

To the three candidates in this constituency, the executive of the Ontario Temperance Federation of Peterborough County has submitted four propositions relating to temperance legislation, and has received from them written replies.

The correspondence is published herewith at the request of G. Arthur Brethen of Norwood, president of the County Temperance Federation.

Mr. Brethen's Letter.

Dear Sir,— In view of the somewhat general dissatisfaction with the present working out of the Liquor Control Act and in order that the electors of Peterborough County might have a clearer view of the attitude of the various candidates to the Temperance issue in the Provincial election of October 6th, the Executive of the Ontario Temperance Federation of Peterborough County decided to submit the following questions to each candidate in this riding:

1. The abolition of beverage rooms and wine stores, either through direct act of the Legislature, or by a province-wide referendum on a majority basis.

2. Recognizing that under improved modes of transportation and the consequent widening of the area affected by each liquor-selling unit, and that adjacent municipalities suffer from a nuisance against which they have no redress, that without prejudice to municipal local option, counties be given power on a majority vote to prevent the establishment or operation of government liquor stores within their bounds.

3. That with a view to the removal of the temperance issue from party politics, and the co-operation of the best elements in all parties, that the candidate be required to assert his purpose to reserve his liberty on this question and to hold himself free from dictation or control by his party, the caucus or his leader.

4. That he promise to confer and co-operate (as is done in the British House of Commons) with like-minded members of all parties in the Legislature to secure the enactment of the most progressive temperance legislation that can be obtained.

Liberal Candidate

"It is not possible for me to state my position by answering the questions submitted either in the affirmative or in the negative for the reason that a statement of one's attitude in reference to temperance legislation must be made in the light of temperance sentiment, Province wide conditions and the question of the introduction of the liquor issue into politics which has, in the past, operated to prevent progressive temperance legislation.

"In reply to the Peterborough Temperance Federation queries to the candidates I propose, therefore, to set out, briefly, a statement of my position in the light of those factors which must guide one in dealing with restrictive legislation in temperance matters.

"In the first place the Liberal Party is pledged to promote the cause of temperance and has been foremost, in times gone by, to its own disadvantage, to accomplish that end.

"All legislation designed to promote temperance does not always accomplish that purpose.

"It is my belief that all issues pertaining to the regulation and control of the liquor traffic should be taken out of politics. The Honourable Mr. Rowell, when leader of the Liberal Party of the Province of Ontario came out on a straight temperance platform and was defeated because he did not receive the support of that portion of the electorate supporting the temperance cause. At a later date in a Province wide referendum permission to sell alcoholic beverages was refused by the electorate. Shortly after that, however, the Conservative Government introduced the sale of alcoholic beverages under Government control, in the 1926 election, despite the views of the people as expressed in the referendum and were elected to office and the Liquor Control Act was passed in 1927.

"The present system of permitting the sale of wine and beer in hotels was inaugurated by the Henry Administration in 1934 and has been continued by the Hepburn Government with the exception that the Liberal Administration refused to permit the issue of licenses to restaurants although the Henry Government was preparing to issue licenses to restaurants when they went out of office.

"Experience has shown that it does not appear that temperance legislation can be enforced when abolition is only supported by a majority vote.

"I am a supporter of the principle embodied in Premier Hepburn's policy in which he offered the Hon. Earl Rowe the opportunity to name one Conservative as a member of the Liquor Control Board and providing also for a Liberal member of the Legislature, the Chairman to be a Supreme Court Judge, with the object of placing the enforcement of the Liquor Control Act out of politics.

"Recently Mr. Rowe has stated that he proposes to put the beverage rooms on trial for a year. Obviously he is to be the judge as to whether or not action should be taken at the expiration of the year. If he had stated that at the end of the year he proposed to have a Province wide referendum should his observations, in the meantime, have, warranted a belief that the beverage rooms should be dispensed with, those supporting the temperance cause would know where he stood. It only goes to show the fallacy of endeavouring to express one's opinion in the matter of temperance legislation as the liquor issue is bandied about as a football for the purpose of gaining public favour. As matters now are a Party stand for temperance legislation is exploited to political advantage rather than to promote the cause of temperance.

"I will support the strict enforcement of the law and when I am satisfied that temperance education is sufficiently developed and public opinion is of sufficient strength to warrant it, I am prepared to support legislation curtailing the sale of alcoholic beverages or if public opinion warrants it to abrogate the sale.

"To my mind temperance sentiment and progressive temperance legislation can never be effectively promoted until this issue is out of politics.

"I will also employ myself in any way possible to have this issue handled independently of party politics."

Conservative Candidate

"After carefully studying the four proposals your organization submitted to me as the Conservative candidate in the coming election on Oct. 6 next, I am submitting the following statement:

"As to Proposal No. 1, while I am absolutely convinced that the beverage room situation should be drastically improved, that hundreds of licenses should be cancelled and authorities issued only to bona fide Standard Hotels which are serving the public with real hotel accommodation, and a rigid system of control substituted for the past three-year system of no control and ineffective inspection, I am opposed to the abolition of the beverage rooms at this time, and opposed too to a province-wide referendum on a majority basis, because I am firmly convinced that all temperance legislation at least needs a three-fifth majority behind it, to be at all effective and controllable.

"I am also opposed to Proposal 2, in that I believe the present system of Local Option by separate municipalities is serving best in that way, and again in this Proposal I am opposed to a majority vote only, and opposed to any scheme that would entail the county electorate, consisting of the three villages and rural townships, having any measure of voting control over the City of Peterborough.

"As to Proposals 3 and 4, I am in entire accord, as I am in all other matters of legislation that seek to club, control or sway a member's opinion and his British right to express that opinion by his recorded vote in the Legislature."

C. C. F. Candidate

"In answer to the Temperance Committee I, William Johnson, Co-operation Commonwealth candidate for Peterborough, submit the following.

"In the opinion of the C. C. F. Provincial Executive there are some questions of moral significance that should not be projected into the political campaign. The temperance question is in my opinion such an issue. The policy laid down and binding on all C. C. F. candidates is that the request of the electorate a referendum shall be taken on such issues. With regard to the proposals of the Temperance Society.

"1. The fate of the beverage rooms and wine stores can only be determined by referendum to which policy the C. C. F. party is pledged, provided enough of the electorate demand such action.

"2. We believe that majority vote should rule in this matter.

"3. The C. C. F., as a party stands for the referendum principle and it is therefore not necessary to depend purely on candidate promises which have led to confusion in the past. The C. C. F., is independent of all big interests and therefore is not the tool of brewery interest.

"4. The C. C. F. candidate can not confer or co-operate with the old parties who are so obviously the servants of big business, but will promise at all times to initiate and defend any legislation which serves the great mass of our people."

ENDEAVOUR ENDS DRAMATIC VOYAGE

GOSPORT, England, Oct. 1 (A.P.)—The racing yacht Endeavour I. proud and defiant, reached the slip of her berth to-day, bringing back from the Atlantic one of the most thrilling sagas of the sea this historic English port town ever has known.

Standing on deck as the America's Cup challenger slipped through the calm waters of the Solent was Ned Heard, Endeavour's bronzed, 50-year-old skipper, who, 20 days ago, was swept overboard in an Atlantic hurricane, caught a loose wire and pulled himself back to complete the epic 2,700-mile voyage under sail.

For the last 20 miles of the voyage, up through The Needles and down the Solent, Captain Heard had nothing to do. The yacht Viva II., from which he cut loose off Nantucket on Sept. 13, had picked him up again and towed him home.

As the Viva, with the Endeavour in tow passed the Royal Yacht Squadron at Cowes, the historic club unfurled its flags and paid tribute to what will go down as probably the most famous yacht ever to represent Great Britain in the most famous of racing events on the high seas.

PROTEST JAIL TREATMENT

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 1—(AP).—County officials revealed to-day that 30 youthful prisoners fought with guards in the temporary Erie County Jail at suburban Wende yesterday, in a protest gainst unbuttered bread.

Ban Hall With Bar As Class Room

DETROIT, Oct. 1—(AP).— The school board of suburban Garden City decided last night against the use of a study hall of an auditorium which contains a bar.

Because of the shortage of space it had been decided tentatively to accept the offer of a club to house school children, but a storm of protest developed despite provision for partitioning off the bar.

The board decided to continue many pupils on a half time basis.

LAD OF 11 ENJOYS BEING SOLE PUPIL 38-SEAT SCHOOL

CHEROKEE, Kas., Oct. 1—(AP)—Bashful nine-year-old Gene Humble, who has a tuft of unruly hair and more freckles than there are sunflowers on his farm, is just about the most exclusive schoolboy in the United States.

Grinning Gene, every inch a "reg'lar feller" in striped overalls and blue shirt, is the only pupil attending the one-room rural schoolhouse of district No. 62—and there are desks for 38.

Tongues are inclined to wag in the farmhouses of this rich coal mining country of Southeastern Kansas as to why Gene's 11 classmates of last year did not report to the new teacher, but Gene neither knows nor cares.

"I like this school," he says. "My 'rithmetic better'n readin', and recess best of all."

He was one excited 60-pound lad this week when someone telephoned all the way from Toronto, Ont., to inquire about him. Gene rushed over to the pull-down map and when he found Toronto he stood open-mouthed.

Blond, 20-year-old Robert Shaw is paid $65 a month—that amounts to $585 for nine months — to teach Gene six hours a day, five days a week. The money comes from taxes paid by residents of the district who this year are sending their children to the town school at Mineral.

Conservative Refused Hearing At Stirling Nominations

Mayor R. D. Arnott Of Belleville Shouted Down By Group

STIRLING, Oct. 1.—Repeating in almost exact detail the stormy session at the Madoc nomination meeting in the East Hastings by-election last December, a noisy group of hecklers refused to give Conservative speakers a hearing Wednesday at the nomination meeting in Stirling Community Hall.

After hearing Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Liberal member for West Hastings, in a vigorous defense of his government's administration during the past three years, a small element in the crowd booed and jeered Mayor Richard D. Arnott, of Belleville, Conservative candidate for the riding, for five minutes on end.

So tumultuous was the scene, that the chairman was unable to obtain even a semblance of order, and after several fruitless attempts to make himself heard, the Conservative candidate sat down with the parting shot that he fully expected victory, since the meeting was a repetition of that at Madoc last December when a Conservative candidate won by a landslide.

Liberal Won't Speak.

Following the demonstration, Charles A. Cameron, M.P. for South Hastings, who was scheduled to speak on behalf of Dr. Faulkner, refused the opportunity to speak.

Hon. Earl Lawson, M.P., second Conservative speaker, fared little better than Mayor Arnott.

"There is an almost total lack of those much-vaunted British principles which Dr. Faulkner mentioned, here to-day," Mr. Lawson said. "It is clearly evident which party supports true British tradition, since the Conservatives here to-day gave Hon. Dr. Faulkner a good hearing, but our opposition does not see fit to give us even a fair chance."

His statement was greeted with prolonged hooting. "How do you like that for your British fair play, Doctor?" Mr. Lawson shouted across to the Liberal member. The only response was a shake of the head.

"This demonstration here to-day," Mr. Layson said before retiring, will be a more forceful argument in sending Mayor Arnott to the Legislature than anything he or I might say this afternoon."

Blame Organized Group.

Conservative supporters on the platform at the meeting, highly indignant at the treatment of their candidate, nevertheless viewed the affair as nothing more than the work of a few organized hecklers, remembering East Hastings, and hailed it as a happy augury for the election next Wednesday.

Dr. Faulkner outlined the benefits to Hastings County resulting accruing from the Hepburn administration.

The C.I.O., he declared, was a communistic organization directed from Russia, with John Lewis at the head, aiming for a shot at the presidency of the United States in [illegible].

Mayor Arnott declared that the election this year had been brought about as a result of the East Hastings election last December. "This election is not being fought on the issues of 1934, it's being fought on the issue of Hepburnism," he declared.

Mr. Singer of Trenton, acted as chairman of the meeting. On the platform with Dr. Faulkner were Charles A. Cameron, M.P., Belleville; Mackenzie Robertson, Belleville; Harry Moorman, Belleville; H. Singer, Trenton; F. Temple, Belleville, and G. O. Tice, Belleville. Among those supporting Mayor Arnott were Hon. Earl Lawson, Earl Denyes, Belleville, A. Reid, Belleville, and W. Hand, Trenton.

Raid Fails To Capture Submarine

Pictured ABOVE in the harbor at BREST, France, is the Loyalist Spanish submarine C-2, which was almost captured by insurgent sympathizers who tried to kidnap the captain and crew and sail the vessel to a rebel port. A crew member who escaped the vigilance of the attackers, and shot one of their number, attracted the attention of French harbor police who arrested the assailants. The submarine is here awaiting a new crew to sail it to Valencia, government capital.

Captain Sharpe will conduct the services and will be assisted by Mrs. Sharpe, and on Monday the ladies of the Army plan to hold an auction sale of fruit, vegetables and home cooking. HEPBURN RECORD WARMLY PRAISED BY W. J. BRAGG

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, October 1.—Liberalism presented its side in the present election campaign locally at a public meeting, held in the Town Hall on Wednesday at 8 p.m., with Garnet Shield, Deputy-Reeve of Cavan Township in the chair; others on the platform being the speaker of the evening, Vern Buchanan, Mayor of Ingersoll; W. J. Bragg, of Bowmanville, ex-M.P.P. for Durham; ex-Warden W. T. Wood; and the candidate, C. G. Mercer, Reeve of Hope township.

In introducing Mr. Bragg, as the first speaker, the chairman declared his personal conviction "that Mr. Hepburn has been doing his best to make his administration a tax reducing, rather than a tax increasing, one." Mr. Bragg, who has had five terms in the Legislature, listed the accomplishments of the Hepburn government in the past three years, and thought it a matter of regret that "the great Conservative Party has now fallen so low that it has lost the confidence of the people in the whole Dominion." He approved strongly of Mr. Hepburn's attitude toward the C. I. O.; his collection of large amounts in succession duties owing the province; and his return of one mill on the dollar to the municipalities; also his keeping of his pre-election promises. In closing, he urged support of the candidate.

Mr. Mercer devoted his time to explaining the savings effected to the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham under Mr. Hepburn's administration, amounting in all to $384,184.60. He mentioned also the taking over of the highway from Newcastle to Lindsay and the promise of one, if not two roads running east and west through Durham—a project likely to be carrined through providing the Liberal government is returned to power on October 6. The candidate was well received and gave assurance of service to the best of his ability, if successful in the forthcoming vote.

Mr. Buchanan was greeted with applause and said, "I was told the farther east you go, the more friendliness you will meet with, and I have certainly found that true as I have campaigned all over the province, and lately the eastern part of Ontario."

The speaker mentioned Mr. Hepburn's desire for a mandate from the citizens of Ontario to go back and continue his succession duties program; his courageous action in cancelling the contracts with the Quebec power barons; in which "he was daring enough to be courageous, and courageous enough to be daring;" and strongly refuted the suggestion on coming from the Opposition leader that there is any power shortage at the present time. The reduction of taxes, and of license fees for cars, the return of the one mill on the dollar to the municipalities, the fact that "23,000 more farmers are using Hydro than under the Henry regime;" the keeping of the C. I. O. out of Ontario and the sympathetic support given the laboring man, were all dealt with in considerable detail.

The speaker closed with an earnest appeal for support of Reeve Mercer on October 6, and called for three rousing cheers for Mr. Hepburn; a similar honor for the Liberal candidate, and the National Anthem closed the meeting.

COHEN IS ASKED TO GIVE PROOF CHARGES MADE

ple opportunity to substantiate the charges he had made. Asking Mr. Cohen to submit to the Board signed statements bearing on the charges, the chairman directed that Mr. Kellock should have access to them so that if he decided there were charges to be met he would have the opportunity of calling his witnesses.

Others present at the inquiry, in addition to witnesses, include: Arthur Laverty, president, and Alex. Welch, secretary, both of the National Textile Council; Michael Engelsh, vice-president of Local No. 4, United Textile Workers' Union; and also D. G. H. Melton, manager Bonner-Worth Mill and H. Leybourne, comptroller of the Auburn Mill.

Challenges Association.

Mr. Cohen challenged the presence before the Board of Robert Townsley, president of the Auburn Employees' Association and their legal representative, J. F. Strickland, K.C.

"The Auburn Employees' Association," Mr. Cohen declared, "is nothing but a company instrument, instituted by the company and sponsored by the company."

Briefly reviewing events that led to the investigation by the Board, Mr. Cohen recalled the strike at Cornwall and Peterborough and said at the conference between the management of the two firms and the employees which resulted, both sides had agreed at Queen's Park to the question of wages and hours being deferred to the Industry and Labor Board.

The agreement had not been pursued in good faith by the company, Mr. Cohen claimed.

"In this case my submission is that the letter and spirit of the agreement has been broken by the company, and furthermore that the company has impeded the work of this Board by intimidation of its employees," Mr. Cohen charged.

Intimidation Charged

Quoting Section 10 of the Minimum Wage Act, Mr. Cohen proceeded: 'Everything possible that could have been done has been done by the company to intimidate its employees. First of all, they are being discriminated against because of their union affiliation, and they have been solicited by foremen and others to become members of the Auburn Employees' Association, and in this I submit there is a threat of discharge.

"They have been more than coercive to their employees, and have made their employees feel they were being watched and harrassed while at their work."

He stated he had information the company had given every encouragement to its foremen to foster and promote the Auburn Employees' Association, the president of which, he pointed out, was Robert Townsley, gatemain at the Auburn Mill.

Relies on Employers.

"This man, who is an employee who is not engaged in production, virtually relies on the bounty of his employers for his job. He is partially incapacitated and is, so to speak, at the very gateway of the company's premises.

In that position, Mr. Cohen claimed, Townsley had been encouraged by his employers to attract attention of the other employees to the Auburn Employees' Association, and to distribute forms and literature which had insinuated that members of the union were criminals and undesirables.

Mr. Cohen sought leave of the board to submit some signed statements which he declared would "implement his charges."

Kellock Objects

At this point objection was raised by R. L. Kellock, K.C., representing Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, Ltd.

Mr. Kellock said that Mr. Cohen had made charges and had "not a tittle of foundation" for them.

Mr. Cohen "He objects just when I am about to produce that foundation."

Mr. Kellock: "My friend is making charges which this board has no power to deal with. He wants this board to say that one association shall have the right of way over another. I submit his charges are entirely false, but I submit the board has no power to deal with them. The board is here to deal purely with the question of wages and hours for all employees, non-union and union."

Mr. Strickland Agrees

Mr. Strickland said he agreed with Mr. Kellock. "The function of this board is simply to investigate conditions. I submit that Mr. Cohen's own argument defeats itself. He argues that his union shall have the sole representation before this board."

"Your duty," he pointed out to the chairman, "is simply to investigate conditions with assistance of the company's employees who come before you. I have no connection with Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Limited at all, but am here on retainer by the Auburn Employees Association," he said.

"I extend thanks to both my learned friends," Mr. Cohen declared. 'I am not asking any such thing as sole rights of representation. I say every bona fide employee is entitled to be here, but not company stooges.

Appeals to Chair.

"Is my friend to be permitted to continue these ridiculous charges in public, before a board that has no jurisdiction to deal with them," Mr. Kellock demanded of the chair.

"I claim witnesses have been intimidated by the company," Mr. Cohen interjected. "Does my friend say that does not concern the board?"

The chairman asked Mr. Cohen, "Can you substantiate these charges."

Before Mr. Cohen had a chance to reply, Mr. Barrett was on his feet. "I absolutely deny the charges. He is drawing a red herring across the trail and is accusing the company of doing something it has never done and has no intention of doing. What Mr. Cohen says is a deliberate untruth."

A Further Objection.

When Mr. Cohen then sought to present what he said was "the signed statement of Alphonse Vinette," Mr. Kellock was on his feet with a further objection.

He again appealed to the chair, "Is my friend to be permitted to persist in this course of action? The board is without jurisdiction in this matter. If Mr. Cohen has any witnesses he wishes to call he can bring them here. He has already been told that before."

Mr. Cohen: "Mr. chairman may I be permitted to produce facts."

Here to Get Facts

The chairman: "Now gentlemen, the board is not interested in the relativeness of the two organizations. We are here to get at facts and conditions. At the opening I invited all parties to declare themselves. Mr. Kellock, Mr. Strickland and Mr. Cohen did so. I then asked if there was any other group or organization present to be heard."

Mr. Cohen: "My charge is that these witnesses will not come here before the board because of intimidation".

"Such charges are a slander", Mr. Kellock protested.

"Is it your contention there are witnesses who won't come here because they dare not", the chairman demanded addressing Mr. Cohen.

Mr. Cohen replied he wanted leave to submit his signed statement, but when asked by the chairman to call his witnesses he said he could not call them immediately.

He objected that there was not provision for the payment of witnesses and expressed an opinion there should be some payment of workers who were expected to forfeit their pay to come and give evidence at the inquiry.

Firm Makes Offer.

Suggesting that an adjournment was a waste of time, Mr. Kellock on behalf of the company gave an undertaking that employees of the firm would be paid during the time they were absent in connection with giving testimony at the inquiry.

Again asked if he would proceed with the calling of his evidence, Mr. Cohen insisted he was not prepared to do so. He pressed for an adjournment.

After conferring with his fellow board members Mr. Young, in the chair, said the board had decided to accept the written statements which Mr. Cohen wished to present and would consider them in private conference. "If they substantiate the charges", he promised, "the matter will be fully investigated."

Mr. Cohen expressed satisfaction at this decision but objected to the presence of Mr. Strickland as legal representative for the Auburn Employees Association being present at the conference with the board.

At this stage the board went into private conference with Messrs Kellock, Cohen and Strickland.

On their re-appearance at 12.30 p.m. the chairman of the board announced: "We have decided to go on with the proceedings. In the meantime Mr. Cohen has made certain allegations which he will be given full opportunity to substantiate. He will file what documents he has relative to the matter with the board and Mr. Kellock shall have access to them in order that he might be prepared to call witnesses if he decided there are any charges to be answered by the company."

The Board then adjourned until 2.30 p.m.

Ducks In Welland Escape Lightly

WELLAND, Ont., Oct. 1.—(CP)—Dawn found highways and byways of Welland county cluttered with hunters, eager for the kill as the duck hunting season opened, but almost every time the nimrods sought to hop a fence they were confronted with "Crown game preserve" warning signs.

Many hunters gave up the chase after stalking for two hours without firing a shot. Disappointment was caused when the extent of the new Wainfleet and Crowland Township preserve was discovered. It included a lake where 200 ducks rested and one sportsman said that it was useless to protect the birds in Ontario only to have them fly south to be shot.

Six game preserves in Welland county cover close to 20,000 acres.

Election Propaganda Is Sent Out In The Form Of Chain Letters

Believed to be a new development in the current Provincial election campaign, a flood of chain letters containing election propaganda hit Peterborough yesterday and today. Headed "A Challenge to Protestants," the letters contain appeals to Protestant voters to throw out the Hepburn Government for alleged pro-Catholicism demonstrated in his separate school tax bill.

The idea parallels closely that of the "prosperity chain" letters which went through Canada and the United States like a cyclone two years ago. The recipient is asked in the letter to make ten copies and mail them to Protestant friends. The letters are signed anonymously "Your Protestant Friend."

Ernest Reid, past grand master of the Orange Lodge for Eastern Ontario, said today the Orange Order here has had nothing to do with starting the chain. He revealed that he himself received one of the chain letters through the mail, however.

A DAY OF outstanding possibilities for progress and marked success is presaged by the dominant rulership of major planets. There are promises of opportunity and openings of paramount importance in enhancing fortunes and prestige. These are attended by sudden developments and possibly strange denouements to the established order. There are some exciting or frustrating conditions to cope with by subtlety, diplomacy or secrecy. Speculation thrives and friendship and personality have a major influence on these happy prospects.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of excellent openings for signal success, achievements, stability, enhanced fortunes and expansive personal gratifications. Major events, with radical changes, are imminent, albeit with certain perplexities to be confronted by tact, subtlety or probably collusion. Speculation and quiet contracts flourish. Popularity and friendship loom large in the affairs.

ity United Church and of its Trustee and Official Board, and was an ardent temperance worker, leaning entirely in the direction of practical prohibition o fthe liquor traffic.

On Relief Board

As a member of the old Charity Board of the city, Mr. Cunningham graduated to the relief committee when the stringencies of the depression began to extend widely through the community. In that connection he was unsparing to himself, and his thoroughness in all things was exemplified by the information he had at hand in regard to the purchase of many thousands of cords of hardwood for the aid of citizens who were unemployed. When relief gardens were suggested, their supervision was left to Mr. Cunningham, and for five years he has been directing that excellent community enterprise. It was one of the most commendable contributions of social service in Peterborough's recent years, and it was enhanced by the earnest and quietly unassuming manner in which Mr. Cunningham used to get his several hundred gardeners started in the spring time and visit them frequently during the hot days of summer. He was actuated in this work by the knowledge that he was helping many so-called border-line citizens and families to avoid appealing to the city for relief.

Men who disagreed with Mr. Cunningham's extreme views on prohibition of the liquor traffic, or at any rate rigid control of it, admired his deep sincerity and his zeal in promoting that cause.

Managed Relief Gardens

Members of the city council have recognized for the last five years the valuable assistance Mr. Cunningham gave them in assuming the responsibility of managing the relief gardens, work that was often done in the heat of summer, and in trespass on his own business. The citizens with whom Mr. Cunningham has been associated in the community gardens will deeply regret his death.

Surviving Mr. Cunningham are his widow formerly Mary Alice Allin; one daughter, Mrs. Clare M. Northey of Trenton; and two sons, George of this city and Howard an undergraduate of Queen's University; one sister, Mrs. Jackson of Long Beach, Cal.; and two brothers, William J., of Alliston, and Walter of Brantford.

The funeral will take place Monday at 2.30 p.m. from Trinity United Church where the service will be conducted by Rev. George S. Easton; burial will be at the Little Lake Cemetery.

Efforts To Have Game Here Saturday Fail

There will be no football game at Riverside Park tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon. The Eastsides-Orfuns' scheduled fixture was called off at the order of the local Board of Health, owing to the prevalence of infantile paralysis in Toronto. The Orfuns' officials made efforts to get Lindsay to transfer its game here, with Eastsides playing in Cobourg, but Lindsay refused. Orfuns then attempted to get an exhibition tilt here with Belleville, R.M.C., Fliers, Queen's intermediates, Orillia and P.C.I., but every attempt failed. President Lou Brooks of the Orfuns' Club felt that Lindsay, with three home games in a row showed poor sportsmanship in declined to transfer their game to Peterborough to keep the schedule intact, and he pointed out that Eastsides could claim this fixture by default, if necessary, though they were not likely to do so.

CAMBRIA'S 'SISTER' SINKS AT ATHENS TWO ARE MISSING

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 1 (A.P.)—The Imperial Airways flying boat Courtier, sister ship of the Atlantic-flying Caledonia and Cambria, sank to-day when it came down in Phaleron Bay.

Two passengers were missing and seven were reported to have been taken alive from the water. Of the seven five were said to have been injurd. The five-man crew also escaped.

A floating crane from the Athens Naval Arsenal was hurried to the spot where the flying boat hit the water in such fashion as to send it under.

Bad visibility was blamed for the accident, which occurred at the end of the Alexandria-Athens leg of the Courtier's scheduled flight to England.

Names and nationalities of the passengers were not available.

By Harold H. Hilliard.

LONDON, Oct. 1—Hundreds of families in the Empire's Capital are going to sit comfortably in their homes this winter and, through their own television sets, watch and listen to programs and news events broadcast from a forty-mile or greater radius.

Television definitely has reached that stage. There remains a lot of experimentation to be done in broadcasting more than forty miles or so from a station, but within these limits the day of television is here.

Television receiver manufacturers are so convinced of this they have introduced a dozen different "makes" to the market, following displays at the Radiolympia show last month. Last year there were no privately owned machines. This year there are expected to be hundreds, perhaps thousands.

Prices Comparatively Low.

Sight and sound for the home can be had for as low as $300, while the better sets sell for $400. These figures may seem high, but when one looks back fifteen years in radio and realizes radio sets then were even more expensive, it can be seen that television is starting at a comparatively low figure.

A television receiver, like an ordinary radio, is cheap to operate, consuming about the same amount of power as two light bulbs. It is about half as large again as the standard console radio, opening at the top similar to a phonograph to disclose a large mirror on the inside of the top.

The image thrown on this reflector is about 10 by 8 inches in size. Without extinguishing the lights in the room, the television broadcast may be seen as clearly as a movie screen from an average distance.

A demonstration recently was given this reporter. Ushered into a room, his first view of television was of Big Ben—four miles away—striking 3 o'clock. Then the view switched to the grounds of Alexandra Palace, where, after scenes of the beautiful grounds, the camera finally settled upon a pretty girl on a park bench.

Plays Like a Movie.

She looked up, smiled, and said: "This afternoon, every one; this is the B.B.C. television transmission." She went on to announce the first item on the program—a play. This came and the reporter settled down to a show not unlike a movie, except the screen was miniature, of course.

Next came ten minutes of British movie news, followed by twenty minutes of vaudeville numbers. Then the hour was up, and the young woman sitting in the garden, appeared on the screen again to give her sign-off announcement.

Yes, both in sight and sound, unless one gets very close to the screen, the lines of demarcation cannot be seen at all. The broadcast witnessed later showed how well the goings-on at a night club could be transmitted into a private home.

Television home-sets may not be available for Canada for another year or two, but by that time, with all the almost daily improvements going on in London and elsewhere, the radius of reception will have so increased that broadcasts and receptions will no longer be confined to purely local stations.

The Real Sufferers In Sino-Japanese War

War, neither respector of age nor caste, holds human life in little regard when military machines attempt capture of foreign goods or soil, as is seen by the ABOVE photo. This aged woman and the little girl are only two of the many innocent victims of the Japanese invasion of their homeland. Residents of the "beggars" village" adjoining the International Settlement at Shanghai, their faces reflect the terror and hunger of war. The couple were removed to safety and food by relief workers in the area.

Pert Sonja Henie Fond Of Ice Game. Thinks Highly Of Hockey Players

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (CP)—Pretty and pert Sonja Henie, internationally famous figure-skating star and movie queen, headed for Hollywood today after disdaining suggestion of well-wishers she abandon her association with Canada's national winter sport of hockey.

Miss Henie, reached New York yesterday on the Normandie after vacationing in her native Norway. She admitted she had not had a pair of skates on all summer but that she would make up for that during the coming season in which she has skating engagements at Toronto, Montreal, New York, Boston, Chicago and other Canadian and United States cities.

"I am simply crazy over all winter sports," she said, "and next to skating and skiing I like watching hockey games. Conditions are ideal in Canada for all these, I hear, that is why I consented to go there in February.

"I want hockey fans to know though I think it is a grand game. Some of my friends told me I should not skate in between periods of matches and have myself photographed so often with hockey players because it would cheapen me since my pictures have proved successful. I do not agree with them. Generally speaking hockey players are as fine a group of athletes as can be found anywhere.

Cattle Exports Shows Decrease

OTTAWA, Oct. 1 — (CP). — The Department of Agriculture reported to-day cattle exports to the United Kingdom and the United States in the first eight months of 1937 totalled 169,357 head, a decrease compared with 178,888 in the same period in 1936. Calf exports, however, were sharply higher, nearly 82,000 head being shipped compared with 49,396 in the first eight months of last year. Exports of hogs to the United States approximated 66,000 head against 35,000 in 1936.

LOST $3,000 BRACELET

DETROIT, Oct. 1—(CP). — Mrs. Anne Gottlieb hid her $3,000 diamond bracelet in a showed head for safe-keeping. When she took a shower recently she found the plumber had installed a new nozzle—the old one and her bracelet was gone.

Mrs. Gottlieb was losing hope when the plumber came back with the bracelet in his hand.

"I usually throw old shower heads on the nearest junk pile," he said.

ALBERTA SPEEDS NEW BILLS ALONG

EDMONTON, Oct. 1 (CP)—Prorogation of the special session of the Alberta Legislature was in sight today after members sat until midnight last night. With the session likely to end tonight, members were debating a resolution to refrain from submitting a brief to the Rowell Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations when the House rose.

The Legislature adopted 42 to 4 a resolution denying Federal right to disallowance of Provincial legislation, expressing intention of implementing disallowed legislation and approving the government's intention to refer to the courts the question of Federal right of disallowance.

Two major pieces of legislation read in the House for the first time and advanced to second reading were bills affecting newspapers and amending and consolidating the credit of Alberta Regulation Act, one of the bills disallowed by the Federal Government.

After passing a resolution urging repeal of the Legislative Assembly Recall Act, the Legislature received and advanced through second reading a bill to repeal the Recall Act passed April 3, 1936. The Act provided for unseating of a member through petition signed by 66 2-3 per cent. of the electorate of a constituency.

20,000 VICTORIANS GREET ROOSEVELT

VICTORIA, Oct. 1. —(CP)— The people of British Columbia's capital followed President Roosevelt's tour through the Western United States with new interest today because of his visit to this island city.

Approximately 20,000 persons — more than half the population of the capital—saw the president when he came here yesterday as a "good neighbor." Thousands crowded the docks as he reached Vancouver Island shores aboard a United States destroyer, stood in a drizzling rain to see him pass through the city's streets, and clustered in thousands at the dock again to cheer him as he left.

Through the three and half hours Mr. Roosevelt was in Victoria, he attended several official receptions, received salutes of naval and military guards of honor, rode through the city's scenic drives, lunched with Lieutenant-Governor Eric Hamber, goverment and civic officials and talked business.

The business concerned a long-projected highway from Washington state to Alaska which the president discussed with Premier T. D. Pattullo at the vice-regal luncheon.

Favors Highway

After the conversation, informal in nature, Mr. Roosevelt said he thought such a project would be advisable "as soon as governments of both countries find it's time to do it."

At the luncheon, where he discussed the highway proposal with the premier, President Roosevelt proposed a toast to the King, the second time he had done so. The first time, he said, was in Jamaica.

Before he departed from Government House to head a procession of cars back to the destroyer Phelps, the president said he hoped again to visit the coast province.

"Every year since 1884 I've been coming to Canada," Mr. Roosevelt said. "I think that's pretty good."

Attendance Figures Higher For Campbellford Fall Fair

Livestock And Poultry Exhibits Of High Quality Although Fewer In Number

(Examiner Correspondence)

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 1.—Fine weather and large crowds made the second day of the Seymour Agricultural Society's Fall Fair on Thursday one of the most successful events in years. A more extensive prize list is believed to have attracted many new entries in the various sections. Attendance figures are stated to be slightly better than last year with about two thousand paid admissions. Livestock and poultry exhibits, although fewer in number than last year, were said by judges to be of outstanding quality.

Trials of speed commanded their usual amount of attention and were marked by several unusually close finishes.

Four races, each of three heats and with each heat a race, were held under the supervision of T. J. Hopkins.

ODD ITEMS FROM A SPORT SCRAP BOOK

BOB ISBISTER

It is not uncommon in sport to see two of the same family proficient in some branches of athletics, as witness the Conachers and the Cooks of hockey fame, the Baers, Sullivans, etc., in boxing and numerous others.

But it is a bit of a rarity when a son carries on the tradition of his father in the same sport, and with equal effectiveness.

We have an example of this in the Isbisters, famous Canadian footballers. Bob the son, has proved his worth time and time again, and his ability to carry on the family name by his efforts with the University of Toronto's senior team, and it is expected that he will continue to do so this year with Toronto Argonauts.

The father was a famous lineman in years gone by, so Bob might be referred to as "a chip off the old blocker."

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Author Bernie Bierman says in his new book that football does as much for a guy in an educational way as music, math and literature . . . What was that, professor? . . . Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

SING A song of six-pence, and a pocket full of rye; the football fans are flocking out, to see 'em do or die! What, you don't like that beautiful bit of poetry? Well, blimey! Okay, we'll warble a tune about wearing apparel: In days of old when nights were cold, and clothes were worn in layers—all the folks were wrapped in cloaks like modern rugby players! Oh, well, it's that crack in the noggin we got playing parches that's bothering us again. A sign of a hard winter. Either for us or the readers. But let us discourse a little on grid clothing styles. Surely it is not too effeminate. Are we men or are we mice? Well, maybe we are mice but we draw the line at being called rats. That's getting personal.

* * * * * * *

THE AVERAGE football player—and most of 'em are average—wear nearly as much as grandmaw did on a cutter ride. Bit it is not to stave off frosty fangs—or pangs or tangs—but merely to save life and limb, if possible. Heavy clothes, plenty of pads and the pink of condish—these are grid necessities. It takes a rugbyist anywhere from 15 to 35 minutes to get dressed for a game, depending on how long it takes him to locate his belongings in the other chaps' kit bags. And he generally needs plenty of help in getting dressed from the trainer, coach or another player.

* * * * * * *

BESIDES HIS underwear—but let us hurriedly detour around the matter of lingerie—he uses heavy kidney pads and an intricate set of shoulder harness padding. Followed by a jersey and heavy sweater. And padded pants. With woollen stockings, leg or knee pads frequently, heavy shoes with or without cleats, and topped by a helmet. He presents an unwieldly figure and carries a lot of extra weight. The pads stick out on him like muscles on Popeye and he represents an investment in wearing apparel of anywhere from $80 to twice that. Some use satin or silk material and others just tough canvas, but it all looks alike after the first scramble on the muddy field.

* * * * * * *

'TIS WITH a feeling of curiosity that we await the arrival of Lindsay and Toronto teams here this autumn. We want to see how they're dressed, Cobourg had dinky white ghostlike uniforms of excellent material. The Orfuns last week hadn't their new red-and-white combinations yet, and in the pre-game parade they resembled so many wecks of the Hesperus being towed to dry dock! They were a motley gathering, but won their game. Belleville generally have beautiful raiments of the finest cut and pattern. But nobody sees 'em as the Quinte crew are generally well buried in the final standing. But enough for grid clothing ala mode.

* * * * * * *

IT DOESN'T look like there'll be a rugby game here tomorrow at all. Nothing is known at this writing. When the Eastsides-Orfuns' tilt was called off, local officials tried in turn to get Lindsay, Belleville, R.M.C. and the Fliers here. Lindsay and R.M.C. were engaged in other games, Belleville had too many injuries and the Fliers were unable to field a full team. Then the Orfuns contacted Ted Reeve at Kingston to get Queen's intermediates, but haven't heard yet. There was also some talk of a game with P.C.I. seniors. However, things do not look promising. If we hear in time of a game, we'll try to get a notice in somewhere in the paper. It is unfortunate that two good autumn Saturdays should slip by without grid tussles, but it can't be helped. The local club tried hard enough.

* * * * * * *

SPEAKING OF the cancelled contest here, the Lindsay Post writer says: "The Board of Health have power to cancel about anything they like but in this case it is our humble opinion that they are taking unnecessary steps in the matter. The possibility of 20 football players bringing an epidemic to Peterborough is no greater than the chances of 20 travelling salesmen or 20 tourists bringing the disease. Unless the whole thing is a gag on the part of the club, as has been suggested here, it would seem to us that the health officials have taken an unusual step." It is no gag, pal, not by any means.

KAWARTHA GOLF and Country Club winds up its season tomorrow with a big field day, and all members are invited. Games start at 1.30 and prizes will be presented after dinner. Fraser Dunfield is the new club champion, and Stan Whiddon won the president's cup. It promises to be the biggest day yet at this ambitious club, and the Kawartha gang have had a fine season all around. Dope on the closing field day will be in early next week.

AFTER THE brawl at the ball game in Toronto the other day in which the Grads beat Oshawa, Max Swanston—who is C.O.B.I. prexy and an O.B.A.A. member—got busy and in touch with R. A. Elliott, life member of the O.B.A.A., over the matter of umpires. Seems Bert Smith of the T.A.B.A. calmly appointed two Toronto u[mpires] this game in the Ontario finals, and they were poor, according to report. They didn't eject a player after the free-for-all fight. So R. A. wired Secretary Snyder of the O.B.A.A. insisting on a change in umps — as Oshawa refused to play at home this Saturday with the same guessers—for the next fray. And, we understand, two officials from the Inter-County Loop will act in Oshawa on Saturday. No doubt quite a crowd of ball fans from here will see the game.

* * * * * * *

GRAB-BAG: We've seen the Cobourg kicker's name spelled Meikle, Mielke, Meikel and Meekle—what is it? . . . . Les Patrick drew down 16 grand last winter for directing hockey at Madison Square Garden in N'Yawk . . . . The fourth game of the three-in-five C.G.E. shop softball loop finals, betwixt Drafting Room and Switchgear, will be at 1.30 in the Bowl on Sat'day aft . . . . There is a Western Canada puck goalie living on a nearby farm—Belleville paper please copy! . . . . And we hear there are four junior imports for hockey in Oshawa now . . . . Buck Jones of Barrie will go to England this winter instead of Kashner, an ex-Barrie puckist . . . Seems the C.A.H.A. team will not tour Yurrup this winter owing to war scares—that's the dope now, anyway . . . . Have no more local boxing dope for the present . . . . Bowling starts next week and it won't be long till all loops are rolling . . . . Twasn't the infantile paralysis that bothered Oshawa GM-men in Toronto on Wednesday so much as the Rasson benders.

Speed, Accuracy Are Essential In Tossing A Forward Pass

By LEW HAYMAN
Coach, Toronto Argonauts Football Club

In the above picture note the hand is well around the ball with the finger tips gripping the laces firmly but not too tightly. The arm is raised above and behind the shoulder with the front point of the ball facing upwards. The weight of the body is on the back or right leg.

As the passer receives the ball he starts backwards and slightly to the side—handling the ball with both hands as he is fading, but fitting it into the passing hand just as he prepares himself to throw the pass. The arm is then raised above and behind the shoulder with the point of the ball upward. The weight of the body is on the right foot, then as the pass is being thrown the weight is shifted from the right to the left foot, and then follows through with the right hand and right foot. When the throw is completed, the right foot and right arm should be pointing in the direction of the pass receiver.

In learning to pass, place the most emphasis on accuracy and speed, the distance and timing—faking will come later.

Leading—Timing

Once a man can pass with a fair degree of accuracy and speed, he then develops his timing.

A passer should know approximately the speed of his receivers so as to be able to lead them accordingly. Once the receiver breaks for the open territory, the pass should be thrown. Don't wait until he gets in the clear, but pass as he breaks for the open, giving him as much lead with the ball as his speed can stand.

Leading means keeping the ball ahead of the receiver. A receiver catching a leading pass is travelling at considerable speed, therefore, will gain ground and have less trouble shaking off the man covering him.

Passers must always keep the ball away from possible intercepters. A pass that is not completed must be kept away from the opponent covering the intended pass receiver.

Always pass to the side in which the receiver looks over his shoulder, leading him to the open territory. Never pass straight at him or behind him.

Practice

1. Accuracy.
2. Speed.
3. Timing—leading.
4. Picking open receivers.

A real passer is one who can pass accurately, to the right spot, at the right time.

Tomorrow . . . Receiving.

YOUNG'S POINT HOCKEY PLAYER IN HOCKEY CALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (CP)—Having issued the call to regulars and berth-seekers to rally at Winnipeg next week, Lester Patrick, ageing but still dynamic head of New York Rangers, headed west today, mapping out rebuilding plans for his extensive farm system.

Chief concern of Patrick, as the train rolled toward the Canadian grain centre, was his Broadway Blues, Stanley Cup finalists last season. The regulars will not get to the training camp until the camp has seen a 10-day gathering of ambitious amateurs some of whom the Ranger mentor hopes will be good enough to reinforce his Rovers of the United States Eastern Amateur League.

Among leading amateurs Patrick has selected for tryouts at Winnipeg include: Harry Braithwaite, Toronto; Fraser Cummings, Young's Point, Ont., and Wilbur Hiller, Kitchener, Ont.

MISPLAYS FEATURE IN MINOR SERIES

NEWARK, N.J., Oct. 1 (AP)—Fourteen misplays in two games gave the Little World Series, starring the foremost minor league clubs in baseballdom, the appearance today of a revival of Shakespeare's famous "Comedy of Errors."

They added an uncertain, sometimes comical, touch to the usually serious competition between the leading teams of the American Association and International League and figured prominently in the action which gave Columbus a two-game lead over Newark in the best-of-seven series.

Eight blunders, five by Newark, were made in the second game last night as the Columbus Red Birds came out ahead in a strange 11-inning engagement. The score was 5-4, the same as that by which the association champions won the opener Wednesday.

All five of Newark's misplays were damaging ones, a Columbus player being helped along toward a score with each of them.

GOLF—FACTS NOT THEORIES
By Alex Morrison

Number 17

In selecting a course on which to enjoy the game, turf should be considered as well as the layout of the various holes. The obvious reply to this statement is, "Why, of course," Well if you do give the proper thought to turf on the courses you play, you are among the minority.

It is surprising and somewhat disappointing to me when players overlook the kinds and condition of the grass on a course. I don't mean that players generally should become experts in judging grasses, but I do think that this item should be given more consideration when choosing a place to play.

There is a very good reason for this—the turf under your ball can make or spoil your shot and this goes for even a short putt. When your ball is resting in a good lie on nice soft turf you must have a feeling that you can pick it up easily without interrupting the smoothness of your swing. If it happens to lie on hard ground or in a coarse growth of weeds, you know that you must fight your way through this obstacle. You become tense in anticipation of the shock to your muscles and joints, you are apprehensive as to the outcome and finally you are in doubt as to what club will get you out of the mess.

I would rather play a course with good turf and a simple layout of holes than the trickiest holes in the world with bad lies to be encountered on the fairways.

Next: Short Putts

Chiozza To Play In Centrefield Against Dazzling DeMaggio

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Don't look now, but Lou Chiozza, who couldn't hit a pool of water with a paddle, is likely to do most of the centre-fielding for the Giants in next week's world series, otherwise known as the blue ribbon embroglio of baseball.

That's interesting, because Joe DiMaggio, who plays the same position for the Yankees, is without much doubt the greatest outfielder of the game to-day. Yankee supporters, in fact, say he is the all-round-everything.

It's just like Col. Bill Terry, foreman of the Giants, to stick a fellow like Chiozza in such a spot, where he will play his head off in an attempt to outshine the big man against him. It didn't prove bad psychology in the 1933 series against Washington, when Blondy Ryan was paired against the Senators' great shortstop, Joe Cronin.

Chiozza wasn't even a regular until a few weeks ago. As a third baseman he had been supplanted by Mel Ott and had been riding the bench for more than a month when, at the start of the Giants' recent crucial series with the Cubs at Chicago, Terry sent him to centre.

He promptly became a terror both afield and at bat. He was instrumental in the Giants' taking two out of three and has been going at a fast clip ever since.

Hubbell Plays In Hero Role As Giants End Pennant Drive Cubs Clinch Second Position

Prince Hal Puts Clincher On With Five-Hit 2-1 Victory Over Phillies

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.— (CP)— With the world series battle lineups all settled, and little old New York once more in exclusive possession of the extra-curricular classic the also rans of the major league races settled down to-day to the business of picking the choicest spots remaining before the season ends Sunday.

When Carl Hubbell, the old convincer, put the clincher on with a five-hit, 2-1 win over the Phillies in the opener of a double bill yesterday—his 22nd of the year—the pennant races officially closed. The Giants retained their National League laurels and qualified to tangle with their New York neighbors, the Yankees, in the series beginning next Wednesday.

It didn't matter that the Phils won the second game of the double bill 6-2 against a makeshift lineup, or that the Yankees dropped their first twin bill of the year, losing 8-3 and 6-3 to the Athletics. Not another outfit could catch either any more.

Cubs in Second Place.

With yesterday's results, the fight also ended for second place in both circuits. The jinxed Cubs from Chicago taking their fifth straight game by topping Cincinnati Reds 4-1, rested securely in the National League runner-up spot, 8½ games in front of their nearest rivals. At the same time the Detroit Tigers, despite a 10-3 kloking around at the hands of St. Louis Browns yesterday, couldn't be ousted from the No. 2 American League berth, even by blasting.

The rest of the first division in each loop remained in doubt, however. Hottest fight was between Pittsburgh Pirates and Cardinals in the National League. The Bucs belted the gas house gang 4-3 yesterday and took a 2½-game edge. With only three games to play, and Pittsburgh meeting its usual pushover, the cellar dwelling Cincinnati Reds, while the Card stake on their always tough customers, the Cubs, it looks like the Bucs to finish on top.

Fight in American Loop.

In the American League, the White Sox, in third place, 1½ games in front of Cleveland Indians, will have a tough time fighting off the tribe. Just to make it tougher, Tribe clubbed out a twin win over the Sox 6-4 and 4-1 ye sterday, with undefeated Johnny Allen pitching his 15th straight win of the year in the opener, and Bobby Feller fanning 11 in the seven-inning nightcap.

There's an outside chance both Boston clubs can better their current fifth place standing before the season winds up. The baffling Bees, taking a double-header from the Dodgers yesterday 6-2 and 3-2—thereby stretching the losing streak of the Brooklyn beauties to 14 straight—can overhaul the Cardinals by a slim percentage margin if things break right.

The Red Sox may yet wind up in fourth place, although it's doubtful. They didnt do much about it yesterday by gaining only an even break with the Senators, taking the nightcap 9-3 after dropping the opener 4-3 to their old team-mate, Wes Ferrell.

Yesterday's Stars

(By the Associated Press.)

Frank Demaree, Cubs—Drove in three runs in 5-1 win over Reds.

Wes Ferrell, Senators and Jack Wilson, Red Sox—Ferrell fanned seven, allowed seven hits and won opener 4-3; Wilson's eight-hit, five-strikeouts flinging took nightcap 9-2.

Carl Hubbell, Giants, and Pete Sivess, Phillies—Hubbell pitched five-hitter, fanning nine, to take opener, 2-1; Sivess won nightcap 6-2, allowing eight hits.

Jule Solters, Johnny Allen and Bob Feller, Indians—Solters hit triple, single in opener and homer in nightcap, driving in three runs in each game; Allen pitched seven-hitter for 6-4 win over White Sox in opener; Feller fanned 11, gave seven hits and won nightcap 4-1.

Russ Bauers, Pirates—Whipped Cardinals 4-3 with nine hits.

TERRIERS EASILY DEFEAT MONTREAL

ORILLIA, Ont., Oct. 1. —(CP)— Eastern Canada senior lacrosse champions, Orillia Terriers today pointed for a series with Western Canada teams leading to the Dominion championship. The Terriers won the eastern crown last night when they took their second straight game from Montreal Canadiens 27-6.

Dominion champions for the last three years, the Terriers planned to hop through a sudden-death game with Winnipeg Elmwood Pals, October 6, skip through a series with the Alberta champions, Calgary Rangers, at High River, October 8, then jump into the Mann Cup series with the champions of the western coast.

Connell started the Orillia sharpshooters with a goal 15 second after theopening whistle. He grabbed his own rebound and slammed the ball past Eddie Archambeault in the Canadien's nets. The terriers scored 17 goals without a reply from Montreal until the third session when the Canadiens got three of their six goals.

Ernie Curran had the best results for Orillia, sinking five goals. Wandy McMahon was good for four and Kelly three.

Remember When—

(By the Canadian Press).

Dr. J. Lee Richmond, who pitched the first perfect major league baseball game on record, died at Providence, R.I., eight years ago today. On June 12, 1880, Richmond, twirling for Worcester (then holding a National League franchise) set Cleveland down with no runs, no hits and not a man reached first base. The feat has been accomplished four times since.

ROSALIND BETTERS TROTTING RECORDS

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 1.—Rosalind bettered and equalled several trotting standards in capturing the 48th running of the $2,000 Transylvania at yesterday's Grand Circuit meeting.

Her three heats in 2.02, 2 minutes flat, and 1.59¼, tied Greyhound's time for a three-heat race, made last year at Goshen.

The second heat equalled the world's record for a four-year-old filly, held jointly by Miss Bertha Hanover, Tara and Calumet Evelyn.

Rosalind's time for the final heat then gave the four-year-old a clear title.

Driven by Ben White, Rosalind also became the second trotter in history to win both the Kentucky Futurity and Transylvania. She is owned by Gibson B. White of Lexington.

Little Pat took the last two heats to defeat Dominion Grattan in a very fast free-for-all pace event.

Bill Fleming, son of the renowned Canadian Grand Circuit driver, Vic Fleming, who learned his driving in Dundas, Ont., managed a second place in the fourth race of the day. Bill, who was born in Calgary, drove Streamline in second behind Priscombe to share in a $700 purse.

RUSTLE OF SILKS

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 48

IT WAS 10 O'CLOCK.

A small army of porters had cleared away the last of the debris. The salons that had echoed with the cries of the day's activities were restored to order. They were darkened now save for the night lights.

Only in the small office where Mari sat with her secretary did a light burn brightly overhead.

Before her, on a wrapping table, the day's orders were arranged in high mounds. Each pile was arranged in its alphabetical order.

"Go through them again, Letitia. Carefully! We may have made a mistake. It may be attached to another."

Patiently Miss Higgins went through them all again. She shook her head. "There isn't a single one from Mr. Castle. Very strange, too. He's the only one who didn't order!"

"All right," Mari said then. "You'd better go now. You must be hungry. I'll leave presently."

She sat there, how long she didn't know, alone with her bitter sense of failure. And the knowledge that Tony Castle had found her unworthy!

Her hat lay at her hand. She drew it on, draped her sables about her shoulders. Then, with a hopeless gesture, she pulled the telephone toward her.

She said to the operator, "I wish to be put through to Nice. I want to speak to Mr. Mark Sutherland at the Grande hotel."

On the level with her eyes was the booked marked CONFIDENTIAL CREDIT REPORTS. It had been one of Miss Higgins' ideas. A book filled with newspaper clippings bearing on the financial conditions of merchants all over the world.

Mari felt her pulse accelerate, a vague hope stir in her as she shifted the telephone from her right to her left hand and pulled the book toward her.

The operator said she was trying to get Mr. Sutherland. Mari's finger found the C's in the big book.

If Tony were broke. . . .

The operator said there was a slight delay, she'd have Nice in a moment.

Mari spread the page marked C wide open. There were clippings pasted there under big red letters spelling CASTLE. Still holding the telephone, she read the first, read all of them. Her eyes grew wider. The silence about her was filled with music.

One by one, unblinking, she read the headlines:

"FAMOUS 57th ST. SHOP SOLD TO FRUET & CO."

And . . .

"MERCHANT SELLS SHOP TO BECOME PAINTER."

"CASTLE AWARDED FIRST PRIZE IN ACADEMY EXHIBIT."

The last:

"ARTIST REJECTS OFFER OF MUSEUM FOR PRIZE WINNING PORTRAIT."

The prize winning portrait lay there before her eyes — the portrait of a woman with a light glowing in her eyes; a tragic woman in a black gown with her arms upraised. The gown was the one that she had designed for Liane Weston so long ago. And the woman was herself.

She had said, "Tony, don't you see? Only the man who loved her would see her this way?"

For a long time she stared at it, and her smile tasted the salt of her tears.

"Tony," she said softly, "you did love me and I didn't know! This is the way you saw me."

All that she had done, her own mistakes, her own impulsiveness was revealed to her.

Then, very carefully, she put the telephone back on its stand and pushed it away from her.

It was dark in the salons as she walked through them to the bronze doors.

At first, when she saw him standing there before the window where her name was spelled in gold letters, she thought it was a dream. It was a vision she had wanted to see.

For half a minute she stood motionless, her heart in her throat.

Only an instant she paused and then, with wings at her heels, she ran quickly into the locker rooms back of the salon.

"Oh, let him still be there!" she prayed as she wrenched the lockers open one after another until she found what she wanted.

She picked up an old beret, ruffled her smooth hair into curls and pulled on the beret as she had seven years before on a February night.

There was a trench coat in one of the lockers. Her sables fell to the floor, forgotten as she hitched the belt tightly about a waist that was as slim as ever it had been. If only she had a portfolio. There was one in Letitia's office but that was upstairs and he might be gone—

Her heart pounded against her ribs as she ran back the way she had come and let herself out of the bronze doors.

He was still there.

There was a lump in her throat at the thought of his nearness.

He didn't hear her footsteps, hadn't seen her come through the bronze doors.

He was turning away when she slipped her arm through his.

Even as once she had done, he turned coldly, saw her and neither of them had any words. Or any need for words.

Mari swallowed and tried to speak. "Oh, Tony!" That was all she could say, all she needed to say. It told him everything. Even that she knew; that she knew he loved her, that he had paid her the highest compliment he could—he had come across the Atlantic to see her in her moment of triumph. Her eyes, clinging to his, told him that she loved him.

Silently she turned him back toward the big glass window and, blowing there with her breath until there was a veil of steam, she wrote above the name of Maribarat, TONY CASTLE.

Then her eyes opened wide with the pantomime question.

Tony rubbed his fingers across the name, erasing it.

"Oh, no, Tony!"

He pulled out his pockets to show her that they were empty.

"That doesn't matter!"

"This is the reason," he said. He held out his hands that she could never forget were paint-stained now.

With a finger colored an Indian red, he wiped away a tear that slid down her cheek. It wasn't really a tear; it was a diamond that spilled off a corner of the stars that were her eyes.

"I'm broke, darling."

"But you paint! And you can paint in Paris for a few months in the year. Oh, Tony, look!"

Again she blew her breath on the glass. Again her finger traced the name CASTLE. And now the name was MARIBARAT CASTLE.

Again her questioning eyes met his.

"Oh, my darling!" he said as he crushed her hard against his heart. "Will you NEVER get over being impulsive? Please don't!"

The gendarme frowned, twirled his stick importantly, whistled without effect and looked the other way.

"C'est l'amour," he murmured and went on his way.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND HAPPY FRISKY

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Oh! Oh!" whined Frisky the puppy dog when he awakened on his bed of moss where he had been sleeping beside the rabbit gentleman in the woods. "Oh, what has happened?"

"Happened to whom, Frisky?" asked Mr. Longears.

"To me, I guess," whimpered the puppy. "Unless the same thing has happened to you, Uncle Wiggily."

"Nothing has happened to me," said Mr. Longears.

"Can you—can you wag your tail, Uncle Wiggily?"

"We rabbits never wag our tails," said the bunny uncle. "But is there something the matter with your tail?" he asked and he twinkled his pink nose on one side as if he had winked one eye.

"Oh, yes, something dreadful has happened," said Frisky. "I could lift my tail up and down when I went to sleep but now I can't! Look, I can't lift my tail!"

A Suggestion

"Try wagging it sideways," suggested Mr. Longears.

"I—I don't want to do that," said Frisky and he spoke in a cross, unhappy voice.

"Well, that has been the trouble," said Mr. Longears. "Your mother said you would never wag your tail from side to side as you should do, just like your brothers, Jackie and Peetie. So I said I would cure you. And brought you here to the woods to change you."

"Oh, are you going to change me into a hop toad?" asked Frisky.

"No," said Uncle Wiggily and again he twinkled his pink nose on one side like winking one eye. "But I am going to change you from a sad, cross, unhappy puppy into a happy one."

"I don't want to be happy," grumbled Frisky.

"Oh, but you must, you see," said the rabbit gentleman. "Puppy dogs, like real children, must be happy. When children are happy they laugh, sing or smile. When puppy dogs are happy they wag their tails, not up and down as you do, but from side to side."

"Well, I couldn't wag my tail now if I wanted to," said Frisky, whirling around to see what was the matter. "I can't even lift it up or down. There's a stone tied to my tail!" he whined. "Who did that?"

"I did," said Uncle Wiggily.

A Bargain

"Take it off!" impolitely barked Frisky. "I mean please," he added as Uncle Wiggily looked sharply at him.

"No," said Mr. Longears. "That stone will stay on your tail until you promise me to wag it properly."

"All right—I don't care," snarled Frisky. "But I won't wag my tail."

"I think you will change," said Mr. Longears.

Frisky got up and tried to run away but he couldn't. The stone on his tail was too heavy. He tried to snap it off and gnaw it off but he couldn't. Then he tried to wag it off but he couldn't.

"All right, Uncle Wiggily," Frisky whined at last. "I'll be good. I'll wag my tail from side to side if you will take off the stone."

"That's the way to bark!" laughed the rabbit. "Now let me see you give a good wag!" he said. And when the stone was loosed Frisky could wag his tail like any other puppy, from side to side.

"Oh, I am so happy!" he barked. "I'll never be cross again."

And he never was. So if the rice pudding will stop being proud just because it's stuck full of raisins, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's slamming door.

JAPS INVADE DOCK IGNORE PROTESTS

TOKYO, Oct. 1 — (C.P.-Havas). — Japan to-day rejected a British protest against the invasion of the British-owned Shanghai dock and engineering works by Japanese troops to investigate the attempted bombing of the Japanese flagship Idzumo.

The Foreign Office said Japanese traced an ignition cable manipulating a floating bomb aimed at the warship to the compound of the British-owned company.

"It was quite natural for the Japanese forces to investigate the compound for self defence," said a Japanese note in reply to the British protest. "Hitherto the Japanese have respected foreign property rights, putting faith in the owners. Unless the owners give adequate pledges we must take proper steps."

HONG KONG HEADS CALL FOR INQUIRY OF JUNK-SINKING

LONDON, Oct. 1—(CP Cable).—British naval authorities at Hong-Kong to-day ordered an inquiry into the sinking of Chinese junks by Japanese destroyers. Sinking of the junks, denied in Tokyo, had been officially reported to Hong-Kong authorities by the German ship Scharnhorst. The Scharnhorst rescued a couple of the survivors.

One of the objects of the inquiry is to determine whether British interests are affected and whether any persons entitled to British protection suffered injury. The junks were working for a firm with registry from Hong-Kong which gives them certain rights but does not entitle them to the full protection of the British flag. They were attacked on the high seas in the neighborhood of Hong-Kong.

Meanwhile the situation in the Far East becomes more menacing. Japanese bombing of open towns threatens to raise a first-class issue in Great Britain. Every new bombing raid swells the tide of public indignation and horror.

Campaigns to boycott the trade of Japan increases in every city. Pending International action consumers are urged not to buy Japanese goods. Sympathetic shopkeepers may obtain window cards proclaiming to the world they do not sell Japanese products.

Labor Asks Embargo.

The National Council of Labor, supreme co-ordinating authority of the British Labor and Trades Unions movements, demands an international embargo. Clement Atlee, on behalf of the Labor opposition, it is reported, intends to demand parliament meets to consider Japan's "gross infringement of international treaty obligations."

The Ministers engaged on the sessional program are deeply concerned over the Far East and over the insistent demands for action more effective than protests.

On the other hand, there is the record of the League on nations' tragic failure to prevent the Italian conquest of Ethiopia. It was then shown that unless economic sanctions are imposed swiftly and thoroughly they are powerless to prevent aggression. So far, it is learned, the British Government has taken no overt step towards an international trade boycott. But the proposition is under careful scrutiny.

CHINA DEBATES TAXI TAX

Just before the Japs appeared Shanghai, China, was trying to decide whether to tax midget taxicabs.

CHALLENGE LOOMS THAT DUCE PROVE HIS PEACE BOASTS

LONDON, Oct. 1—(AP). — The determined Anglo-French move to end intervention in Spain's civil war challenged Premier Mussolini to-day to prove he meant what he said in his peace offers during his visit to Chancellor Hitler.

The Italian premier was expected by certain diplomatic quarters to counter an invitation to Tri-Power talks aimed at withdrawal of Italian "volunteers" from Spain with a request that both ends of the Rome-Berlin axis be represented.

Whether this would constitute an insurmountable barrier for British and French policy remained to be seen. There was no authoritative comment on the reaction of Paris and London to such a possible counter-proposal.

Great Britain and France were reported agreed on a pressure move to force Mussolini to call Italian troops home from Spain where they have been fighting under the insurgent banner. This would be reopening of the Franco-Spanish frontier to a free flow of munitions.

Great Britain was said to be ready to consider granting belligerent rights to both factions in Spain and possibly to recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia as a compensation for withdrawal from Spain.

Threat To Come Later?

The Anglo-French invitation for Italian cooperation, to be delivered in Rome upon the heels of Mussolini's demonstrative visit to Chancellor Hitler, was not likely, however, to contain any such outright threat to open the border. It may come later.

Already forces of the Spanish government and the insurgents were fighting for areas near the French frontier through which munitions would flow once border control were wiped away.

The Valencia government would be the chief beneficiary of such a move.

Noteworthy in this connection was a Madrid report that General Franco had been forced to withdraw an Italian division from his Gijon offensive to counter-act the government's drive in upper Aragon, near the French frontier.

France was understood to be seeking to exclude definite offers to Italy until the three powers get together at the conference table. Then France, with British backing, might threaten anew to open her Spanish frontier.

Breaking of the last strands of non-intervention in Spain would give a much wider scope to what Spanish quarters already dearibe as an "international civil war."

Besides helping the Valencia government to get fresh armament and munitions, the end of border control possibly would bring a surge of French volunteers to the republican cause.

Informed persons, however, said there was no question of France sending troops to aid Valencia.

Retailers Ask $500 Chain Store Tax

QUEBEC, Oct. 1—(CP).—Quebec Branch of the Retail Merchants' Association was on record to-day as favoring provincial government taxation of chain stores, despite a Quebec Cabinet minister's plea the retailers consider what effects restrictive legislation might have on home industry.

The branch urged a $500 chain store tax at the closing session of its annual convention yesterday, a few hours before Hon. Joseph Bilodeau, Minister of Municipal Affairs, warned the delegates at a banquet to "be careful" in their requests.

Hon. William Tremblay, Labor Minister, told the banquet guests the Government soon would ask retail merchants to increase wages and shorten working hours for employees.

"MAD" MOTORIST ESCAPES.

TIMMINS, Ont., Oct. 1—(CP). — Police are looking today for a careening motorist who last night narrowly missed running down two pedestrians on Hollinger Lane, crashed in the side of a small bridge, carrying away its railing and wound up in a ditch. The driver of the car leaped out and escaped before he could be identified.

Reception Held For Newlyweds

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Oct. 1. — Over one hundred guests arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Orr of the Campbellford Road on Friday evening to do honor to their only son Wallace and his bride, formerly Eva Pearl Grass, who were married on Sept. 15th and had just returned from their honeymoon.

The guests of honor occupied a prominent place in the large assembly, and were showered with numerous and beautiful gifts from their friends after which the groom responded in a few well-chosen words for the gifts bestowed upon them.

The greater part of the evening was spent in dancing with music furnished by Mr. and Mrs. William Hedger and Mr. William Carr.

Following the service of refreshments, dancing was resumed and many personal good wishes were offered to the bride and groom 'ere their friends departed for their homes.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. James Beamish and three children, the former a son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Beamish, arrived in the village on Monday from Willowbunch, Sask., and will take up residence in Ontario. Mr. and Mrs. Beamish have been in the drought area for the past seven years, where they find it is impossible to continue farming.

Mr. Howard Gibbons, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Beamish has also arrived from Saskatchewan and will make his home around Hastings where he has secured employment.

Mr. James Stevenson spent the week-end with his daughter, Mrs. A. Brubacker of Kitchener.

Mrs. Virgil Oliver returned on Sunday from Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough where she had her tonsils removed on Friday.

ALBERTA TO TEST FEDERAL POWER

EDMONTON, October 1—(CP). — Reference to the courts on the right of federal disallowance of the legislation of any province looms as a possible development of the Alberta legislature's special session.

After indicating the government's intention to introduce a bill amending and consolidating the credit of Alberta regulations act, one of three bills disallowed, Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs yesterday disclosed the intention respecting the disallowance test.

"It is the intention of the government to negotiate with the federal authorities with the object of referring the Question of the right of disallowance of provincial legislation, not only on Alberta legislation, but also of all legislation of all other provinces, to the Supreme Court of Canada and if necessary, to the Privy Council, the minister said.

"We are convinced," he added "that the decision of the Privy Council will uphold the contention I have advanced, namely, that the Dominion government has no longer the right to disallow any provincial legislation."

Mr. Maynard was speaking in the debate on a resolution denying federal right of disallowance and expressing determination to implement three Alberta bills disallowed. The resolution was still before the house at adjournment.

D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, J. J. Bowlen, Liberal house leader; and Gerald O'Conner (Lib., Edmonton) opposed the resolution. Mr. Duggan said disallowance was not without precedent and that the resolution was a defiance of federal law.

2 Port Colborne Strikes End

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Oct. 1 (C.P.). — Workers at the Humberstone Shoe Company and the Maple Leaf Milling Company resumed work as usual to-day, strikes at both the plants successfully arbitrated.

The milling plant's production was curtailed more than a week as about 60 employees struck for union recognition and re-employment of one of the members of the local of the National Council of Grain Processors of America. The shoe plant strike involving 400 workers, was short-lived, starting and ending yesterday.

H. H. Knoll, president and general manager of the Shoe Company, was said to have agreed tentatively to practically all the strikers' demands, which included union recognition, re-employment of two men allegedly discharged for union activity, a nine-hour day.

4 ARAB CHIEFS SENT TO EXILE, MUFTI HIDING

British Authorities Fear Invade Mosque

JERUSALEM, Oct. 2.— (AP). — British warships were reported today to be carrying four high Arab leaders toward Seychelles Island in the Indian ocean after a transfer at sea.

The cruiser Sussex, which left Halifax at dawn with Dr. Hussein Khalidi and three others ordered deported, returned later and it was believed the four were transferred to another vessel proceeding directly to the island.

At the same time Jacob Hussien, leader of the Arab youth organization, prevously thought to have fled Palestine, was arrested.

The Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, another object of the drive, clung to the protective holy walls of the Mosque of Omar, protected by a guard of 200 Arabs sworn to defend the Moslem spiritual leader to the death.

They stood at the entrance of the Mufti's private apartments within the holiest Moslem sanctuary in this ancient city.

British authorities apparently hesitated to seize him, for such a trespass upon Arabian holy ground migh stir up disorders even greater than the terrorism they seek to stamp out.

Several Arab leaders were arrested in the swift drive yesterday, precipitated by last Sunday's assassination of the British Commissioner for Galilee and his bodyguard.

CHINESE AND JAPS IN STIFF BATTLE

SHANGHAI, Oct. 2. — (AP).— Chinese and Japanese troops fought each other to a standstill to-day in the fifth day of fighting for Shanghai's north station, where the Chinese defense line is anchored only a stone's throw from the foreign settlement.

While Japanese warships in the Whangpoo river blanketed the area with a barrage of shells, planes dropped demolition bombs on Chapei and several burned, blackened areas formerly in Shanghai's foreign districts.

This correspondent spent several hours with the Royal Welch Fusiliers, within close view of the hand-to-hand fighting centring around the Pantheon theatre.

At nightfall, the Chinese still held the theatre despite a series of Japanese thrusts to dislodge them.

The heavy fighting in the Chapei district resulted in the destruction of one of Shanghai's gayest white-light districts, located on the Jukong Road, once crowded with soldiers and sailors making the rounds of its cabarets, bars and dance halls.

Trick Halts Jap Tanks.

After the Japanese sent wave after wave of tanks against defence positions, the inventive Chinese devised a unique method of stalling the tanks. They shaped torn-up railroad tracks into what looked like inverted cow-catchers.

These held the tanks long enough for Chinese machine-gunners to inflict heavy losses on Japanese infantry advancing behind them.

Chinese commanders said 200 Japanese were killed in close-quarter fighting around the North Station.

Despite stray shrapnel and machine-gun bullets, the British Fusiliers never stopped working to build higher their miniature sandbag fort and to erect barbed-wire barricades to keep both Chinese and Japanese out of the International Settlement.

Gandhi Opens Dry Drive In India

BOMBAY, India, Oct. 2.—(AP).— The ailing Mohandas K. Gandhi's 68th birthday was celebrated to-day with a spectacular prohibition campaign in Madras province.

The brown leader of India's Nationalists, and an ardent temperance advocate, was deluged with greetings from all over the world, but took no part in public celebrations of what physicians feared might be his last birthday.

Gandhi's doctors, believing his life in danger, prohibited him from any work. Awlays frail, his illness has left him in a weakened condition.

4,500,000 Fish Fry Placed In Lakes Peterboro' County

Hon. Harry Nixon Addresses Rallies Held by Elliott at Norwood and Havelock

(By a Staff Reporter)

NORWOOD, Oct. 2.—Recollections by Alex L. Elliott and Rork Ferguson, M.P., of the mass meetings of Peterborough county farmers in 1931 protesting against the steadily increasing taxation of property, and a contrasting review by the Hon. H. C. Nixon, Provincial Treasurer, of the Hepburn government's policy of economy resulting in tax reductions this year were high lights of the Liberal meeting at Norwood Friday night.

Hon. Mr. Nixon was introduced by E. L. Sackville and the other speaker was T. J. Carley who gave a detailed and lucid explanation of succession duties on estates from which he said, the Hepburn government had collected $28,000,000 in the last two years.

Perrin Rork was chairman of the meeting and also on the platform were Dr. Donald Munroe, president of the Peterborough Liberal Association, and Reeve E. N. McDonald, former member of the Legislature for East Peterborough.

A simultaneous meeting was also held in Havelock town hall, where Mr. Elliott, Liberal candidate, was supported by Hon. Mr. Nixon, Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., and Mr. Sackville.

"In 1934 Mr. Hepburn told the people of Ontario the Henry government was grossly extravagant and wasting your money and was pyramiding the debt of the province at an alarming rate," Hon. Mr. Nixon said. "Mr. Hepburn promised to peg the debt, and to bring the revenues of the province into line with the expenditure. He also promised to lighten the burden of taxation which was weighing so heavily on the shoulders of the people, who were least able to carry it, and seriously interfering with our standard of living.

Put Brake On Spending

I can tell you now that Mr. Hepburn had little idea of the colossal task he assumed. It was not until we took over the books that we found the Henry government had been borrowing $6,000,000 a month and spending it. First we had to check the spending machine, the civil servants, and bring about a more stable condition in our own department.

By this time you realize that Mr. Hepburn kept the promises he made to you in 1934. He has brought the expenses of the government into balance with its revenues, in other words he balanced the budget this year, and showed a surplus of $9,300,000, while reducing the debt by more than $33,000,000. And with that accomplishment must be included the lowering of taxes on the ratepayers which meant that we have passed back to you the results of the government's economies.

Repealed Salary Increase

We decided that the first place to start with economies was right at home, and we repealed the $2,000 salary increase to cabinet ministers which Mr. Henry had put into effect in 1930 when the depression was beginning to be felt. Then we

15,000 REDS READY TO JOIN IN STRIKES HEPBURN CHARGES

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Oct. 2 (CP) —Police information that 15,000 Communists were ready to join in labor disturbances anywhere in Ontario led to necessary precautions by the government during the Oshawa General Motors strike, Premier Mitchell Hepburn told a meeting here last night. Because of the information additional police were recruited.

Before an audience in his own constituency of Elgin, the premier told the reason for formation of the special police reserve. Confidential police reports were in the hands of the government concerning the organization of the Communists, he said.

Mr. Hepburn said the same labor organization threatening disturbances in Ontario created a "reign of terror" in the United States. Ontario tasted bloodshed in the brief sit-down strike in a Point Edward foundry where workers drove out the sit-downers.

"All we did was recruit sufficient men to live up to our obligation to maintain law and order," said the premier. He added the government looked for a "wide-open break" at Oshawa between employees in General Motors parts branch who wished to continue work in the face of picketing by strikers.

Mackenzie Shuns C.I.O.

For the first time in the campaign for Wednesday's Ontario elections, a Dominion cabinet minister apeared on the same platform with Mr. Hepburn to support the Liberal cause. Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, said reports of a division in Liberal ranks were without foundation.

Mr. Mackenzie who said the Liberal party was united 100 per cent behind the premier, made no direct reference to the Committee for Industrial Organization. He did not refer directly to the Oshawa strike, the cause of differences between Mr. Hepburn and the Dominion government which refused the premier's call for military support.

Canadian labor will obtain all its rights without "external compulsion or extraneous intimidation," he said. The minister declared he resented spokesmen from other countries discussing election issues in Ontario. Ontario voters should be the sole judges.

"Liberty and authority must be combined and not allowed to clash

Alberta Rejects Protest On Press-Gag Bill.

Refuse to Hear Publishers Who Claim Measure Makes Papers Social Credit Tools

EDMONTON, Oct. 2.—(CP).—Alberta publishers to-day considered their next step in opposing what they termed a bill by which the Alberta government sought dictatorship over the provincial press.

The agriculture committee of the Legislature yesterday defeated a motion to receive a brief from the Alberta division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association and the Alberta Daily Newspapers setting out their opposition to the bill.

Entitled a "bill to ensure the publication of accurate news and information," the measure was attacked by the publishers as dictatorial and designed to control the press. The committee, largest of the Legislature, and to which the bill was referred, refused their submission.

A motion in committee by D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, to report to the Legislature that the committee met, received the submission and took no action on it and append the submission to its report was defeated.

Brands Protest Propaganda

Provincial Treasurer Solon Low said the submission was "a statement of propaganda" and not a brief, while Hon. D. B. Mullen, Minister of Agriculture, ruled the submission out of order. He said the press had been given an opportunity to send a delegation before the committee, but had not done so.

The submission said the proposed legislation "while masquerading in the guise of an act to ensure the publication of accurate news and information, is an attempt to take away from the newspapers of Alberta the fundamental rights and privileges of a free press."

This, the submission added, would "place them in such a position of servitude to the government that they cease to be a free press and become no more than an instrument of Social Credit propaganda."

The publishers further contended they would be forced, under penalties provided in the bill, to publish government statements known or believed to be false and that although the bill says protection against action under the law, on slander and libel is given, the publishers would still be subject to court actions under the Criminal Code of Canada.

For contravention of the proposed measure, given two readings, suspension of publication and fines ranging from $500 to $1,000 are provided.

TORONTO PARENTS SEEKING $100,000

TORONTO, Oct. 4 (CP) — Max Aitken, Toronto lawyer, announced yesterday indemnity of $100,000 would be asked from the Japanese government for death of Lionel Haskell, 21, killed in the Sino-Jap clash in Shanghai. Mr. Aitken is legal adviser for Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Haskell, Toronto, parents of young Haskell.

Late yesterday the mother received word her son died on board the S.S. President Hoover from shrapnel wounds suffered during the bombing of Shanghai Aug. 30. Lionel, born in Hamilton, was employed by the Modern Movie Studios of Hollywood to take pictures for the Chinese government.

The youth left Toronto four years ago to enlist in the United States Navy and in a letter to his 17-year-old brother, Brian, a few weeks ago told of his job taking pictures and said his headquarters were in Yokohama.

Mrs. Haskell received a message from L. H. Westdahl, superintendent of the Dollar Steamship Lines, operators of the S.S. President Hoover. The message said the young man, seaman on the liner, died of shrapnel wounds when the ship was bombed by Chinese planes at Shanghai Aug. 30. The body was buried at San Francisco.

ALBERTA BANKS MAY SHUT DOWN IF ACT PASSES

Amendment To Force Delay Is Thrown Out

EDMONTON, Oct. 2 (C.P.). — With all expected bills before it, the Alberta Legislature stands adjourned until Monday after failure to complete its business and prorogue yesterday as expected.

Debate on the Bank Taxation Bill brought warnings bankse were threatening to close in Alberta and the Act to repeal the Recall Act was criticized as an effort designed to "protect" Premier Aberhart from being unseated in Okotoks-High River constituency where a petition for his recall is being circulated.

The two Bills and five others were advanced through committee stage and now stand for third reading. Several resolutions, including one urging the Government to refrain from submitting a brief to the Rowell Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations, will be further considered.

W. N. Chant, former Minister of Agriculture, and D. M. Duggan, Conservative Leader, made the references to the threat of banks closing. Mr. Duggan said it had been stated some banks would close their doors and Mr. Chant said banks would cease to operate if taxation were too high. An amendment by Mr. Chant to delay proclamation of the Bill until a provincial bank could be established was defeated.

An amendment by J. W. Hugill, former Attorney-General, to delay repeal of the Recall Act for six months after assent was defeated.

DOYLE DISTRESSED OVER ALLEN SUIT

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2 (AP). — Judith Allen's $2,000,000 suit over the love of Jack Doyle is "silly, preposterous and absolutely without foundation" to Delphine Dodge Cromwell Baker Godde, and, she said, today, "I intend to fight it to the last."

Doyle, curly haired, singing prize fighter, upon whose love Miss Allen put the seven-figured value, is "most distressed."

"But it won't make any difference in the plans of my fiancee and myself," said Doyle. "We'll be married in April, 1938."

That will be after his divorce from Miss Allen becomes final and Mrs. Godde obtains one in England.

"Delphine is wealthy, of course," he continued. "Sometimes I wish she were not. But I have $25,000 from the King Levinsky fight."

Miss Allen, who accuses Mrs. Godde of luring Doyle away with expensive gifts and promises of a life of ease, said:

"During our two years of marriage, I sold all my valuables and spent all of my salary to support him. He wrote me many letters while away, pleading for a reconciliation and vowing his love. But I doubted his sincerity.

"I only filed the divorce suit to shock him into appreciation of what he was doing to me."

She offered telegrams and letters to support her contention that Doyle had sought a reconciliation until he met Mrs. Godde.

CIVIL WAR ISSUE NEAR SHOWDOWN WITH MUSSOLINI

LONDON, Oct. 2 (C.P. Cable). — Intervention in Spain approaches a showdown. The Anglo-French note to Italy arrived in Rome to-day. The note proposes conversations between Great Britain, France, and Italy as a concrete, forward step in a firm agreement to leave the Spaniards to fight out their own battles.

But although Premier Mussolini has not yet had time to consider the note it seems destined to meet a cool reception. Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia, to-day publishes a despatch recalling "how many times it has been revealed that Spanish non-intervention cannot be discussed anywhere except in the non-intervention committee in London, which has the necessary power."

If this reflects Mussolini's view, as assumed, it means Italy will insist on referring the whole question back to the non-intervention committee. There it will again have to run the gauntlet of delays and acrimonious debates, with the old difference still unsettled.

Ominous rumors are current Mussolini is preparing a new coup in Spain to ensure a Franco victory before winter. Unconfirmed reports speak of another 80,000 Blackshirt volunteers. Official circles here treat the reports rather incredulously, but there is an obvious feeling of uneasiness over the situation.

LABRADOR TO HAVE REINDEER RANCH

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 2.—(CP Cable.)— The Newfoundland Commission Government published yesterday terms of an agreement with Frederick S. Lawrence of the Explorer's Club, New York, whereby Lawrence would stock reindeer in Labrador, apparently for commercial purposes.

"Without prejudice to the existing mineral, timber and water rights in the areas selected," the Government undertakes to grant Lawrence a ninety-nine year lease on exclusive grazing rights on 1,000,00 acres in Labrador, providing 1,000 reindeer are imported the first year.

Another 1,000,000 acres would be granted the New York man within the next fifteen years if the herd increased to 15,000 reindeer, and a third million acres in forty-five years if the herd increased to 30,000.

Only 2 Employees Found Implicated In Charges Made

Eight Witnesses Are Called By Cohen To Substantiate Charges of Coercion

As the Industry and Labor Board resumed its inquiry into wages and working conditions in the local textile industry, this morning, the chairman, E. J. Young, handed down the Board's judgment relative to charges levelled against Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Limited by J. L. Cohen, attorney for the National Textile Council.

The text of the Board's judgment was as follows:

"When the hearing opened yesterday, Mr. Cohen alleged that the Dominion Woollens Company had intimidated some of its employees, whom it had intended to call as witnesses and had generally violated the spirit if not the letter of the agreement, which settled the strike in the company's mills and which resulted in this inquiry.

"We decided to permit Mr. Cohen to place before us any evidence that he had to substantiate these charges, and we have considered the evidence submitted very carefully.

"We have come to the conclusion that the evidence only establishes that two employees of the company, namely an assistant foreman and an assistant superintendent have been encouraging some of the employees to join a new organization known as the Auburn Employees' Association in preference to the organization represented here by Mr. Cohen.

"In our opinion the evidence submitted does not substantiate the sweeping charges of intimidation made by Mr. Cohen, and we think it most unfortunate that any such serious misunderstanding of the company's attitude should have arisen.

"It is also unfortunate that this spirit of goodwill and conciliation evidenced by both the company and its employees in settling the strike was not also manifested by the assistant foreman and assistant superintendent, above referred to, whose conduct appeared to have been the cause of the complaints.

"Certainly if more good will on their part had been shown, there could not have been apprehension on the part of any employee.

"We desire to assure all employees throughout the textile industry that they have the right to come before the board to give evidence and make representations without fear of discrimination by anyone." Signed, E. J. Young, chairman.

After producing a string of eight witnesses, J. L. Cohen, attorney for the National Textile Council submitted to the Industry and Labor Board at its resumed sittings Friday afternoon, that their evidence had fully substantiated charges of intimidation and coercion which he levelled against Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Limited earlier in the day.

As legal representative for the company R. L. Kellock, K.C., argued that Mr. Cohen had failed to substantiate "very grave charges" against the company, which he declared were made in "a public and sensational manner."

K.C., argued that Mr. Cohen had failed to substantiate "very grave charges" against the company, which he declared were made in "a public and sensational manner."

Declaring that the Board would give careful consideration to the evidence before deciding on the issue, E. J. Young, chairman in adjourning around 5 o'clock p.m., and announcing a night session promised, "If we find there is any ground for believing workers have been intimidated or that any undue influence has been brought to bear by the company, the Board will know how to deal with the matter."

The chairman in reply to Mr. Kellock agreed, "If the Board finds any evidence pointing in the opposite direction it will know how to deal with that also."

Proceedings throughout are being conducted in an informal manner. Witnesses who are not sworn remain seated while giving their testimony, while the rules of evidence are less strictly interpreted than in the courts of law.

Wife Is Left Price Of Noose With Hope She'll Use It

Action Starts Movement In England To End Wills Disinheriting Wives, Children

LONDON, Oct. 2.—(CP)—A husband who bequeathed his wife the equivalent of seven cents to purchase a noose, and added a hope she would make use of it without delay, may ultimately prove to be a benefactor.

The strange request at least has sent a group of parliamentarians into action to put an end to wills that disinherit wives and children.

Headed by Miss Eleanor Rathbone, independent member of Parliament for the combined English universities, a delegation will wait upon Prime Minister Chamberlain before the House of Commons reconvenes late this month to urge introduction of a modern inheritance bill.

For years member of parliament representing all parties have sought to bring English law into line with legislation prevailing in Scotland and some of the dominions.

Proponents of a new inheritance bill, declare incidents of eccentric bequests are all too frequent. Here are two cited:

A London man directed that his wife should be given "one pair of my trousers, free of duty and carriage paid, as a symbol of what she wanted to wear in my lifetime—but did not."

Another left his widow the sum of one farthing to be sent her by post in an unstamped envelope. As the letter contained coin and was not registered, the woman had to pay a registration fee of eight pence in addition to two pence for excess postage.

Students Like Candid Kissing Shots, Faculty's Opinion Differs

London, Ont., Oct. 2 (CP) A CANDID camera shot of a co-ed kissing a flustered freshman adorned the front page of University of Western Ontario student paper, the Gazette, when it came off the press yesterday and precipitated a difference of opinion between the student body and the faculty.

There was no doubt as to the undergraduate reaction. The issue was disposed of in a hurry as the grinning students pronounced it "swell."

Dr. W. Sherwood Fox, president of the university, in passing judgment said: "I don't like it."

The cut-lines were to the effect congratulations were being tendered on the manner in which initiation is being carried out this year.

"To prevent a misunderstanding, it should be pointed out this is not a regular occurrence in the halls," the cut-lines said. "It is merely an example of what has replaced the flag-rush and 'hazing' of former years."

Rowe Aims Replace '38 Licenses With Ones Able To Be Seen

Claims It Won't Cost More Than Hepburn Spends Advertising Sunshine Budget

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 2.—(CP). Ontario's 1938 orange and blue automobile license plates, on sale now in what Conservative Leader Earl Rowe calls an election bribe, are headed for the discard if his party is elected to form the Provincial government.

"After next Wednesday (General Election day) we'll call in these invisible plates and we'll give you license plates that officers of the law can see," he told Hamilton electors last night.

"It won't cost us much,' he said. "Mr. Hepburn says it will cost $30,000. Why has spending that much advertising in the press his sunshine budget and his beer-wine-accident program.

The Conservative leader reached Hamilton on his campaign tour preparatory to a brief swing through South-western Ontario before going to a Toronto meeting Monday night and returning to his home riding of Centre Simcoe to wind up the campaign Tuesday. He will speak today at Simcoe and Niagara Falls.

Question of Lieut.-Col. George A. Drew, Independent Conservative candidate in Wellington South, who resigned as Conservative campaign director several months ago, was raised by a member of the audience. It brought from Mr. Rowe: "Well, he may be with you but he's not with me. He added the party was too big for one or two men.

Returning to a criticism of A. O. Slaght, M.P., for a recent speech saying a Conservative victory would bring a decrease in mine share values and an influx of Communists, Mr. Rowe said the market "already had dropped since he said his millionaire mining friends and Premier Hepburn and 'Sell 'Em Ben' Smith and Buy 'Em George McCullagh played politics with labor."

Favors Power Sites.

Mr. Rowe said he did not contemplate developing the St. Lawrence waterway but he favored development of power sites on the river.

"I ask Premier Hepburn now is it the private power barons that told him to oppose deepening of the St. Lawrence," he said. "It is a challenge to the press which has boasted of public ownership when you see a government asking a mandate to continue Hydro in the hands of private interests."

Mr. Rowe said he would negotiate a treaty with the federal authorities and with the United States to provide for St. Lawrence power developments. He got along better with

Meaford's Lake Trout Fishing Derby Sends Over 100 Fans Out In Rain

Meaford, Ont., Oct. 1 (CP) MORE than 100 fishermen including several women left Meaford Harbor today in 25 motor boats to patrol the bay in search of trout in the first fishing derby staged in fresh water in Canada.

The fishermen donned raincoats and hats and went heavily dressed on the bay in a teeming rain. Two hours later the sun came out and the mercury registered 65 degrees.

President E. N. Arthur and the executive of the Chamber of Commerce who are sponsoring the derby are quite optimistic and believe it will be the biggest success of anything ever held in the town.

in these days of evolution," he said. "Reform and rehabilitation must move together."

Premier Hepburn directed an attack on Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, affiliated with John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization. He charged Mr. Martin made an improper political speech at Windsor Thursday night.

Martin's Gun Episode.

The Premier referred to the Detroit incident in which Mr. Martin was reported to have met a delegation, protesting against expulsion from a union, with a drawn gun. The incident served to demonstrate the type of leader who was aspiring to dictate to Canadian labor, said the Premier.

"A man who adopted the principle of the sit-down strike and lawlessness," he added, "should take no objection even if these people walked right into his room, took possession, threw him out, and remained there until he met their demands."

Mr. Hepburn said Mr. Martin admitted drawing the gun when questioned, but on arriving in Windsor denied he had a gun.

"That's the Martin who wants to have dictatorial powers over the laboring people of Canada. That is the Martin who promised to send C. I.O. money to help Oshawa strikers although none was sent."

"I have been accused of recruiting Provincial Police to intervene in the Oshawa strike," said the Premier, in explaining his actions during the strike. "Well, as a matter of fact, the Provincial Police never went to Oshawa.

"But, I will tell you the reason we took the action we did. We had confidential police reports there were 15,000 Communists organized and ready to take part in any industrial disturbance anywhere in Ontario, not merely in Oshawa, but in Hamilton, Toronto, or any other centre."

Mr. Hepburn speaks in Toronto to-night in support of Liberal candidates in the district.

Prime Minister King that did Mr. Hepburn "although I see he has whispered to some of Mr. King's ministers and I see some of them are helping him in this election. In fact, he's got one speaking for him tonight he called a liar a few months ago."

In a broadcast speech, Mr. Rowe said the reason for an election now was "the Hepburn government knows it cannot remain in office and make new power contracts with outside companies, an admission of mistaken policy and defeat that no government could withstand."

It was obvious Ontario faced a power shortage and "that had the present government remained in office Mr. Hepburn would have been obliged to go begging to the Quebec power companies for additional power."

ON COCKROACH WAR

KITCHENER, Ont., Oct. 2 (C.P.).—Life is just one thing after another for Sanitary Inspector W. H. Rau. The inspector has just finished a clean-up of the crickets on the Baetz Dump in the city's end. Now he finds he must start another clean-up to rid the dump of a cockroach invasion which, the inspector reports, is worse than that of the crickets.

AWAIT DECISION OF THE BOARD

Board, last night were as follows:

Harry Sheps, 43, married, employed at Auburn Mills 13-years. Past 5½ years in shipping department. Maximum earnings for a 50-hour week $16. Earnings since strike: First week 30-hours $9; second week, 33¼-hours, $9.96; third week, 32-hours, $6.90; fourth week, 40-hours, $12; last week 45-hours $13.50. Hourly rate 30 cents.

Robert Woodward, 30, married, employed in Auburn stock room approximately 5 years. Maximum earnings for a 50-hour week $12. Hourly rate 24 cents. Prior to receiving 1½ cent raise about June was getting 22½ cents an hour. Has been losing a day a week since strike on account of slackness. Under normal conditions can make close to $600 per year.

Alphonse Vinette, 36, single, employee of Auburn Mills 20 years. Last 17 years in carding department. Maximum earnings $13.50 for 50-hour week. Prior to April was earning $12.50 for a 50-hour week. Only had one full week since the strike, the reason being he said, "the company has not got the work."

John Hlekay, 34, married, finisher-tender with Auburn Mills 8 years. Maximum earnings $13.50 for 50-hour week. Received $12.50 for 50-hour week prior to receiving raise in April last. Has lost about a day a week since the strike.

Joseph Vinette, 44, spinner at Auburn Mills for 20 years. Maximum earnings for a 50-hour week $16. Hourly rate 36 cents, which was described by Mr. Kellock, attorney for the company as the highest rate paid in the industry on that particular class of work. Witness said he had been on short time since the strike but said it was generally slack at this particular season of the year. He declared there had been no discrimination shown against him by officials of the company.

Each of the five witnesses told the tribunal they were members of the United Textile Workers Union.

Shere Makes Statement.

Receiving permission to make a statement to the Board after testifying as to wages, Shere stated on the day he resumed work after the strike the members of his department were called together and given a "pep" talk by the foreman. "He told us to let bygones be bygones and then said, 'I've handed it out on a silver platter, but now you are going to know what work is'."

He declared members of the department had to get permission when they wanted to go to the washroom, and charged, "We were treated as slaves." Permission to go to the canteen was also refused in working hours, the witness said.

Asked what he meant by the canteen, Shere explained the water was so bad that workers who could afford it preferred to go to the canteen and buy pop to quench their thirst.

Charging discrimination had been shown against himself by the plant management, Shere said he was refused permission to sell tickets he had on a draw for the Textile Workers' Union, but that prior to the strike he had been permitted to sell tickets on all kinds of things, including sweepstakes.

Other workers, including members of the Textile Workers' Union, Shere said, were still being permitted to sell tickets at the plant.

"So it is not a case of discrimination against the Union then?" Mr. Young, in the chair, commented.

Afternoon Session.

A resume of the evidence taken at the afternoon session and bearing on charges against the company which Mr. Cohen made during the course of the morning, is appended.

Alphonse Vinette, an employee at Auburn Mill, who said he had been engaged in the carding room for 17 years, and in the spinning room for three years prior to that time, identified a signed statement he was shown by Mr. Cohen.

On September 30, he said, he was approached by A. E. Johnson, foreman of his department, and was asked to join up in the "company" union. Witness was told it would be to his advantage, he testified.

Stanley Lewington, warp department employee at the Auburn Mill, gave evidence he was approached by Reg. Green, assistant superintendent, and was asked to join the Auburn Employees' Association. "Green asked if I was going to stick with the union or with the other fellows. I said I thought I would stay with the other union (presumably the United Textile Workers' Union), and he said it would be to my advantage to join the union he spoke of.

Witness continued, that Green had told him if there were any fees they would be very small.

Again Approached.

A week later witness was again asked by Green if he thought of joining the A.E.A. and had replied "No."

In reply to a question, the witness Lewington said the first time he was approached on the matter by Green was about two weeks after the strike.

Asked by Fred Bancroft, Labor representative on the Board, "What did you think the term 'the other fellows' meant," the witness said he had believed it to mean the Auburn Employees' Association.

"Did you speak to anyone in the company about this matter?" Mr. Kellock, for the company, asked. "No," was the reply. Witness admitted he had not discussed it with Mr. Cohen until the day previous.

Clifford Trollope, employee at the Auburn Mill for the past three years, declared in evidence he had been approached by Robert Townsley, the gateman. He was crossing the sidewalk to the spinning room, he said, when Townsley asked him if he had joined the union. Witness said he replied that he had not, and Townsley then asked him if he would like to join the "other union."

Witness said he told Townsley he would consider it and let him know later. A day or two later he testified he was again approached by Bob Townsley, and had been asked to go to the gatehouse at five o'clock and learn about the union.

Gatehouse Conferences.

Gordon Ellis, another Auburn employee, said he had seen Peck Barber, superintendent, and Robert Townsley, gateman, talking together "quite frequently" in the gatehouse. They were there pretty nearly every day.

He told the tribunal the Auburn Employees' Association was known around the plant as "Ottney's Union" (laughter). Ottney is dyehouse foreman.

Questioned by Mr. Kellock as to which part of the plant he worked in, witness said he could observe the gatehouse from where he was working. "This morning I watched closely, because there was one person fired last night for smoking."

Pressed as to his reason for keeping a watch on the gatehouse, Ellis said, "I understood Bob Townsley was organizer of a scab union and I was always interested in seeing the working of such things." He described the Auburn Employees' Association as "a company union," but could provide no definite information on which he based his belief that it was a company union.

Clifford Willis, employee of the Auburn Mill for 2½ years, said he had take a questionaire to Robert Sutherland when he once had occasion recently to go over to the dye house. "I asked him if he would fill it out, and he told me his boss, Ed Ottney had advised him not to," witness said.

Says He Was Laid Off

Arthur Pond, employed in the Auburn dye house for 13 years, said the basis of his complaint was that he was not getting as much work as other employees in his department, and that an employee of the raw stock department had been put on his job in the piece dye house while he was laid off.

He admitted, under cross examination by Mr. Killock, that after his complaint had found its way to the management, he had received a letter from Mr. Leybourne. He got the letter on September 24 through Mr. Ottney. It told him the mill was operating below production, and in view of the small volume going through the department, his services were not readily required.

Witness agreed with Mr. Killock that the letter pointed out he had received more work during the previous four weeks' period than other employees and that the complaint was unjustified, but he said he did not go to Mr. Leybourne about the matter after receipt of the letter.

Mr. Cohen.—"Your statement is that some other employee had been brought in since the strike to do a job formerly done by you and that man was a non-union employee." The witness agreed.

Asked by Mr. Young, chairman, how he got along with Ottney, his foreman, the witness Pond replied, "All right sir, I like him as well as ever I liked him."

U.T.W. Secretary

Alex. Townsley, secretary of the United Textile Workers local, and employee of the Auburn weaving department for 7½ years and an employee of the company for 11 years, said he had received from union officials a questionnaire form to be filled out with particulars of employees' names, earnings, experience and so on. He had copies made for all employees in the mill and furnished them to a number of people in the mill for further distribution among the employees.

He asserted Mr. Barber, the superintendent, had come to him in a "vicious attitude," and told him "things have gone too d—— far."

Witness said Mr. Barber had accused him of having given authority to some of the employees to hand out the questionnaires in working hours, an accusation which he had denied. He declared that later out in the mill yard, "Mr. Barber was so vicious he started to push me around. He pushed me into the gatehouse and said I had gone exceptionally far."

Afterwards, witness claimed, the superintendent sent for Miss Pattison. "He asked her if I had given authority for her to pass out questionnaires in working hours, and she replied 'No'."

He declared he had seen his brother, Robert Townsley, in conference at the gatehouse with Mr. Barber.

Mr. Young.—"You belong to one union and your brother to another union?"

"Yes."

"The company union," Mr. Cohen interjected, in the face of a protest from Mr Strickland who asked the Board, "How long have we to put up with this sort of thing?"

Not Counting Foremen

Asked by Mr. Kellock as to the number of employees in the United Textile Workers local, Alex. Townsley replied there were 477 union members. Two-thirds of the Auburn employees, he estimated, were members of the union; but he added, "That's not counting in the foremen."

Mr. Kellock.—"You do not take kindly to the presence of another union?"

"I am not unfriendly to them."

"They why should they be referred to as scabs?"

"Because they went back to work two days before the strike was settled."

He admitted he had himself used the term "scab" on occasion, but stated he had been very lenient in the use of the term.

Witness said, in reply to further questioning by Mr. Killock, he had prepared questionnaires for every employee in the plant, but not all questionnaires were distributed because Mr. Barber had objected and had stopped their distribution.

Some of the questionnaires had possibly been distributed in working hours, though witness said he knew of no rule of the company against it.

Union Espionage System

Townsley was queried at some length by Mr. Kellock as to the "conferences" he had observed in the gatehouse between his brother and the superintendent and when asked how he could spare the leisure time to keep such extended watches, the witness replied, "I have seen them myself and I have been informed."

He was quite frank in stating that watch had been kept on the gatehouse and that the "conferences" had been timed. The reason for such action the witness explained was that "since the Auburn Employees' Association came into existence, Barber has been the mainstay and the big push in it. It was not the right thing in view of our agreement which says there shall be no discrimination. I have been trying to live up to the terms of the agreement."

Answering a question directed by the chairman of the Board, the witness admitted it was a part of the union policy to keep a watch on the people going into the gatehouse.

Later he told the Board that A.E.A. questionaires were given to the night foremen and were distributed during working hours. He said Arthur Dainton had seen the questionaires being distributed.

Organized After Strike

Replying to Mr. Bancroft, labor representative on the Board, Townsley believed the A.E.A. was organized at the plant two days after the strike terminated. He claimed the A.E.A. questionaires were distributed to the best of his belief during working hours.

Joseph Vinette, nineteen years in the Auburn spinning department who was a member of the Negotiating Committee during the strike, said there was a lay off on some of the machines. Numbers 1, 2, 3 and 4 were laid off on the day shift. The boss stated he was doing it that way so he could keep track of the lay offs. On the night shift however, witness claimed that procedure was not adopted. He said employees on machines 3 and 4 were laid off; operators on 1 and 2 were kept on and two other members of the department were laid off. He declared all the men laid off on the night shift were union employees.

He said he took up the grievance with Mr. Barber at a conference which was also attended by Reg Green, assistant superintendent and the spinners. "I said to Mr. Barber there is an agreement here and all you have to do is go by that and there will be no trouble about discrimination."

The witness claimed Mr. Barber had said he did not care a damn about the agreement.

"I reminded him that Mr. Barrett's name was on the agreement and he said, 'I don't care whose name is on it'," the witness told the tribunal.

This testimony concluded Mr. Cohen's case with respect to the charges he sought to substantiate in which he alleged intimidation and coercion of employees by the company.

Called as the sole witness for the company, Peck Barber, superintendent of Auburn Mill for the past 2½ years speaking with reference to the conversation he had with Townsley about the distribution of questionaires, said that the overseer of the mending room Miss Jessie Pattison came to him and told him one of the employees had asked permission to pass some papers around. She could not give that permission without his authority, witness said.

Refused Prmission

He said he had refused his permission because it was an unwritten rule there should be nothing passed out in the plant during working hours. Miss Pattison had insisted that Townsley had told her to pass the papers out.

"I saw Townsley and asked if he had given instructions to Miss Pattison to hand out forms in the mending room and naturally we had a few words over it. I do not recall them now. But we will let that pass."

He agreed that Miss Pattison when confronted by Townsley had agreed that Townsley did not instruct her to pass the questionaires out during working hours. Witness told the Board he did not know the purpose of the questionaires at the time he had the conversation with Townsley, a few days ago.

First intimation that another union was being organized at the plant, he said, was about three weeks ago. But nobody had seemed able to give him any definite information about the Auburn Employees Association.

Warned Overseers

On speaking to an employee about the matter—an employee who was not an overseer but a worker named Russell — Mr. Barber declared he was assured there was nothing wrong. Subsequently, he said, he warned every overseer in the plant to be particularly careful not to use their position to influence any of the workers one way or the other. "I did not want myself or the company to be liable for anything of this kind," he stated.

Denies Knowledge.

Emphatically Mr. Barber denied any knowledge or connection with the Auburn Employees' Association, which Mr. Cohen had charged was a "company union," and he said that he did not know of his knowledge of any papers having been passed out in the mill during working hours. He had heard it said he agreed, that papers had been passed out by both organizations within a period of ten days, but had issued no instructions concerning the matter.

Mr. Kellock: "Have you given any instructions or have you any knowledge of any policy of discrimination in the handing out of work? Did you give instructions that any one who participated in the strike should be discriminated against?"

"No, sir."

Regarding his frequent visits to the gatehouse which Mr. Barber did not deny, he claimed he went there to see Bob Townsley with regard to distribution of work and in connection with a new system that had been introduced of keeping a more complete record of employees' Christian names and other data relative to their dependents, and so on.

He denied any suggestion that his visits to the gatehouse had anything to do with formation or organization of the Auburn Employees' Association.

First Position in Canada

Cross-examined by Mr. Cohen, he said that prior to coming here as superintendent he had worked for thirty-one years in Connecticut. His position at the Auburn Mill was his first in Canada.

"A John Lewis concern," Mr. Cohen suggested.

"I do not know who you mean," Mr. Barber retorted.

"Our friend Cohen knows him well," Kellock commented.

With reference to the "gatehouse incident," Mr. Barber said he had spent more time there since the strike than before. He had been required to put in more time there, he explained, "because Townsley has our labor records. I like to see who the employees are. How old they are and who their dependents are."

"What aroused that interest?"

"We have got to the place where we have go to know our employees better."

"Get a line on them," Mr. Cohen suggested.

"Yes. If you like to put it that way."

Mr. Barber agreed that he knew the day previous that both groups had been distributing questionaires and that they would be used in connection with the inquiry of the Industry and Labor Board.

Reverting to the "gatehouse incident," Mr. Barber said it was true he had been angry with Alexander Townsley, but said it was due to a misunderstanding. "The matter was wrongly interpreted to me in the first place," he said.

Disclaims Knowledge.

As to Alphonse Vinette's statement that A. E. Johnson, assistant foreman, had asked Vinetie to join the "other union," Mr. Barber had no knowledge. He further disclaimed any knowledge of Greene, the assistant superintendent, having approached Bewington with regard to joining the A.E.A.

Asked to assume that such conversations had taken place between an assistant foreman and assistant superintendent with workers in the plant, Mr. Barber was asked what his attitude would be towards such a thing. He replied: "I don't know just how to put it. Is it not within a man's jurisdiction to ask another man a question? I cannot see that it is of any more consequence than if they had asked the time of day."

In further reply to Mr. Cohen, witness stated, "Had I known Green said such a thing to a worker, I'd have told him to keep his hands off."

"He was a little blunt about it, was he not?" Mr. Cohen suggested.

"I don't know that he was."

Mr. Barber told the chairman of the Board he received his instructions from the office and from his directors. He said he had received no instructions regarding a "company union." The policy of the company, he asserted, was to treat all employees alike with partiality to none.

Question Unanswered

"Seeing that Bob Townsley, an official of the Auburn Employees' Association is your industrial officer, with all the records of your employees, including their dependents, wouldn't that lead to an inference?" asked Fred Bancroft, labor representative on the Board. "You didn't give that privilege to officers of the other union?' (Silence.) "Is it true, as a witness has said, you didn't give a continental about that agreement for settlement of the dispute?"

"I don't know I made such a remark. I don't think I made it in those words," Mr. Barber replied.

"You said you heard about three weeks ago that the Auburn Employees' Association was in existence?"—"Yes."

"How long did you know Bob Townsley was secretary of it?"—"Not until to-day," Mr. Barber answered.

You Just think You're Steering, EARL!

Vote Liberal and Keep the Old Henry Gang Out

IT'S all right to let Earl Rowe kid himself that he is steering and running the Conservatives, but the electors don't want to let Mr. Rowe kid them into believing that he is leading a new, clean, thoroughly purged Conservative party. The same "old Henry gang" is managing the Rowe boat. The "old Henry gang" think that they were beaten by "some mistake" in 1934. On Wednesday, October 6th, show them that it was no mistake, but that you were in deadly earnest when you voted them out and that you want them even less today.

IT'S conceded throughout the Province that Hepburn is going back as Premier. It is, therefore, in the interest of every voter in Peterborough County and Peterborough City that they elect a Government Supporter. Vote ELLIOTT and have a friend at court.

Conservative Press Concedes Election to Hepburn

. . . "The party leaders have apparently learned nothing from the overwhelming defeat suffered in the last election. The rump of the discredited Henry government is still directing the policy of the great Conservative party and it may have to be purged in the fires of defeat once more before the party gets a new lease of life and plays the important part it should play in shaping the destinies of this Province."—(Front page editorial in Toronto Evening Telegram of Wednesday, September 15th).

. . . "We have been considering the possibility that Mr. Hepburn will sweep Ontario at the forthcoming election in the same thorough-going fashion as he did in the last election. And it does not make us happy. We have admired Mr. Hepburn in a great many ways and the record of his administration is by and large an excellent one."—(Front page editorial in the Toronto Saturday Night of August 28th.)

When the leading Conservative Daily cannot support the leader of the Conservative party and when the leading Conservative Weekly admits that the record of the Hepburn administration is an excellent one, the electors of Peterborough will have no difficulty in deciding to

Biblical Thoughts For The Shut-Ins

By Rev. E. R. James, Toronto

THE TWIN BROTHERS

"Jacob said unto his father: I am Esau thy first born."—Gen. 27:19.

A familiar and famous story of the Old Testament. Word pictures drawn by a master hand. How clear is the statement: "I am Esau thy first born." Jacob has purchased the birthright for a mess of pottage, surely he is also entitled to call himself the first born.

In those ancient days names stood for outstanding characteristics. The ruddy, rosy babe is called Esau—the red, the ruddy one. The babe seizing upon his brother's heel is called Jacob, the supplanter, a horrible, yet characteristic name. He becomes a supplanter indeed, shrewd, clever, cunning man.

Esau appeals to us because he is a daring hunter, a man of the wilds, who is ready to fight or to go down with colours flying. His peace loving father is attracted to the boy because he shows those very characteristics which are wanting in him. Isaac is the quiet, home loving man; no aggressor, no violent fighter. His one desire is to be left alone to sit under his own vine and fig tree. On the other hand the active, clever, forceful Rebekah is drawn to her quiet, silent son Jacob and is her favourite.

But the chief difference between the two is that one has a spiritual sense which under God's guidance may develop but which the other has killed, destroyed early in life.

To Esau the material things of life make the all important appeal. He is hungry, ravenously so. He smells the appetizing potage. His birthright cannot save his life. "Man shall live by bread alone," is his principle. He sells his birthright for the temporal satisfaction of his hunger. Jacob sees that there is something in the birthright. It has a spiritual value in his eyes. Later his father's blessing also has a spiritual value. They are words but words that have a meaning. He is quite willing to deceive his father in order to obtain that blessing, that spiritual blessing. The writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews calls Esau a profane person, an impious man, a man who has no sense or faculty for God.

Jacob wins his blessing by deceit. He has set in action the law. It works slowly, gradually but surely. He has deceived his brother in his birthright and in his blessing. Years later Jacob is deceived in two things by Laban; in his wife and his wages. Jacob committed a grievous wrong against his brother; Jacob's sons in due time deceived their father when they sold his favourite son, Joseph, into the house of bondage in Egypt. Jacob acted a lie to his father; Jacob's sons acted a lie to their father. Jacob used a kid of the goats to deceive his father; Jacob's sons used a kid of the goats to deceive him when they showed him the blood stained coat of his favourite son, the coat of many colours.

A farmer boasted that he ploughed, sowed and reaped his best lands on the Sunday and had a splendid harvest. The thoughtful reply was given: "God does not always settle his accounts in the fall of the year."

No wonder that Jacob, standing as a very old man before Pharoah and asked his age added: "Few and evil have been the days of my life"—a touching but true review.

Through pain, suffering, disappointment and struggle Jacob slowly advanced to a real spiritual gift and change of name. At Jabbok he conquers and becomes Israel, the Prince with God.

Christian Sonship

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lessons for the next three months are to be "Studies in the Christian Life," the lesson for Oct. 3 on the topic "Christian Sonship" being based on I. John, chapter 3, with the Golden Text, John 1:12, "As many as received him, to them gave he the right to become the children of God, even to them that believe on his name.")

"THE DISCIPLE Jesus loved" is eminently qualified to speak to Jesus' disciples about the requirements of discipleship as he does in this epistle, which, written later than Revelations, is the Holy Spirit's final message to us in the Scriptures.

The Children of God

John never ceased to be amazed at God's love in being willing to adopt us into his family and bestow upon us the standing and privileges of his children. "Behold what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the children of God." This is not our right, but God, in great love bestowed it on us through faith, in which we manifested a desire for membership in God's family. But this family privilege carries with it a certain responsibility, viz., we should resemble somewhat or "take after" the Father whose children we are: "Beloved, now are we children of God, and it is not yet made manifest what we shall be. We know that, if he shall be manifested, we shall be like him; for we shall see him ever as he is. And everyone that hath this hope set on him purifieth himself, even as he is pure." The life of purity is required of those who belong to the family of a holy God. Sin will be hated by God's children because "he (Christ) was manifested to take away sins; and in him is no sin...whosoever abideth in him sinneth not." While the Christian may commit acts of sin he will not permit himself to "keep on sinning" in a state of habitual and willful sin.

The Life of Love.

Not only will God's children strive to live lives of holiness but also lives of love. In fact love becomes the proof of our kinship with God: "We know that we have passed out of death into life, because we love the brethren." Brotherly love is the Christian's "grade card" showing he has "passed" in the school of Christ. "My little children, let us not love in word, neither with the tongue; but in deed and truth. Hereby shall we know that we are of the truth, and shall assure our heart before him, whereinsoever our heart condemn us." The loveless life not only is a godless life but it brings its condemnation into our own hearts. Furthermore it restricts and hinders our prayer life: "Whatsoever we ask, we receive of him, because we keep his commandments...And this is his commandment, that we should believe in the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, even as he gave us commandment."

Night – Silent Sentinel

The twilight, as it bids farewell to the long, clear day, the day that recedes faintly, whilst the sun is sinking slowly behind the cloud-capped ridges of the enchanted West, that very twilight extends a joyous welcome to the dimly-creeping night, the night that hurls defiance at the sun, the night that holds supreme sway over this ever-moving world, until, at the dawn of day, the royal sovereign of the skies emerges silently and triumphantly, from his distant hiding-place, clothed in all the glory and dazzling splendor of his regal state, and, busts forth, smilingly through Eastern fretwork of heaven and illumes the globe for the sons and daughters of men who leave the vastness of their prison-homes, to wage fresh battles in the grim struggle for life and to meet troubles and trials, greater, perhaps, than the ones borne with fortitude and resignation, yesterday, and the many yesterdays that had gone before.

Daybreak, followed by the long, long day, although the herald of our hopes is yet the trumpet-call of our fears; nightfall, the advance-guard of the all too short and witching night is the flickering shadow of our dreams, the harbinger of another span of nocturnal bliss.

Day is a stern, unbending taskmaster and exacts a heavy tribute from the eyes, the tongue, the brain, ay, from the whole body, a tribute that must be met, a tribute the ransom of all the joys and pleasures of our waking hours.

Night, dark, gloomy night, gives us rest and peace and sleep; night, imprisons us in our walled sleeping-chambers, and, yet sets us free; night releases us from our heavy, slanking day-chains, and gleefully pretends to bind us with her delicate, silken cords.

Night, black, ebonised night, is the friend of all weary-laden men and women and children, and helps them to forget their jealousies, their spites, their ambitions, their enemies, and themselves, and, for such a priceless gift, neither praise nor gratitude is ever sought.

Night, kindly, beneficient, loving, black night, the sweet antidote to the poisoned and bitter shafts of the day, the solace of those weighed down with grief, the divine balm of dependent humanhood, the anointed treasure trove of heaven, the silent sentinel of the sleeping race, the refreshing and cooling draught of God, drawn from the well—spring of nature, to quench the day-fires of hate and anger and to cool the parched souls of men and women after the fateful struggles of the dreary day.

Night, with its stygian darkness, its inky and mysterious mantle, its awful, its dreadful black, a black which invokes the envy of the raven; night, with its jet-like shroud, its rich pall of charcoal hue, a pall that envelops the earth, and, wafts us into the region of fitful slumbers and glad repose, there, to dream dreams, to float heavenwards in our imagination, to revel in fancy over the happy days of our simple childhood, to shake hands with the dear friends who have gone to other climes to exchange greetings with those who have passed away, to conjure visions of the bright days to come, to mould high ideals for the morrows that are to be.

Speed on, speed on, thou troublesome and peace-destroying day, speed on to the boundary line of thy vast dominion, speed on with the celerity of the swift-winged swallow, speed on and outpace the fairy feet of Time, if thou can'st; hasten from us, thou sad and sorrowful day and so make way for the fleeting moments of the all-short night, moments, alas, that pass all too swiftly, moments, that must quickly give way to the violent hours of the morrow, the leaded and dismal hours of the long day

THINGS WENT TOO FAR

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 2—(AP).—Talmadge Stanley laughed when he threw his new $10 hat and it landed in President Roosevelt's car. He chuckled again when the President kept it. He still was able to shortly after 50 friends had 'phoned to "console" him. He drove to the post office to see if a member of the Presidential party had returned the headpiece and managed to grin when it wasn't in the mail.

But things went too far—while he was in the post office someone stole his car.

A National Message

The economic system under which the civilized world has been carrying on is subject to challenge on a scale the magnitude of which has not been experienced in any former period of economic history.

The system in to which civilization has drifted is old in its beginnings, but modern in its complexities and application. How far back in world history the present system has its roots it is hard to say. But that the roots of the system are laid nearly bare in the time of Nebuchadnezzar, we are assured. Therefore the system is at least twenty-five hundred years old.

The great system of world empire was erected in the days of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon. His reign began about 604 B.C. This is the approximate date of the dream image set forth and interpreted in such dramatic manner in the second chapter of Daniel.

Later in the lifetime of Nebuchadnezzar there was arranged the great pageant marking the setting up of the "image of gold." As we have shown elsewhere there were called to take part in the great function all the political and financial officers of the kingdom: namely, "the princes, the governors, the captains, the judges, the treasurers, the counsellors, the sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces." They came to witness the establishment of the "image of gold." In modern times we should say the ceremony was the inauguration of the gold standard as the economic basis of the empire. No priest or religious personality was called to take part in the great function.

The gold standard is the economic system which has prevailed in the empires of world civilization right down to the present day. Needless to say, it was not the system ordained of God for Israel; it was not the economics of the Kingdom of God as laid down in the Bible. It is of the utmost importance to note that the rule of all these things was given into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar and his successors for the limited period of two thousand five hundred and twenty years, or the seven times of prophecy.

The series of empires were established in 602 B.C. and were chartered to run for two thousand five hundred and twenty years. Accordingly, in 1918-19 a number of the empires passed away like some aged person whose passing excites no comment, as it comes in the course of nature.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

Most men realize that bodily sickness follows bodily excesses, but if they only realized that for every moment of pain unnecessarily inflicted upon any other living creature they themselves must suffer a worse pang, would not the world be a better place? Yet this is so, for the law must be fulfilled; the scales of Eternal Justice be balanced. Every man's life and circumstance is the sum total of cause and effect in this and other lives. He who would solve the mystery of the universe must first solve the mystery of his own being.

In the ordinarily accepted sense there is neither reward or punishment, there are only results of our own thinking, willing and doing, for as we sow so also must we reap and none can escape the consequences of their acts. The law and the fulfilment of the law is love. As we dwell either in the love centre or in the self-centre so are we in heaven or in hell, for the kingdoms and the principalities and the powers of both good and evil are within us. The more we seek outside of ourselves for peace and happiness, the more they elude us; rather should we seek within for man is the epitome of all that was, is, and will be. He is the link between the lower and the higher worlds and so partakes of both in his nature; his freedom is that of choice between the higher and the lower and he receives the consequences of his choice. He can either climb the mystical ladder of progression from life to life, higher and yet even higher until he becomes even as the great examples of the past, a true Initiate; or he can remain as he is, buffetted by the results of his own acts, living in suffering and misery, pain and sorrow, returning ever and ever again to his self-made hell, until at long last he learns by bitter experience and sets his faces toward the Light of his Father's house.

He who lives in his self-centre is not of God but he who lives in his God-centre is of the brotherhood of Christ. And this is at the core of all the sacred mysteries; that man can either dwell in the darkness of the separate self-centre or he can aspire and be dead to self so that God may manifest through him and unite with him. This was taught from the beginning. In ancient Atlantis and the long-lost continents of the Pacific it was known. All the great Avatars, Krishna and Orpheus, Buddha and Jesus, proclaimed it; the redemption of man by God-in-man. There is no other way for it is the way of the Christ.

There are three stages of preparation, the first is that of worthiness (Chreston). The second (Mystal) in which we see, not clearly, but dimly as through a veil, and the third is where enter into the light of the new day and our eyes are opened to the splendor of the Vision. Then and then only do we enter fully upon the Way of the Cross that leads beyond the stars.

Makes History

Mrs. Julia Ehrentreu (ABOVE) made history in New York when she was chosen as first woman foreman in the debut of women jurors in New York courts. Testimoney in a divorce case had to be modified, and attorneys were warned against the use of involved legal terms. These were the only concessions made by New York courts at the new co-ed juries.

Christian Youth Fellowship

Attendance at the Christian Fellowship of Youth at St. Paul's Church last Sunday more than justified this new after-church venture. This week, after the usual hymn-sing, Dr. Barr will answer the question, "If God made everything, who made evil?" This question was put to Rev. Dr. Warr, minister of St. Giles's Cathedral, Edinburgh, by a young man.

Cline Case Report Not Complete

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 2 (CP).—The prosecution will not be prepared to continue tomorrow with the preliminary trial of Dr. C. A. Cline, 70, charged with murdering Miss Mary Wilkinson, 37-year-old London school teacher, it was learned today.

Crown Attorney Norman Newton will ask Magistrate Menzies to adjourn the hearing until a later date. The reason is that the report of Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico-legal expert for the Attorney-General's Department, will not be ready.

Colombia will build a communications building costing over $1,000,000 in Bogota.

To Start Series At St. Andrew's

Rev. E. W. Young will begin a series of sermon on Dr. Jesse H. Arnup's book, "A New Church Faces a New World", in St. Andrew's church on next Sunday morning. He will review the opening chapter entitled, "From Sea to Sea." In this section Dr. Arnup sets forth in glowing terms the romance of the founding of Christianity in Canada, and gives us a vivid picture of the leaders of the three churches which today form the United Church of Canada.

Dr. James McGregor founded the Presbyterian church in the Maritimes and Newfoundland. The saddlebag preachers in Nova Scotia and Upper Canada, include Major George Neal, William Losee, and Henry Ryan, who travelled wide circuits from Cornwall to Detroit. John Black, the Apostle of the Red River, built the famous Keidonan church, and founded Manitoba College. Ephriam Evans opened up the Fraser Valley in British Columbia for Christ and the Gospel.

This thrilling story of the work of the Spirit of God amongst the early settlers will be retold, and it is a story which should be known by every person who loves the Christian church. Dr. Arnup's book will be the study book for womens missionary societies, young people's union's, men's clubs and other groups throughout the United Church of Canada for the coming year.

Christian Sonship — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

St. John, "the disciple Jesus loved," is well qualified to write to us regarding the privileges and duties of Christian discipleship as he does in this epistle.

In his old age he wrote this letter, stressing the subjects of love, life and light. God's love in regarding us as his children was the truth he emphasized.

John wrote, "Hereby know we love, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren."

He urged that Christians share with their needy neighbors. Those who refused to do this had not the love of God (GOLDEN TEXT—John 1:12.)

It Is Hard To Believe

The first step has been taken in the Alberta Legislature to regulate newspapers. Here is a summary of one of the first provisions:

The Chairman of the board constituted by The Alberta Social Credit Act is given authority to enforce publication of any statement furnished by him affecting the objects of any government policies, the means being taken or intended to attain such objects, and difficulties encountered in their achievement.

The length of any statement or of any number of statements required to be published in any issue of any newspaper shall not exceed in the case of a daily paper one page, and in the case of any other newspaper one-tenth of the total issues.

Each such statement shall have written upon it: "The foregoing statement is published by the direction of the chairman of the Social Credit Board."

Then there is provision made by which a newspaper must at once present to the Social Credit authorities the names and addresses of all persons from whom they secured any information contained in the paper; likewise the name of any individual in the employ of the office who wrote any item in the paper, and there are fines in big figures for disobedience.

That is just about the system which is used in Russia, Germany and Italy. It is not the system used in Britain, United States or Canada where there is a free press answerable only to the courts if injury has been done.

The enormity of the Alberta demands is hard to grasp. It would mean, if transferred to this province, that the Hepburn government, or any other government which happened to be in power, could forward to the Examiner today sufficient copy to fill a page and this paper would be obliged to publish it next day. It might be and could be the veriest sort of propaganda, and it might contain material to which the Examiner objected, but it would have to be published. And the government would pay this paper not one dollar for the expense of publication.

There is also provision whereby a writer who gives offence to the government because of his critical attitude can actually be thrown out of employment. And this is taking place in Canada. It not only concerns newspaper publishers but the readers of papers and the public as well. This way: If a man working in a factory desired to write a letter to his paper giving his views upon some important question, and for his protection and the protection of his job he used a pen-name—then the government could demand the name of the man who wrote the letter. And that is something a newspaper would never divulge. It is a matter of confidence between the publisher and his correspondent.

The government of Alberta is coming boldly to the front and it demands the right to control and dictate to newspapers, and the next logical step will be to smother and blot out freedom of speech. There may be a number of publishers fined to the point where they will have to go out of business, and there may be a number of them sent to jail, because they will never submit to the un-British efforts of a government which seeks to inject something entirely foreign and highly dangerous into the methods of this country.

Wages—$6 Per Week

The driver of a laundry truck in Waterloo was in magistrate's court at Guelph because he had been stealing from a gasoline station. Magistrate Watt heard evidence showing the truck driver had been receiving wages of $6 per week, and the magistrate was moved to remark it was a positive disgrace for any firm to pay a man $6 per week and expect him to live on it. Right.

The magistrate gave the driver 15 days in the county jail, claiming he might easily have been tempted to steal on account of the paltry sum he received as wages. Right again.

The magistrate might have gone further and stated that wages of that sort is a partial explanation of why quite a number of people are today termed reds because they object to the way in which they are being treated by those who employ them.

Radio In Elections

The Board of Governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Commission at its next meeting will consider the extent to which radio is going to be used for election purposes in future. The feeling undoubtedly is that it has been used far too much. The British system is to restrict radio to a few addresses by party leaders, and that is sufficient.

There are too many people on the air who are not entirely appreciative of what they are saying. And they never hesitate to turn loose all the damaging material they have been able to collect, regardless of the fact it is being sent far beyond the limits of this country.

We noticed a few days ago where one newspaper made a check-up to find to what extent a certain broadcast of an election speech was being followed. The reporter kept on until he secured 40 replies from the telephone at the hour of the broadcast. He inquired if there was a radio in the home, and then asked what particular programme was on just then. He found in the 40 homes there were 27 radios; in some cases the reply was "an orchestra is playing," but no name or station was given; others were listening to anything that might be coming from one of their favorite stations; in nine places the radio had not been turned on; in two places the man of the house was home alone and he was reading and did not want to be bothered by a radio. When the reporter was finished with his task he found out of forty calls made there were three places where the political address was being heard. And that was in a city where the radio is most frequently used in the home.

All of which causes us to believe the radio is somewhat of an overrated factor when it comes to trying to drive a political address home. We dare say the percentage of listeners who would follow an address by the leaders of political parties would be higher, but truth is people want a radio particularly for entertainment.

Regulations Do Not Agree

There have been a good many regulations passed to govern wages and working hours and conditions, but being passed by different governments they do not agree. Plans are under way to erect a Federal building in Kitchener. The confusion between Ontario and Ottawa labor regulations comes this way.

Under the Ontario code the laborer can work for nine hours a day, but under the Federal regulations he can work but eight hours a day when employed on a Federal building. The laborers say they want to work on the Federal building but under the Ontario code so they can earn an extra 40 cents per day.

The Ontario code says a carpenter in Kitchener area shall earn 60 cents per hour, whereas the Kitchener Federal building contract calls for a wage of 70 cents per hour.

Bricklayers earning 80 cents an hour under the Ontario scale will receive 90 cents per hour because they are employed on a Federal project. Just why the Federal government should pay more for skilled labor than any other employer is something difficult to explain. And the existence of conflicting Provincial and Federal codes and rules does not clarify the situation.

"Uncle Dan" Is Dead

There was a post card in the mail and across the space left for writing were the words: "Had you heard that Uncle Dan is dead?" We hadn't. Uncle Dan was not a relative of the person who sent the card, nor any relation to the one who received it. But he was Uncle Dan just the same, and he used to be that to every boy and girl in the village.

Uncle Dan used to work on the section, and he lived in a frame cottage not far from the station. Around that little house flowers seemed to grow perhaps better than elsewhere. In winter time they grew in the window of the little sitting room, in the dining room window. Planted in cans and pots they responded to the treatment of Uncle Dan's wife.

There were two boys in the family but they never got past the ages of ten and twelve. Diphtheria was a bad thing then and doctors did not know how to treat or prevent it like they do today. The boys went both of them within ten days and Uncle Dan bought a plot in the cemetery on the hill just outside the village. In season Uncle Dan and his wife used to go there every Sunday afternoon to tend the flowers they had moved from around the house to the cemetery, and everything they planted seemed to grow.

It was about seven years after when Uncle Dan lost his wife, and the funeral service was at three o'clock on Sunday afternoon. That made three places filled in the plot and Uncle Dan was left to carry on alone. When it came spring he fixed the garden just as "she" had done it the year before. Everything looked exactly the same. Some relative came to stay for a while with Uncle Dan, but he did not like it because the relative wanted to change things around in the house, and Uncle Dan wanted everything left just as "she" had fixed it. So the relative went away.

The young boys and at times some of the girls in the village got the habit of dropping in at Uncle Dan's place. He'd talk to them in the evening at times and he seemed to like to have them come. He seemed to have aged quite a bit, but he was never so old that he forgot to have some brown sugar for a piece of bread and butter. His was a quiet way and tender. He used to talk a good deal and it was from the depth of experience; there was no rebellion in him because his path had been down through the valley where dark clouds hung heavy. Some of the village lads who did not understand Uncle Dan at first used to drop in to "have some fun with the old man," but their purpose used to change. They succumbed to his kindly ways and bright smile. We recall two of them who had broken a fairly large pane of glass and the village constable had threatened them with trouble if they did not replace the glass within 24 hours. It was to Uncle Dan they went because they were afraid to tell their parents. Uncle Dan went to both those homes along with the boys and they talked the thing all over. He seemed to know how to do anything like that.

Every Sunday at three in the afternoon Uncle Dan went to the cemetery. He kept a watering can and a few tools up there and he always went exactly on the hour because he said "she" had gone at that time on a Sunday afternoon. He may have been doing that for years before his death. He probably did because "she" and the boys although out on the hill always seemed to be present around the little frame cottage. And now Uncle Dan has gone to join them. There was quite a piece about the funeral in the village paper and it said the attendance was about the largest ever seen in the village. He was a good man and in his own quiet and humble way Uncle Dan was also a great man.

Making It Plain

Employees of the Kaufman Rubber Co. of Kitchener submitted demands when they went on strike some time ago, among them being increased wages running from 5 to 20 per cent., overtime, men's work for men, and so on.

The company made a reply but apparently it was too involved to be readily understood. Possibly the thing would have been plain had it been studiously studied, but the complaint was it was not quite clear.

The company tried again, and from the second letter we take these phrases:

"We will not increase wages. Minor adjustments will be considered after the strike is over, but not before.

"We will not discuss seniority rights with anyone but intend to continue our present policy of favoring employees of long standing regardless of union membership.

"We and not the employees will decide what is men's work."

If the first reply of the company was not readily interpreted, we take it there should be little difficulty in understanding the second letter.

COUSIN EZRA

(By A. E. K.)

¶ Well Cousin Ezra had his way, upon the platform had his say, and he said quite a lot; and Ezra sort of lost his head, before he quit I guess he said, things that he shouldn't ought.

¶ Those on the other side were thieves, they'd steal the threshed out grain or sheaves, or else a brindle cow; they'd swipe a voter's vest and coat, they'd rob him of his billy goat, likewise his fatted sow.

¶ They almost hooted Ezra down, before he headed back to town, they'd scratch him with their claws; that bothered Ezra not at all, he felt just when he left the hall, a martyr to the cause.

¶ Perhaps my cousin will not know, just why they come to let him go, the road was rough and long; and it was many miles away, where Ezra went to have his say, the wind was blowing strong.

¶ The speaker who was billed for there, he hardly fancied midnight air, he said he had a cold; another man they asked to go, was full of rheumatis and woe, he said he was too old.

¶ So they were stuck, they knew it too, and knew no other thing to do, thus Ezra got his show; and it might fill him full of rage, to know why he got on the stage—for no one else would go.

TAKING off from Spitzbergen in a balloon in 1897 Norwegian explorer Professor Andree and his companions hoped to reach the North Pole. Nothing more was heard of them until 1930 when the remains of Andree's camp were found with films and canned stuff still in good condition. The body of Andree was uncovered from the snow. Recently Norwegian fisherman picked up a cork buoy containing a letter signed by Andree, ending "all well" which had been floating for 40 years.

A tropical fish with a strange technique is known as myxime Dembeyey. This unusual specimen of the finny tribe allows itself to be swallowed by food-hunting bigger fish, then trucks itself Jonah-like into its host's entrails and starts gnawing them. Before long it cripples its captive, eats its way out and gobbles up the remainder of the carcase.

Occasionally a sharp-witted camera man gets a picture in a million. Most famous examples of this are the oft-printed pictures of the sinking of the German battleship Blucher and the attempt to assassinate ex-King Alfonso of Spain in 1906. Both these were taken by amateurs who were quick and cool-headed enough to click their shutters at the vital second.

Arab Outrages.

IN HILLS between Haifa and Nazareth in Palestine a short time ago a gang of Arab robbers were stopping cars and robbing the occupants. After successfully searching eight motor loads the Arabs stopped a car in which were travelling 21-year-old Austrian Jew Willy Weiss and another Jew. The Arabs dragged them into a wood and shot down Weiss and stabbed his companion. The Palestine police have decided to put out £10,000 in £500 rewards for information leading to the arrest of Arab and Jewish killers.

The Congo in Africa has some queer citizens as described by Mme M. Wittouck of Belgium. First there is the Watuzi tribe. Averaging six feet eight inches in height, the men all claim to be princes of Royal blood and never soil their hands with work. They are descended from raiders of Abyssinia, have the almond eyes of an Oriental, wear their hair shaven off the sides and dressed elaborately in two horn-shaped rolls at the sides.

Each Watuzi has a retinue of attendants. These carry his spear, shield, drum and other paraphernalia. According to Mme Wittouck the Watuzi can execute a high j p which would turn an Olympic champion green.

The Russian Purge.

WEBB MILLER, United States newspaperman who has been studying conditions in Russia for some months says that the most reasonable guess at the reasons for such a broad-based "purge" as has been going on is that some development or combination of developments have Stalin in such a fright that he decided to "crack down" on all classes and kinds of opposition and potential opposition before it had time to crystallise.

This Girl Does Not Like Being a Maid

Says People Can't Afford to Keep One; Always Want to Know Where She Has Been

(Letter in St. Catharines Standard)

EDITOR The Standard. Sir: I read your article in last night's Standard and I would like to add my bit to some of the reasons why female help is so scarce in the city of St. Catharines.

I am a young girl who has worked at housework for three years. Women who employ these girls starve their families so they can say that they employ a maid. The wage that the maid receives is only two or three dollars a week, and they are expected to do cooking, washing, ironing, cleaning and all the rest.

When a girl takes on a housework job, sleeping in, it is just torture. Your work is never done and when you do get off it is only once or twice a week about 8:30 or 9 o'clock at night. Where can any girl go at that time of night? You are also expected to be in at a certain hour. If you are not in, the employer wants to know where you have been, why you have been and who you were with. I don't see why young girls these days have to humble themselves to people who are no better off than themselves.

Another thing, girls these days are getting married young. People ask why? It's just because young girls would rather do their own housework than work for two or three dollars a week. For myself I prefer to go out and pick fruit from morning till night. At least I know what my hours are and I can make just as much in one day at the farm as I could make all week at housework. This winter I would rather stand on my feet all day in some store or restaurant.

Some of these women who think it is a shame that young girls won't take a maid's job ought to try it themselves for one day, then they will see what it is like. It won't be all sugar and honey as they thought it would be.

All the girls that are at housework jobs should wake up, then maybe the employers would wake up to the fact they were girls once themselves, and give their maids a little more freedom. Some of the work that young girls do these days is a man's job especially waxing and polishing floors on their hands and knees and also washing windows at the top of a ladder.

Most women expect you to make a meal out of nothing and when you do sit down to eat your meal, the telephone rings, the doorbell rings, or the employer rings a little bell and wants a glass of water or wants something that she could do without. After all that is over your dinner is cold.

These are just some of the reasons why young girls these days are sick and tired of doing housework for fussy women.

Editor, everything I have said is true and is just some of the experiences I have had at housework, which is a job I would never take again.

I remain,

Another Standard Reader.

ROAD TO HAPPINESS.

(Chatham News)

A FRIEND of The Daily News forwards us an interesting note drawing attention to the paragraph written by the late W. G. Sibley, which appears at the masthead of the Chicago Journal of Commerce as follows:

"All the wild ideas of unbalanced agitators the world over in their ignorant and pitiable quest for happiness through revolution, confiscation of property, and crime, cannot overthrow the eternal truth that the one route to happiness through property or government is over the broad and open highway of service. And service always means industry, thrift, respect for authority, and recognition of the rights of others."

That in our opinion is a comprehensive definition of the road to happiness. It is most appropriate that publicity should be given to it at this particular time and we thank our contributor for his thoughtfulness.

ERRORS IN PRINT.

(J. C. K., in Marketing)

FORTUNE offers money to its readers who find erroneous statements in its pages. In one issue were made so many factual errors that $400 was paid out to discoverers of them.

It has cost Saturday Evening Post a very large sum of money to correct an error in its pages. In an article about Senator Glass a historical error was made—an error of particular interest to Virginians. So S. E. P. took 1,000 line space in a list of Virginia dailies to announce and to correct the error—an error discovered too late to be corrected in the article itself.

If all of us who make errors had to pay cash for them—to neutralize or correct them—how poor most of us would be!

TROUBLE MAKERS.

(Detroit Free Press)

SEVENTY-FIVE per cent. of employers in the United States "are fair, square men, who are generous to their employees."

Approximately 20 per cent. "are hard-boiled, but straight and square."

And only 5 per cent. believe in beating down competitive prices "and taking it out of their employees."

Charles Johnson Post, an official of the conciliation division of the United States Department of Labor, used these figures in relating his experiences at the annual convention of the Employing Bookbinders of America.

The majority has to suffer for the greed of the minority.

The 5 per cent. of employers who gouge their employees not only injure their workers, but they also injure other employers, who try to do the right thing by their employees.

They create a discontent to which labor agitators point as a reason for attacking all employers, although in the vast majority of cases, according to Mr. Post, there is no real cause for discontent respecting wages or working conditions.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Oct. 2 (C.P.). — Liquidation of October wheat contracts, and profit-taking weighed wheat futures down from early gains on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Final quotations were 1⅝ to ⅛ cent lower.

Prices moved erratically throughout with longs taking profits on October holdings and re-establishing their lines in distant futures. Hedging pressure was light although receipts of new wheat delivered to country elevators totalled 835,000 bushels on Thursday. Southern firms and mills offered support periodically and exporters purchased about 300,000 bushels of Canadian wheat.

While brokers intimated the cash wheat market failed to influence trend of prices, spreads over the future prices held near the previous close. No. 1 Northern sold at an even 10 cents above the October future. Deliveries of wheat on October contracts were confined to 25,000 bushels owing to the high premiums cash wheat now command for top grades.

Impressed with the low volume of Australian wheat shipments to Europe for the week—697,000 bushels compared with 1,165,000 last week—the Liverpool market closed only 1¼d to 1¼d lower. Though milling demand decreased, millers were credited with showing more interest in Canadian wheat. Firm Buenos Aires prices also helped check the Liverpool decline.

Export trade in barley supported coarse grain futures in a mixed session.

GOODERHAM RALLY HEARS L. M. FROST

GOODERHAM, Oct. 2.—Leslie M. Frost, Conservative candidate for Victoria and Haliburton, had a meeting here. William Carmichael, president of the local association, was in the chair and was supported on the platform by Charles B. Logan of Bobcaygeon, J. A. McAndrews of Wilberforce, former M.P. for Renfrew, and Clayton Hodgson of Haliburton, all of whom dealt with phases of the political discussion prior to next Wednesday's election, October 6.

Mr. Frost himself made the main point of the evening in referring to Premier Hepburn as too much of a divider and dictator—seconded by Mr. McCullagh of The Globe and Mail. He has created differences between urban and rural citizens, between capital and labor, between Hepburn Liberals and King Liberals, between Protestants and Roman Catholics, between himself and his Cabinet colleagues. The separate school tax gift will loom large in the vote in this riding. The vote has generally been close, it was stated, but this time Frost will win, two to one. This government's road policy is poor and patchy for this district, although for this month before election, the shovels are flying and so is the dirt. Speakers said if we had an election about twice a year we might get some roads built. Mr. Frost pledged a continuous planned road construction policy.

He spent nearly $15,000,000 in building five different yachts in unsuccessful bids to win the America's Cup.

CHARGE NORWOOD $204.50 FOR AID AT CHURCH FIRE

HASTINGS, Oct. 2.— The Norwood fire, which the local volunteer fire brigade attended last Friday, was the main topic discussed at the regular meeting of the village council, held in the council chambers Friday night, with Reeve Fairman in the chair and Councillors L. E. Kelly, H. Dodd, S. Stevenson and C. Lynch present. Fire Chief Fred Dodd presented an account for the volunteer brigade of $104.50 for fourteen firemen who had attended the fire. A lengthy discussion followed, during which Reeve Fairman highly commended the Hastings fire brigade for their earnest work at that time. The Hastings engine worked for 3¼ hours and 1,200 ft. of hose were used.

It was decided to assess Norwood village $100.00 for the use of the engine.

Councillor Dodd moved and was seconded by Councillor Lynch, that the clerk render an account of $204.50 to Norwood for their fire of Sept. 24.

Communications were read from the following: The Rotary Club of Cobourg, requesting names of crippled children who would be invited to the clinic for treatment; the Old Age Pensions Board, re instructions for applicants; Roy H. Franklin, Toronto, re old plants or buildings that could be bought; County Clerk, re bad condition of accounts sent in; Hart and Co., re supplies and from the Department of Highways, stating a standard clause for insertion regarding the new highway running through this village. Approval of the council was requested by the Department of Highways to place stop signs on Front street, thereby making Bridge street a through highway. Councillor Kelly cited this is as a decided advantage as it would put a stop to what he termed a Front street speedway. This will also prohibit parking anywhere on Bridge street in the main section.

Erect Stop Signs.

It was moved by Kelly and seconded by Dodd that the council give their approval to the Department of Highways to place stop signs on Front street.

Reeve Fairman stated there was a possibility of a woven steel fence being placed on the bridge in front of the present steel work. Reeve Fairman also stated that the coloured lights on Front street will not be used any more this year except on special occcasins. The coloured lights cost the town $18 per month and were used four months this year.

Tax Collector R. W. Montgomery turned over the tax roll to the council with $660 uncollected taxes shown. He was also commended by the Reeve for the sound method he used in dealing with those who were in arrears.

It was moved by Kelly and seconded by Dodd, that the tax roll be accepted as returned, less rebates.

It was moved by Lynch and seconded by Kelly, that he be re-appointed tax collector for the coming year at a salary of $60.00 and $7.00 for supplies.

It was moved by Lynch and seconded by Kelly, that his $3,000 bond be renewed with the Employers Liability Insurance Co.

Relief accounts for the past month totalled $69.69. It was moved by Kelly and seconded by Stevenson that they be paid in the regular manner.

It was moved by Lynch and seconded by Stevenson, that the town clerk advertise for sealed tenders to be in his hands before 12 o'clock noon, Wed., Oct. 13 for rental of town scales from Oct. 14 to Oct. 14, 1938, highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

VALUES FIGHTER'S LOVE, $2,000,000

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2—(AP).—Two million dollars—and that's a new high even for Hollywood—was the asking price to-day for the love of Pugilist Jack Doyle, the "Irish thrush."

It will take at least that much, said Actress Judith Allen in an alienation suit against Mrs. Delphine Dodge Cromwell Baker Godde, to compensate her for los sof Doyle's affection.

Miss Allen is Doyle's wife. She has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from the singer-fighter, but it has not been made final.

Her complaint alleges Mrs. Godde, one of the world's richest women, employed "wiles and means" plus several hundred thousand dollars to lure her husband away and prevent a reconciliation.

Mrs. Godde and Doyle announced here last week they planned to leave within a fortnight, for England, where she would seek a divorce from Timothy Godde, former New York banker.

Panelled Walls Radiate Hospitality In Living Room

Provides Splendid Background For Furnishings In The Room

The housewife who starts her living room to radiate hospitality while it maintains an air of dignity may well choose panelled walls as a background for the furnishings. A room that has become tiresome will take on new life with panelled walls.

One housewife decided on this means of bringing the interior of her house up to modern fashion. She did not feel that the expense of making structural changes to the house was justified, so concentrated her efforts on the rooms in which the family spent most of its time.

The wall panels used were in an interesting design. The wood was not of a uniform size and the irregularity kept the room from too formal an atmosphere. Over the mantel small squares of the panelling formed a design, obviating the necessity of any wall decoration.

Chinese tiles were used in the fireplace, striking a note of color against the sombre background of the wood. The floor was refinished, and leaded windows replaced the regulation ones which had formerly graced the room.

When the transformation of the room had been completed the owner had gay chints covers made for the furniture and matching drapes hung. The entire character of the room was changed and the family had an individual room which stood out from others of the neighborhood.

Describes Project

Returnning to England after his first visit to Canada, Sir William Prescott, C.B.E., chairman of the Metropolitan water board, London, England, is pictured here on the sports deck of the liner Empress of Britain, in which he sailed from Quebec. Sir William outlined the $50,000,000 improvement projected for the English metropolis, saying it was merely a step to keep up to London's increasing population. In the past 10 months some 45,000 new homes have been built in London.

YOUTH 19, JAILED FOR DRUNK DRIVING

LINDSAY, Oct. 2.— At a session of the police court Friday morning a young married man from Peterborough faced Magistrate Gee on the charge of assaulting a young Lindsay girl. The accused appeared to be ill and was given a week's remand. According to his story, he had cut his hand while working on a circular saw and the injury had caused him much pain. He further stated that during his stay in the police cells at Peterborough, following his arrest, he had suffered from cold. The offence is said to have been committed early in the summer, but the police were unable to locate the accused until he was apprehended near Peterborough.

A young man named O'Neill, who had been employed in the Omemee tannery faced Magistrate Gee yesterday, charged with driving a car while intoxicated. The accused, who is only nineteen years of age, was sentenced to seven days in jail and also had his driving permit cancelled for six months. He promised the court that if a charge of having liquor illegally was not laid he would abstain from the use of liquor until he reached manhood.

David Christie of Cameron, the truck driver who figured in the fatal accident near Coboconk last month, when a Toronto man received injuries which resulted in his death, faced a criminal negligence charge in police court. He was discharged with a warning.

BARGE'S DAYS END

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 2 (C.P.).— Life—if there is such in a river barge—has ended for the Stormant, moored off the Causeway in the mouth of the Cataraqui River for 20 years. The barge was towed to the head of Wolfe Island, where it will be sunk.

The Cost?

The interest rate is the lowest in the world—even lower than in U. S. or Norway, two countries which take pride in their plans for loaning money for home improvement. For instance—You find that a repair job on your home will cost $100. You borrow this sum from any bank and repay the loan outof income at the rate of $8.61 per month for 12 months. At the end of one year you have paid 12 x $8.61—$103.36. At simple interest this is only 6.32 per cent. Loans may be arranged for periods of from 6 months to 5 years. The total interest rate of 6.32 per cent for any period remains the same.

DOMINION BUYS HOLLAND MARSH CROPS FOR WEST

BRADFORD, Oct. 2.— Hope replaced despair and smiles replaced gloom in the hearts and on the faces of Holland Marsh vegetable growers to-day as the "helping hand of Government" reached out to save their crops from rotting in the fields.

As many carloads as the growers can fill with vegetables are to be bought by the Dominion Government and shipped for distribution in the drought areas of the West.

As soon as official confirmation arrives from Ottawa, although the growers have been assured "everything was all right," loading of approximately 100 freight cars, now being gathered at Bradford, will begin.

Price Shows Profit.

The price to be paid by the Government will show "a considerable margin of profit," agree the growers, more than 300 of whom are affected by the sudden turn of the wheel of fortune.

COPPER PRICE JUMPS

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(AP).—The price of American copper for export jumped .17½ of a cent a pound today following agreement of the foreign copper cartel in London to restrict production in the future. Sales were reported at 12.375 cents a pound, with buying heavy. The domestic price remained at 12.50 cents at customs smelters, with primary producers quoting 13 cents.

Trading advices here indicated the new restrictions would reflect in a reduction of the output in Canada, Europe, South America and South Africa by about 18,000 tons monthy. The United States is not affected by the copper agreement.

22 CARS OF BEANS TO BE SENT WEST

TORONTO, Oct. 2.—The shipment of twenty-two car-loads of dry beans from Western Ontario to Western Canada for relief purposes has been completely arranged, through joint action of the Dominion and Provincial Governments, W. B. Somerset, Ontario Commissioner of Marketing, announced yesterday.

In its purchases of relief supplies for the stricken areas of the West the Dominion Government is trying as far as possible to relieve various sections of Ontario agriculture of surplus crop embarrassment, Mr. Somerset said.

The Ontario Marketing Commissioner has been assisting Federal authorities in putting them in touch with farmer associations and co-operatives. "Arrangements are being made to remove embarrassing surpluses at present low prices to the general betterment of marketing conditions," he explained.

The large bean shipment had been undertaken by the Bean Growers' and Bean Dealers' Association at current minimum prices, Mr. Somerset stated.

Large purchases of Ontario cheese have also been made through the assistance of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association.

Estonia is to have its new Constitution on January 1.

SCENIC PAPERS BECOME POPULAR IN REDECORATING

Use of color is becoming more and more prevalent among average home-makers who heretofore have looked askance at the idea of boldly making free with original ideas in decorating.

The housekeeper may use her own ideas to make a room distinctive. Scenic wall papers furnish desired color and often happily solve the problem of a single solid wall unbroken by doors or windows.

A dining room which has three walls broken architecturally can be decorated advantageously by having a plain paper on those walls and the unbroken space panelled with a scenic paper. Two small windows at the front of the room may be transformed into one large bay-window and hung with white venetian blinds.

A prosaic ceiling light can be replaced by wall sconces in keeping with the decorative trend of the room. Covers may be purchased to hide radiators.

Wall paper can be purchased to look like wood panelling and may be used to form a dado around the entire room. Woodwork may be repainted to fit in with the general decorative trend.

Mahogany furniture is used and the chairs have seats of white leather.

The housekeeper who wishes to improve her home by redecorating a room may use the Home Improvement Plan for this purpose. Loans will be extended by banks to the individual who has a good credit rating and a reasonable ability to repay the amount in instalments over a period up to five years.

NO TIES IN KLAN SAYS HUGO BLACK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP).—Justice Hugo L. Black's emphatic denial he is now a member of the Ku Klux Klan left no doubt to-day he will take his place on the United States' Supreme Court Bench Monday.

For 12 minutes last night he broke all precedent to reply directly to those who have challenged, because of his Klan associations, his fitness to sit on the tribunal.

"The insinuations of racial and religious intolerance made concerning me are based on the fact that I joined the Ku Klux Klan about 15 years ago," he said in a broadcast speech.

"I did join the Klan. I later resigned. I never rejoined. What appeared then, or what appears now, on the records of the organization, I do not know.

"I never have considered and I do not now consider the unsolicited card given to me shortly after my nomination to the Senate as a membership of any kind in the Ku Klux Klan. I never used it. I did not even keep it."

Critics have attacked Blacks appointment to the Supreme Court with the contention that Klan affiliation would prejudice him against the interests of Jews, Catholics and negroes. The allegation was made in a series of newspaper stories that after becoming a Klansman, Black had been given a life membership and that he still held it.

Curb On Political Broadcasts May Follow Protests

Ontario Listeners Complain To C.B.C.—Board To Consider Problem

OTTAWA, Oct. 1—(CP). — The next meeting of the Board of Governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will be asked to consider the problem of political broadcasting, Major W. E. Gladstone Murray, general manager, indicated here yesterday.

Ontario listeners have registered protests with the corporation executives in the past month, during which many speakers in the current political campaign have been on the air.

The governors will have to determine which is the more advantageous, between placing restrictions on political speeches, or permitting their unlimited flow.

Major Murray recalled that restriction placed the responsibility on one authority. In England, the political parties, by agreement, limited their use of the radio to the party leaders only.

Move Seen Certain

OTTAWA, Oct. 1 (Special). — A move to rid the air of political static is almost certain to be made in the coming session of Parliament. The last Federal and the present Ontario campaigns have completed the argument in favor of a drastic restriction of the time parties and individual candidates consume in telling the electors how bad is the opponent and how sick is the country.

A model for reform in this matter is the British system which has worked to the entire satisfaction of the political parties and the radio listeners. Close co-operation between the parties and the British Broadcasting Corporation has produced a plan whereby each party designates a spokesman for an address at the opening of an election campaign and another for a closing address, so that if there were three parties there would be six addresses broadcast in the United Kingdom.

Because of the rapidly mounting costs of campaigns, due largely to the wide use, both of the radio and the automobile, it is believed the various parties in the Federal and the Provincial fields would welcome a curtailment of radio time, provided, of course, the restriction applied equally to all parties. About the only restriction to-day are regulations devised to prevent slanderous utterances, such as the now-famous "Mr. Sage" performance in the last Federal contest.

Listeners Suffer.

When a party undertakes to put Mr. King or Mr. Bennett or Mr. Rowe or Mr. Hepburn on the rado in a campaign it means that the radio listeners, who annually pay their good money for entertainment in the evenings when they get home from work, either must suffer from nightly repetitions of party policies from the various speakers or leave their radios "dead" for the duration of the fight, for in many instances, the parties see to it that the atmosphere is saturated with their stuff.

If the listeners were permitted to hear all that transpires at a given political meeting, if they could hear the hecklers, there might be some alleviation of the auricular suffering, but it is sadly arranged so that the microphone will not forward what is said by way of interruption. Occurrences which enliven and brighten a political gathering are denied the radio listener. He just has to take what he gets, and all he gets is the pure, unadulterated, though painfully retterated, word of the chief performer.

Must Pierce Disguises.

Any plan of restricting party use of the radio would have to be so devised as to make impossible political appeals to listeners under the guise of religious or devotional services, such as Premier Aberhart makes over his Bible Institute broadcasting station. Virtually his entire Social Credit and monetary reform campaign has been prosecuted through the monopolistic use of a radio station. Albetrans are already demanding that the institute station be confined to its original religious purpose, and that its owner be not permitted to etherize a mixture of religion and politics.

While Parliament is at the job of cleansing the ether, it might as well tackle the kindred task of shortening speeches in Parliament. Speeches of two or three or even four hours' duration belong to the Victorian and not to this age. If a politician or statesman has anything to say he should be able to articulate it within the forty minutes at present prescribed for those who are not leaders and who are not Ministers engaged in explaining or defending legislation. It can be guessed that any speech of more than an hour and a half is being spoken for party campaign literature purposes or to facilitate autobiographical reser →

CHINESE ROUT JAPS

SHANGHAI, October 2—(AP). — Chinese defenders of Shanghai reported they were holding their own along the line to-day and, in some sections, sharply counter-attacking.

In the vicinity of Kiangwan Chinese reported, their counter-attack resulted in a virtual rout of Japanese troops. Japanese admitted Kiangwan civic centre buildings had been "evacuated," but they contended lines in the rear were unchanged.

FRIEND HUSBAND DESERVES A ROOM

In most families the matter of home decoration is the women's prerogative but only a foolish woman plans a totally feminine house in which a man will feel out of place. If you plan to improve your home, remember the male element!

A room filled with soft frilly ruffles is dainty and lady-like, but it is hardly a room to make a man want to stay around and read the evening newspaper and spill ashes. A room that is to be used jointly by the entire family should be furnished with serviceable materials and furniture.

There is no need to sacrifice style and color. Today this may be found in the most practical equipment.

Funds for redecorating and modernizing the home are now available under the Home Improvement Plan.

CLOVER, ALSIKE CROPS ARE POOR

OTTAWA, Oct. 2 (CP). — The drought of 1936 and lack of snow last winter has resulted in one of the poorest clover crops in years, Agriculture Department officials stated yesterday.

Total failures were reported over large areas of Ontario and Quebec which normally produce large quantities of seed. The failure was particularly in alsike in Ontario and red clover in Quebec.

Because of its deep roots, alfalfa resisted the drought better and a substantial supply of alfalfa seed came from the first cutting of the 1937 crop in Ontario. There has been little seed, however, from the second crop alfalfa.

Good crops of alfalfa were reported in Manitoba and from Northern Saskatchewan to supply requirements of Western Canada.

Sweet clover seed is a fair crop. Timothy seed production is about normal and there was a substantial carryover from last year.

Laundry Room Is Real Convenience

Whether the housewife does her own work or leaves it to a maid, a compact laundry room is a convenience which should not be overlooked.

A small amount of space in the cellar is sufficient to devote to the actual room. It should be painted in white or light color to reflect as much light as possible. The floor should be covered with a composition which does not hold dampness. Adequate lighting is essential.

If stationary tubs are not already located in the cellar they may be built in.

Funds for built-in improvements to the home are now available under the generous terms of the Home Improvement Plan at a very low rate of interest.

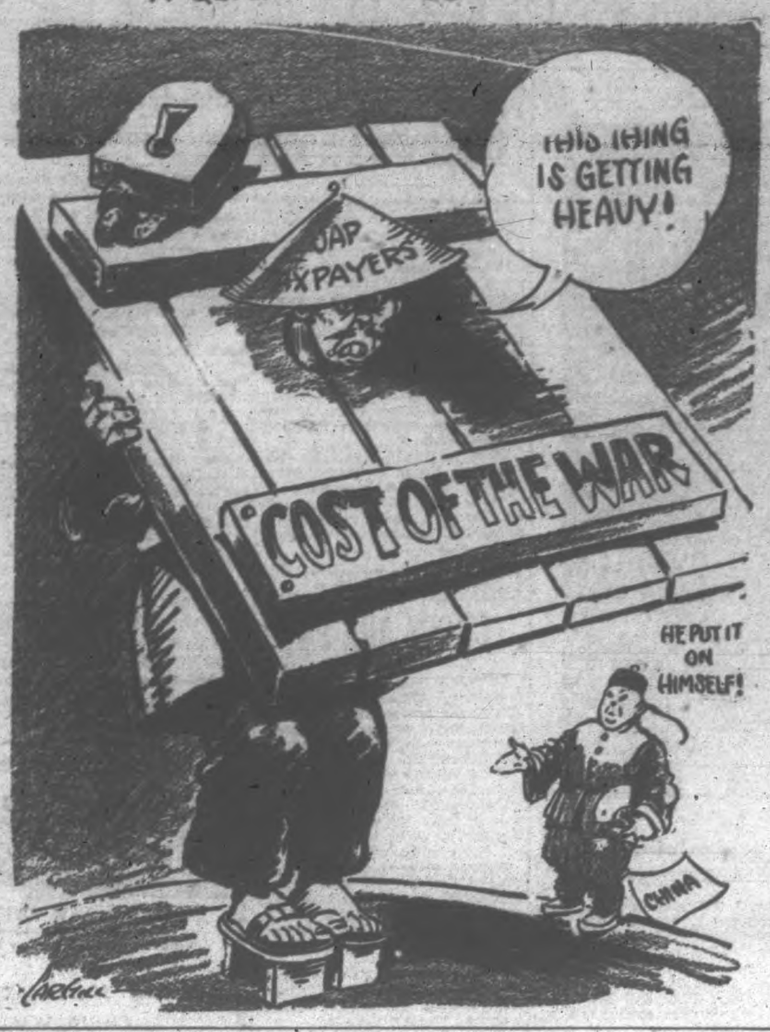
A QUAINT OLD CHINESE CUSTOM



JAPANESE ADMIT SILENCING JUNKS

TOKYO, Oct. 2—(AP)—The Navy Ministry admitted today that Japanese warships had attacked Chinese junks in South China waters.

(A number of junks have been reported sunk and several hundred persons drowned under shelling by Japanese warcraft).

The attacks, the Ministry's statement said, were necessary in self defence.

"It must be understood there are many kinds of junks, some of larger types which are armed with cannon, also with rifles, pistols and machine guns," the statement read.

"While interrupting Chinese navigation along the Chinese coast (under the coastal blockade), Japanese warships encountered large junks numerous times in September. Most of them used arms in resisting inspectors from Japanese vessels.

"On September 9 such resistance caused casualties among Japanese bluejackets. Therefore, the Japanese Ministry was forced to attack and silence them, entirely as a self-defence measure."

(The British Government is investigating the attacks to determine if any of the junks were under British registry).

CANADIAN CATTLE U.S. EXPORTS RISE

OTTAWA, Oct. 2 (CP).—Exports of Canadian beef and dairy cattle and calves to the United States from the beginning of the year have totalled 255,240, which is an increase of 97,188 over the same period of 1936, said a report issued yesterday by the Dominion Agriculture Department. Totals to date, with last year's exports in brackets, follow:

Beef cattle, 156,013 (138,108); dairy 9,944 (10,367); calves 89,283 (49,572).

This year Canada shipped 60,695 hogs across the border. The figures for last year were not indicated.

During the current week exports to the United States comprised 3,979 beef cattle, 321 dairy, 1,672 calves, and 560 hogs.

For shipment to Great Britain, 318 cattle were received at the Montreal yards, for the S.S. Dakotian, destination Cardiff.

Cars For Election

Supporters of T. P. LANCASTER, Conservative candidate in Peterborough, who wish to donate their cars to assist in his election, are asked to leave their names at the Conservative Committee Rooms, 378 WATER STREET, or TELEPHONE 3014, 3015, or 3018.

Public School Supporters Take NO Chances

You cannot trust Hepburn on the school question.

You were betrayed after the last election; you do not know where he stands to-day.

This is the one big issue of the campaign.

ONTARIO PUBLIC SCHOOL DEFENCE LEAGUE

THE PRICE IS TOO HIGH

The thing that stands out clearest as the election campaign draws to a close is that HEPBURNISM IS ON THE WAY OUT.

Despite frantic efforts on the part of the Government, last-minute road jobs, new mental hospitals in the ridings of the members of the Cabinet, the importation of what few Federal ministers could be induced to come into Ontario to aid a man who has said he is not a Mackenzie King Liberal, the tide of public opinion is rising steadily against the Hepburn administration in all parts of the province.

The electors have decided that even if all the extravagant claims that are being made on behalf of the Government were true—and most of them are absurd—

FIVE MORE YEARS OF HEPBURNISM IS TOO BIG A PRICE TO PAY FOR MINOR BENEFITS, NEARLY ALL OF THEM IMAGINARY.

In three years Premier Hepburn has succeeded in betraying Public School Supporters and fooling Separate School adherents, in defying the courts, in repudiating contracts, in dismissing over 500 war veterans from the Civil Service, in establishing the principle of liquor sales for profit instead of liquor control, in opening mushroom dives for the sale of beer and wine in opposition to decent standard hotels, in dividing capital and labor, in driving some of the most able and trustworthy of his Liberal supporters back into private life, in making a bear-garden of the Legislature, in slapping the British people for not paying the war debt, and in establishing a one-man control of public business on a basis Ontario has never seen before and never wants to see again.

With two years of his term left to run, Mr. Hepburn now comes to the people for a fresh mandate. He will get an answer next Wednesday that will surprise him. Those posters showing Old Man Ontario grasping the hand of the Premier have the wrong legend. What the Old Man is really saying is, "Well, Good-bye, Mitch"; and the returns from the province on October 6 will echo that farewell in no uncertain sound.

HEPBURN IS THROUGH

The voice of Peterborough will be prominent in that chorus of farewell that will ring in the ears of Premier Hepburn and his talentless cabinet next Wednesday night, for in this riding the electors have decided that their support will be given to T. P. LANCASTER, the Conservative candidate—the man who gets things done.

Lancaster's record of achievement is known to the whole riding. Even his political opponents admit that he has done more for this district than any man who has sat in the Legislature in recent years. He is a representative who takes his duties seriously and never loses a chance to do something for Peterborough County and its people.

HEPBURNISM IS ON THE WAY OUT; DO YOUR PART TO SPEED IT ON ITS WAY.

Millbrook Fair Is Success With 2,000 In Attendance

Event Is Officially Opened By Superintendent Of District Directors

MILLBROOK, Oct. 1.—With a gate receipt a little in advance of that of last year, a paid attendance of approximately two thousand, and fine weather prevailing in spite of lowering skies and threatened showers especially at the noon hour, the Millbrook Central Exhibition was successfully carried through on Friday with R. S. Duncan, superintendent of district directors for Ontario, declaring the fair officially opened.

Reeve P. Stinson, president of the Millbrook Agricultural Society, introduced Mr. Duncan, who in the earlier part of his public career was for seven years Agricultural Representative for Durham County, and mention was made of the fact that several of the boys whom he trained during that period have since made a name for themselves in stock judging at various points in the province.

The education value of the fall fair, and the fact that it presents a picture of what is being accomplished in stock raising, grain growing, and other lines, in the entire district, were points stressed in Mr. Duncan's brief address. His hearty congratulations extended to Mr. Thomas Donaldson, for 56 years a director in the local society, brought the latter, now in his 87th year, a great hand from the grandstand.

"I am also particularly pleased with the fine showing made here today by your Boys' Foal and Calf Clubs, of which we have now 5009 in Ontario. They learn to do by doing; your assistance is helping to develop them into good citizens; they are the farmers and homemakers of tomorrow. In unity of effort there is strength. I now have pleasure in declaring this Fair officially open."

Entries Are Good.

Entries in all classes were equal to, and in some cases, above those of other years, except in the fancy work display which was somewhat under the usual record. Roots and vegetables were especially good, the prize for the best collection in the latter class going to George Bickle, and Son, of Bowmanville, a number of unusual varieties being shown in the artistically arranged, and large showing.

Peculiar interest was centred in the two tobacco plants shown by Henry Blakely, of Manvers, seed having been furnished from the O. A. C., Guelph by Agricultural Representative A. E. Summers. The plants were over three feet tall, with large glossy leaves, and for display purposes had been put in kegs. Mr. Blakely believes a crop could be grown in this district, and may possibly take a contract with some company for that purpose, the high cost of erecting a proper drying house preventing carrying it on as a private enterprise.

"Grown in 1936 in the West Indies, and in 1937 in Manvers", was the comment made on Banana Potatoes shown by Mr. Blakely in a collection of seed varieties, all certified stock, another of the twelve kinds being a red-skinned, Early Bliss, from Florida, and a third Nova Scotia Blues. Others who won prizes in the roots and vegetables class were Mrs. Fred McMahon, Fred Challice, and R. Armstrong, Jos Hickson, of Lindsay, was the judge.

Canned goods and home baking had a large and attractive showing, with seven entries in the collection of baking, the prize in this special going to Mrs. Jack Armstrong, the awarded being a silver plated serving tray valued at $7.95, given by the Robert Simpson Co.; second prize, a bedroom chair by F. C. Scott, Millbrook, value $5, was won by Lorna Hooper, Tyrone, and third place to Elva Elliott, Ida, her prize being 98 pounds of flour by Millbrook Bakery (H. Bigelow).

Some Fine Horses

As is usual at the local fair the showing of horses, especially in the heavy classes, was particularly fine, exhibitors including J. Whittington, McIntyre, of Keene, V. R. Hunter, and L. W. Smith, Brown of Whitby was the judge, and in the light classes S. Hastings of Tottenham, filled this office. The special for the best lady driver went to Allan B. Mann, of Peterborough, and second to McGill and Shea, of Bethany; saddle horse to Mann; and Wesley Brown; best turnout, Beatty and Nattress; McGill and Shea.

The threatening weather in the early part of the day was responsible for the absence of a number of race horses expected for the speeding in the ring, only one race, the free-for-all, being run, with the following result:

Ginger Direct, owned by E. Jones, Hastings 1 1 1
Riodale, owned by James Tungale, Oshawa 2 3 2
Orphan Annie, owned by Sam Farmer, Port Hope 3 2 3
Molly Grattan, owned by Van Alstyne, Port Hope 4 4 4

J. B. Begg of Lindsay was starter; F. C. Nugent of Lindsay, timekeeper; T. H. Collins, clerk; T. Cowan, Orono, and J. McMillan, of Cobour, judges. Times, 2.16¼.

The Millbrook Citizens' Band played throughout the afternoon, under the leadership of Lieutenant Peryer of Peterborough, and added much to the attractiveness and enjoyment of the Fair. The full size of the attendance was readily seen when, at 4.30 p.m., the draw was made for the fifty dollar prize for which coupons were given with each ticket sold at the gate, and also given out by local merchants during the past two or three weeks; 13,000 were printed, and the first number posted after Thomas Donaldson, honorary director, had made the draw, was unclaimed. Lawrence Winslow, Millbrook, held the second number, 3,030, however, and was presented with the marked cheque by I. W. Larmer, first vice-president; Robert McClarnus, second vice-president, was time-keeper. On receivine it, the recipient returned one dollar for the cheque.

The Coronation year rosette ribbon, supplied by the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies, for the initial time this year, and awarded for the best horse on the grounds, was won by Harry McIntyre, of Keene. R. Matchett and Son, and E. Hutchison won the specials in the poultry classes, and in sheep winners of the specials were J. M. Fisher, Woodville, with two for pens, and H. Skinner, Tyrone, for the Shrop ram.

The Cattle Results.

The showing of cattle was good, S. S. Staples carrying off seven firsts and one second in Jerseys, with two awards in the specials, and in Holsteins M. Bickle had five firsts and two specials. In the dairy class, the special for ten pounds of butter went to H. G. Best; 2, Mrs. Ira Lowes, and for the five pounds to the same two exhibitors. The flowers and plants' section was well filled, David Jordan, Peterborough, judging. Mrs. J. W. Hilton had twelve entries in flowers, taking six firsts and four seconds, others in the prize list being Mrs. J. Willan, Mrs. I. Lowes, Mrs. R. J. McKnight, S. Pritchard, Mrs. F. McMahon, Bickle and Son, L. W. Smith.

Radios, cars, cream separators, etc., attracted attention in the vicinity of the Midway, which was lively with spielers' calls, the bingo counter, under Cadet auspices, being a point of special interest. The ladies of Grace Presbyterian Church served hot meals in the dining-hall, and the Women's Institute did a good business at their booth, where hot dogs, etc., were on sale.

The band gave a concert down town in the early part of the evening, and at 9 p.m. the dance began in the Armouries with a large attendance, music for the old-time dancing being supplied by Todd's orchestra, and for the modern dances by the Serenaders.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, October 3

Sunday's horoscope, according to the lunar transits, holds promise of rather dubious and possibly treacherous conditions, with both open and secret enmities or quarrels to be met with sagacity. Writings seem to be an aggravating cause for such disruptions, ill will and ominous situations, so be cautious and calm.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a rather disturbed and inharmonious year, with quarrels, tumult and violent reactions to either writings or ill-governed speech. Rancor, treachery and ill will precipitate a very disagreeable state of affairs unless managed with calm judgment and good sense.

A child born on this day may have a rash, impetuous, wayward and self-indulgent nature, although energetic, talented and clever. It should have early training and discipline to overcome these irritable tendencies.

For Monday, October 4

Mondays astrological forecast is for a particularly lively and successful day, with employment under splendid auspices or favors, preferment, promotion or increase. All pertaining to writings, publishing, publicity and promotions should flourish, with new contracts and all sorts of new matters under fine stimuli for progress and satisfaction.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very lively and progressive year, with employment under excellent promise for favors, preferment and promotion. All pertaining to writings, contracts, publishing, all new matters are under very auspicious rule for expansion and success, with some important developments or changes.

A child born on this day may be very versatile, clever, ambitious and should attain excellent position and much personal happiness in life.

One Down Two To Go For Quints

Autumn time brings football time to most Canadian and American Universities, but this year the sport has attracted two new players in the form of Marie and Emilie Dionne. The two little girls have entered into the sport of the game and (ABOVE) we see Emilie down after a "heavy" tackle from Marie. There's no sign of a fumble, but perhaps, the referee should look into the matter of that extra ball.

THANKSGIVING AND HARVEST SERVICE HELD AT ST. JOHN'S

"In the natural world, the laws of the spiritual world are written so large that 'he who runs may read'," declared the Veneral Archdeacon W. Simpson of Millbrook, at the special harvest festival service in St. John's Church on Friday evening.

The archdeacon proceeded to specify three of the lessons taught by nature. Taking first the lesson of Purpose—"The sun He made to rule the day; the moon and the stars, the night. . ." it was pointed out that we are still discovering purpose in nature. A factory is built to produce an article and a waste product is later found to be the more valuable. Consciousness of spiritual life develops with the consciousness of a purpose in life, not to be wasted or frittered away, but used for that purpose for which it was created, a part of the Great Design that stretches from Eternity to Eternity.

The second lesson learned is that of sacrifice. God's purpose in nature continues and progresses by the law of sacrifice—parts living to minister to the whole. As the seeds sacrifice to the plant, and the plant to man, so does man sacrifice that God's life may live in him and his fellow men. "Some will ask," said Archdeacon Simpson, "where will the law of sacrifice lead us? Experience has shown that the path trodden by our Lord on earth is the perfect path for social and mental progress."

The dependence of nature on God is the third lesson learned. The farmer's work is important, but not the most important. It is ours to prepare, sow and reap, but God Who gives the increase. Men have learned that they must submit to and co-operate with nature, yet, "We talk of dependence on God, say we know we cannot achieve without Him, then let our own self-wills have their place. We send a child to school to submit to regular training, and rejoice at its progress, but seem to think that a developed Christian character comes by magic."

But just as the sunset sky spreads its beauty over all nature, so over all is the softening, beautiful law of the Love of God and man. "God is with us, God is Love." Archdeacon Simpson closed his sermon with an appreciation of the Western farmers who still hold thanksgiving harvest festival services, where scarcely a farmer has a crop to thresh.

The Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson, rector of St. John's, and the Rev. R. T. F. Brain conducted the special thanksgiving service. The boy choristers, who were wearing for the first time the Westminster ruffles, recently procured for them from England, sang very beautifully the anthem.

Care and time had obviously been spent in beautifully decorating the church with wheat, red berries, masses of autumn flowers and garden produce, with lovely gladioli blooms placed on the altar.

Eggs Hit 40 Cents On Farmers' Market

The price of eggs continued its rapid climb to hit 40 cents on the Farmers' Market this morning. Selling at that level, with smaller eggs as low as 33 and 35 cents, the offering was large and the demand heavy.

Chickens were in the largest volume of the season, selling at 22 to 25 cents a pound. Hens brought 16 to 18 cents. Butter was priced at 28 to 30 cents a pound.

The supply of apples was increased at prices of 25 to 35 cents a peck. Potatoes were 75 cents to $1 a bag. Tomatoes advanced in price to 35 cents for the large basket and 25 cents for the small as the supply diminished. Corn was still available at 15 cents a dozen.

FIRE WAS STUBBORN

LONDON — (CP), — Twenty-five firemen, with five fire engines, worked more than a hour before extinguishing a fire in a lorry containing 13 tons of waste paper.

DEPARTMENT TO TAKE OVER ROAD TO PORT PERRY

A project which Peterborough citizens have sought for ten years past, assumption of a through route from Port Perry to Highway 28 south of this city by the Department of Highways seemed a certainty today. Alex L. Elliott, Liberal candidate, announced he was in touch with the Department of Highways this morning and received assurance the Department will be willing to take over the connecting-link road which will provide a through route from Ottawa to Western Ontario.

Commencing their agitation for the through route 10 years ago, Peterborough Chamber of Commerce president Fred Overend and other interested citizens joined with citizens of other centers along the route in urging the project last year. The Central Ontario Highway Association was formed under the presidency of Alderman James Dutton of this city and the project was brought to the attention of the department on several different occasions.

Principal argument for the route has been the claim that it will relieve congestion on Highway 2 since it parallels No. 2 through the province. Peterborough advocates have kept in mind the fact that the route will shorten the trip to Toronto by approximately 18 miles and also enhance Peterborough's position as a supply and distribution center in this area.

The road from Highway 28 to Port Perry which the department today indicated willingness to assume is the principal unfinished link in the route. Mr. Elliott said that from his conversation with the department to-day, he believed it the department's intention to take over the road which comes out on Highway 28 at Scott's Corners, four miles below the city. From Peterborough the route passes through Bethany and Port Perry to Uxbridge. Motorists using it for the drive to Toronto would enter Toronto by Yonge street.

HE NEEDS HIS COAT

There was an announcement in The Examiner a few days ago regarding the loss of a dark plaid mackinaw coat with a fur collar, but there has been no response. The young man who lost the coat on the road in the Nassau district went back over the route taken a few minutes after discovering the loss, but the coat was not found. Nor can the young man afford to stand the loss of his coat. He earned it when he was cutting wood in the West last winter.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Growing More and More Important This Season Are . . .

"DIFFERENT" ACCESSORIES

By LISBETH

HATS, SHOES and gloves are all new and different this season. So are scarfs and jewelry. In fact, the accessories to milady's costume may take the attention away from the dress or suit itself, if she is not careful—so smart and colorful are they.

Hats, for instance, are inclined to focus the eye on them. "Crazy" people say they are, but when a smart woman wears even one of the most extreme, she certainly looks charming.

Black velvet, as always in the autumn, is the first favorite, but not the only one. Large or small, black velvet hats, with a rhinestone buckle, feather or ribbon trim, are alluring.

Felt, of course, is always in the limelight, and very practical as well as good looking. It is a year 'round favorite in these modern days, yielding its place to no other material, even in the middle of summer. Felt hats are decidedly different and fetching this year, some trimmed with gay little banners of bright ribbon, veils, feathers, etc.

Suede Good

Then there is suede, which brings us to a description of the handsome foursome pictured here, hat, shoes, gloves and bag, all in suede. The hat is in a harvest rust. It is an off-the-face model with a right flare, upturned brim. It fits low in the back.

The shoes are multi-toned open-faced suede oxfords with bandings of coffee brown and araby green on harvest rust. Very smart for wear with the brown or green suit.

The bag is a large suede design with a tubular handle, gold medal trim and box bottom. It, too, is in the harvest rust shade.

And the slip-on gloves, in the same shade are two-way with the inside of cape and the outside suede. Three rows of stitching near the top are chic.

The colors for new shoes are fascinating. Blacks and browns lose the center of the spotlight this season, making way for such shades as cinnamon, mahogany, deep wine, oakleaf and sienna.

Combinations of leather are unusual, too. Suede may be trimmed with patent leather, or grosgrain strips may radiate over the toes. Suede is also seen combined with calf and kid, and suede is the very smartest of fabrics at the moment.

Navy blue braid gives a princess effect to this simple navy and blue plaid wool dress. The military collar and four cunning inset pockets are outlined by the braid. Shiny ball buttons fasten the front of the fitted bodice. You'll find it such fun and so easy to sew, you'll want to make another version of plain brown woollen. Zip it right up the front with a turquoise blue slide fastener to the shirt collar of white pique. Velveteen or rayon crepe silk would be attractive for more dressy occasions.

Style No. 2834 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19 years. Size 15 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch material with 4½ yards of braid.

DENIES WEDGE PLOT

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—(CP).—Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Pensions and National Health, said in an address last night Premier Hepburn, in cancelling the power contracts, had not "sought to drive a wedge between two provinces." He had shown the people of Quebec they must defend themselves against those who prior to 1933 had attempted to dominate both provinces, said Mr. Power who spoke in support of Dr. J. H. Putman, Liberal candidate in Ottawa South.

A Bleaching Pack To Beautify Skin

By GLADYS GLAD

ARCHAEOLOGISTS says that the golden masks recently found in ancient Egyptian tombs were used, insofar as they can judge, by Egyptian beauties for the preservation of their loveliness. These masks of gold, they claim, were coated inside with pastes and ointments, and placed over the face and permitted to remain on all night.

Some women give themselves a bleach pack twice a week, and consider such masks invaluable for preserving the clearness and loveliness of their skin. Skin often becomes dark and discolored in this age of smoke, grime and sun exposure, and bleaching treatments are absolutely essential if a girl wishes her skin to retain its fair coloring.

What's more important, the fall season is practically here, and the average lass wishes to regain, rather than to retain, her delicate skin tones. The fall dress shades, you know, demand natural skin tones, rather than the deep tans.

There are two bleach packs that are particularly effective for lightening the skin. A good bleach pack for oily skin, for instance, can be made of oatmeal, almond meal, rose-fine oatmeal, two tablespoons of rosewater, four tablespoons of glycerine, and the strained juice of one lemon should be mixed thoroughly together, and enough almond meal added to form a thick, smooth paste. Before the pack is applied the skin should be thoroughly cleansed. Then the paste should be spread evenly and thickly over the face and permitted to dry.

When this bleach pack is entirely dry it should be gently removed with tepid water and a soft cloth. Next a mild astringent should be applied to the face in order to close the pores and tone up the skin, and if the skin seems sensitive and the pack proves too drying, a bit of cold cream or tissue cream should be smoothed over the face after the pack has been removed.

For Sensitive Skin.

An effective bleach pack that is designed especially for use by sensitive-skinned individuals, can be made of milk and almond meal. This pack is not the least harmful for dry skins because the warm milk used in the pack reduces the drawing action of the almond meal and makes the treatment a mild one. Before the mask proper is applied, a mask of cheesecloth or gauze should be made. A square of either material may be used for this purpose, holes being cut in it for the eyes, nostrils and mouth.

In the next step, take the cheesecloth or gauze mask, dip it into a bit of warm milk, and fit it over your face, patting it into contact with your skin. Then make a smooth paste of almond meal and warm milk, and spread it generously over the cloth mask. Permit this mask to dry thoroughly, and lie down and relax during the drying process, if you possibly can. Then remove the pack by simply lifting it off the face. Take a square of cotton and bathe the skin again with warm milk. Then dry your face, and as the final step, apply a mild astringent or skin tonic in order to tone up the skin.

A Dinner Dress of Lace Is Smart

By Central Press.

LACES BROUGHT out in the current fall fabric collection fit into the luxurious trend of the fashion scheme. The metal laces are richer than ever before. Theer are whole motifs worked out in gold and silver threads, with sections of sheer and webby pattern in between of white or black or colored thread lace. Thes are unusually brilliant in effect, and achieve a distinctive, formal appearance when made up.

There is a silver net worked in solid stripes of metal thread, with alternating almost-pin-stripes of black net, making the whole look like a shimmering silver lame cloth.

This is perfect for the tailored type of dinner or afternoon dress. Then there are the new thread patterns outlined with metal or cellophane threads—delicate, but with the glistening effect so important this season. The white with silver threads are especially lovely.

The tailored type of dinner dress is pictured here in beige net and lace. It is taken from the fall collection of Marcelle Dormoy's Paris salon. The two fabrics make an interesting skirt trimming, and call attention to the shoulder.

A brown velvet sash makes a large bow in front, and is placed at the natural waistline.

For daytime wear the wool types of laces have great variety of pattern. The very solid patterns that look like wool fabrics are still used, and make many a smart dress or suit for autumn, and will later be worn under winter coats. These laces are excellent for the very tailored or street type of costume.

Talks to the People – J. H. Burnham

Early in this campaign and before Mr. Rowe had expressed any public opinion about his Separate School policy, Mr. Emmett Sheehy, K.C., asked me to write to Mr. Rowe regarding it. I did so and received the following reply. The words "equality of administration" mean that whatever Mr. Rowe does for public schools he will do for R.C. separate schools which includes, of course, the grants from the public treasury which have always had to be made to keep both schools up to the standard of efficiency required by the administration. Catholic company taxes were intended to supersede these grants which, strictly speaking, Separate Schools have no right to.

Mr. J. H. Burnham,
Peterborough, Ontario.
Dear Mr. Burnham:

I have received your letter of May 6th, and wish to thank you for the many timely suggestions which you have made.

On the question of school taxation. I feel that the vast majority of Roman Catholics are coming to realize that they have been used as a group for purely political reasons. As this feeling grows, I feel that an opportunity will present itself for the Conservative party to point out the advantages of consistent equality in administration.

Again thanking you for your suggestions, I am

Yours faithfully,

EARL ROWE.

Makes Milk More Popular with Children

More Digestible-More Delicious

OVALTINE added to milk is the regular daily beverage of countless thousands of persons. They know that Ovaltine has special properties which transform milk into a delicious beverage, far more nourishing and digestible than milk alone.

Ovaltine with milk, hot or cold, is in itself a perfect food scientifically processed from a formula devised for building renewed strength and vitality in delicate patients and convalescents. The use of Ovaltine has spread to private homes as well as hospitals and nursing homes the world over.

The Family Beverage for Health

Every member of the family will benefit by making Ovaltine his or her daily beverage. It is particularly beneficial for growing children. Children who take Ovaltine regularly at home, and at school recess, morning and afternoon, are more alert, more up to their work at school, less liable to fatigue.

Moreover, the experience of school authorities and parents alike has shown that children who dislike milk take it eagerly when Ovaltine is added.

Try Ovaltine in your family. All druggists and grocers have it. Phone for a tin of Ovaltine now.

Plaids Smart Paris Decrees

Youthful for Sports and College Suits

By LISBETH

Paris stresses the importance of plaids for autumn. They are very smart and youthful. They are also extremely popular worn by spectators at the various sporting events.

The young woman at the left of our illustration proves how chic the plaid suit can be. Her suit is cut with the slim silhouette, is belted and has an extra long action pleat in front. She wears solid monotone accessories with this suit. A splendid college suit.

The girl at the right has made a smart selection in clothes. She wears a full, billowy checked jacket, made like an English schoolboy's, with a contrasting circular wool skirt.

A suit that is a great favorite this season is the checked or subdued plaid jacket worn with dark wollen dress, high necked and short sleeved. An outstanding model is a black and white chalk-plaid topcoat worn over a black dress.

An speaking of plaids, a cape that the college girl would find useful is in plaid—in fringed blanket cloth in red, green and blue. It has a belt pulled through at front and there is a hood to match. It is shown as a ski cape, but it would serve for a variety of purposes on the campus.

Red and Black Combined

Red and black is one of the combinations of colors noticed at smart sporting events, young girls wearing red and black plaid, older women having touches of red trimming on black dresses, with black hats repeating the red in decoration.

Skirts still continue their upward stride. There is the extremely short skirt—up to the knee as in 1927; and there is the flared skirt with a great deal of fullness at the hem.

Bright colored jackets worn over black frocks were a feature of a recent New York showing. For instance, a mustard colored jacket, styled on cardigan lines, was worn over a black wool dress. This costume was completed by a suede cap and bag.

Another delightful combination was the swinging green velvet jacket with black velvet revers, worn over a black dress.

The slim line is emphasized in all models, sometimes in town coats, slim bands from shoulder to hem give a nice detail.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

SELF-CONFIDENCE is the first requisite to great undertakings.
—Johnson.

Self-defence is a virtue, Sole bulwark of all right—Byron.

Resolve to be thyself, and know that he Who finds himself, loses his misery.
—Matthew Arnold.

Dear Friends:

Have you ever noticed children at play? It seems to be all Me, Me, Me, with them. Let ME be the leader, let ME have the ball, or the train. Let ME shout the loudest, or be the queen. Always they want to think but of themselves and their own happiness.

That is selfishness pure and simple, not hidden, but demanding the best if they can get it. Altogether different from self-confidence, self-defence, or finding oneself.

And it works out like this. How can anyone have confidence in you if you have none in yourself? How can they believe in you, the work of your hands or your brain, if you have no belief in yourself. How can they think you are a nice dependable person, if you yourself do not think so.

You do not need to be grasping, nor selfish, nor give the impression there is no one so important as you. But you must have a belief in the inner you, so that you have confidence in your own ability to do what your work in the world might be.

Even a lady who scrubs for a living must have confidence in herself that she can do the job properly, else she only messes things up. And how many messer-uppers there are in the world,how many you hear say, "I THINK I can do it," in such a doubtful tone, that you hate to let them try. Either they know how to do it or they don't, and it is no shame to admit it if they can't, and one should have confidence enough to say so if they can.

And it is surprising how much more happy you'll feel once you have a proper belief in yourself. Not being vain, not acting superior nor as if you were right and everyone else wrong, but a belief in yourself as a person with your work in the world to do, which none can do but you.

Once you start exploring your own personality, it is amazing how interesting you become to yourself. Never fear, you will find enough faults in yourself to keep you humble, unless you have an absurd idea of your own importance.

Every one of us have the seed of greatness in one way or another embodied in us. Find out what your seed is, how you can make it grow, how much you can do with it to make for happiness, then water it with thorough work.

Don't be content with a little spindling plant, but give it the support of confidence and the belief of its ability to become a big spreading tree, so that it shades you from the glare when the summer of good times are with you, and is a windbreak in the winter of sorrow.

You cannot always be in a crowd. Neither can you always depend on someone else. We spend many hours with no company but ourselves, and how can you entertain yourself if you have never become acquainted with your own personality?

Find out why you like this, or why you don't like that. There's a reason. And the better you know yourself, the better you will be able to know others. You will be more entertaining, more interesting. You will shed a lot of your prejudices, have more sympathy and understanding, less criticism.

You may have to go to a true psychologist to get at the start of how to know thyself. So many people would not say "God bless you, Roberta," if I had not been able to help them to happiness. Hoping I have been able to help you.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

A splendid address was given by Miss Florence Hutchinson on Wednesday evening to the members of the A.Y.P.A. on the History and Principles of the A.Y.P.A., also the A.Y.P.A. Pin, and its meaning.

The talk was very much enjoyed and a vote of thanks was moved to the speaker by Ed. McDonald, seconded by Gordon Clegg. A short discussion followed in connection with the address. A contest was run by Gordon Clegg with Hilda Phillips being the winner. Five new members were introduced and with the others were divided into their groups with their captains. Three Bogies of Health

Weak Eyes—Frayed Nerves—Poor Teeth

Owing to a better knowledge of correct food,
And more frequent visits to the dentist,
Teeth are improving.
Eyes and nerves are not doing so well,
And eye strain is a frequent cause of nervous trouble.
Rest and relaxation are required
To restore health to the eyes and nerves.
But also nerve force must be built up,
And this is accomplished by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.
The headaches, irritability, indigestion and sleeplessness
Soon disappear when the health and vigor of the nerves
Are restored by this time-proven treatment.
The worry, anxiety and depressed spirits fade
And you yourself enjoy health and happiness.

U.S. Football Attendance Mark Expected To Hit 500,000 Gate

Sell-Outs Reported For Saturday's Games In Mid-West Circuit

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 — (AP). — Football and October, which have been going together so long they're regarded as being practically blood relations, met again to-day with the customary result—big games and big crowds.

With all the members of the respected Big Ten and Ivy League swinging in action attendance at major games was expected to go more than the 500,000 mark with the larger part of them filing mid-western stadia.

Only the limit of Nebraska stadium's 36,000 capacity held down the crowd at Lincoln where the Cornhuskers dared the might of the Minnesota Powerhouse. At Ann Arbor there was a chance of 70,000 turning out to see Michigan seek revenge against Michigan State's Spartans. Crowds of 45,000 at Columbus for Ohio State-Purdue and 35,000 for Wisconsin-Marquette also were expected.

On the west coast, where they had 60,000 for last week's California-St. Marys game, more banner gatherings were predicted as the outstanding teams began conference competition. Washington's 1936 champions and the come-backing Southern California Trojans looked for 45,000 customers, while slightly smaller crowds were due at the California-Oregon State and Oregon-Stanford clashes.

Washington's 1936 champions and the come-backing Southern California Trojans looked for 45,000 customers, while slightly smaller crowds were due at the California-Oregon State and Oregon-Stanford clashes.

Leaders in East

Although gatherings of around 25,000 for such games West Virginia-Pittsburgh, Carnegie Tech-New York University, Boston College-Kansas State and Manhattan-Texas A. and M were about tops; in the East there were plenty of good games to increase the attendance total. About the best on the list was the Cornell-Colgate encounter at Ithaca, N.Y. bringing together two upstate New York grindiron teams.

A rich list of intersectional contests throughout the country were headed by Army-Clemson, Navy-Citadel, Pennsylvania - Maryland, Princeton-Virginia, Vanderbilt-Chicago, Colorado-Missouri and Louisiana State-Texas. The last named was expected to draw the South's largest crowd, some 20,000 and furnish, perhaps, one of the day's closest tussles.

Arkansas, Southwest Conference champion, and Texas Christian, its rival for aerial honors, met in another promising tussle.

ODD ITEMS FROM A SPORT SCRAP BOOK

WES FERRELL

The recent trade of Wesley Ferrell to the Washington Senators brings to mind the peculiar career of this great pitcher.

Not so long ago, for five years he averaged better than 20 victories for the Cleveland Indians and then developed a sore arm and when traded to the Red Sox last season he was thought to be through and on the way out. But for a pitcher with a bad arm his performance with the Sox after his trade were indeed remarkable; in the opening game of the first year, he pitched a two-hit game against the New York Yankees.

But since that time he has fallen into ill luck and his pitching has not been accorded the success that was hitherto his. He is quite a temperamental person and this has doubtless been one of the reasons for his disagreements with the Red Sox management.

MARMORA TIES MADOC 1 TO 1

BRAMPTON, Oct. 2. — Cheltenham-Inglewood Combines captured the O.A.L.A. intermediate championship here last night by trimming Hamilton Tigers 15-13 for their second triumph in the three-game series. Showing a complete reversal of form from the previous showing here when Hamilton won 8-5 the Combines were good winners last night.

The winners led all the way by quarters 4-3, 8-6, and 12-8. Penalties certainly didn't help Hamilton's chances any with Clark being the big offender with four visits to the penalty bench. Combines' fast-running, passing game gave them their edge in the rough knock 'em down and drag 'em out affair. Featuring for the winners was the attacking of Jones, Walsh, and Hazel, with Wilson and Rock being steady on defence. Wilkinson and Jamieson, together with Goaltender Gow, were the stars of the losers.

CENTRAL BLANKS KING GEORGE 4-0

Central gained their first win in the local Public School Soccer League yesterday (Friday) afternoon on King Edward Park, at King George school boys' expense, by the score of four to none.

League Standing.

	P.	W.	L.	F.	A.	Pts.
King Edward	3	3	0	14	0	6
Queen Alex.	2	2	0	3	1	4
Central	2	1	1	4	1	2
Queen Mary	3	1	2	1	8	2
Prince of Wales	2	1	1	2	4	2
King George	3	0	3	1	7	0

Two points for a win and one for a draw.

On Monday afternoon—Queen Alexandra vs. King Edward.

First Half.

Central settled down to business right away to force the issue, but King George defence repulsed the attacks time and again. Millen and Miller, on right wing, travelled down into the corner to centre the ball across the goal mouth. Lee connected with the first counter. Withers punted up-field where Eason dribbled past the opposition, but lacked to finish the play. Centra started to swing the ball around until Millen broke away to beat the goalie with a low grounder. Central 2, King George 0.

Second Half.

On resuming, Central's defence was erratic through the players going up on the attack and leaving their positions vacant, which permitted the King George boys to take advantage of the opening. After some mid-field play, R. Clarke dribbled his way through the opposition until he was well near the goal, and with a left foot drive found the inside of the upright. The custodian, R. Caines, made a great attempt to turn it aside as the ball rolled against the post and into the goal. Five minutes before the finish, King George boys broke through to test the Central goalie. Lee frustrated the attack to send his right wing away to the other end. Millen trapped the ball quickly to send Millen on the run towards goal and with a low grounder tallied the third counter. Central 4, King George 0.

King George—R. Caines, goal; H. Withers and D. Ralph full-backs; K. Ferguson, H. Clyde and F. Mason, halves; C. Eason, D. Withers, G. Patterson, R. Hendry and G. Clyde, forwards. Subs—G. Powell and J. Laing.

Central—F. Drummond, goal; R. Clarke and G. Lee, full-backs; F. Kiff, N. Foster and F. Parson, halves; B. Millen, D. Miller, S. Clarke, G. Burns and L. Batten, forwards.

Referee—D. Buchan.

Bogota, Colombia, will construct a stadium costing $325,000.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

THERE IS a ball game today—if the weather is reasonable—in Oshawa, an O.B.A.A. senior final playoff between the Toronto Grads and the Motor City GM-men. It would not be stretching things too far to say: "There but for a few bad breaks are the Petes and Toronto in Provincial finals." On account of the Petes gave Oshawa their stiffest C.O.B.L. battles in playoffs, and the GM-men easily rubbed out Hamilton later. So, looking back at it, we can easily figure where the locals might have been right up there. But for a few bad breaks. Or for lack of a good lefthander on the mound. As for the Petes' season, you might sum it up briefly. They started out okay, hit a bad midseason slump but finished up strong. They had a pretty fair season on the whole, without getting any breaks.

* * * * * * *

WHAT DO we mean by breaks? Well, we had a couple of imports who were expected to help a lot. Guys with good reputations who were brought in for the express purpose of winning ball games. Joe Jakafhy didn't do much on the mound till late in the season, though he tried hard enough. He hurled some dandy ball at times, and was going great at the finish. But for a time he wasn't pitching up to the form expected. Ken Long flopped as a big slugger. He played some good ball defensively and sometimes he did come through with bingles, but not nearly often enough. Had he hit up to the form expected, we would have won a lot more close games—and more in the playoffs with Oshawa, too. But that is the way of baseball.

* * * * * * *

GUNNER WHITEHILL had a bad year in hurling, also. After leading the loop in pitching the previous season, the Gunner was expected to win half a dozen or so, anyway, but he was having an off-season on the slab. The best of 'em do it and Eddie doesn't want to let it bother him next year. He should come back strong. But he didn't have a good summer in '37, and that hurt the Petes' chances. Cy Whatley didn't have his usual good season, either, and that also was a tough break. He'll be back again, too, both with the willow and defensively. Then, we had a lot of injuries here and there. And lost a lot of close ones. Were in front in a playoff game when darkness forced it to be called, and ended the tilt in a tie. And sometimes ye umps didn't give us an even break. Yeah, we had our share of hard luck.

* * * * * * *

HOWEVER, THERE is no use hollering about things. The diamond game is an uncertain one at best, and the breaks make the sport. We did get a few good breaks during the campaign. Big Russ Kitchen returned after a year's absence and twirled grand ball—in fact, he carried the pitching burden over most of the season. Al Clark developed into a dandy defensive shortstop. Regulars like Calladine, Kearns, Burton and Starr played their usual good baseball. We got good pitching and hitting several games when we needed it toward the last. Fred Ash filled in fine at first-base again till he was hurt. Though neither he nor Kingdon did very much with the bat. And so it goes. Those who were off in '37 are likely to return to form next season and help out a few good imports—like a southpaw, eh?—muchly.

* * * * * * *

ORFUNS DIDN'T have an opening grid game here today. After their tilt with Eastsides was called off, they tried in turn to get Lindsay, Belleville, R.M.C., Fliers, Queen's intermediates and Orillia—but 'twas no soap. They thought Lindsay might have switched dates to keep the schedule intact, with Eastsides going to Cobourg, but the Seugog squad had already made plans and declined. The Lindsay Warder writer wrote: "The Blue Bombers are not financially strong enough to make such changes so soon. It is not because Lindsay does not want to go to Peterborough, but circumstances will not permit them. It could have been possible with a little more advance notice, but the local management does not want the Peterborough club to feel down on the local club because of that, but it just couldn't be helped."

* * * * * * *

COMES A clipping from Bowmanville's columnist: "While Port Hope, Cobourg and Whitby are grouped in rugby together, Bowmanville is tossed in with Oshawa and Peterborough and the juniors also meet Lindsay. The latter Collegiate is at least twice the size of ours, while Oshawa and Peterborough have an enrollment of well over a thousand. We understand that the three Lakeshore towns grouped under the 'B' section of the schedule adopted the whining cry that they wouldn't play if Bowmanville was in their league. Cobourg has a bigger attendance that Bowmanville and Port Hope is about the same while Whitby has about 300 students."

* * * * * * *

HE PROCEEDS: "We also agree that in the senior group, just Peterborough and Oshawa would not form much of a loop. But why should Bowmanville be made the goat? If they had been grouped with the 'B' division it would have meant another home game with just as good a drawing card as the attraction. But while the Peterborough and Oshawa schools may have it on B.H.S. in the matter of attendance, they will not have an edge in the matter of intestinal fortitude, and do not be too surprised if Bowmanville should finish with a fine record. The juniors especially have a good chance of emerging winners and they will have plenty of support this fall." The right spirit, fella.

* * * * * * *

WITH THE passing of the Toronto Mercantile Puck Loop—or has it really passed?—we hear Bill Hewitt has an idea in his noggin of a senior O.H.A. group comprising a couple of Toronto teams, Hamilton, Port Colborne and Oshawa. And up this way there is talk of a grouping—we suppose intermediate "A", or even senior "B"—of Peterborough, Oshawa, Trenton Fliers, and either Kingston or a Toronto team. Nothing but rumors as yet, though. New pro rules this year abolish the penalty circle in favor of a 15-foot line 30 feet out from the goal. Snipers skate from their own blue line to this mark and shoot. Stick but not the player may cross it. Pucks out of bounds will now face-off where they were shot, not where they left the ice. Players leaving the defending area to attack must now follow th puck. Any but a goalie falling on the puck within 10 feet of goal gives the other side a penalty shot. These rules are hoped to speed up play.

* * * * * * *

UP AND down Sports' Rialto: Don't forget the guest and field day in Hastings on Thanksgiving Day, racing, lacrosse, etc. . . . Nor the motorbike hill-climbing events that day at Nassau . . . . Orfuns play rugby in Lindsay on the holiday, a week from Monday . . . . Oshawa Collegians open 'gainst P.C.I. here next Sat'day, with the Motor City juniors playing Coach Jackson's gang here that day, too—and Orfuns idle . . . . Ought to have a re-organization meeting of the Hockey Club soon, what? . . . . "That infantile paralysis scare sure paralyzed our football opening," says Lou Brooks . . . . Next on the program is the nickel world series, and if we had a nickel to spare we'd go . . . . Guess that grid grouping wasn't such a soft touch for Belleville after all . . . . Not much stirring locally just now, and we have to chop it off early Saturdays . . . . Some of the amateur (ha, ha) ball players have, since breaking training, (another ha, ha) fattened themselves up to twice their batting averages!

MARMORA, Oct. 2. — Marmora High School rugby team effected a draw with Madoc in their first game of the season on the latter's grounds on Friday afternoon, the score being 1-1. The first quarter was scoreless. Reeves registered for the homesters with a kick in the second quarter, while the visitors had two offside touchdowns in the same quarter. Both teams failed to obtain a point in the third, play throughout being even. Towards the end of the game Marmora staved off defeat as Hart kicked and caught his opponent in possession behind his own goal.

Hart, Hollingsworth and W. Reynolds were outstanding for Marmora which Reeves and Munro starred for the homesters.

Stirling Withdraws

The Stirling team has withdrawn from the C.H.S.S.A. competition, owing to a decision made by their school board on account of infantile paralysis still being prevalent in this part of the province. The withdrawal necessitates the compilation of a new schedule.

Inside Sportin' Dope

BY A. WISE CRACKER

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well Mac, I suppose the customers will be thinking I'm kinda scared to try and call the winner of the world's serious, after me picking the 2 New York teams to be the pair who would meet in the annual clash for the big money. I'm not backing up anyway and right here and now I'm going to name the Giants as the winners of the annual set-too. Waiting for the ribald laughter to subside, I wish to go on and state that my reasons for that there prediction numbers 2 and they're both left-handed; a veteran by the name Hubbell and a rookie known as Mister Melton. The Yanks, powerful as they is, usually, and always together in a money serious, aint nevertheless had much of a edge on portside flinging all season. Left-handers has beat them 16or 19 times while their wins over southpaws numbers 24. And when you say southpaws, neighbors, the Giants has the smartest pair in captivity in the 2 I just named. Another thing the Yanks hitting has been very spoity of late. They break out into a rash of safe blows I game and then get all tied in a knot in the next and some of the lads namely Mister Crisetti and Mister Lazzeri aint been hitting hard enough to make a impression in a Charlotte Russe. And again the Giants is hot. They been travelling at top speed and winning a lot of close games and they'r keyed up while the Yanks has been free-wheeling for weeks and they may find it tough ehough to get the old machine going when they need their best.

Anyway there's my selection. I admit the Yanks is dynamite. I concede the fact Mister Gomez is going to be I tough hombre to beat but in spite of that the Giants is the club I see is going to cop the big serious. If you want to laugh, neighbors, it's all right with me.

Not much doing locally Mac except the election argument between Alex Elliott and Bill Johnson and Perce Lancaster in the Queen's Park sweepstakes which is to be run off next Wed. In case you're interested. This is a maiden race for Alex and Bill with Perce a 2-time winner facing the starter once again. They're coming around the last turn into the stretch now and it oughts be quite a finish.

And that all for the nonce.

Sportfully Yours,
A Wise Cracker.

Columbus Wins Third Straight From The Ruppert Farm Hands

GOLF-FACTS NOT THEORIES by Alan Morrison

A golfer came to me recently for help on short putts. He had a terrible fear of missing two and three-foot putts and when I watched him during a game I had to admit that this fear was well founded.

He couldn't send the ball straight enough to touch any part of the cup. In talking to him about the things he was trying to do I learned the main reason for his trouble. He was trying to do at least eight things at one and the same time, such as move the clubhead along the ground in the backward swing and avoid jabbing with the right hand in bringing the clubhead through the ball.

In addition to other things he took his eye off the ball and turned his head before the clubhead struck it. Little wonder that he sent it off line. In order to simplify his technique and give him just one thing to think about I had him concentrate on the face of the club. I had him make a very short swing and see that the clubface was kept straight from start to finish, much as it would be when scraping the ball into the hole. This method worked like a charm for him.

I'm sure it will help others who are having trouble holing the very short ones. Just move the clubface straight toward the cup as you would in brushing the ball right into the hole. This will do away with the twists and turns you generally make to miss such putts.

MITCHAM, England—(CP) —Celebrating his 79th birthday, Walter G. George mused on what he might have done on the track had he followed modern training rules. In 1886 he ran the mile in four minutes, 12¾ seconds, a feat that stood as the world's best for 29 years.

France entertained 33 per cent. more tourists this year than last.

Enos Slaughter Snaps Hitless Streak With Two Singles And Homer

NEWARK, N.J., Oct. 2 (A.P.) — The hard-hitting Columbus Red Birds, champions of the American Association, made the champion Newark Bears of the International League look just another ball club for the third straight time last night as they beat them 6 to 3 in the third game of the Little World Series before a near-capacity crowd of 17,000.

Columbus needs only one more game to take the minor league baseball championship for the third time in five years. They have a chance to finish it on home ground, as both clubs entrained for Columbus immediately after the game, and will play there to-night.

As in the previous two contests, the St. Louis Cardinal farm team combined their hits with Newark errors to come out ahead. They bombed Vito Tamulis, husky southpaw, for ten hits, including a home run by Enos Slaughter with one man on, and had the help also of three Newark misplays.

Slaughter, the association's batting champion, snapped out of his hitless slump in a big way, collecting two singles besides his seventh inning homer and driving in three runs.

Max Lanier, young right hander, who won ten games and lost four in the association, did a brilliant job of relief pitching and received credit for the victory. Taking the place of Morton Cooper in the second inning after the Bears had scored all their runs, Lanier gave out only three hits until the ninth. Then showing signs of weakening, he was replaced by Nelson Potter, who forced the final Newark batter to fly out with two men on the bags.

Sports Scribe Calls Giants To Win 1937 World Series

Yankees Not Playing Such Good Ball Of Late As In Last Year's Classic

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—When a man picks the Giants to beat a team like the Yankees in the world series, he ought to be placed on the stand and asked a few leading questions...well, it's true, folks...I'm picking the Giants...so Ive asked myself some questions, and here are the results:

Q. What do you like about the Giants?

A. I like the pitching of Melton and Hubbell against a team like the Yankees. Hubbell beat the Yanks in one game at their peak last year, and the Yanks were lucky to beat him once. Two pitchers can win a world series without much trouble.

Also, I am sold on the heads-up baseball the Giants have been playing this year. It's a better ball club than the Yankees beat last year, better both offensively and defensively, and with better pitching.

Q. How about the Yankee pitchers?

A. Gomez is the only pitcher who'll beat the Giants, according to my researches. Ruffing has gone sour. Pearson hasn't been dependable all year. Hadley will pitch a good game, but not good enough.

Q. But the Yankees have the most powerful hitters in the game in Gehrig, DiMaggio, Dickey, Selkirk. How are you going to stop them?

A. They have stopped all by themselves during the last few weeks. The team hasn't been hitting up to its 1936 standard, and you never know how long one of those slumps is going to last. Gehrig, Dickey and Selkirk are going to be handicapped against southpaw pitching as served by Hubbell and Melton.

Q. What team did you pick to win last year?

A. The Yankees—in five games. I figured they would beat Hubbell the second time he started, and they did.

Q. But this year that's all going to be different, eh?

A. Yes, for the reason that the Yankees haven't been playing consistently good ball. Please do not forget that last month the Athletics beat the Yankees four straight. Even the Cleveland Indians finally won a ball game in Yankee stadium—in September, too.

Q. But the Yankees didnt have to play bang-up ball to win. They coasted in. So what?

A. So this. You don't think they didn't play bang-up ball because they weren't trying, do you? The Yankees never have been known to let a guy up when he's down. When they've got it, they're moppers up.

Q. Your records show the Yankees a great world series team. They won four straight from the Pirates in 1927, four straight from the Cardinals in the following year, four straight from the Cubs in 1932 and four out of six from the Giants last year. Aren't you making a sap of yourself to pick a team like that to lose?

A. The Giants won two games from the Yankees last year when the Yanks were hitting on all 12 cylinders. The Giants are a better team by at least two games this year, with Melton, a better defence and a better punch. The Giants, then, in seven games.

GREENBERG NEAR DEADLOCKS MARK RUNS DRIVEN IN

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (CP).—Give Hank Greenberg a hand, folks.

In the dying moments of the major baseball league season, when it's hard to find anything startling to report, and harder still to sit and watch the antics of the newly-imported rookies and the also-rans, Hank is taking his big bat in hand and doing his "derndest" to make it interesting.

The point at issue is whether the Detroit dynamiter can equal or better Lou Gehrig's American League record of 184 runs batted in for a season. Considerably quieter this season than usual with the willow, Hank has been sneaking up on the Gehrig mark of 1931 in recent weeks and now has accumulated a total of 179 runs driven in.

He has two games more in which to send five across to tie the mark; six to break it. If he can do through the final two tilts what he did yesterday, Gehrig's mark is as good as gone, although Greenberg would still fall short of the all-time major league high of 190, posted by Hank Wilson with Chicago Cubs in 1930.

Adds Six More.

Greenberg added six more to his total yesterday as the Tigers trampled the Browns 14-4. He clouted two homers, each with two mates on base, and added a double for good measure. The homers were his 39th and 40th, and put him securely in second place in the home run derby, five back of Joe DiMaggio.

Hank's hitting output topped the developments of the curtailed major league program in which the Dodgers ended a 14-game losing streak with a 7-4 win over the newly-crowned National League pennant winners, the Giants.

Gomes Falls Short.

Lefty Gomes, after winning five straight pitching victories, failed to make it six in his final tune-up before the world series. The Boston Red Sox tagged "El Goofy" for three runs in the first inning and went on to a 4-2 win over the American League championship Yankees, despite a fine comeback by Lefty before the game was halted by darkness in seven innings.

St. Louis Cardinals have won 15 of 19 starts against the Cubs, and turned the tables with a 4-1 decision, behind Si Johnson's effective twirling.

The win, however, didn't stop Pittsburg Pirates from clinching third place in the National League. The Bucs whipped Cincinnati Reds for the 18th time in 18 starts this season, taking a 6-3 edge behind tight pitching by Jim Tobin.

The rest of the clubs in both leagues were idle.

WOMAN RELIEFER SHOOTS CALGARY MOH IN "REVENGE"

CALGARY, Oct. 2 (C.P.). — Mrs. Margaret Nagy, 42-year-old Hungarian relief recipient, was held by police to-day, charged with the attempted murder of Calgary's Medical Health Officer, Dr. W. H. Hill, in hospital with a bullet wound in the back.

Shot as he entered his office on the top floor of the City Hall Building yesterday, Dr. Hill walked unaided to a small couch. A small calibre rifle allegedly purchased by Mrs. Nagy a few hours before, was taken from the woman by Relief Inspector J. J. Dunn, who guarded her until police arrived.

Mrs. Nagy was examined twice by Dr. Hill, who reported on the last occasion she was "neuetic and fast becoming very morbid, and will eventually be a fit subject for a mental hospital.

Police said the woman told Inspector Dunn: "He has tried to kill me for three years. I fix him now."

PRESS CONTROL BILL ADVANCES

EDMONTON, Oct. 2. — (CP). — Identification of writers and news sources on request and enforcement of publication of government statements are provided in an Alberta government bill to "ensure publication of accurate news and information" in newspapers.

Introduced in the Legislature yesterday by Provincial Treasurer Low, the bill was given first and second reading and will be considered this afternoon by the Legislature's Agricultural committee.

The Alberta Social Credit Board chairman, Glen L. MacLachlan, member of the Legislature for Coronation, would have power to recommend to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council imposition of penalties provided in the bill—fines, suspension of publication or banning of items from specified sources.

Newspapers could be required by the board chairman to publish any statement furnished by him respecting objects of government policies, means employed and difficulties encountered in achieving such objects.

At the foot of statements would be the words: "The foregoing statement is published by the direction of the chairman of the Social Credit board."

All such statements would be printed in type used ordinarily by the newspaper and would not exceed one page in size in the case of a daily paper nor one-tenth of the total issue of any newspaper.

Penalty of $500 is provided for contravention of the act and penalty of $1,000 is provided for contravention of any order-in-council respecting suspension of publication or banning of a specified news source.

The bill, to become effective with the Lieutenant-Governor's assent, provides statements published in compliance with the act would be privileged and not subject to the libel and slander act.

DEAD RECKONING

BY BRUCE HAMILTON

CHAPTER I

'ON A SUNDAY morning, in the second week in July, Tim Kennedy sat at his writing desk before the open window of the billiard room. It was hot; his stiff white collar and the old Norfolk jacket he usually wore about the house irked him. He had a pen in his hand, and several sheets of foolscap paper lay on the desk. Every now and then he scribbled a line, and in the intervals looked frowningly out of the window as his mind groped for a phrase.

Ideas came slowly. The pleasures of literary composition had never appealed to him, and since leaving college he could hardly recall ever having put pen to paper except to write a letter, note down an appointment, or make out a bill or receipt. . . . He remembered the subject of one of the essays that had so tormented him in his schooldays: "Write an account of what you saw in the Diamond Jubilee, in the style of either (a) Dr. Johnson, or (b) Lord Macaulay, or (c) Charles Dickens. . . ." The problem was fundamentally similar: "Write a letter of farewell prior to committing suicide, in the style of Esther Kennedy. . . ." He discarded a sheet.

Evidently his fault was over-elaboration. Such letters were generally brief enough. The longer he made it the greater the chances for little improbabilities and faults in psychology to creep in. And the note of reasoning he had tried to strike, in the seven or eight longish screeds he had attempted and abandoned, was a false one. Esther would not be concerned to convince people that she really did intend to destroy herself. The fact would speak for itself. Despair, affection, unconscious pathos, an abrupt haste to be finished with a painful task — those were the emotions to suggest.

He tried again. It remained strange, writing a letter to himself. But this time he got going, and the result looked to him a great deal more satisfactory.

My dearest Tim,

I am going to take the rest of the medinal. Perhaps it's more than is needed, but I don't want to wake up, and I want to make sure.

I know this will be a terrible shock to you ,but please forgive me, Tim dear. This dreadful sleeplessness is too much for me ,and I can't go on. It isn't as if I would ever be really well. I don't feel I can face living on as a wretched neurotic invalid, and a burden to everyone. I'm getting bad-tempered and selfish already. I can't help it.

Give Uncle Harold my love. Try not to feel it too much, Tim. I'm sure it's best for you in the end. We've had such happy times together, and it would be a pity to spoil them.

Goodby, my dearest one,

Your loving Esther.

It was still a little vague. Was Esther's motive the misery of sleeplessness, or despair at the prospect of becoming "a wretched neurotic invalid"? . . . On the whole he decided it did not matter. It was not like a money loss, or a bereavement, or disgrace. A certain loss of grip, expressing itself in a slight ambiguity, partook of the very nature of her supposed state.

He proceeded to the next step. This, while making no demand on the imagination, offered a certain amount of mechanical difficulty. In the old days it would have been next to impossible, for Esther's handwriting had been very distinctive, bold, almost masculine when compared with his own precise and beautifully rounded one, and with a curious backward slant difficult to imitate.

But with the partial atrophy of her right arm, writing had become very difficult to her, and her hand had lost all its character. Acting on Harold Arkwright's advice, however, she had practiced a little every day; and sometimes, when there was no letter or anything which she really needed to write, she had carried on with a note to Tim. He had these notes by him now. They were brief, touching in their simplicity ,and revealing a patience and hope that it would now hardly suit him to have revealed. . . . He picked up the latest of them—written only two days before. The writing was a little clearer and better formed than that of the early ones, but not very much—a squarish, wavering script, showing hardly any trace of individuality.

That, of course, simplified the matter. He set himself to copy this last note, holding the top of his paper directly below it in the matter of copybook writing, and folding the top of his sheet over as he proceeded. He did not examine it till he had finished.

It would not do. Try as he would something of the smoothness and firm sweep of a strong, healthy hand had asserted itself. His second attempt was little better. This time, holding the pen loosely, he tried to suggest a wavering irregularity. But the irregularity seemed artificial. Perhaps it was impossible to bring the right degree of moment to bear, to reproduce not only the weakness, but the desperate effort to overcome it.

Recalling a trick he had been shown and practiced in his childhood, he tried another method. This was to turn the model upside down, and copy as one copied a drawing. The advantage was that the mind did not outpace the hand, it was unconcerned with the actual matter of the writing, and therefore did not anticipate and simplify. The work was infinitely laborious, but the result showed a great improvement. In 20 minutes he achieved a practically identical copy of Esther's last note.

But how was he to adapt this method to an original composition? At first sight the difficulty seemed insuperable, but on examining Esther's notes closely he found that nearly all the words of his letter appeared once or more in one or the other of them. Even whole phrases were there. "I can't help it." "I'm sure it's best." "Goodby; my dearest one." A dozen or 15 words at the most were absent.

He took up a pair of scissors and snipped out the words and phrases he required in little rectangles. These he pasted, neatly and in due order, on to a stiff sheet of paper, leaving spaces where necessary. Then he filled in the missing words, copying letter by letter, using extraordinary care.

At last he had a model ready. The final version was all that remained for him to do. But for this he suddenly realized that he would have to use Esther's own fountain pen, with the particular blue ink she affected. This pen she kept in her own bureau in the living room.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SLAMMING DOOR

"Bang!"

A noise sounded loud in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow.

"Oh, my!" screamed Nurse Jane.

"Such a careless rabbit!" sighed Mrs. Longears.

"What was that and who did it?" asked Uncle Wiggily who was giving a last twinkle to his pink nose to get ready to go adventuring.

"That was a door being slammed," said the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"And who slammed it?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I think it was Buster," spoke Mrs. Longears. "Yes, it was," she added as she looked out of a window of the hollow stump bungalow and saw Buster hopping down the front steps to go play cabbage ball with some other animal boys.

"Does Buster always slam the door like that when he goes out," asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Always," said his mother.

Another Task.

"Then I must change him as I changed Frisky the little puppy dog who wouldn't wag his tail," said the rabbit gentleman.

"Are you going to tie a stone to Buster's tail?" asked Nurse Jane.

"I may," said Mr. Longears. "That cured Frisky."

"But perhaps Buster won't slam the door tomorrow," said his mother, hopeful like.

"We shall see," said Uncle Wiggily. Not only did he see but he also heard. That very afternoon when Buster ran out to play again he slammed the door louder than before.

"Buster, come back here!" his father called after him.

"What's the matter, Daddy?" asked the little rabbit boy.

"You must come back here and close the door quietly," his father said. "Come back!"

"Oh——" Buster was going to say "Oh, bother!" But he thought in time and said: "Oh, dear! Can't you do it for me, Daddy? I want to go play ball."

"No, Buster," said Mr. Longears. "You must learn not to slam doors. Now come back, open this one and close it gently."

Buster did so, but not very kindly or politely. He even gave the door a little slam, though not as loud as at first. Then he ran to play ball and Uncle Wiggily said:

"I know how to cure Buster of slamming doors.

"How?" asked Nurse Jane.

"You shall see!" laughed Uncle Wiggily.

Trap

Outside the door Buster so often slammed the rabbit gentleman put a shelf, high up over the door. The shelf was outside the door through which Buster hopped to go play. On the shelf Uncle Wiggily put a can full of water, so lightly placed that the least slam of the door would topple down the can ker-splash!

"Now we'll see what happens," said the rabbit daddy.

Late that afternoon, running out after he had come home to get a carrot sandwich, Buster slammed the door very hard.

"Bang! Slam! Splish! Splash! Splosh!"

Down toppled the can of water all over Buster.

"Oh! Oh! What's this?" howled the careless rabbit boy. "Oh!"

"That's my cure for door slamming," laughed Uncle Wiggily.

"I—oh—ug—wug! Blug! Dug!" spluttered the water-soaked Buster, "I'll never slam doors again." And he never did.

So if the strawberry jam doesn't run away and leave the bread and butter to get home by itself, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's cider.

Westwood Anglicans Observe Church's Diamond Jubilee

Historic Sketch By Mrs. R. E. Birdsall Features Unusual Occasion

WESTWOOD, Oct. 2.—Members of St. Michael's Anglican Church, Westwood, celebrated the diamond jubilee of their church on Wednesday evening, September 29, which was St. Michael's and All Angels' Day. A service of Thanksgiving for blessings and divine help during the past sixty years commemorated the event.

The church, founded in 1877, has stood for sixty years a place of beauty in the community, and always a peaceful rendezvous from the affairs of the world. Decorated artistically with the choicest of fruits, flowers, and vegetables, a beautiful interior greeted the eye of the worshipper. One year ago the entire church was re-decorated in soft tones and it presents a particularly pleasing effect.

The opening hymn was announced by the minister in charge, Rev. R. C. Lemon. The opening sentence and prayers were read by Rev. W. Stocks, of Hastings Anglican Church, who also led in prayers throughout the service. The Old Testament lesson, from Isaiah 35, was read by Rev. A. J. Preston of Westwood Presbyterian Church, and the New Testament lesson from St. John's Gospel, chap 10:, 1-16, was read by Rev. F. W. Newell of Westwood United Church.

An address of inspiration to all and especially to the younger generation was very ably given by Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson of All Saints' Church Peterborough, who took his text from Psalms, ch. 103, v. 17: "The mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children's children."

All Saints' Choir.

About twenty members of All Saints' Church choir, Peterborough, assisted with the hymns. "The Magnificat" and "Nunc Dimittis" were sung. Two beautiful anthems were also rendered; a selection from Stainer's "Crucifixion," and an offertory anthem.

Greetings and recital of historic events of the past sixty years, prepared by Mrs. R. E. Birdsall, was read by Rev. R. E. Lemon, and was a unique and very interesting account to the members of St. Michael's congregation as well as to members of other denominations. It was as follows:

From the Congregation and Friends of St. Michael's of 1877
To the Congregation and friends of St. Michael's 1937

Greetings!

In the early days of the settling of the County of Peterborough the greatest trial was the lack of churches and religious training and strenuous were the efforts made by the early pioneers to work out the problem and make things better for their children.

Services were held at the homes of Frank Birdsall, Thomas Blezard and Stephen Nelson alternatively by Rev. Mark Burnham of Peterborough and Rev. Mr. Bethune, later Bishop Bethune. The meetings were always well attended by people of all denominations, all feeling quite lost without any church ministry and fully appreciated the efforts put forth by these clergymen.

Then at Westwood in Apshodel a church was built which for many years provided accommodation for the Protestant denominations of that time—Presbyterians, Methodists (as they were then called) and the Anglicans. The three services being held there each at its own time and with its own minister in attendance.

In the early 70's the idea was advanced for the building of an Anglican church. Mrs. Powel of Westwood donated the land and all the people of the community, Methodists, Presbyterians and Catholics, joined with the Anglicans in drawing brick, stone and other materials for the building, giving a helping hand wherever needed and were certainly generous with donations.

People of the present day cannot appreciate as we should all the sacrifices entailed in the building of our churches in the long ago when there were very few people in the county, very few good roads, even passable ones, and no cars or trucks of any kind, only big heavy lumber wagons and democrats, which latter were used to carry the people to the churches when they were built, after weeks, months and even years of hard work and worry. The donations represented unselfishness and self sacrifice, for there was very little money in the country, but with untold efforts and determination the Church of St. Michael's was built.

Mr. Dinsdale was the contractor and a valued assistant was Mr. George Clements of Norwood, formerly of Warsaw, and it adds a sentimental interest to it all, to know the church was built after the plan of the one in Wales of which Mr. Farrar was rector before coming to this country.

In Gothic Style

The style is "first-pointed" Gothic and at the time of building was considered the only correctly designed ecclesiastical edifice in the township, being provided with a neatly proportioned chancel, pulpit, altar and lectern.

At the end of the chancel is a triplet window, which has become a memorial for the beloved rector, Mr. Farrar, principally through the devoted, energetic work of a lady of the congregation, Mrs. Thos. Humphries, who passed on to higher service, December 23, 1899.

The window still stands. To the younger people it is a thing of beauty and something to be proud of, but to the older members it is a memorial (besides all these other sentiments), in every sense of the word, as Sunday after Sunday a glance brings back the memory of the kindly Christian gentleman who laboured among us for so many years, Rev. Michael A. Farrar, and also sweet memories of our friend and fellow member whose kind thought it was.

The drapes for the church were donated by Mrs. W. R. Elmhirst to be used on special occasions for which they were suitable, while the stoles to be used for the different seasons of the church year were given by Mrs. J. W. McCleary, on the death of her husband, who was rector of St. Michael's and Norwood, 1881-1888.

The communion service was sent out from England by a friend of Mr. Farrar, to be used by him on the completion of the church and it has been greatly admired and appreciated. The communion service in present use was also a donation as was also the organ which came with all good wishes from the Norwood congregation. It gave good service and cheered the hearts of the people for many years and was only superseded in 1911 by the present instrument. Mrs. Wm. Elmhirst, Mrs. Geo. Lancaster and Katleen Elmhirst, now Mrs. Max Humphries, had in succession charge of the organ, all doing faithful work, with Mrs. M. C. Birdsall supplying frequently at very many times, through summer heat and winter storms, always in their place, giving freely of their time and strength.

The glad church bell, which the members listen for each Sunday, giving the congregation kindly greeting was another highly appreciated donation from Mr. John Blacklock of Hastings.

St. Michael's at Westwood has a very unique situation on the big hill to the west of the village, nestling at it does under the pines. Every season of the year shows it so quiet, calm and peaceful. It stand on one corner of the crossroads, while directly across the way is the United Church and on the third corner is the Presbyterian, an edifice erected only a few years ago and of which the members are justly proud.

St. Michael's Church was opened on January 3, 1877, with the following clergymen conducting the services both morning and evening: Rev. J. W. McCleary, Rev. E. W. Soward, Rev. E. Mulvaney.

Filled Every Sunday

At the time of the completion of the building the edifice was filled Sunday after Sunday with an energetic, happy and hopeful congregation who were very proud of their new church and although many have passed on and others have made their homes in distant lands, you will still find in the church records of today—besides the names of the other families who have made their homes among us in the passing year, such as: Joe Blay, Frank Godfrey, Bert Godfrey, Herbert Godfrey, C. S. Heath, H. Seaburn and many more. The names of Elmhirst, Thompson, Lancaster, Birdsall and Elmhurst, all descendants of those pioneers of 60 years ago, all "carrying on", still a united band working for St. Michael's church.

The heads of the first families were: Rev. M. A. Farrar, Mrs. Powel, C. Farrar, C. Lancaster, T. Lancaster, John Lancaster, James Lancaster, A. Patterson, Robert Patterson, M. R. Elmhirst, James Thompson, Thos. Humphries, John Thompson, Phillip Elmhirst, Henry Elmhurst, William Elmhirst, Richard Birdsall, Francis Birdsall, Wm. Fox, Mrs. Sargent, J. Fawcett, Wm. Thompson, Sr., Adam Thompson, Robert Thompson, Harry Walker.

These names are in every report of our vestry sessions. Several acted in the capacity of church warden, either for the clergyman or the people, Mr. M. R. Elmhirst holding the confidence of the people, was people's warden for forty years, which was the longest term of office held by any one in St. Michael's. Mr. Frank Birdsall was warden for the rector for nearly 30 years. The others were for shorter periods.

The present heads of families in the church are: Wm. Elmhirst, Lou Elmhirst, Gilbert Elmhurst, Frank Godfrey, Herbert Godfrey, Bert Godfrey, Joe Bray, H. Seaborn, Wm. Thompson, James Thompson, Richard Birdsall, Francis Everett Birdsall, George Lancaster, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Cardwell.

The Boer War began in 1900 and many were the men who enrolled under the British flag to help the Motherland subdue her enemies in that far-off land of Africa.

During War Years

The war lasted four years and many who so gladly went, lie today on the African veldt, in peace, surrounded by flags and flowers, being constantly attended, week by week by a patriotic band of women, belong to the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

The two who went from St. Michael's church, Westwood, returned. They were Frederick Elmhirst and Henry Peregrine Leader, the former still living and filling his niche in our north country very, very well and following the traditions of his ancestors in the homeland. The other, Henry Leader, stayed with the army, rarely visiting his Canadian home and friends. He was with Sir John French in the Boer War, commanding the 1st Indian Cavalry Division. He died in 1934, drowned in a yachting mishap off North Devon, England.

St. Michael's fiftieth anniversary was fittingly observed, as usual the good friends of other denominations joining in the rejoicing. Rev. J. D. Paterson of All Saints church, Peterborough, with his choir, assisted in the celebration. He preached a sermon of St. Michael, whose day it was, a sermon comforting, inspiring and one never to be forgotten.

The earliest records of the church history are not available and the first Baptism in the present register is of Elizabeth Jane Scott, daughter of Thomas and Ellen Scott. Born, March 3rd, 1872; baptized June 18th, 1872; Rev. M. A. Farrar, rector.

Rev. Mr. Farrar died a few weeks before the completion of the edifice, greatly to everybody's regret and sorrow as he had worked so hard for the church, which takes its name from him, St. Michael's.

After his passing we had as rectors, Revs. Mr. Porter, J. McCleary, P. Mulvaney, E. Soward, Charles Smitheth and T. Vicars in succession, but the Rev. J. W. McCleary and Rev. John Gibson, between them gave twenty years to the work of our parish. They held for many years a service in Birdsall school every other Sunday night, alterating with the Presbyterian minister of Hastings, the late Rev. Dr. Thompson.

On Mr. Gibson's removal, Rev. John Bushell took his place for a year, then Rev. T. Kendrick and Rev. J. McKee McLennan, to be followed in 1904 by the Rev. Edgar Pickford, who was with us through our marvellous consecration service and it was through his influence and interest that a very energetic worker at St. Michael's, Mr. Arthur Richmond, opened a Sunday School which he managed very successfully for years, even to the time of his own death.

A Comfort and Inspiration

Rev. N. H. Noble, coming to us in 1913, was with us through the Great War and was a comfort and inspiration to many, many people at that time. He saw six members of his congregation at St. Michael's joint the grand army of Canadians who went in the first contingent to help England. They were: George Smith, killed at the Somme; Frank Godfrey and Thomas Long, both returned; Francis Everett Birdsall, seriously wounded; and Arthur Whitt, who gave his life for his country and lies many miles from either his home and family in England or his newly acquired home and friends in Canada.

We are proud of our Nursing Sister, Gertrude Reid, whose name is on the Westwood memorial, who went from St. Michael's church with our boys in 1914 to France and Belgium and did such wonderful work under terrible conditions that she was decorated by the King.

The Great War of 1914 recalls the Rebellion of 1885 when for the first time St. Michael's heard the call for men to serve King and country. James Thompson was one who answered and went, serving well and faithfully.

Free From Debt

A very interesting event in the history of the church, in which the whole community shared, was, when free from debt in 1909, Bishop Sweeney of Toronto held the service of consecration of both church and grounds. It was very impressive.

The Bishop, in his robes, was received by the church wardens and several clergymen, all in their robes. The petitions asking for consecration of church and grounds were presented and accepted. The Bishop then marched slowly all around the grounds, followed in the same order as he had been received and after them came the whole congregation. Coming back to the church in the same order, the Bishop, clergy and people marched up the aisle, reciting the 24th Psalm and the deeds and petitions were laid on the altar with a short service of prayer and praise.

There was a confirmation service after with communion and sermon. There was suitable music, hymns and chants for the consecration, confirmation and communion services and a perfect day was brought to its close in deep thanksgiving for the Anglicans of Westwood for St. Michael's was consecrated! Set apart from all common uses! Set apart forever to the service of God!

Rev. T. J. O'Connor-Fenton was truly considered one of the cleverest men in the diocese and was held in high esteem by his colleagues. He was handicapped greatly for some years by serious ill health. He died during his incumbency at Westwood and Norwood and was buried at Grafton in the little cemetery at the Anglican church there, just where he wished to be, out in "quiet open" where the sun shined on his grave and the grass ripples in the wind as it goes by.

Mr. Worrall came to us on his passing and did splendid work in organizing the A.Y.P.A. It has done so well we older ones are all proud of the achievements of our young people. While Rev. Mr. Worrall was at St. Michael's we had the satisfaction of seeing the church newly decorated in every line.

Rev. R. E. Lemon is our present rector and although he has only been in Westwood a few months he has made many friends and is popular with everybody. The present church wardens are W. D. Elmhirst and Wm. Thompson, their immediate predecessors being Mr. Gilbert Elmhurst and Mr. Wm. Thompson.

The church is passing another milestone on its road through Westwood history and celebrating its diamond jubilee and still stands a loving memorial to the Rev. M. A. Farrar and the many who have labored for it and have given help and inspiration to those who carry on the work today.

The tale is told!

Killed In China

Former resident of Toronto and a British subject Richard G. Crowson (ABOVE) was killed in an air raid in the Sino-Japanese fighting near Nanking recently, relatives were informed by authorities. A graduate of Stanford university, Crowson had been employed by a British steamship company in China since 1935.

4,500,000 FISH PLACED IN LAKES

got together all the cars the Henry government had accumulated. Many of them were used by the Ministers of Mr. Henry's cabinet, their wives and friends. We sold the cars at auction, and not one of them was replaced. The government had built a big garage for the servicing of those cars. It was costing you more than $100,000 a year. We has been operating it at less than $10,000 a year for whatever cars were actually needed.

We found at Trenton a motion picture where the government had been making films of the old silent type. Most of them remained on the shelves. This studio had cost the people of Ontario $1,750,000. We closed it up. In the same way we went over every department, and by co-operation in economy we were able to bring about a very satisfactory improvement in our financial condition. Our revenues have increased not because we have increased taxes, as you know we have reduced them, but because we collected more taxes that were properly due the treasury of Ontario."

Mr. Nixon briefly sketched what he described as helpless inefficiency by the Henry government in the collection of estate duties, and said that the total sum collected during the last two years was $36,000,000, much of which had come from estates which had been settled while Mr. Henry was in office.

"Mr. Rowe has repeatedly criticized my administration of the Department of Game and Fisheries. Peterborough people are generally interested in that branch of the government because you have a splendid tourist country within your boundaries.

Do you realize that under the Henry government it was costing you money to own the great resources of timber and game and fisheries. The Department of Fish and Game was losing over $12,000 a year. We took that department out of the red, and it will be kept out of the red as long as I administer it. I contend that this department should at least pay its way.

In 1933 the Henry Government restocked the waters of Peterborough County with 320,000 fish as compared with 2,300,000 we put in during 1936. During the three years prior to 1934 the restocking of your lakes and rivers was a total of 1,500,000 fish, and for the three years since we have been in office we have restocked to the extent of 4,500,000 fish.

Peterborough Not Penalized

"I wish to point out that we did not discriminate against this riding because you elected a representative to the Opposition side of the Legislature. Renfrew County had a Liberal member while the Conservatives were in power and that riding was entirely neglected. We put back into the waters of that county more fish in one year than the Conservatives would have stocked in 46 years. That shows how they neglected that county, and it indicates the way the Conservative Government treated a constituency for electing an Opposition member.

We have now started to build hatcheries and rearing ponds in Peterborough County in order that young fish may be brought to a stage of maturity that will enable them to survive when they are transferred to restock lakes and rivers. It has been found that 99 per cent. of the fry perish when they are put in lakes. When Mr. Rowe criticizes us I would like to point out that we have had 75 per cent. more anglers' licenses issued this year than for the last year of the Henry Government. And the revenue from tourists for three years previous to 1934 amounted to $191,000,000 as compared with $335,000,000 for the three years since we took office. Apparently our lakes and rivers have still a great attraction to our American friends who are coming in large numbers to enjoy our fishing."

Hydro Contracts.

In a brief outline of the Henry contracts to buy 731,000 horse-power of electricity from "Quebec power barons" at $15 per h.p., Mr. Nixon declared that he was proud of the government's record in cancelling the contracts and buying power at lower prices which, he said, had already saved Peterborough consumers $40,000. He declared that there was no danger of a power shortage in Ontario.

"We have a reserve of 120,000 h.p. with one company which we can switch into in five minutes. We are carrying that reserve for future needs, and you can understand what we are saving in that respect from the fact we are paying only $1.75 per h.p. for it instead of $15. We would have had to pay $10,800,000 to the Quebec power barons this year under the old contracts, instead of $3,500,000 under the new terms, and the power barons are not doing too badly at that. There is no reason for you and I to shed any tears for them.

"We have not renewed a contract with the Beauharnois company, but they are selling large amounts of power to Montreal. When the Conservatives talk of repudiation I hope you will think of this: If Mr. Rowe should ever have the opportunity of restoring the Beauharnois contract it would put 35 per cent. on the power bills of our consumers. But, I don't think you have any intention of giving them that opportunity. In fact we are looking forward with confidence to Peterborough sending Mr. Elliott to join the Hepburn government, and assist in further economies and tax reductions for the benefit of the people of this province."

Rork Ferguson recalled the mass meetings held by farmers in Peterborough demanding that something be done to relieve them of increasing taxes which many of them could not pay. At the following municipal elections only three reeves were re-elected from the townships as further evidence of rural resentment. The county council petitioned the Henry government not to build any more provincial highways in the county until the government was willing to assume the entire cost.

"But they went right on," Mr. Ferguson said. "In the last year of the Henry government they not only built roads but they even filled in ditches, and the bill to the county of Peterborough was $61,000. The council had to pay it by issuing debentures on which we are still paying at the rate of $15,000 a year. That is the only reason you don't see a bigger decrease in your tax bills this year.

If Hepburn never did anything else to deserve your support, he did enough when he took over the entire cost of provincial highways, and relieved you of old age pensions and mothers' allowances," Mr. Ferguson said.

Mr. Elliott in his address said Mr. Lancaster had told a meeting men were employed in the northern part of the country in shovelling earth out of a ditch and putting it back again.

"Mr. Lancaster must be thinking of the men who were working three years ago on the Henry ditches when they were paid only $1.20 a day. Now they are receiving 35 cents an hour in the construction of roads that are opening up new sections of this county."
